TORONTO STOCK EXCHANGE

Toronto, Nov. 9 —(CP)— The gold and western oil issues weakened moderately on Toronto Exchange today and the industrials and base metals held firm. Volmue was a little lower at 312,000 shares for the first three hours.

Pressed metals came to life and in active trading it advanced 1⅝ to 15. The Massey-Harris stocks were up.

In golds, prices were up a bit for Sullivan, Cochenour Willans and Louvicourt and down for Teck Hughes, Upper Canada, Preston, O'Brien, McKenzie and Wasa Lake. Steep Rock, Labrador and Noranda were weaker base metals.

WALL STREET

New York, Nov. 9 —(AP)— Stock market buyers took on modest amounts of selected rails and industrials today but neglected many leaders.

Individual business situations, with the election out of the way, served as the main bidding inspiration. Gains of fractions to a point or more were well distributed near the fourth hour.

On the upside most of the time were U. S. Steel, Bethlehem, Boeing (at another 1944 peak in further reflection of big army plane orders), Douglas Aircraft, Glenn Martin, Montgomery Ward, J. C. Penney and Socony.

Canadian issues were mixed. C.P.R. gained ⅛ and Walker ½ but Dome eased ¼ and Lake Shore ⅛.

TORONTO LIVESTOCK

Toronto, Nov. 9 —(CP)— There were no cattle sales on the livestock market here up to mid-session today. Grass calves were steady at $3.50 and no good vealers were offered. No sheep or lambs were offered. No price was established for hogs which closed previously at Grade A dressedweight $17.50. Unsold from yesterday were 1,800 head of cattle. Receipts reported by the Dominion Marketing Service were: cattle 120, calves 160, hogs 40.

JAPANESE CLOSING IN

Chungking, Nov. 9—(AP)— The Japanese closed in today on Liuchow with the Chinese High Command indicating one enemy spearheads was only 15 miles from that key points in the defences of South China.

(A Tokyo broadcast said the Japanese were closing in on points barely nine miles from Liuchow, and also announced a general offensive against Kweilin, employing tanks, planes and infantry.)

Democrats Claim 50,000 Ballots Lost in Michigan

Detroit, Nov. 9 —(AP)— The Wayne County Board of Canvassers today began a recheck of the vote in 94 Wayne County precincts to determine what had happened to an estimated 50,000 "lost" ballots for president, with Michigan's 19 Electoral College votes hanging in the balance.

On the basis of the first precinct re-checked, E. Cyril Bevan, Democratic National Committeeman from Michigan, predicted the final count would swing Michigan to President Roosevelt by more than 5,000 votes.

Mrs. Margaret Montgomery, chairman of the canvassing board, said that in four Detroit precincts and 25 in out-county Wayne, no votes had been entered for president on either the official or unofficial books, and that in these the canvassers' staff of 80 workers would have to make the count which was neglected by the precinct election boards.

The recheck came as returns from 3,809 of Michigan's 3,841 precincts showed Gov. Dewey clinging to a narrow lead of 15,550 votes. These figures did not include any from the Wayne precincts being rechecked. They gave:

Dewey, 1,024,942, Roosevelt, 1,009,392.

2 Found Guilty Of Manslaughter, Mercy Recommended

Quebec, Nov. 9 —(CP)— Two Royal Canadian Mounted Police officers were found guilty on charges of manslaughter, with recommendations of mercy in each case. Sentence was set for Nov. 20.

The two men, Constable Fernand Savard, 24, and Special Constable Roger Lizotte, 25, were charged in connection with the fatal shooting of 24-year-old Georges Guenette who was killed while being pursued across a field near his home.

Guenette had been sought following an attack on an R.C.M.P. constable who was arresting an alleged draft-dodger.

Legion Heads Urge Gov't to Implement Plebiscite of 1942

Ottawa, Nov. 9 — (CP) — The Dominion Council of the Canadian Legion, in a brief presented to Prime Minister Mackenzie King, said today that the government should act on the mandate of the 1942 manpower plebiscite and use its authority to send all fully trained home defence army personnel overseas immediately as essential reinforcements.

The Legion delegation, headed by Alex. Walker, Dominion president, said there was bitterness in Canada "because of a tragic waste of manpower when the issues of civilization are at stake — bitterness because the courage and sacrifice of our men overseas are not being matched with corresponding sacrifice, courage and self-forgetfulness at home.

"This bitterness is not confined to the people in Canada, but is also found among fighting men of all services overseas. We would lose all claim to represent the veterans and fighting men of Canada if under these circumstances we did not use all the power and influence at our disposal to see that the courage and devotion of our armies were matched by the full-souled support of the government and people of Canada."

The plebiscite had relieved the government of any previous pledge not to impose conscription for overseas.

"At the time the responsible government heads, including the Prime Minister, gave us assurance that if the situation demanded it conscription for overseas service would be imposed," said the brief.

"We come now asking that that promise be implemented because all information available to us indicates that it has become necessary."

FRANKFORD

Community Fetes Couple Prior to Marriage

Frankford—A large number of friends gathered at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Harold Rogers Wednesday evening of last week for a surprise party for LAW. Velo Elder and LAC. Paul Barber, of Trenton Air Station, who are to be married on Nov. 7th. A short program was enjoyed. Mrs. Rogers read a reading of her own composition. Mr. Mac. Wilson sang a solo. Misses Ruth and Lois Rogers sang a duet. Mrs. J. M. Dafoe read "The Cobblers". Rev. and Mrs. McElhoes gave an instrumental duet and Rev. McElhoes and LAC. Barber sang a duet. A reading was given by Mrs. Austin Watson. Mrs. McElhoes and Miss Marjorie Forbes sang a duet and a piano number was played by Mrs. Gerald Currie. Little Barbara Currie, 4-year-old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Gerald Currie of Stockdale and Allan Rogers, son of Mr. and Mrs. Harold Rogers came in dressed in formal bride and groom attire and drawing a wagon load of gifts for the honored couple. The bride and groom-to-be were seated under a wedding bell surrounded with decorations in Air Force colors. After a delicious lunch had been served, the program came to a close with prayer and a few remarks by Mr. McElhoes. A vote of thanks was tendered the host and hostess of the evening.

Bazaar and Afternoon Tea

The ladies of Trinity Anglican Church Guild held a very successful bazaar and afternoon tea in the Parish Hall on Friday afternoon. Decorations of red, white and blue formed the background for the booths of merchandise and the pretty tea tables. Four booths displaying fancy work, home-cooking, farm produce and a variety table to entice the public eye brought very gratifying results. During the afternoon the guests were entertained with piano music by Miss Majorie Green and Miss Ruth Caskey.

In the evening a record crowd gathered to enjoy dancing with music furnished by Clare Wyatt and his Trent Valley Ramblers.

Personals

Miss Hazel Mikel of the Public School staff is absent this week owing to illness. Mrs. Arthur Duncan of Batawa is teaching the classes for her.

Mr. and Mrs. Irvine Delyea and Mr. and Mrs. Ford Tumelty and family, Madoc, spent Sunday with Mr. and Mrs. Wm. Rhodes.

The Neighborly Mission Band met on Saturday afternoon at the Parsonage. The President Barbara Sager was in charge of the program which opened with a hymn followed by prayer. Margaret Rousborn read the Scripture and Miss Marion Love explained it. The leader Mrs. Arthur Holmes read a chapter of the Study Book. A sing-song followed. Eleven members answered the roll call. Plans for a work meeting were discussed.

Miss Jennie Sager, Belleville, spent the weekend at her home.

The regular meeting of the Red Cross held in the hall on Thursday afternoon was well attended.

A large crowd of friends and neighbors gathered in the Orange Hall on Wednesday evening in honor of Mr. and Mrs. Allan Thompson who were recently married. During the evening the crowd was called to order by Rev. W. W. Patterson. Mrs. Roy Rollins read an address expressing the good wishes of their friends and the newlyweds were presented with a well-filled purse. Mr. and Mrs. Thompson thanked their friends. The evening was spent in dancing to music furnished by Messrs. Alex Hunter and J. Wilson, Bannockburn with Mrs. Frank Barry and Mr. Will Glover at the piano. The ladies served a lunch and a very pleasant evening was spent by all.

Mrs. Will Rollins spent a few days last week with her daughter, Mrs. John Thompson.

AMERICANS ADVANCE ON 55-MILE FRONT

Shattering Attack Made on Germans By 1,300 Bombers

Allied and Hun Artillery Duel Across Meuse River

By WILLIAM FRYE
(AP Staff Writer)

London, Nov. 10 —(AP)— The U. S. 3rd Army offensive surged forward steadily today on a bomb-blasted 55-mile arc around Metz, capturing Chateau Salins and gouging out new gains in the woody hills and muddy, rolling fields along the entire front.

As the drive to encircle Metz and invade Germany's rich industrial basin of the Saar roared into its third day in the wake of a shattering attack by 1,300 heavy bombers, a field dispatch from Reuter News Agency reported Chateau Salins, highway hub and German anchor at the east end of the battle line, had been taken.

Resistance Ends on Walcheren.

In southwestern Holland and on flooded Walcheren Island in the mouth of the Scheldt all enemy resistance to Field Marshal Montgomery's 21st Army Group had ceased. Field reports told of small German groups, drenched and dispirited, surrendering to British units of the 1st Canadian Army.

Across the Meuse river in Holland, German artillery dueled with Allied guns as the enemy seemed nervous regarding possibility of immediate resumption of the British-Canadian advance which had driven him back over the water barrier.

At besieged Dunkerque on the French channel coast the German garrison opened up another barrage at encircling Czech troops of the Canadian army. Allied guns returned the barrage, and R.A.F. rocket-firing aircraft hit at German positions there despite poor flying weather.

In a mass assault recalling the heavy-bomber prelude to the St. Lo break-through in Normandy and the whirlwind sweep to the German borders, heavy bombers yesterday rained explosives on German strongpoints along the entire 3rd Army front.

Germans Strafed.

Fortified positions, artillery emplacements, supply concentrations and transportation were pounded hard, and thousands of 100-pound anti-personnel bombs were hurled into the enemy's front lines. As the heavies completed their runs, escorting fighters buzzed in at a low level and ripped the German troops and transportation columns with vicious strafing gunfire.

Infantry, led on the east flank by tanks, moved in behind the air assault and rolled forward through nine towns and villages. West of Chateau Salins they were in the Bois d'Aulnois, north of the Gremecy forest, and driving forward beyond Viviers.

The American 4th Armored Division advanced three more miles beyond Delme for a total gain of 10 miles in the offensive, and crossed heavily-gunned Delme ridge just northwest of Chateau-Salins.

Nine miles south of Metz, Louvigny was occupied in a three-mile advance beyond Cheminot. Bridgeheads thrown across the Moselle yesterday north of Metz were making progress northeast of Thionville.

Capture Ridge.

Capture of Delme ridge, a four-mile long mass of 1,200 foothills, gave the Americans a chance to look down the throats of the Germans for a radius of 10 miles or more and placed American armor within 12 miles of the Metz-Saarbrucken road, main rear communication line for the Metz fortress ring.

Prisoners taken in the drive mounted to 1,514.

Lt.-Gen. Patton sent seven divisions into action. A dispatch from Paris said there no longer was any attempt at Allied Supreme from quarters to minimize the force of the onslaught, although its full scope still cannot be measured.

The scale of the attack already unfolded, however, made it plain that the Germans could not dream of any winter lull in which the Allied armies, drawn up for 500 miles through France, western Germany and Holland, would be weather-bound or shackled by supply difficulties.

The battle for southwest Holland ended yesterday as Polish units of the 1st Canadian Army wiped out the last German rearguards south of the Maas (Meuse) River at Moerdike.

Roosevelt Ready For Big-3 Meeting Whenever Planned

Washington, Nov. 10 —(AP)— President Roosevelt said today, he, Prime Minister Churchill and Marshal Stalin want to hold another meeting whenever they can arrange it.

He said, however, no details have been worked out and there is nothing definite on the time or place of such a meeting.

The President told the reporters at his first news conference since his election to a fourth term that he wouldn't tell when the time and place are arranged anyway.

Such meetings always have been secret until the government heads arrive at the scene of the conference.

'We Have Only One Country—Canada,' Says Godbout

Quebec, Nov. 10 —(CP)— Hon. Adelard Godbout, Provincial Opposition Leader, told a Women's Liberal club last night "Quebec is not a state, but a province and we have only one country—Canada.

"Quebec is part of Canada, our marvellous country, and if we must take care of our provincial autonomy, we must never forget that we are Canadians."

Mr. Godbout added that Premier Duplessis was "not working for national unity and I do not believe he will remain in power long."

Speaking of Prime Minister King's stand on the conscription issue, Mr. Godbout said "with him, French-Canadians feel secured." He did not elaborate.

BLOW UP TOWN HALL

New York, Nov. 10 —(AP)— The Netherlands News Agency Aneta reported yesterday the Germans killed from 125 to 150 citizens of Heusden Saturday night by blowing up the Town Hall where they had taken refuge in cellars from Allied shellfire.

Wartime Secrecy Hides Shipshaw Development Equal to Boulder Dam

By D'ARCY O'DONNELL
(Canadian Press Staff Writer)

Ottawa, Nov. 10 —(CP)— Behind a veil of wartime secrecy lies the story of how the output of the power development at Shipshaw, Que.—Canada's greatest—compares with that of Boulder Dam—greatest in the United States.

Officials of the Aluminum Company of Canada, owners of the Shipshaw development built last year in the picturesue Saguenay River Valley of Northern Quebec, set the propect's peak hourly output at 1,346,000 horsepower. United States authorities, for security reasons, declined to give the exact peak output figure for Boulder but said it was more than 1,000,000 horsepower.

However, on the basis of figures released by United States authorities when Shipshaw was nearing completion, Boulder's peak now would be in the neighborhood of 1,835,000 horsepower. At that time it was estimated Shipshaw's ultimate output would be 1,500,000 horsepower.

Shipshaw was a wartime project, undertaken to privode power needed to produce aluminum for planes vitally needed by the United Nations while Boulder was built in peace.

Shipshaw is a straggling project, with its storage dams located miles from the plant where the power is generated. One of the storage dams was built at Lake Manouan more than 225 miles from the powerhouse and reachable only by air.

A mile long man made channel, flanked by a series of dams—the highest is 110 feet—guides the water out of the Saguenay River bed to the powerhouse where the waterhead rises some 210 feet.

Before war started the Aluminum Company had more power than it needed for its huge plant at Arvida, Que.

Aluminum officials now are trying to picture the post-war demand for the product. One official believed the motor car industry may provide a large market for aluminum. He did not know just how much could be used in a car, but motor companies had not thought of using aluminum in pre-war years because there was not enough of it available on the continent.

RUSSIAN TROOPS DRIVE NEW WEDGE AROUND BUDAPEST

Last Direct Rail Line Between City and Northeastern Hungary Shattered by Drive

Moscow, Nov. 10 (AP)—Russian troops under Marshal Rodion Y. Malinovsky drove a wedge across the enemy's last direct railway communications between Budapest and northeastern Hungary today after shattering the west bank defences along the upper Tisza river.

A big infantry and armored salient extending westward beyond Mesokereszies, approximately 70 miles east north of Budapest curved dangerously toward the rear of German Panzer forces which have been counter-attaching east and southeast of the Hungarian capital in an attempt to prevent from being outflanked.

A Moscow announcement said the main Budapest-Miskolcz rail line had been severed. The Russian communique said the 2nd Ukrainian army, advancing on a wide front across the middle Tisza had captured 50 towns and villages.

There was no official news of Malinovsky's left flank, which has dug into Budapest's southern suburbs, or about the extreme right flank of his army which previously crossed the upper Tisza in the direction of the southern borders of Czechoslovakia.

The Russian war bulletin said Malinovsky's army since Oct. 6 had killed or captured 142,000 German and Hungarian defenders of Budapest.

Carries Double Threat.

Malinvosky's new break-through carried a double threat—the arrival of a powerfully strengthened force to join the siege of the Hungarian capital and the possibility that the Russians might by-pass the city to the north in the direction of Vienna and Braitslava.

Among important places captured were Mesokeresses, Poroszlo, Komlo and Besebtelek, all of which are on communications lines leading north from Budapest to Vienna, 140 miles distant.

Field dispatches indicated the new operation employed only about one-third of Malinovsky's total strength. While there was no indication when the other two-thirds might go into action the developing drive was hailed here as the probable beginning of a winter campaign aimed at reducing Budapest and driving into Germany from the south.

A late Budapest broadcast recorded in Bern, Switzerland, said other Soviet units had renewed their attacks in Budapest's southern suburbs, where fierce house-to-house fighting has been reported.

Berlin said other Russian troops had crossed the Danube river at Dunafoldvar, 43 miles south of bomb-battered Budapest.

Long-Range Rocket Bombs Used Against Britain Says Churchill

By DWIGHT L. PITKIN
Associated Press Staff Writer

London, Nov. 10 —(AP)— Prime Minister Churchill told the House of Commons today the Germans had been firing long-range rocket bombs on widely scattered parts of England for the past few weeks, but declared "the scale of the attacks has not hitherto been significant."

Mr. Churchill termed "highly colored" the accounts of the V-2 "flying telegraph pole" bombardment broadcast by the Germans in the past two days, and said they indicated the Germans were in "desperate need" to give the home front encouragement.

The bombardment with rockets—which arch up to 70 miles in the stratosphere before landing without warning at a speed greater than sound—was described by the Prime Minister as less effective than the robot bombs.

Before the 1st Canadian Army overran launching sites of the winged bombs, the Germans inflicted heavy damage on London and Southern England. The Germans now launch winged bombs from airplanes flying out over the North Sea.

Mr. Churchill said one Dutch Island — Walcheren — from which rockets have been fired has been captured and said other sites would be overrun by Allied armies.

The Germans said V-2 and the earlier V-1 flying robot bomb were being used against both Paris and Antwerp as well as England and boasted that the vengeance weapons would make the hard-won Belgian port "unsuitable for unloading troops and material on a major scale." The intact docks of Antwerp are depended upon by Gen. Eisenhower to supply the Allied offensive into Germany.

Casualties here have been light, largely because the warhead of approximately a ton buries itself deeply into the earth when it lands at speeds exceeding 700 miles per hour.

German propagandists pulled out all stops; they insisted Mr. Churchill "had to admit" the existence of V-2; that it was not the last secret weapon; they hinted directly that the United States might feel its explosive weight. Mr. Churchill himself said the range might be increased.

He said casualties and damage so far have not been heavy.

Rocket Known as V-2.

The Germans announced two days ago they had been firing the rockets, known as V-2, on London.

The Prime Minister said the rockets had landed at widely scattered points in England.

No official statement about the attack had been issued before, Mr. Churchill said, in order not to give information to the enemy.

Mr. Churchill said the rockets contained approximately the same quantity of explosive as the flying bombs, which caused heavy damage in London during the summer, but that the rocket penetrated more deeply before exploding.

"We cannot be certain that the enemy will not be able to increase the range of the rockets," he said.

"There is however, no need to exaggerate the danger," he said.

F.D.R. RECEIVES WARM WELCOME IN WASHINGTON

President Assures Well Wishers He Is "Very Happy" to be Back

Washington, Nov. 10 (AP)—President Roosevelt came back to the capital today, received a roaring welcome and confirmed that he is looking forward to an early meeting of the "big three."

Grinning and waving, the President rode in a triumphal procession through crowded streets from Union station to the White House, made a quick change of clothes wet by a rain that splattered the parade, and held his first post-election news conference.

He told the reporters:

1. He, Prime Minister Churchill and Marshal Stalin want to hold another meeting as soon as it can be arranged.

2. The size of his fourth term victory surprised him. His own forecast, he disclosed, was that he would receive 335 electoral votes to 196 for Gov. Thomas E. Dewey. Actually, the count now stands at 432 to 99.

3. He had no news on prospective new appointments or possible cabinet changes.

A quarter-million rain-soaked citizens turned out to welcome the President.

A roar of welcome swelled up as the President's car emerged from the station and well-wishers held up banners carrying such messages as "in 44 we need you more," "You won here, let's win over there," "You're back and we're back of you," and "U.S.A.-F.D.R."

Sign painters started slapping "Welcome Champ!" on canvas banners as soon as election results made it evident that Mr. Roosevelt will be doing business at the same stand until 1949. Bright bunting went up on street-light standards along the parade route, and flags of all the United Nations came out of storage.

The city raped off its streets, turned out its brass bands and let the kids out of school to welcome the President back to the White House—where he has spent nearly one-fifth of his life.

Mr. Roosevelt assured thousands assembled to welcome him that he was "very happy" to be back.

With Vice-President Wallace and Vice-President-Elect Truman riding with him in an open car, Mr. Roosevelt arrived at the Christopher Columbus statute adjacent to the

BRITISH TROOPS CAPTURE FORLI IN PO VALLEY

Seizing of Fortress City Accomplished by a Pincer Movement

Rome, Nov. 10 — (AP)— British troops have captured Forli, Po Valley communications centre 38 miles southeast of Bologna on the Bologna-Rimini highway, Allied headquarters announced today.

Capture of the old Fortress city, which has a population of approximately 65,000, was accomplished by a pincer movement. One force moved directly up the Rimini-Bologna highway, while the second advanced up a road from the airfield to the southeast, penetrating into the town.

Other 8th Army troops have loosened Nazi positions in the hills south and southwest of Forli. Approximately 250 prisoners were taken as the town fell.

To the west Polish units of the 8th Army took the commanding feature of Monte Bora and made further gains west of the Montone River.

Activity on the Allied 5th Army front in Central Italy south of Bologna was confined to patrolling.

Snipers were still active in Forli, but leading British troops pushed through the town and reached the ruins of the main bridge over the Montone River on the west. The Germans were holding parts of the west bank of the Montone in strength.

The village of Sadurano in the hills between the Montone and Rabbi rivers was captured, and 8th Army troops pushed on to positions east of Castrocaro, an enemy-held junction point six miles south of Forli on the highway leading through Forli to Ravenna.

American Negro troops on the west coast sector of the 5th Army front occupied three more villages amid the towering peaks east of Massa.

SMALL HUN FLEET SUNKBYCANADIAN TANKS, INFANTRY

Novel Victory Is Scored in Harbor Of Zijpe, Tanks Fire From Behind Dike

With the 21st. Army Group, Nov. 10 — (CP Cable) — Canadian tanks and infantry sank a small German fleet — a corvette and three converted landing craft — on Zijpe harbor opposite the western tip of St. Philipsland peninsula which lies between the estuaries of the Maas and the Waal, it was reported yesterday.

The leader of a scout patrol saw men in naval uniforms moving about Zijpe harbor and the German flag flying from a mast or conning tower. The Canadian officer asked permission to open fire but this was refused and it took most of the day to convince headquarters that part of the German navy was in the tiny harbor.

The Germans were shelled but they recovered quickly and replied with a hail of fire from 88-mm. guns and smaller calibre weapons. Then the Canadians grouped the supporting tanks behind a dike and gave the Germans a concentrated 10-minute hammering

Enemy Corvette Ablaze

The enemy ceased fire and the next day, after a night of silence, a small party of the Canadian patrol crossed in a cutter and found the corvette blazing furiously. The German naval commander was dead.

The final score for the Canadians was four vessels sunk, 20 Germans killed, 80 wounded and several captured.

Reports from correspondents to London newspapers credited men of a Lake Superior Regiment with this novel victory and gave an assist to a troop of tanks from a British Columbia Regiment. The guns of the tanks silenced the enemy fire.

Indian Gurkha Wins Victoria Cross In One-Man Charge

London, Nov. 10 — (CP-Reuter)— A one-man charge at a heavily-bunkered Japanese position in the face of the most shattering concentration of automatic fire near a railway bridge at Mogaung, Burma, has won for an Indian Gurkha the Victoria Cross. He is Rifleman Tul Bahadur Pun of the Gurkha Rifles, Indian Army.

His award brought to 112 the men who have received the V. C. since the war began. Six were Canadians.

Peaceful French Valley Was Scene Of One of Hitler's Hideous Crimes

By MARGARET ECKER
(CP War Correspondent)

Thil, Lorraine, Nov. 10—(CP)— This is a difficult story to write because only an Emile Zola could describe the brooding tragedy of the valley of hopeless people.

This valley in the midst of the soot-blackened countryside of industrial Lorraine on the borders of France and Luxemburg was the scene of one of Hitler's most sadistic schemes. Men and women were torn from their homes in Poland, Russia, Czechoslovakia, Greece, France and brought here to work as slaves in an underground factory even Pharoah probably wouldn't have imposed on his pyramid builders.

That factory made buzz bombs, assembled Heinkels, Focke-Wulfes to launch destruction against Britain.

The road — the road to death for hundreds — winds through lovely wooded hill country scarred by enormous factories, mines, black smokestacks, smokeless now, rising like a forest, labyrinths of railroad yards where engines and machines now rust. It passes sombre villages of sordid rows of tenement houses from which you catch a choking stench as you pass.

About 100 metres under ground, below these towns with galleries stretching over eight miles is the former coal mine turned into a factory by the Germans. Here the best machinery from Italy, Sweden, Denmark, Germany was installed for the assembly of buzz bombs. High on the hillside, camouflaged as wells and farm buildings so cleverly that you hardly glanced at them as you passed, were the launching platforms for the bombs made in the earth below. Fortunately for England these were never completed.

The mine is closed now but army officers who visited it described its unventilated galleries, filled with the best of equipment but with no sanitary conveniences. Here boys and girls as young as 16 and men over 60 worked 12 and 14 hours a day.

High in the hillside is an incinerator. The grey ashes around it are the ashes of human bones. On all sides we were told the same story. There is no reason to doubt it.

The men who became too old and too sick to work were taken if fortunate, up on the hillside, shot in the head by the guards, and their bodies thrown into the fire.

Less fortunate prisoners died less painlessly. They were taken to a spot near the incinerator where disused rails cross a small gully. They were tied to the rails and burned alive.

"We heard screams for miles," the people of this, the nearest village, told us.

Indicates Battle For the Philippines May Be Long, Hard

Usefulness of Ormoc Port As Supply Base Reduced

General MacArthur's Headquarters, Philippines, Nov. 10 (AP)— Running a gauntlet of harassing American planes and patrol torpedo boats, 35,000 veteran Japanese troops have joined the sanguinary battle for Leyte, Gen. MacArthur disclosed today in an announcement which indicates the battle for the Philippines may be long and hard.

The disclosure that despite all American efforts the Japanese had succeeded in replacing their heavy losses suffered in 22 days of fighting is having a sobering effect on the optimism which followed the comparatively easy initial landing.

Gen. McArthur has at hand more than enough troops to handle the enemy forces now arrayed against him, but the General made it clear that the advantage gained by the surprise landings of Leyte's east coast has about run its course.

His communique today disclosed American troops broke a four-day stalemate in the battle for the west coast stronghold of Ormoc "with substantial gains on a wide front." Ormoc is in flames as the result of artillery and aerial bombardment and its "usefulness to the enemy as a supply base has been greatly reduced."

American infantry units seized high ground some 15 miles from the port.

Japan's new commander in the Philippines, Gen. Tomoyuki Yamashita has boasted he will demand Gen. MacArthur's "unconditional surrender."

American fighter planes were in the sky again after being grounded by a raging typhoon. They strafed and bombed Japanese installations and shipping, destroyed two barges and a coastal vessel, damaged other enemy craft and hammered at truck parks.

Long-range artillery added to the damage wrought by aerial bombs in Ormoc, Japan's last seaport stronghold on the island.

Despite Japanese reinforcements, estimated by Gen. MacArthur practically to replace the 35,000 lost in Leyte fighting so far, the Americans held a two-to-one numerical superiority.

From Cebu, Mindanao and other nearby Philippine Islands, the enemy has managed to slip in additional troops, using everything from barges to warships to transport them.

BRACKEN ASSAILS KING'S ATTITUDE

Makes Statement Saying Prime Minister Has Betrayed His Trust

Ottawa, Nov. 10 —(CP)— John Bracken, National Progressive Conservative Leader, said in a statement last night that Prime Minister MacKenzie King "has betrayed his trust and deceived both the army overseas and the people at home."

His statement following the address in which the Prime Minister Wednesday night supported Voluntary Overseas Service, Mr. Bracken said it was "more than evident now" that Mr. King never did intend to implement his undertakings given to parliament.

Says Reinforcements Needed.

The overseas army was in dire need of trained reinforcements and of rest and help. Men must be sent overseas to the entire extent available in Canada, Mr. Bracken said.

"This is an immediate national duty."

Since he assumed leadership of the Progressive Conservative Party, "we have repeatedly urged that these men be sent overseas to fill the gap which now is so tragically revealed. The past is past. The situation now far transcends any partisan politics. It is of the deepest concern to every Canadian man and woman regardless of political creed."

In the gravest hour of the nation's history the people awaited the release of information given to Mr. King by Defence Minister Ralston, who resigned last week after recommending conscription for overseas.

Ralston's Information.

"Mr. King has refused to release the information that Col. Ralston must have anticipated he would," said Mr. Bracken.

Instead of taking the advice of Col. Ralston the Prime Minister had preferred the advice "of one who but a few days ago admitted that he knew nothing about the situation."

(Mr. King said Wednesday night that he had sought the advice of Gen. McNaughton, who succeeded Col. Ralston as Defence Minister, when the latter's recommendation for conscription for overseas was made).

NATURE OF WOUNDS LEARNED BY PARENTS

Previously reported wounded on the Western Front, the nature of wounds received by Cpl. Jack Boyd, has been learned by his parents, Mr. and Mrs. M. J. Boyd, 234 Charles Street. According to information recently received their son suffered bullet wounds in the right leg and compound fracture of the fibia bone.

SGT. CLARENCE NASH CHARGED WITH THEFT

Provincial Police today are holding Sgt. Clarence Nash of the Trenton R. C. A. F. service police, on charges of the wholesale theft of tools, electrical equipment and other articles alleged to had been taken from the station property.

Nash was arrested at his Frankford home after Provincial Constables E. Soubliere and Chas. Sipie had conducted a lengthy investigation looking into the mysterious disappearance of Air Force property, that has been reported missing over a considerable period of time.

Tools, electrical equipment and used aerial instruments were all included in the loot police say they recovered at Nash's home as they valuated the property at upwards of $300. Nash appeared before Miss Mary Butler, local Justice of the Peace, today and was remanded in custody for trial next week.

REPORTS OF THEFTS PROBED BY POLICE

Two reports of theft in Belleville are being investigated by police today. Doris Atkins, 22 Forin St., told police her bicycle had been stolen Thursday afternoon.

H. C. McElrath, employee of the Ontario Hydro Commission, complained to police he had reason to believe gasoline was being siphoned out of his motor car tank while the vehicle was parked in the vicinity of the Pinnacle St. Hydro offices at night. Attention was promised.

POLICE BLOTTER

Belleville police are holding a woman and her son, who gave their names as Mrs. Ravina L. Steeves and James Steeves of Boston, on nominal charges of vagrancy following complaints received regarding a missing typewriter. Deputy Chief Arthur Harman today was endeavouring to learn if local residents had permitted a woman, who represented herself as an employee of the Underwood Typewriter Company, to repair privately owned typewriters in Belleville recently.

"If there are such citizens would they kindly communicate with the local police authorities," Deputy Chief Harman announced today.

Lt. W. V. Faulkner Killed in Action

Overseas since March, 1943, and wounded in May on the Italian front, Lieut. William Vernon Faulkner, 22, son of Mrs. J. Faulkner, 44 Catharine Street, has been killed in action according to word received by his mother. He had been in Italy since January of this year.

Born in Trenton, Lieut. Faulkner received his education at Queen Mary school and at Belleville Collegiate. Following graduation from high school he worked as a watchmaker at McFee's in Belleville for approximately two years. He enlisted in March, 1942, and after training at Camp Borden took his officer's training course at Gordonhead, British Columbia.

Going overseas in the spring of 1942 he trained for three months in England before going on to North Africa where he was stationed for six months. Missing out on the Sicilian invasion and the early fighting in Italy he went into action in January of this year with an armored corps unit. He is the only son of Mrs. Faulkner. His father died four years ago.

Five Remanded Week on Charges Of Jail Breaking

The five youths who were recaptured after escaping from the County Jail here Monday evening after attacking jail officials appeared before Magistrate J. L. Lloyd in city police court here today and before being asked to plea had their cases remanded one week at the request of Crown Attorney B. C. Donnan.

The quintet included Martin Green, 20, David Quigley, 17, Bert Hawkins, 18, Norman Bell and Floyd Andrews, 17, all of Toronto. They were individually charged with using violence in unlawfully escaping jail.

As the youths appeared to have the charge read to them Mr. Donnan personally asked them individually if they desired counsel.

In reply Andrews asked—"Does the court supply a defence lawyer?" To which Mr. Donnan replied in the negative and added—"During the week of remand you will be given every opportunity to contact a lawyer."

When arraigned Hawkins replied to the question—"I'm not sure, but I intend to elect trial by a high court," while Quigley stated definitely he did not want a lawyer at this time. "I'm going to a higher court," he said. Mr. Donnan then advised him to also see a lawyer.

Bell merely replied he wanted a week's remand, while Green replied—"No, sir" to the question. Here Mr. Donnan told the court he knew Green's parents were endeavoring to procure counsel in Toronto.

After the quintet had been arraigned and remanded Mr. Donnan intimated other charges pertaining to the attack upon Jailer Samain and Deputy Urch were being considered by him and Inspector Lougheed of the Provincial Police C.I.D.

Immediately after Martin Green was arraigned on charges of stealing Harry Moorman's car and also of stealing a motor car in Toronto last month. Green, who had previously pleaded not guilty today changed his plea to that of guilty and His Worship remanded him for sentence.

"This young man was to have appeared on these charges on Nov. 7th, but he wasn't exactly available that day," commented Mr. Donnan and added that Green had escaped prison that day. Inspector J. C. Hayes testified in the car theft counts.

Poppy Red Symbol of Remembrance For Canadians Who Died in Last War

"Remember, brave men died so that you might wear one."

That is the slogan of Poppy Day which will be observed here on Saturday, November 11.

Red symbol of remembrance, the little flower will carry a deeper significance for all Canadians this year. It will serve a dual purpose. Not only will it serve as a reminder of the sacrifices which were made and are being made by the men and women of Canada, but its manufacture provides a source of revenue for maimed and crippled veterans of both wars who are physically unable to do anything else.

Not only this, but the proceeds of the sale of poppies are devoted exclusivevly to the needs of the less fortunate war veteran and his family.

On Saturday, veterans of this city and district will observe Poppy Day. It is not a Tag Day, nor is it to be used as a source of financial benefit to any one veteran organization. In reality it is Veteran's Day.

Every resident of this city and district should wear the blood-red symbol of sacrifice in honor of the memory of those who will not come back, and those who will come back physically handicapped.

The poppies will be on sale early Saturday morning, and war veterans of the city hope that their fellow residents will "remember". There is no stated cost. Any amount no matter how small or large, will be appreciated.

"Remember, brave men died that you might wear one."

A. & N. Vets Endorse Motion Asking Zombies Be Used As Reinforcements

Greeting its reading with cheers, members of the Army and Navy Veterans in Canada, Belleville Branch No. 201 at its regular meeting last night unanimously endorsed a resolution demanding the Federal Government to implement the 1942 plebiscite and train and send the non-active service home army overseas as reinforcements for the Canadian divisions now fighting on the various fronts.

The resolution will be forwarded immediately to Prime Minister W. L. Mackenzie King at Ottawa, the Hon. A. G. L. McNaughton, Minister of National Defence, and the Dominion Command of the Army and Navy Veterans in Canada.

The resolution read:—"That this association, Belleville Branch No. 201, Army and Navy Veterans in Canada, in view of the possibility of urgent need for reinforcements for the Canadian divisions fighting on the many fronts, do hereby urge the Dominion Government at Ottawa, to enact or enforce legislature to train and send to any theatre of war wherever they are needed, the 70,000 draftees now serving or working in Canada, and those who will from time to time be called to service under the National Mobilization Act."

There was a tense silence as President James Lazenby read the resolution. As he finished, the large sprinkling of youthful veterans of this war jumped to their feet. Older veterans joined in the acclaim. As Past President Thomas York moved for the support of the resolution, the entire body rose to its feet and cheered. There was not a dissenting vote when the motion was placed before the body.

Buy Bonds.

The association general body was also unanimous in its support of a motion to purchase $2,000 worth of bonds in the Seventh Victory Loan now nearing its close. Non-interest-bearing bonds to the value of $1,500 will be transferred for this purpose plus $500 from the association savings bank account. This brings the total amount of bonds held by the branch to $7,000.

Commenting on the purchase of the bonds President Lazenby stated that they would remain in their entirety in a safety deposit box until the time came when a memorial structure could be erected. "It will be something of which we shall be proud," he said, "and which we shall not be ashamed to hand down to those who follow us."

Several applications for membership were received by the meeting and all approved.

Entertainment Program.

Following the general business and serving of refreshments a program of variable entertainment in charge of Entertainment Chairman E. Brookes was offered. With the popular Jimmy Corradi at the piano, two winsome children of Mrs. Reg Wilson, Front Street, Earla, 7, and Reggie, 6, sang vocal solos. Mr. E. Mouck's fine voicee was heard in "Trafalgar" and the hit of the evening came with the Dickens sisters, Arlene, 10, and Dorothy, 12, daughters of Mrs. Irene Wilson, Russell Street, who played the accompaniment.

Both girls are talented dancers with Arlene starring with vocal selections. The girls appeared singly and in duo and were recalled several times. Boy soprano Arthur Duby also received a fine ovation after two solos.

The association will observe Poppy Day on Saturday and at eleven o'clock on the same day will observe Remembrance Day with a service at the Station Street Cenotaph where wreaths will be laid to honor the memory of the fallen.

On Sunday, they will parade to Christ Church for Divine Service at 11 a.m.

Flt. Sgt. Bellinger, Veteran of Two Wars, Returns Home on Furlough

One of the original "Contemptibles", that gallant little British Army which held the Kaiser's hordes at bay in Belgium in 1914 previous to the famous Retreat from Mons, Flight Sergeant Leo Bellinger, RCAF, of 25 1/2 Campbell Street, has arrived home after two years' service overseas in the medical department of the air service.

On his breast there gleams a row of ribbons seldom seen in Canada. He has the famous but rare Mons Star with its silver clasp, other first world war service ribbons and the Canadian Volunteer Medal with its silver Maple Leaf.

The fifty-two-year-old veteran of two wars was in charge of a twenty-bed Air Force hospital somewhere in England. Here he met such fighting flyers as Buzz Beurling, Johnny McFadden, and other Canadian aces. Affectionately dubbed "Methuselah" he earned a well-deserved popularity with his senior officers as well as his subordinates. This is tangibly evident in the proud possession of a handsome silver goblet with a glass bottom and on which is engraved the appreciation of the staff and personnel of the hospital.

Recalls Capt. Montgemery

Leo "has been around". He managed to "wangle" eleven days in France, but was sent back to England. He fought in Belgium and France during the last war and was taken prisoner. He speaks German fluently. Now he is home after two years, with his war appetite for action still unsatiated. He wants to go to the Pacific or Burma or anywhere.

He served with the Royal Warwickshire Regiment, famous infantry of the line in 1914. In his platoon was a slim short hawk-faced officer with the rank of lieutenant. Later he was promoted to Captain by virtue of his brilliant tactical knowledge. His name was Captain Bernard Montgomery, now a field marshal and the hero of El Alamein.

An impressive event which will live indelibly in the memory of Flt. Sergt. Bellinger took place in London on May 16, 1943. It was the annual memorial and parade service of the "Old Contemptibles" so-called because the Kaiser dubbed them "that contemptible little British Army" when they defied his legions in Belgium in 1914.

Thousands of Londoners, and service men and women of the present war lined London streets and cheered the old boys to the echo as they proudly marched behind the famous bands of the Coldstream Guards, the Royal Regiment of Artillery and His Majesty's Household Cavalry Trumpeters.

The veterans, some in uniform of the British Home Guard, a few in active service garb, and the main body in "civvies", heads erect swung smartly past a reviewing base where the Belgian Ambassador took the salute. A heart-touching scene was a full company of "wheelchairs." Fully fifty men, maimed and crippled since the last war rode, some in mechanized chairs, others hand-pushed, and turned their heads smartly to the salute.

Impressive Service.

Impressive, too, was the service held in St. Paul's Cathedral. Rising like a shrine from its rubble-covered grounds, the venerable structure echoed to the solf sweet voices of massed boys' choirs. Outside the R.A.F. fighter plane engines roared above the majesty of the cathedral organ music. In the distance the rumble of anti-aircraft batteries sounded in thunderous background.

Present were the Lord Mayor of London and the Belgian Ambassador who addressed the parade and presented the Belgian colors to the veterans. Present too, were companies of the French and Belgian Old Soldiers' Associations. Modern war was there in the maching ranks of United States army detachments. Three thousand "contemptibles" from all parts of England were there.

The shrilling trumpets of the Household Cavalry rang clearly though the quiet solemnity of the cathedral in the Last Post and Reveille.

Later, thirty representatives of the huge parade were selected to attend a reception at the Belgian Embassy. Flight Sergeant Bellinger, the only Canadian "contemptible" present was one of those chosen. On the spacious ground the "old sweats" were the guests of honor of a veritable "League of Nations" assemblage and their ladies.

Flight Sergeant Bellinger arrived home last Saturday on a brief furlough. He hopes to get a "posting" to another theatre of war but if this is impossible will accept his discharge. His son, Leo. Junior, is serving overseas with a Canadian Highland regiment.

The bearers were Messrs. George McDonald, John Deval, Vergil Little, William Little, William Lucas and William Johns.

MRS. JANE BRADFORD

Mrs. Jane Bradford, wife of Mr. James Bradford, of this city, died in hospital at Kingston on Friday morning, Nov. 10th., after an illness of six months' duration.

Born at Cambridge, England the late Mrs. Bradford, who was in her 68th. year, was a daughter of the late Mr. and Mrs. John Mash. For seventeen years she made her home here and in religion she was a member of the Anglican Church.

Surviving her are her husband; three daughters, Mrs. Charles Hiles, Belleville; Mrs. Alex. Mountney, Belleville, and Mrs. Thomas Johnson, Bowmanville; seven grandchildren; one cousin, Mrs. Harry Johnson, Toronto. She was the last of her family; her last sister, Mrs. Thomas Bulmer, died in Belleville on Nov. 10th., 1934.

Resting at the Belleville Burial Company Funeral Home, Campbell Street; the funeral announcement is made in this issue.

MRS. SARAH ANN BRIANT
(Formerly of Belleville)

Mrs. Sarah Ann Briant, widow of John Briant, and formerly of this city, who died in Kingston on Monday, Nov. 6th., is survived by two sons, Edward Briant, Lakefield, and Charles Briant, Kingston; five daughters, Mrs. H. W. MacKay, Underwood, Ontario; Mrs. R. C. Newton, Belleville; Mrs. George Shipman, Ottawa; Mrs. J. E. Cowling, Buffalo, N.Y., and Mrs. Charles Covill, Algonquin, Ontario.

The funeral took place from the home of her daughter, Mrs. R. C. Newton, 7 Railway Terrace, Belleville, on Wednesday afternoon and interment took place at Elmwood Cemetery, Corbyville. The Rev. Harry Allen, Anglican minister, conducted the service at the home and grave.

JOSEPH HENRY LaFRANCE

Joseph Henry LaFrance died early Thursday evening, Nov. 9th., at the home of his son, Mr. William Donald LaFrance, 200 Albert Street, with whom he was visiting since last September. He was in failing health for some years.

The late Mr. LaFrance, who was in his 64th. year, was born in Gananoque and was a son of Mr. Joseph LaFrance and the late Mrs. LaFrance. For forty-two years he was engaged in an executive capacity with the Skinner Company, manufacturers, in Gananoque and also at their plant in Oshawa. Five years ago he retired. For twelve years he lived in Oshawa and prior to that time he made his home in Gananoque. In both these places he was held in high regard and old friends will regret to learn of his death.

Surviving him are his father, Mr. Joseph LaFrance, Peterborough; one son, Mr. William Donald LaFrance, Belleville; two brothers, Mr. William LaFrance, and Mr. Roy LaFrance, both of Gananoque; two sisters, Mrs. Stephen Rainville, Niagara Falls, N. Y., and Mrs. Joseph Glass, Peterborough. His wife died two years ago.

Resting at the Martin Funeral Home, Church Street; the funeral announcement is made in this issue.

Queen Mary Home And School Club Formed by Parents

Following the lead of several other public schools in the city, parents of children attending school in the west part of the city met Thursday evening to form the Queen Mary Home and School Association with Mrs. Harry Croll being named as the first president.

Principal of the school, Mr. C. L. Frederick, opened the meeting following which the report of the previously formed nominating committee was adopted by the members. Membership fee was set at 25 cents with 65 joining on the night of inauguration. Mrs. Finkle, as district organizer for home and school clubs, presided over the installation of officers.

The slate of officers named by the nominating committee and accepted by the association is as follows:—president, Mrs. Harry Croll; vice presidents, Mrs. O. R. Thompson and Mrs. R. Woodley; recording secretary, Mrs. E. G. Elmy; corresponding secretary, Mrs. D. Stewart; treasurer, Mrs. Ferguson; membership committee convener, Mr. Coombs, program committee convener, Mrs. L. Buck; social committee convener, Mrs. T. Jamieson, School staff representatives named were Miss Moorcroft and Mr. Bates.

An interesting program was enjoyed by members at their inagural meeting with Claude Mollison and Carmen Kelly favoring with a cornet duet, and Ronald Elmy and Arthur Duby as soloists adding to the entertainment. Lantern slides showing the beauty of English countryside and stately cathedrals and educational centres were shown by Mr. Frederick and Mr. Bates.

In accepting responsibilities of their new offices, members of the executive extended a cordial invitation to parents in the Queen Mary school district to join the association and assist in furthering the interests of the children and the school. It was decided the association would meet on the second Thursday of each month.

CARD OF THANKS

We take this means of notifying our many friends and relatives that we are deeply appreciative of the kindness and sympathy extended to us during our recent bereavement and to convey our thanks to those who provided cars for the funeral.

— Mrs. R. Grose and Family.

May we take this means to express our sincere thanks, appreciation and lasting gratitude for all the kindness shown to us by our many kind friends in this community in our recent sad bereavement. Your kind words, the beautiful tokens of sympathy, the many kind acts within and without the home, are expressive of a people who believe in "That Way of Life" that can share your sorrows, bear your burdens in mutual sympathy. You have done great honor to one who offered his services on any battlefield in the world, you have shown respect and esteem to his family, for all this we are most appreciative and from the bottom of our hearts we say, Thank You.

The Churcher Family.

Maynooth Flier Helps to Film Thrilling Picture

Bancroft, Nov. 10 — The following is a copy of an article appearing in the Canada Weekly, an army paper printed in the United Kingdom, which reads as follows:

"A Film of Destruction."

On the fighter side of the R.C.A.F. picture, Canadian Spitfire pilots last week sat in a darkened mess tent on their advanced airfield in Belgium and watched a film of destruction in which they themselves were the stars.

They saw their own aircraft pumping thousands of rounds of ammunition into jammed Nazi motor transports and armored fighting vehicles frantically trying to escape through the Falaise Gap during the hectic days of mid-August.

Smoking their pipes and cigarettes in comparative comfort, the Canadians saw, from films taken by their own "Spits," what a magnificent job they did, and what fearful havoc they wrought among the Nazi cohorts as they zoomed up and down the enemy columns. Truck after truck, car after car was seen to explode or overturn, or careen off roads into fields and ditches.

Outstanding parts of the film shown to pilots of the wing commanded by W.C. Del Russell (Montreal) were those taken by the "Spits" flown by FO. Don Goodwin, (Maynooth, Ont.) the wing's ace low-level fighter, who has more than 100 disabled enemy vehicles to his credit, and by FO. Bill Olmstead (Vancouver) another high scorer.

Enlisted in 1940.

FO. Donald Goodwin is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Daniel Goodwin of Maynooth, Ontario, and enlisted in the R.C.A.F. in 1940 going overseas in November of 1941. Since 1941 he has spent seven months on the Island of Malta, took part in the softening up period prior to the vast invasion of Sicily. Later he was transferred back to England where he is continuing on operations over Europe. Don has had some hectic experiences which include bailing out four times over land and twice over sea. Although he has completed his flying time he is not content to retire from operations but has asked for an extension and having been granted this he is back into the fight again keen to knock more Nazis out.

Flying Officer Donald Goodwin recently was awarded the D.F.C. having shot up thirty-five enemy transports in one day's activities.

Donald was home to Canada and spent a month's leave during March and April of this year.

Here's Quick Relief from

SINUS PAIN

3-Purpose Medicine Helps Clear Out Congested Sinus Areas

ONE best way to get relief from torturing sinus pain is to clear congestion from nasal passages and give sinuses a chance to drain. A few drops of Vicks Va-tro-nol in each nostril is usually enough to bring this comforting relief.

3-Purpose Medicine . . . Va-tro-nol is so successful because it does three important things: (1) shrinks swollen membranes of the nose; (2) helps clear out pain-causing congestion and (3) soothes irritation. Many sinus sufferers say it's best relief they've found. Try it!

Seventh Victory Loan Expected To Be Best Ever

Ottawa, Nov. 10 — (CP) — Total purchases in Canada's Seventh Victory Loan were reported today at $1,207,660,650, with the $1,300,000,000 target for the campaign which ends this week within striking distance.

The new total, based on sales up to last night, is $71,000,000 more than the amount purchased at the same stage of the sixth loan which yielded $1,400,000,000. Officials said a last-minute drive could establish a new record for the seventh loan.

Yesterday's purchases amounted to $88,084,150 — $25,000,000 above the purchases in the corresponding day of the previous campaign.

Individual purchasers yesterday registered their biggest day of the loan with a total of $42,890,350. This brought the cumulative total of purchases by individuals to $556,640,700, approximately $81,000,000 more than individuals purchased in the same period of the sixth loan.

Close to Minimum

"Today's sales should bring us very close to the minimum objectives but a note of caution is in order," an official said. "The totals which should be kept in mind are not the minimum objective. This loan cannot be considered really over the top until it has exceeded the figures of the Sixth Victory Loan.

"Individual Canadians still have $90,000,000 to go to reach that figure and the loan as a whole is about $200,000,000 short of the amount purchased six months ago. There is no question but that we are now in striking distance of the largest loan in Canada's history but there can be no letting down in the final two days of canvassing."

Coal Supplies Adequate Says Fuel Controller

Ottawa, Nov. 10. (CP)—Coal supplies will be adequate to keep every Canadian warm this winter if furnace stokers continue to co-operate in the Wartime Conservation program, Coal Control officials said today.

So far this season the men who have been striving to provide assurance that there will not be any empty coal bins have had the weather on their side. Last year, with a comparatively mild winter, Canadian coal consumption reached a record of 47,250,000 tons. The normal pre-war consumption was 30,000,000 tons.

Increased demands during the war period, particularly for industrial purposes, and curtailment of other fuels, such as the diversion of practically all gas in Southern Ontario to industries, have complicated the job of providing adequate fuel for domestic purposes.

"If people continue to co-operate in the conservation program and use a percentage of substitute fuel no one will go short", a spokesman said.

Deliveries have been staggered by compulsory restrictions applied this year with consumers required to take their season's deliveries in three lots. Summer deliveries were made up to Sept. 30.

Three County Areas Reach Their Quotas

Three canvassing areas in Hastings county have either surpassed or reached their respective objectives in subscriptions to the Seventh Victory Loan, it was reported this morning from county loan headquarters in Belleville.

Areas "over the top" are Stirling and district which has subscribed $187,000 or $12,000 over its objective of $175,000, while Trenton with an objective of $540,000 has subscribed $569,500. The Sidney, Thurlow and Frankford area has just reached its objective of $410,000, it was reported.

With only two more days to go the city of Belleville had still to subscribe $108,250 to reach its objective of $1,260,000. Throughout the county another $197,750 was needed to reach the general sales objective of $3,000,000. Total county objective, including special names and the armed services, is $3,740,000. The armed services exceeded their objective early in the campaign.

C.C.F. Labor Act Ready for Passing By Sask. Govt.

Regina, Nov. 10. (CP) Saskatchewan's controversial Trade Union Act, fathered by the four-month-old C.C.F. Government of Premier T. C. Douglas, appeared today to be well on its way into the statute books, in the face of determined attempts both in and out of the House to delay or block passage of legislation that would give workers collective bargaining rights and make it illegal for employers to engage in unfair labor practices.

The Act—variously described by its proponents and opponents as "model legislation for the whole continent", or "discriminatory, coercive and punitive"—was given second reading by a vote of 41 to five in the legislature last night and now has to run the gamut of third reading debate before it can be made law by royal assent.

F.D.R. RECEIVES

Union station at 9:04 a.m., E.D.T. He had come in by train from his Hyde Park estate about 40 minutes earlier.

A night-long rain almost stopped as the President paused to wave to the crowd and speak briefly into radio microphones.

As the parade swang south toward the capitol and headed along Constitution and Pennsylvania Avenues to the White House, traffic director William A. Van Duzen estimated at least 25,000 men, women and children were gathered in the immediate vicinity of the station. Many additional thousands were packed tightly along the curb along the parade route.

C.N.R. Employees Celebrate Loan Oversubscription by Raising 'V' Flag With Special Ceremony

In the presence of high ranking officials of their district and division, employees of the Belleville division of the Canadian National Railways celebrated their oversubscription toward the Seventh Victory Loan at a special "V" flag presentation ceremony held in front of the north station on Thursday afternoon.

Up until noon on Thursday employees of the Belleville division had subscribed $352,000 or 124 per cent of their $283,000 objective. Mr. O. W. Duff, superintendent of the Belleville division, in complimenting employees on their response to the Victory Loan, stressed the country's need of money at this time and in urging workers to "buy another bond" set a new division objective of $400,000.

At the conclusion of the ceremony Flight Lieut. Nimmo, padre on Trenton Air Station, officially presented the "V" flag to Mr. J. R. Nokes, spokesman for the employees, following which it was hoisted to the top of the flag pole at the base of which was erected the division Victory Loan thermometer.

Officials and Guests Present.

With ranking regional and divisional railway executives, civic officials and Victory Loan representatives seated on the special platform in front of the flag pole, Mr. Newton Thompson, as master of ceremonies, opened the program and introduced Superintendent Duff who extended congratulations to employees. Other C. N. R. district officials to speak during the ceremony were Mr. J. A. Rogers, Assistant General Superintendent of the Central Region, and Mr. R. C. Johnston, General Superintendent for the South Ontario District.

Mayor Rollins spoke briefly to employees and stressed the importance of united effort on the home front as well as on the battle front. He referred to the Canadian National Railways as one of the greatest organizations in Canada and one playing an important vital part of the war effort. He congratulated employees on their response to the loan indicating that by their purchases of bonds they had demonstrated their loyalty to their country, to the fighting forces, to their employer and to themselves.

Urged to Purchase More Bonds.

As guest speaker Flight Lieut. Nimmo pointed out that Victory Bonds purchased today would provide employment for the returning armed forces in the post-war period. He urged employees to continue to purchase bonds and to again over-subscribe the new objective of $400,000.

The station band from No. 6 R. D., under the direction of Bandmaster Sgt. J. Gault, played stirring military airs both before and during the flag raising ceremony. As the "V" flag was run to the top of the flag pole the band lent a patriotic touch as the strains of "O Canada" floated out over the afternoon air.

LONG-RANGE

"The scale of the attacks has not hitherto been significant."

Mr. Churchill described the rocket bombardment as another attempt by the enemy to attack the morale of the civil population.

"Some of the rockets have been fired at us from the island of Walcheren (in southwest Holland) which is now in our hands," he said. "And other areas from which rockets have or could at present be fired against this country will doubtless be overrun by our forces in due course."

(Today's Allied supreme headquarters communique announced that all enemy resistance on Walcheren Island in the Schelde Estuary had ceased, after British units of the 1st Canadian Army had wiped out the few remaining pockets.

The Prime Minister said the rockets fly through the stratosphere going to a height of 60 or 70 miles.

The rockets caused somewhat heavier damage in the immediate vicinity of the crater but rather less extensive blast around the neighborhood where they landed than the flying bombs, he disclosed.

Defending the government's censorship until now of stories on the rocket bomb, Mr. Churchill declared, "The government have been confirmed in this course by the fact that until two days ago the enemy made no mention of the weapon in communiques. By last Wednesday they made an official announcement followed by a number of highly colored accounts."

"I do not propose to comment on it except to say that the statements in this announcement are a good reflection of what the German government would wish their people to believe and of their desperate need to afford them some encouragement."

Mr. Churchill said: "No reliable or sufficient public warning can in present circumstances be given" against a rocket bomb attack. He pointed out that the speed attained by the missiles, which has been described by neutral sources as a "flying telegraph pole," outstrips sound.

Mr. Churchill ended his statement and prepared to answer questions from members of the House.

The Prime Minister was asked whether the starting place of the rockets was known.

He replied: "Naturally this is a matter upon which much attention is concentrated. Should satisfactory intelligence be received no doubt appropriate measures will be taken."

(German propaganda broadcasts asserted yesterday the launching sites of the rocket bombs were so well camouflaged it was impossible for the Allies to find them.)

"On Threshhold of Germany"

Teheran Conference brought magnificent results in bringing the United Nations of the west upon the Continent of Europe in France and to the border of Germany and the Russians close to the Reich on the east. This week Premier-Marshal Stalin spoke of the results which have flowed from the conference in Persia.

Now it is time again for a conference of Churchill, Roosevelt and Stalin, Mr. Churchill told a gathering at the Lord Mayor's luncheon at the Mansion House Thursday, and he took occasion to point to the sportsmanship in defeat of Mr. Dewey, Republican candidate in the United States presidential election and of the model which a democratic election could be "to those states where the question of who is to be in and who is to be out may be one of life and death, to be settled by violence and intrigue and where there may be but a short gap between being the ruler and being the victim."

Mr. Churchill's speech was one of his most powerful pleas for the full maintenance of the attack upon Germany and Japan without the slightest slackening of interest and effort. He did not omit to tell his audience the "full exertions" of Britain, United States and Russia were required to defeat Germany; "every scrap of strength the three great Allied Powers can give to crush down the desperate resistance which we must expect from this military antagonist at last beaten back to his own lair."

He saw the possibility that in another meeting of the three Allied leaders "the sufferings of mankind" might be bridged and "the fearful process of destruction which is now ravaging the earth" stopped.

The fact that Mr. Roosevelt would still be co-operating with himself and Mr. Stalin was commented upon by the British leader who expressed his great joy in these words, "these are months profoundly interwoven with the future of both our countries and also we trust that the future association of our two countries will be interwoven with the peace and progress of the whole world."

The speech contained the hint that next year may see a general election in Britain. As in the United States such an election will if it comes be carried out with vigor and when the vote is taken the will of the majority will rule as it does in the United States. A British election, Mr. Churchill said, would be such as would gratify the political emotions of the British people "without destroying that marvellous underlying unity and sense of brotherhood which has long existed in this country and has reached the highest degree among the perils from which we have been delivered."

Mr. Churchill's words were the militant words of the fighter he has shown himself to be all through his life and especially through this struggle. His were not the words of one who was relaxing, but those of one who will go on hammering mighty blows until the enemy is utterly crushed in his lair.

Air Raids Over Germany

Day after day and night after night the United Nations air power is shattering away Hitler's military, industrial and transportation power. What these great bombloads do hour after hour is something that the average person cannot appreciate.

Mr. Churchill gave a hint of it on Thursday in his address, when he said, "we have not suffered one-tenth and we shall not suffer one-tenth, of what is being meted out to those who first started and developed this cruel and merciless form of attack."

The national crime of Germany is coming back to the German people in a way which they cannot avoid. It is clear that Germany has to be taught a lesson which they can understand. The Germans know force only. The people have not uttered any criticism of the savagery and plotting of Hitler and of the Nazi leaders against world humanity. Not one word of criticism for the brutalities of the German military machine against the people of lands that Germany occupied was heard from Germans. Now the Germans are getting some evidence of the might of powers which can roll up their war strength higher than Hitler can for the bulk of mankind are with the Allied Nations, the lovers of the peace and security for which the United Nations fight.

Air raids have been the messengers of the doom that awaits militant Germany. Now the armies of the Allies are tightening the lines about Germany and the Allies are at the gates of the Hun fortress and have broken into German territory. Now the supreme effort of the Allies are being made to bring the war to an end at the earliest possible date. In Mr. Churchill's striking words, Britain's dominant thought is to end "the frightful slaughter and devastation in Europe within the shortest possible time."

This is what Hitlerism and Nazism have brought upon Germany. The punishment that Germany is receiving is the punishment that comes to those who have permitted the Nazi spirit to dominate Germany. The Germans can have no hope of any let up, rather the blows will intensify as time proceeds until Germany and Der Fuehrer are unable to make war. Hitler seems ready to see German cities flattened into dust and rubble to save his own hide from the punishment that awaits him.

Animals Get Ready for Winter Too

(Ontario Royal Museum News)

With winter just ahead, the provident citizen is making his house weather-proof. Storm doors and windows are being searched out and insulating material—rockwool, sawdust or moss, is being applied to mansion and shack. How do our wild animals meet the wintry blasts, zoologists of the Royal Ontario Museum were asked? For some, the warm-blooded animals, the problem is akin to the human one of keeping warm. The active furry creatures grow a thicker coat, while others hibernate. Most of our birds, like the pre-war wealthy, retreat to warmer climates. For the cold-blooded animals the danger lies in sudden great changes of temperature rather than in continued cold. There are several ways of insulating against these changes. Many of the small crawling things—snails, centipedes, and beetles—find safety under the protecting mantle of forest litter and snow. Others dig down into the soil. The common toad burrows only a few inches, while an earthworm may tunnel four or five feet. Spiders make the best insulation of all. Those kinds that have eggs that winter over spin a fluffy mass of woolly silk around their egg mass. They are the "rockwool" experts of the animal world.

Rough Travel

(Charlottetown Guardian)

Travelling between Montreal and the Maritimes has never been very good, but it must have been at zero when General Wolseley was in Canada in 1870. The future field marshal's duties took him to Riviere du Loup, alias Fraserville, there to make arrangements for the one-night housing of troops (the Grenadier Guards and the Scots Fusilier Guards) who were coming overland by sleigh from Saint John, New Brunswick (the railway was not completed east of Riviere du Loup). His journey took 36 hours from Montreal and was "the most uncomfortable I ever had. The carriages were dirty and stuffy, and the food to be obtained at the stations was simply garbage." As a measure of compensation, he made the acquaintance of the local seigneur at Riviere du Loup, "a man of Scottish descent who, though he could not speak English, maintained the credit of his Scottish forebears by a decided predilection for whisky."

The only thing I have any satisfaction in, as respects myself, is the unconsciousness I have that I love the truth and above all things, have desired to know it.—Horace Bushnell.

WARM AND COOL COLORS

With the coming of winter many people will get out their red flannels, firm in the belief that red flannels are warmer than flannels of any other color.

That red flannel is warmer than flannel of other colors is an old belief that has no basis in fact.

Many people also believe that light-colored clothing is cooler than dark-colored clothing irrespective of the time it is worn. Such is not the case.

Assuming the material to be the same in other respects, there is probably little if any diference in warmth between black and white clothing under ordinary circumstances.

Only in bright sunshine are white clothes materially cooler than dark ones. This is because white material reflects more light than dark material does.

Thus white clothing affords the body more protection from the rays of the sun than does black clothing. Except in the sunshine, the white fur of the polar bear is just as warm as the dark coat of the black bear. The white coats that nature provides for some animals in the winter are apparently designed for protective coloration without reference to warmth.

It is the opinion of some horse experts that black horses are affected more by the heat of the direct sun than white ones are. If that is true, it should also be true of black dogs, cats and other animals as well as dark-skinned people.

Garments of closely woven white fabric are worn in tropical countries to protect the body from the hot sun. Such garments have high reflecting powers and prevent the transmission of ultra-violet rays to the skin. According to the U. S. Bureau of Standards, these rays pass through open-weave fabrics more readily than they do through closely woven ones, but it does not make much difference whether the color is black, white, red or green.

White, however, has been associated with coolness so long that white garments may have a desirable psychological effect in hot weather. The association of the properties of substances with their color is of great antiquity. The notion that red is a warm color and white a cool color may have been suggested by the fact that fire and very hot objects are red while snow and ice are white. Many people are extremely sensitive to colors and the color of their rooms and offices has a decided psychological effect on their mental and physical well being. Red, orange, yellow and black are generally regarded as warm colors and green, blue, violet and white as cool colors.

CANADIAN AUTHOR ADDS NINTH BOOK TO JALNA SERIES

Mazo de la Roche's Stories of the Whiteoak Family Have Had Wide Popularity for 17-Year Period

By ANITA FREEDMAN
(C. P. Staff Writer)

Toronto (CP) — Mazo de la Roche, who says the course of her stories is determined by the characters themselves, has just written her ninth Jalna book.

"The Building of Jalna" (Macmillan) written at her home "Windrush Hill" just north of Toronto, has been made Literary Guild selection for November. Her modest comment on the tremendous achievement of having kept thousands of readers interested in the adventures of the lusty Whiteoaks over a period of 17 years is:

"The characters manipulate the story. I just open the door of Jalna, close it behind me and see what's going on. Often they create an ending I never intended."

The Jalna series, which one critic termed the finest extensive work on a family which the American continent has produced, never started as such.

I didn't intend writing one after the first, nor another one after the second. "However, after the third I foresaw a long intimacy," Miss de la Roche said.

It hasn't been an intimacy with the author alone for the salty Whiteoak family is familiar to Scandinavian, Danish, German, French, Czechoslovakian, Hungarian and even Braille readers. The play "Whiteoaks," not only had a three-year run in London and a run in New York, but in spite of the war still is touring the provinces in England. She has received letters expressing strong and bitter feelings as people write to take sides in the endless Whiteoak arguments.

A Young Old Gran

The newest book, earliest in point of time, shows Adeline, a young Old Gran, arriving from India in 1850.

A Jalna book is about a year in the writing and it emerges from undecipherable notes on the backs of envelopes and doodle-covered sheets of paper. Five—"Jalna," "Whiteoak," "Whiteoak Harvest," "Walkefield's Course" and the most recent—were written in Canada. The others were written either wholly or in part in England where recently her Elizabethan home in Windsor was damaged by a robot bomb.

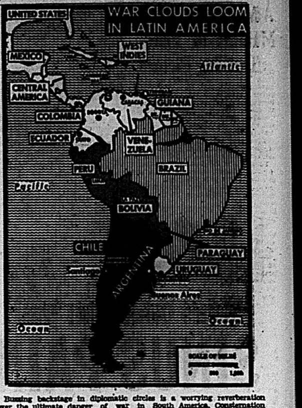
After the ordeal of naming the nine in order—a feat which she accomplished only with much prompting—she suggested modestly that some of her other books had merit, too. Indeed, her thoughtful and imaginative children's stories, tender animal yarns and historical sketches testify to her versatility.

A rough-coated Scottie, Moulin, and a Cairn terrier, Duff, romping about the drawing room may have led her to remark that one book of which is very fond is her "Portrait of a Dog."

Miss de la Roche objects to her books being termed "specifically Canadian." "They are portraits of unusual people who'd be considered unusual anywhere. After all you wouldn't say the Brontes wrote of typical, everyday English people."

Too much has been written in recent years of the necessity for a national literature, she believes. "All that must arise naturally and will in time."

Her own broad taste covers Anthony Trollope, Jane Austen, Willa Cather, the early Galsworthy, Arnold Bennett, Chekov, Aldous Huxley, Somerset Maugham and Virginia Wolfe.



Buzzing backstage in diplomatic circles is a worrying reverberation over the ultimate danger of war in South America. Consternation grows, as Argentine rushes armament, building planes day and night. She could bomb Santiago, capital of Chile, from Mendoza, just across the Andes in 40 minutes, while it would take five hours for Chile to attack Buenos Aires from the air. The unrest is real in Chile, as the Socialist, Communist and Conservative parties, usually vigorously divergent, are united on the fear that Argentine Fascists, looking for a means to keep themselves in power as Hitler did, will make a Czechoslovakia out of Chile. Other Latin Americans are divided: Paraguay, Peru and Bolivia, dotted area on the map above, are Argentine sympathizers, while Brazil, vertical lined area, officially is not.

A CHILD KNOWS WHAT TO WEAR

Every little while some reader chides me for the teaching that exposure is harmless or rather beneficial to health, that is, exposure to sunshine or skyshine if there is no direct sunhine, regardless of the season climate or weather and with regard only for physical comfort.

It is not my intention to say that discomfort or suffering from cold or dampness does one any good. On the other hand I do say that short of frostbite cold or dampness does one no harm.

From all the experimental, scientific and practical evidence we have, especially the everyday experience of people who are exposed to cold and wet, it is overwhelmingly manifest, I believe, that cold and dampness have nothing whatever to do with either respiratory diseases of joint or "rheumatic" troubles which are so often ascribed to cold and dampness.

It is not the cold nor the wet or dampness that accounts for greater prevalence of respiratory diseases and joint or "rheumatic" troubles in colder, damper climate, weather or season of year. Rather, I am convinced, it is the greater care ignorant or misinformed people take in such climate, weather or season to avoid exposure — to protect their skin from daylight. Of course the poor geeks think they are wise to coddle themselves from the imaginary danger of cold and wet, when actually they are foolishly refusing to take as a gift precisely what other poor geeks with plenty of jack and time on their hands pay for—skyshine—that's what they change climate for.

Mind, I do not advise exposure in any circumstance if it is physically uncomfortable. But despite what granma or Aunt Minervy thinks about it I do insist that any child who is not an imbecile knows better than you or granma or I do when he or she is not comfortable, and so far as health is concerned the child's judgment as to what he or she wears or goes without is better than yours or granma's or mine and should prevail.

QUESTIONS & ANSWERS

So There's a Law Against It?

We understand that there is a law that requires city hospitals to exclude the husband or other relative from the delivery room.

(L.E.F.)

Answer—That's nonsense. If a husband is a man and not a mouse of course he will be at his wife's side during the delivery—and he will not let any trick of the hospital or the doctor exclude him from the duty and privilege. I'd hesitate to trust a hospital or a doctor that objected to the presence of the husband in the delivery room—or a husband who meekly accepts the role of stooge imposed on him by some hospitals and some doctors.

Eighteen

I am eighteen, will soon take physical examination for induction into the army or navy. I am fit, as far as I know, except that I am only 62 inches tall and weigh 98 pounds. (S.M.)

Answer—If you provide stamped self addressed envelope I'll mail you pamphlet "How to Gain Weight." No attention will be paid to clippings or to unsigned requests.

The Baby Specialist

My grandson, six weeks old, was taken to a Pediatrician who diagnosed colic and prescribed (a small dose) of phenobarbital before each feeding—he is a bottle baby. When my daughter was pregnant she took membutal capsules all the time.

(Mrs. E. W. A.)

Answer—The dope habit or the craving for the drug (barbiturates) it engenders may be transmitted to a child. This trick specialist who prescribes the dope on the pretext of "colic" must be a humdinger. For the baby's sake you should go to any length to break up the conspiracy.

Dry Scalp and Falling Hair

Having must trouble with dry scalp and hair falling out, in fact showing a little baldness at the back...hair specialist said unless something done at once would be entirely bald in a year or two—asks $200 for 40 treatments. (D.L.B.)

Answer—Hair quack, you should say. Send stamped envelope bearing your address, and ask for (do not use clipping) pamphlet "Care of the Hair and Scalp."

Menopause

If you have any printed matter on behavior during the menopause I should appreciate it.

((Mrs. K. E.C.)

Answer—I have a pamphlet about Menopause, but not about behavior—behavior is not affected by the menopause. For the pamphlet send a stamped envelope bearing your address.

Girl Bell Ringer Sets World Record

Leicester, England (CP) — Fifteen year old Jill Poole set a world record in bell ringing when she took part in the ringing of the Cambridge Surprise Maximus at Leicester Cathedral. The ringing of 12 bells involved 280 changes and took three hours and 59 minutes to complete.

The youngest ringer ever to take part in such intricate exercises, Miss Poole took up bell ringing when she was 13. She is the daughter of H. J. Poole, secretary of the National Guild of Police Bell Ringers.

Bishop Writes to Nazi-Held Diocese

London (CP) — Dr. Mervyn Haigh, Bishop of Winchester since 1942, admits with a smile that he has written for the German-controlled press in the Channel Islands.

The Islands are his diocese but he hasn't been able to visit them yet. Recently he sent a message of good wishes to the clergy and laity there and the Germans permitted the local newspapers to print it.

The bishop said he plans to visit the Islands as soon as they are liberated.

Alice Duer Miller Made Poetry Sell

New York (CP) — One of the publishing trade's standard axioms runs, "Poverty never sells." There have been others such as "Farm novels never sell," and once publishers held their beards out of their mugs of nut-brown ale and declared "Civil War novels never sell."

Margaret Mitchell put the final skids under that last, even though other Civil War books have sold besides "Gone With the Wind."

Poetry has had a habit of selling best after a poet's death, altho' one or two others have done well enough while still among the quick. But the late Alice Duer Miller, whose chief reputation has been in prose, has had the last word on poetical success.

Mrs. Miller's "The White Cliffs" has done the job. Thomas R. Coward of Coward and McCann, publishers happened to hear in July, 1940, by the literary grapevine that Mrs. Miller had finished a longing poem about England. Mrs. Coward was not Mrs. Miller's publisher — his chief contact with her had been over a proposal that she write a popular book on mathematics, since she was a mathematician before she became a writer. She never did the book, but Denning Miller, her son, finally did.

Anyway, Mr. Coward called Mrs. Miller's agent, who said she would be delighted if he would publish "The White Cliffs." Mr. Coward says part of this pleasure may have been due to the fact that the manuscript already had been rejected by a "considerable number of distinguished publishers."

The book was published at $1 on September 16, 1940, and Mr. Coward recalls with a grin that it had an advance sale of exactly 800 copies. Nor did it begin to move until early the next month; by October's end, Lynn Fontanne had broadcast the poem twice, and very movingly, with the result that 9,777 copies had been sold.

That was the beginning of the landslide. By the end of the year 43,781 people had bought "The White Cliffs"; 138,185 bought it in 1941; next year 41,965 copies were sold, and last year 20,774 copies. Then another factor entered the field, to wit, the movies.

"The White Cliffs of Dover" sold 30,782 copies of "The White Cliffs" through August, making a grand total in the United States of 257,507. But the interesting thing about this is that in August of this year, alone, Mrs. Miller's poem sold nearly half as many copies as it did in all 12 months of 1943. And here are some other oddments:

Miss Fontanne recorded the poem for Victor, which has sold nearly 50,000 albums at $3.50. In England, where large editions are almost impossible because of the war, the sale has been about 300,000 copies and in Canada nearly 40,000.

London Presents Snappy Fashions

London (CP) — Spring fashion shows now are being held in London—not for the women who will wear them but for the buyers from all parts of the country.

They indicate that woman who can afford to pay well can look forward to buying clothes made of first-class materials. There isn't a single "utility" garment in the shows although the clothes all are in austerity styles.

There are suits in thin tweeds and light-weight woollens, tailored dresses in fine wools, evening and restaurant frocks in satin-backed crepe and topcoats in a great variety of materials.

Favorite colors are black, emerald, moss green, tomato red and royal blue.

Jackets are either short and boxy or have a well-defined waistline, and some have a flared basque. Buttons and pockets are of all shapes and sizes. The newest pockets are draped to give a pannier effect on each side of the dress.

The figure likely to be asked for a new spring suit is likely to be £30 (about $135.) A fancy moire evening outfit with a jacket will likely cost about £40.

With His Rifle Unloaded Brings in 2 Armed Huns

Somewhere in Italy, Nov. 10 — (AP) — Pte. Charles L. Winkler, of Yale, Mich., captured two German paratroopers in the mountains south of the Po Valley and marched them nearly a mile to military police. One had a machine pistol and the other a revolver. They came calmly when they saw Winkler's rifle. Winkler discovered his gun was empty as he began the march back to his company. He kept it secret.

SUB ACTIVITY LOWER

London, Nov. 10 —(CP)— German submarine activity in October was materially lower than any other month of the war, an Anglo-American Government statement said last night. The statement, issued under authority of President Roosevelt and Prime Minister Churchill, said "in consequence of which the number of United Nations' merchant vessels sunk by German submarines during the month was also the lowest of any month of the entire war."

Mayor Appeals for Poppy Day

Urges That Everyone Should Wear A Poppy On Remembrance Day

Mayor Harry Rollins has issued the following appeal for Poppy Day on Saturday morning, when Poppies will be sold in aid of Canadian Legion and A.N.V.C. welfare work:

TO OUR CITIZENS:

Saturday, November 11th. has been designated as Poppy Day in Belleville.

The Sacrifices made by our Canadian men and women during the fateful years 1914-1918 and in the present conflict, are again recalled as we observe Remembrance Day, and a thankful people hold in grateful remembrance the courage and heroism of our soldiers, sailors and airmen, who have given their lives in the cause of Freedom.

The proceeds from the sale of these Poppies has helped heal the scars made by the acts of war, and has brought comfort, courage and practical aid to many in distress.

The difficult conditions existing at the present time offer a challenge to us to respond even more generously than usual to this appeal.

Let everyone feel it a duty and a privilege to wear a Poppy on Remembrance Day, Saturday, November 11th., and in so doing strengthen the hands of these organizations in their splendid work.

REVEALS "TRICK"

Gaston Madru, photographer for "News of the Day" newsreel demonstrates the trick he used during the German occupation of France as he went about taking pictures of Germans without being discovered. Madru concealed his camera in a market basket on the front of his bike, the trigger attached to a black string running around to his hand. To conceal any possible glitter from the sun on his lens, he filled the rest of the basket with bottles, all of which glittered distractingly. Madru illustrates here his procedure of putting bottles and jars in the basket to conceal his camera.

New Gains Made In Chin Hills

Kandy, Ceylon, Nov. 10 — (CP-Reuter)— New gains east of Fort White in the Chin hills, taking the Indian 5th Division nearer to the Chindwin River in Burma, were reported in today's Southeast Asia Command communique.

The Chindwin flows into the Irrawaddy River southwest of Mandalay and the new gains open the prospect of a concerted push into the Japanese-held valleys north of that city.

Farther north, in the Chindwin Valley, East African forces have won new ground. In the Irrawaddy valley, Chinese forces have extended their positions east of the British drive towards Katha.

"CYCLEMOTE" TORONTO

Indications are, that there will be a gradual increase in some lines of goods for civilian use depending, of course, on the availability of material and production facilities. This should result in the accentuated production of C.C.M. products, and on this assumption we are planning as follows:

C.C.M. BICYCLES AND "SPARES"

Bicycles, being recognized as necessary for essential transportation, and as the materials for bicycle manufacturing will be made available much quicker than material for products not so essential for public use, we predict that the production of bicycles and "spares" will be increased rapidly from this time forward. We anticipate that by the spring of 1945 many more bicycles will be available.

C.C.M. JOYCYCLES AND OTHER JUVENILE VEHICLES

Juvenile vehicles for "Young Canada", C.C.M. Joycycles, Bike-Wagons, Joyriders will be produced in quantities in the spring of next year, depending, of course, on the supply of manufacturing materials.

C.C.M. SKATES, SKIS AND HOCKEY STICKS

C.C.M. Skate and Shoe Matched Sets, C.C.M. Laminated Hockey Sticks and Skis will be produced in limited quantities, and are expected to be in C.C.M. dealers' stocks on or about the first week of December of this year. One popular model of C.C.M. Figure Skates is also expected to be ready on or about the same period. We regret, however, that C.C.M. Figure Skating Shoes will not be available this year.

We wish to thank our dealers for the way they have co-operated with us in serving the public under trying conditions which, unfortunately, may still prevail for some time.

Yours very truly,
CANADA CYCLE AND MOTOR COMPANY LIMITED

President and General Manager.

SOCIAL AND PERSONAL

ENGAGEMENT NOTICE

Mr. and Mrs. P. J. Black, 638 Windermere Ave., Toronto, wish to announce the engagement of their eldest daughter, Georgina Craig, to Writer Thomas James Haslip, of the R.C.N.V.R., Kingston, only son of Mr. and Mrs. David Haslip, of Belleville; the marriage to take place in Toronto, on Nov. 18, 1944.

Elaine McTaggart is a patient in the Belleville General Hospital.

Mr. and Mrs. Jas. Cowan, 1 Forin Street, are attending the funeral of Mrs. T. J. Gallagher, Toronto.

Messrs. F. Ray, A. Mulvey and E. Shorey have left for Buck Lake on a deer hunting trip.

Mr. and Mrs. Fred Motley and daughter, Sylvia, were recent guests in Deseronto, of Mrs. C. Demille.

Sgt. Ron Pope, of the R.A.F., whose home is at St. Helen's, Lancashire, England, is spending a furlough with Mr. and Mrs. Albert McGowan, Marshall Road.

Mrs. Josephine Wiggins, Coleman Street, is celebrating her 83rd, birthday today. She is very active and takes an enthusiastic part in all the women's organization activities of Christ Church.

Mrs. C. Graham, 35 Great St. James Street, received word that her son, Tpr. Harold Graham, now serving with the 1st Canadian Army in Belgium, was wounded in the back and left hand on October 19. He has been serving overseas since March.

Mrs. R. A. Elliott and two daughters, Mary and Jean, formerly of Deloro, have taken up residence at 168 Albert Street, in the city. Their departure is a considerable loss to Deloro, where they were very active in war work. Mrs. Elliott has an enviable record in the Deloro Red Cross Circle for the extraordinary amount of knitting she has accomplished during the past five years.

The supper meeting of the Teachers' Federation met at the Y.M.C.A. on Wednesday. Miss Olive Elson welcomed Mr. and Mrs. Kells and also guests from Thurlow and Prince Edward County. Following the business session, Mr. Kells gave a very informative address on Educational Finance. Miss Irene Grills expressed the appreciation of the Association.

WEDDINGS

THOMPSON—HAMMOND

The United Church parsonage, West Huntingdon, was the scene of a quiet but pretty wedding on Wednesday, Nov. 8th., at eleven o'clock, when Rev. O. E. Wagar of Ivanhoe, united in marriage Marjorie Ella, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Frank Hammond, of Stirling, and Kenneth Samuel, son of Mr. and Mrs. Gilbert Thompson, of Moira.

The living room of the parsonage was beautifully decorated with pink and white chrysanthemums and asters.

The bride wore a two-piece dress of heavenly blue crepe with black accessories and corsage of American Beauty roses.

Marion Hammond, sister of the bride, was her only attendant and wore rose amanda crepe with black accessories and corsage of Talisman roses.

Milton Thompson, brother of the groom, was best man.

A small reception was held at the bride's home for the immediate families.

Amid showers of good wishes the happy couple left for Theresa, New York, the bride travelling in a dress of gold wool crepe and black accessories.

On their return, they will reside on the groom's farm at Moira.

FARRELL—O'CONNOR

Grace United Church parsonage, Trenton, was the scene of a pretty Autumn wedding on Thursday evening, November 2, at 6 p.m. when Rev. J. G. McKee united in marriage Rita Corrine, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Bartley O'Connor, Perth, Ont., and AB. Robert Henry Farrell, R.C.N.V.R., son of Mr. and Mrs. Henry Farrell, 529 Front Street, Trenton, Ontario.

The bride wore a gown of white brocaded satin. Her only ornament consisted of double strand pearls and matching earrings. Her finger-tip veil was caught to a halo of apple blossoms and she carried a shower bouquet of pink and white roses and baby's breath.

The bride's attendant was Mrs. Raymond Orr, Trenton, Ont., gowned in a powder blue net dress. She wore a finger-tip veil and carried a bouquet of baby's breath and chrysanthemums.

The groom was attended by AB. Clarence Pickell, R.C.N.V.R., of Trenton.

A reception was held at the home of the groom's parents for a few immediate naval friends of the bride and groom. The groom's mother received in navy blue crepe. The table was beautifully decorated with pink and white streamers.

The happy couple left amidst showers of confetti, the bride wearing a grey check wool suit with black accessories for travelling.

The bride will reside in Trenton. The groom will return to duties on board H.M.C.S. Kootenay.

Pies Designed To Become Favorites

The swain who told the lady of his choice he loved her "as a New Englander loves pie" may have lacked something in romantic appeal (history does not tell how the lady responded to his declaration) but at least he was expressing an unwavering devotion. For New Englanders are noted for their fondness for pies, even at breakfast.

But a liking for pie is not confined to New England. There's scarcely a man in Canada who wouldn't vote pie his favourite dessert and it's a smart girl who masters the art of making a really good pie well in advance of the wedding day.

Today the Consumer Section of the Dominion Department of Agriculture offers something out-of-the-ordinary in the pie line; recipes designed to become top favourites with all the family.

Cheeseapple Pie

Pie paste
6 medium-sized apples
1-3 to 1-2 cup brown sugar
1-4 teaspoon cinnamon
1-8 teaspoon nutmeg
1-8 teaspoon salt
1 tablespoon cornstarch
1 tablespoon butter
1 tablespoon lemon juice
1-2 teaspoon grated lemon rind
1 cup grated cheese

Line a 9-inch pie plate with pastry. Peel, core and slice apples thinly. Combine sugar, spices, salt and cornstarch and sift over the apples, stirring gently until well coated. Place apples in layers in the pie shell. Dot with butter and sprinkle with lemon juice and rind. Bake, without a top crust in a hot oven, 425°F, for 25 to 30 minutes. Remove from oven, sprinkle cheese over pie and return to oven to melt cheese. Serve hot or cold. Yield: one 9-inch pie.

Lemon Cream Pie

1-2 cup sugar
2 1-2 tablespoons cornstarch
1-8 teaspoon salt
1 1-2 cups milk
2 egg yolks, well beaten
1-4 cup lemon juice
1-4 teaspoon grated lemon rind
1 baked 9-inch pie shell
2 egg whites
2 tablespoons sugar

Combine sugar, cornstarch, salt, milk and beaten egg yolks and cook in top of double boiler until thick, stirring frequently. Add lemon juice and rind. Cool custard slightly. Fill baked pie shell. Top with a meringue made from the 2 egg whites and 2 tablespoons sugar and brown in a moderate oven, 325°F. Yield: one 9-inch pie.

Chocolate Mint Pie

1 tablespoon gelatin
1-4 cup cold water
1-2 cup boiling water
2 squares (2 oz.) unsweetened chocolate
3 eggs
1-2 cup granulated sugar
1-4 teaspoon salt
2 drops oil of peppermint
2 tablespoons sugar
1 baked 9-inch pie shell.

Soak gelatin in the cold water for five minutes. Cook chocolate in boiling water, beating until smooth. Remove from heat, add gelatin and stir until dissolved. Separate the eggs, beat yolks slightly and add sugar and salt. Gradually add the chocolate mixture. Add peppermint and chill until partially set. Whip the egg whites until stiff and gradually beat in the two tablespoons of sugar. Fold into chocolate mixture, pour into baked pie shell and chill until set. Makes one 9-inch pie.

Cocoa Pastry

1 3-4 cup sifted all-purpose flour
OR 2 cups sifted pastry flour
3 tablespoons cocoa
2 tablespoons sugar
1-4 teaspoon salt
1-4 teaspoon cinnamon (optional)
2-3 cup mild-flavoured fat
1-2 cup cold water (approximately)

Sift flour, cocoa, sugar, salt and cinnamon (if used) together. Using two knives or a pastry blender, cut in the fat until mixture resembles fine crumbs. Gradually add water until dough clings together. Roll out and line 9-inch pie plates. Prick and bake at 425°F. for 10 to 15 minutes. Use with a plain cream filling. Yield 2 shells.

Organ Recital Sunday For War Victims Fund

Mr. Alec S. Gordon, well-known in the Belleville district for his artistry at the pipe organ, will present an organ recital at Bridge Street United Church on Sunday evening following the regular church service, the proceeds to be turned over to the British War Victims' Fund.

In previous years Mr. Gordon has presented a series of organ recitals for the benefit of recognized war charities, all of them being well received by an appreciative music loving public. It is expected Sunday evening's concert will be equally well received. Assisting Mr. Gordon in his program of eight varied organ numbers will be Mrs. Phyllis Barkley, accomplished local vocalist, who will be heard in two numbers.

Foxboro Presbyterian Guild Holds Dinner

The regular monthly dinner and meeting of the Foxboro Presbyterian Guild was held in the church on Wednesday. A large crowd was present and over $12 was realized from the dinner. The program for the afternoon was prepared by Mrs. Charles Bailey and Miss Watt. Bessie Spencer presided. There was prayer by Mrs. S. Townsend and a Bible reading by Mrs. Jack Juby. An enjoyable solo was given by one of the oldest members, Mrs. Charles Hetherington, who sang and played her own accompaniment on the piano.

Several ladies gave readings and Mrs. Bailey gave the topic, "The Origin of the World Day of Prayer".

Mrs. S. Scott read a poem. Mrs. Clem Ketcheson received the offering and Rev. Mr. MacDonald closed the meeting with prayer.

Anniversary Services

On Sunday, the anniversary services of the Foxboro Presbyterian church were held. Guest minister for the day was Rev. E. C. Kidd, of Gananoque. Both services were well attended by neighborhood friends of the congregation. Special music was prepared by the choir. Thank-offering amounted to $291 for the day.

MICA DEPOSIT NEAR INTERSECTION

North Bay, Nov. 10 —(CP)— John Pardiac of North Bay thinks he's found a mica deposit near the intersection of Hammond Street and Laurier Avenue, and his request to barricade parts of those streets so a shaft may be sunk has been referred to the Public Works Committee.

Young People's Group Stresses Importance Leadership Training

With emphasis being placed on the importance of leadership training as a measure of stimulating church interest the first meeting of the new executive of the South Hastings Young People's was held recently at Albert College under the direction president-elect Mr. Ray Gunsolus. A full representation of the association executive were present as well as several other interested in young people's work.

In mapping out a program of leadership training for the current season it was decided at the meeting that the president of each local union, together with the minister and appointed conveners should be responsible for training schools in the proposed areas.

Conveners appointed as members of the above committees were: Belleville, Maude Burke, Grace McAuley and John Weese; Centenary, Douglas Harder; Plainfield, Rev. G. T. MacKenzie and Frank Foster; Shannonville, Rev. Lougheed; Stirling, H. Hagerman; Trenton, Isabel Hearn.

Consideration was given to the advisability of holding a band concert, the proceeds of which would go to the Medical Missions, while a committee was also appointed to make arrangements for the annual skating party usually held at Stirling. In accordance with a previous experiment, consideration was given to the possibility of members of the district executive visiting local unions to explain and assist in group problems and to further interest in the Forward Movement.

Women's Activities

COLLEGE HILL WOMEN'S GROUP

The regular monthly meeting of the College Hill Women's Group was held at the home of Mrs. J. L. Bird on Wednesday with 23 persons present including visitors.

In the absence of the President, Mrs. J. Thomson presided. Mrs. Wagg had charge of the devotional part. Mrs G. Stanton read a paper entitled "Ordinary living in the Five Years of War". Mrs. F. Jeffery rendered a solo and Mrs. Rose gave a reading entitled "Don't Quit".

The treasurer reported $25.64 in the treasury. Seven ditty bags were filled, one baby's layette, three quilts, five articles clothing, and four pairs of knitted socks were forwarded to the Red Shield.

Arrangements for the December meeting were made to be held at Miss Wilder's. A social half hour was spent. Lunch and a cup of tea brought the meeting to a close.

Public Library To Hold Book Week for Children

The Children's Book Week is to be held Nov. 13th to the 18th. Its slogan is "United Through Books". There will be a display of children's books in the upper hall of the Corby Public Library during Book Week. Parents, teachers and children are invited to visit us and to look at the books, and we hope many people will be interested.

The slogan gives us the broad view of peoples of many countries of the world united because they read the same books. This fact is well given in the magazine "Child Life" for November, and it is an editorial for the children to read. It is as follows:

"United through books" gives us a nice thought to hold to, as we read and re-read our favorite books and discover other favorites among the new books. When you and your friends grow up you will have a great deal in comon with young people in other countries, because you have learned so much about them and the way they live through the lovely books about distant lands and peoples which bring you so many happy hours now. When peace comes again the children in many other countries will have our good American and Canadian stories to read and enjoy. Isn't it true that people who like the same things should be friends in minds and hearts even though they may never meet face to face? Books can help to lay the basis for such friendship. Perhaps you may live to see the time when the nations of the world are so friendly that they can live together in peace and spend their fighting energies in making the world a better place for everyone. You may even help to bring that wonderful time closer.

"You may feel that many people in your country, in your own town, and school are very different from you. No doubt they are. Wouldn't it be dull if people were all alike? Good books help us to understand the reasons why some people seem so different. Knowing the reasons we can be more understanding toward those people and in time we may find that in many important ways they are not different at all.

"All through our lives books are friends which make life richer and fuller. You know how a book shared at home brings the family closer together. It is so much fun to laugh over the funny things together and to talk over a really good story."

This same unity of feeling and spirit may be felt when we know families in other countries are enjoying and thinking of the same books as we are.

BRITISH CASUALTY—ITALY

A British infantryman brings in a casualty from the Savio river area. After the fall of Cesena on Oct. 19, the River Savio was the next obstacle in the path of the 8th Army to the Lombardy Plains. Most of the bridges were blown up by the Germans and it was with considerable effort that the British were able to construct Bailey bridges to cross the span.

The War Today—

Hun Aim in Long Range Rocket Bombing to Try to Lower Morale

By DEWITT MACKENZIE
(Associated Press War Analyst)

Resumption of indiscriminate bombing of civilians in Britain by the Germans—this time with the new long-range rocket, as announced by Prime Minister Churchill today—has brought from a distinguished reader the advocacy of retaliation in kind on German civilians.

It's easy to understand the urge to retaliate against such diabolical practices. That's human nature. However, we must answer the question of whether it would be justifiable. Our reader justifies it with the claim that brute force is "the only thing the Prussian mentality can understand.

The German purpose in inflicting such a horror is, as Mr. Churchill says, to attack civilian morale—and it's solely for that purpose. The Nazis haven't invented any method of controlling these new weapons so that they can be confined to military objectives.

This new attack comes after several weeks of relief from the frightful assaults with the robots. Fortunately Mr. Churchill was able to say that the scale of the rocket attacks "has not hitherto been significant" and that there is no need to exaggerate the danger. Unfortunately, that couldn't be said of the robot, which is also known as the "V-1," the flying bomb and the buzz bomb.

Now the Nazis are at it again with their new V-2 weapon, should the Allies try to halt this by retaliating on German civilians? Since it's Britons who are being bombed, I'll let the answer come from one of them—Brig.-Gen. Horace Sewell, the military commentator. He says:

"The Allies' sole aim at present is to win the war as quickly as possible by defeating the German forces on the ground and in the air. Destruction of German industries, organizations, system of communications and military installations is an essential step in bringing about the military defeat of Germany, but indiscriminate raids on German cities for the sole purpose of lowering the morale of the civilian population is not justifiable and therefore will not be adopted by any of the United Nations."

Curtin in Hospital Owing to Strain

Canberra, Australia, Nov. 10—(CP)—Prime Minister John Curtin is in a hospital for rest and probably will not be able to return to work before January, Francis K. Forde, Army Minister and Deputy Premier, announced today. "Mr. Curtin's health has become affected, involving some strain on the heart, as a result of his heavy continued burden of official duties," Mr. Forde reported.

"I hope this doesn't mean he's eaten up all the Grape-Nuts Flakes. I could go for a bowlful right now."

"Sh—I'm not telling Junior yet, but I bought another giant economy package at the grocer's this morning."

Air Agreement Not Likely To Materialize

By FRANK FLAHERTY
(Canadian Press Staff Writer)

Chicago, Nov. 10—(CP)—Prospects of a permanent international aviation agreement covering technical and operating standards, allocation of routes and freedom of the air emerging from the international conference on civil aviation diminished today as fundamental differences between national points of view remained sharp.

It is likely, however, that an agreement of more limited scope will emerge and, if the bigger thing is not attained, the conference may make some general declaration designed to facilitate conclusion of a wider agreement later.

The more limited agreement would cover technical matters, such as rules of the air, methods of landing, operating of airports and customs procedure.

It would also create an international body on an interim basis with consultative powers and with instructions to draft a permanent agreement for submission to a later conference.

Discussion of the merits of control favored by the United Kingdom and Canada as well as some European and other British Commonwealth states and lack of control as favored by the United States and, it is believed, most Latin-American states, went on at a lively pace yesterday.

The fact none of the British Commonwealth countries has yet submitted international route proposals is the subject of much comment among the United States representatives and observers.

They are wondering whether these route proposals which the United States is encouraging all countries to put in are being held back in some sort of bargaining move with a view to getting the United States to make concessions on its opposition to an international authority to allocate routes, frequencies and rates.

Not Last German Secret Weapon Says Announcer

London, Nov. 10—(CP)—German commentator Wilfried Von Oven, in the first German radio reaction to Prime Minister Churchill's V-2 disclosures in Commons, declared today the V-2 rocket would not be the last German secret weapon.

Asserting Mr. Churchill "had to admit" the existence of V-2, Von Oven said the Germans never had contended V-2 was a "war-winning weapon." He stressed "an entirely new weapon" had been produced, despite "the ordeal of the heaviest air warfare unleashed against us and the strain imposed on us in the sixth year of the war."

Kweilin, Liuchow Taken by Japs

New York, Nov. 10. (AP)—Japanese broadcasts claimed the capture today of Kweilin and Liuchow in China.

The Japanese official news agency Domei said the Chinese 31st Army had "completely surrendered" at noon today in Kweilin, capital of Kwangsi Province and defence pivot for southeastern China.

The dispatch, in Romanized Japanese to enemy-occupied Asia and recorded by U.S. government monitors, said news of capture was carried in a dispatch from the Kwangsi front. The Chinese have said Kweilin would be "China's Stalingrad".

Tokyo radio earlier claimed capture of Liuchow, U.S. 14th Air Force forward base in Kwangsi.

MacDonald to Lead British Labor Party

London, Nov. 10—(CP Cable)—The return to Britain next month of Malcolm Macdonald, United Kingdom High Commissioner in Canada, to lead the National Labor Party in the next general election, was forecast today by two London newspapers.

Following up an Ottawa report that the High Commissioner is to leave his Canadian post, the Daily Herald and the Daily Sketch said he was returning to active politics after an exchange of correspondence with his five National Labor colleagues in Parliament.

The Party founded by the High Commissioner's father, the late Ramsay Macdonald, will contest the election independent of any other movement, the newspapers said.

Indian Family Has Notable War Record

Saskatoon (CP)—Chief Joe Dreaver of the Mistawasis Indian reserve in Saskatchewan, is one person who knows the meaning of war.

The day war was declared Chief Dreaver arrived in Saskatoon with all the boys of military age in the reserve. There were 14 of them, among them his three sons. All enlisted in the Canadian army.

The years that followed saw little group scattered but on October 6 it suffered its first death. Sgt. Harvey Dreaver was killed in Italy. The reserve was also notified that Pte. Sam Dreaver of Leask, Sask., an uncle of Harvey's had been wounded.

Chief Dreaver has an outstanding military record himself. A veteran of the First Great War, he is now a member of the Veterans Guard of Canada guarding Nazi prisoners of war at Medicine Hat, Alta.

Recently he visited Saskatoon to meet his son George, discharged after service overseas, Henry, acting chief, and his daughters, Myrtle of the CWAC, and Gladys, a member of the RCAF (WD). After the reunion he returned to the reservation for a memorial service in honor of his son.

Army Strong Man Likes Needlework

London (CP)—Gunner John Callaghan of the Royal Artillery, 32, of Battersea, weighs 196 pounds and is reputed to be one of the strongest men in England.

With his bare hands he can punch a six-inch nail into wood five inches thick. He can bend iron bars on his neck. He lets 16 men tug at a rope around his head. Since enlisting he has been giving "health and strength" exhibitions to the forces.

His hobby is needlework.

"People always associate trouble and rowdyism with a fighter," says Callaghan, a wrestler in peacetime, "but I like needlework because it's peaceful and gives me a mental tonic."

Brothers Reunited After Fifty Years

By ADELAIDE M. LEITCH
(Canadian Press Correspondent)

Midland (CP)—The story of Harry and Tom Scott reads like a fairy tale—two brothers separated when children, living separate, yet in many cases parallel lives in opposite corners of the Dominion until, after 53 years, they are brought together by a birth certificate.

One of them is Thomas Scott, 59 Quebec Street, Midland; the other is Harry Scott, 1650 East Third Ave., Vancouver. Although separated and not even knowing if the other was alive, yet there was instant recognition when the Vancouver Scotts stepped off the train at Midland Station.

"There he is," each brother said to his wife. They would have recognized each other anywhere.

It all started when Harry Scott found he needed his birth certificate. Toronto couldn't help him, having no contact with the people who knew him. Remembering that her husband had a brother who at one time lived in Midland, Mrs. Scott took matters into her own hands and wrote to the chief of police, who for the next day or two, spent considerable time ringing doorbells and asking all the Scotts in town if they had a brother Tom.

Quebec Street was the last call. From then on it was simply a matter of exchanging air mails and arranging a visit.

Separated in 1891

The last time the brothers saw each other was in 1891 when Tom, 11, and Harry, 8, took the train north from Toronto to live on Ontario farms.

Harry's destination was Clear Lake, Muskoka, and for five long years all he can remember is the "lickings I got." At 13 he was working in a mill at Wood Lake, and after that there followed a succession of logging camps until eventually he reached Falconburg.

He went west in 1903, journeying up the Caribou as far as Quesnel, working in Kamloops, Revelstoke, and finally ending up at the Vancouver shipyards where he is at present employed. His wife is an English girl who came to Vancouver from Cumberland.

While this was happening to Harry, Tom stayed on a farm near Midland for two years, and then went to work in the bush. Several years of that and then he went west as a harvester. Later he returned to Ontario for mill work. Thirty-five years ago he came to Midland, and 15 years later went to work for the Midland Public Utilities where he has been ever since. He, too, married an Old Country girl, Margaret Stevenson, two years out from Scotland.

Many times the brothers' paths almost crossed. Both served overseas at the same time and fought in the same battles—Vimy, Passchendaele, Arras, Amiens—without knowing the other was nearby.

The only thing that surprised the brothers on meeting was that Tom's five-foot-five and Harry's five-foot-nine were much shorter and much taller than expectations.

Using Rockets Against Antwerp

London, Nov. 10—(CP)—Berlin announced today that V-2 rocket bombs were being used against Antwerp, a principal key to the Allies' winter campaign against Germany. "Increased bombardment may be expected to make the harbor installations of Antwerp unsuited for unloading of troops and material on a major scale," the D.N.B. agency broadcast.

Women's Books Are Guild Selections

Toronto (CP)—Canadian women are doing more than holding their own in the field of contemporary literature.

It may be the war which has focussed attention on the work of women in general but two Canadian women's books have been chosen Literary Guild selections for consecutive months.

Gwethalyn Graham's "Earth and High Heaven," the much-discussed story of the love of a Jew and a Gentile, was the Guild's choice for October. "The Building of Jalna," by Mazo de la Roche, ninth in the popular Jalna stories, is the selection for November.

Brass Hats Say It In "Simple Style"

London (CP)—The War Office wants its staff to use plain English. It wants words and phrases like "terminate", "furnish your remarks", "until such time as", and "facilitate" to leave the War Office vocabulary in favor of "end," "say," "until" and "help."

There is a new order about it, officially described as "austerity typing." But the typists and others affected are having a quiet laugh about it.

The order is one of the most verbose they have ever seen. It says:

"Nothing is more conducive to long-winded and stilted writing than the use of a formal, pedantic or polysyllabic substitute for the natural word or expression that first comes to mind."

"There will be occasions, relatively rare, when they will be wanted, quite legitimately, to convey a different shade of meaning."

"They should never be used simply because it is thought that they sound more official, more formal, more stylish or more impressive than their everyday equivalents.

St. Michael's Grid Squad Wins From B.C.I. by 23-4 To Repeat in COSSA District

Seniors Go Through Schedule So Far Without Defeat

Champions and repeaters!

That's what St. Michael's Academy gridders are in the Bay of Quinte Senior Interscholastic COSSA six-man conference today. It all came about when the local "Irish" downed Belleville Collegiate 23 to 4 on the latter's campus yesterday afternoon. Regardless as to remaining games Coach Jack Doran's squad just went home in consecutive games again.

Open Early

It was Dick Fitzpatrick's unerring pitching of forward passes, that carried the "Irish" to another abbreviated football title, as the St. Mikes' quarterback used his perfect passing arm to account for the winner's first two major tries and clinch the day's honors.

The opening score came from a long pass from Fitzpatrick's pitching into the waiting arms of Jerry Moher, who romped the extra yards for the opening score. "Stew" Wood, who carried the Collegiate burden hard, but well on his manly shoulders, booted a point for the "Collegians" after Fitzpatrick had converted the initial try, as Wood brought the score to 6-1 for the Irish.

Ahead at Half Time

Fitzpatrick went to work again in the second quarter to fire strong and hard into the arms of Doug. Green, who was in football's high gear and galloped the extra nine yards for a second St. Mikes' touchdown, that Dick Fitzpatrick added to with a drop kick over the crossbar as the Irish line was holding strongly and carrying the defensive play for a halftime score of 12-1.

In the meantime Coach "Red" Townsend's Collegians were actually making matters rather difficult for the local Irish with Woods tromping through for gains with Rollins and Legate driving along with Bankier to confuse the leaders early in the second half. However, the Irish held twice in their own zone to boot out of difficulty before the winners went into a march, that saw Jerry Moher crash through centre for a major try bringing the score to 17-1.

A Safety Touch

"Zeke" Philps took advantage of an Irish kick and booted it back for what resulted in a safety touch behind the St. Mikes' goal line and now the score was 17-3. With spirit in their drive the Collegians again went on the attack with Spafford and Dodson bringing the oval well into St. Mikes' territory from where Wood finally had to boot a point as the Irish held. The final score of the game came in a strong St. Mikes' rally, that saw a short pass over the line for a ten yard gain before Bob Wilson showed his fleet feet to all and sundry for a 18-yard run for the final major score of the game, that Fitzpatrick converted with his educated toe and rung up another "Irish" grid title.

When it came to selecting stars for the day's effort naturally Fitzpatrick rated No. 1 and tops, but he was closely followed by the untiring efforts of "Stew" Wood, the hard-driving backfielder of the Collegians. Coach Jack Doran accepted another six-man title, but only after giving bows to his line. "They protected", were his only words.

The line-ups—St. Mikes—quarter, Fitzpatrick; halves, Bob Wilson and J. Maher; centre, Green; ends, Lucy and Geo. Wilson; subs., McAuley, Donovan and Duffy. Belleville Collegiate—quarter, W. Spafford; halves, Dodson and Wood; centre, Bankier; ends, Rollins and Legate; subs., Freeman, Philps, McIntosh and Miles.

Referee: Eddie Schrieder.

What's Doing in Sport

(By The Canadian Press)

Hans Gunnarson, who won the Canadian ski-jumping championship at Banff in 1940, was killed in action November 3, his parents, Mr. and Mrs. J. Gunnarson, of Revelstoke, B.C., have been notified.

Gus Mancuso, venerable New York Giant catcher, was given his outright release by the club yesterday.

J. Sigfrid Edstrom of Stockholm, acting president of the International Olympic Committee, told New York reporters yesterday his organization was making tentative plans for resumption of the games in 1948. No country at war may be host to the games.

It will be a natural if Ted Atkinson finishes the racing season as the leading jockey. He's been in the saddle exactly seven years. Yesterday Thin Theodore rode three winners to lift his year's aggregate to 259, higher than any title-winning total of the last seven years except for the 287 piled up by the late Earl Dew in 1940.

TORONTO LEAFS AND CANADIENS CONTINUE TO WIN

Leafs Knock Over Rangers 6-3 and Canadiens Down Black Hawks 9-2

By ERIC SANDERSON
Canadian Press Staff Writer

Toronto Maple Leafs and Montreal Canadiens continued to set the pace in the National Hockey League last night, the former downing the tail-end Rangers 6-3 at New York and the latter trouncing Chicago Black Hawks 9-2 on home ice.

The wins left the standings unchanged with Leafs at the top with 10 points — the result of five successive victories without a defeat. Canadiens hold second position with four wins and one loss — a 4-1 decision to Toronto.

In both last night's games, it was a case of defence cracking under the pressure of two top forward lines — the Schriner-Bodnar-Carr combination of the Leafs and the powerful Lach-Blake-Richard trio of Canadiens.

Just how long the Leafs can stay at the top of the six-team circuit may be shown here tomorrow night when they meet Canadiens on home ice.

Playing before 15,294 fans in the opening game of the 1944-45 season at Madison Square Gardens, Rangers tried desperately but in pressing, allowed the Leaf snipers to get by their defence.

Bodnar Had 3 Assists

Carr and Schriner were the only two of Leafs' top line to score but Bodnar assisted each time and also passed to Reg Hamilton, who netted the first goal of the game. Bob Dill evened the count for Rangers before Windy O'Neil and Carr counted to give Toronto a 3-1 lead going into the second period.

Schriner and Davidson drove in the only goals of the sandwich session and in the final period Leafs held off the majority of Ranger attacks although Hank Goldup and Fred Thurier each counted. Babe Pratt, hefty defenceman, scored the final goal of the game for Toronto.

At Montreal, the Lach-Blake-Richard line accounted for two-thirds of their team's goals. A crowd of 11,275 watched.

Maurice Richard, one of Canadiens' leading snipers last season, led the parade with three goals and 2 assists. Elmer Lach netted twice and helped in four others while Toe Blake scored one and assisted in five.

Ray Getliffe, Buddy O'Connor and Rossie Rossignol got the other goals.

Harold Fraser and Bus Brayshaw combined for both the Hawk goals, with Fraser netting both on passes from his line mate.

Buffalo Bisons Again Tied For Top of League

By The Canadian Press

Buffalo Bisons renewed their 1st-place deadlock with Hershey Bears on the top of the eastern division of the American Hockey League last night when they defeated Providence Reds 4-2. In the only other game Indianapolis defeated Cleveland 7-1.

Providence goals came off the sticks of Gerry Bellemare and Freeman Jack, while Halderson, Lewis, Leger and Jones scored for Buffalo.

The Barons held the Caps to a 1-1 tie for the first half of the game with Tony Bukovich scoring for Caps and George Agar for Barons, but after that it was a runaway for the Indianapolis club. Bukovich added another, Pete Leswick also netted two, and Dick Kowcinak, Moose Sherritt and Jack Hewson counted singles.

KROL'S CONDITION UNCERTAIN AND STUKUS MAY PLAY

Backfielder for Hamilton Wildcats Leaves Hospital After Having Flu

By The Canadian Press

It is still anybody's guess whether Joe Krol, the leading scorer in Ontario Football, will take his place in the Hamilton Wildcats backfield against Toronto Balmy Beach in Hamilton tomorrow in the opening game of the Ontario Rugby Football Union's two-game final series.

Dr. Stan Perkin, Hamilton Club physician, said yesterday the great running, kicking and passing half probably will leave hospital today after a two-day stay. He has been ill with influenza.

Meanwhile cheering news came for followers of the Toronto Navy Bulldogs who meet Hagersville R. C. A. F. in Toronto in a sudden-death game for the Ontario Armed Services League title. Navy officials said last night their big quarterback, leading Seaman Annis Stukus, top scorer in the league, will definitely be in the game. Stukus suffered a back injury last week.

While most of the interest centres on the Hamilton game which is expected to draw a crowd of 12,000 fans, Toronto fans looked forward to a rugged battle in the services title game.

Led by Stukus, an able and experienced field general, and with fleet young backfielders like Able Seaman Royal Copeland and Leading Seaman Tom Waldon operating behind a young and husky line, they have a strong team.

Hagersville will be led by a Toronto veteran, FO. Bobby Coulter, who was on the sidelines most of the season because of injuries. Now back in form, he is supported by a strong backfield headed by LAC. Doug Smylie.

Ships Are Prepared For Distant Action

Liverpool (CP) — Battered warships have been refitted and new ships have been outfitted in this Mersey port, but the queerest job yet to come the way of dock workers is "tropicalisationing" the royal and merchant navies.

This is the reconditioning of ships that have played their part in the European war for action in other waters—probably the Pacific.

Already 600 warships and 2,000 merchant ships have been prepared for the tropics and work is continuing on other vessels.

Toronto, Nov. 10 — (CP)—Canada hasn't produced many wrestlers of international note, for some reason, but one who has hit the limelight in the world of heave-and-holler is Earl McCready. That's the opinion of the noted Strangler Lewis, dubbed by his fond parents Ed, who should know.

The Strangler says McCready is not only the best rassler in Canada, but is also one of the best in the world. Lewis aired his opinions on McCready and wrestling in general in an interview with Bob Millar of the Winnipeg Free Press the other day.

Strangler thinks that the future of resin-rumpling in Winnipeg is good, and he envisions a mat circuit that would take in the 'Peg, St. Paul, Fargo and Minneapolis in the United States. Possibilities of a loop taking in Regina and other western Canada centres where wrestling has been going great guns recently don't look so bright to the maestro however, because of the distances involved.

Strangler, for years the top man in the merry-wrestling-go-round, is a promoter now, and is promoting the finest in behemoth battling. He points out that the present-day wrestling indulged in by most modern devotees of the art is nothing like the real thing that was produced in days gone by, in his heyday, for instance.

"The kind of wrestling that includes physically harmful holds, such as eye-gouging and others, is the unorthodox style and cannot be considered good wrestling," the Strangler told Millar. It is all inspired by the promoters to attract the attention of the morbidly-curious. What he likes is the real, honest-to-goodness, gentleman type of wrestling with some science in it.

We wish the promoters would listen to the old master, and follow suit.

Oh, the Cads:

Jim (Toronto Globe and Mail) Coleman reports that some unsavory customers have been putting things over on the gentlemen of the bookmaking racket—sorry, business—in Toronto. It seems they have been pulling a variation of the old shell game, with good results so far. In the morning they take in a brief case full of bets, allegedly garnered from war plant workers, but they leave the case locked and conveniently carry the key away with them.

Come evening, and the character would return to collect his winnings, and would be properly disturbed to find out the brief case was locked all the time. The bookie, being an honest chappie earning an honest living, would of course offer to pay up on the bets and tell him to open the case. Whereupon our hero would unlock the case and palm in two or three heavy wagers on horses he knew already had won that afternoon. The bookies have been clipped heavily on two or three occasions, but at last reports were getting confidence-shy.

Casual Comment by K.J.C.

Once there was an Indian named Big Smoke, employed as a missionary to his fellow Smokes. A white man asked Big Smoke what he did for a living.

"Umph!" said Big Smoke, "me preach."

"That so? What do you get for preaching?"

"Me get ten dollars a year."

"Well," said the white man, "that's pretty poor pay."

"Umph!" said Big Smoke. "Me pretty poor preacher."

Anniversary.

Tomorrow another Army-Notre Dame football game will take the spotlight in American football when the "kaydets" will enjoy a better than even chance to win. It was just 20 years ago that Knute Rockne and his Notre Dame "Four Horsemen and Seven Mules" invaded New York for an Army-Irish game, when 55,000 jammed the Polo Grounds to see that great spectacle. Notre Dame beat the Army 13 to 7 that day.

However, tomorrow the Army has Doc Blachard, who is just as powerful a defensive player as he is lugging the oval. Coach Blaik rates Davis on even terms with Blanchard but the records just don't prove this, but they do go to make up a powerful pair. The 1944 Army team has run up the greatest collective score of any Cadet grid team in history, but there still remains the old Notre Dame "giant kill" instinct. The Army is one of the few undefeated teams in the U.S.A. today and if they can topple the Irish, and it's a vote for Army, the Kaydets should breeze in as national champions.

Win Again.

Jack Doran's St. Mike's senior six-man gridders went and did it again, that is to speak won another senior interscholastic football title with Dick Fitzpatrick in the driver's seat setting up practically every principal pay-dirt play. Now that the local six-man situation has been pretty well taken care of with St. Mike's seniors best and B.C.I. closing in on the Junior picture, what's to do about the COSSA. football combination? On Saturday Peterboro and Oshawa Collegiate meet in a final game in the Lift Lock City, and according to Scribe Geo. Campbell, of the Oshawa sheet, the mentors in the Lake Shore group would be pleased to know just where the Bay of Quinte group stand.

The smaller schools in the Trent Valley loop have been playing COSSA. football and no doubt will be in readiness, but as Br'r Campbell puts it—"The Lake Shore group must be ready to meet the Belleville winners on Nov. 18th." (Seems as though conventional football is getting somewhat of the old business locally.)

Kingston Hockey.

The large military centre at Kingston will assure Limestone City puck fans of plenty of hockey in the Jock Harty Arena this eason. Later in the season the same picture will prevail at the Hume Arena when the Quinte R.C.A.F. service league swings into action.

Says Mike Rodden in the Kingston Whig-Standard sport column: "That the Kingston Hockey League series will get a rousing send off at the Harty Arena is now assured. There will be a military band in attendance and it is anticipated that many fans will be there to make the event successful in every way. There are some great players, spread among the various teams a number of them were stars in the National League before joining the forces. Among the outstanding performers are Sid Abel, one of the best the Detroit Red Wings had; Adam Brown, the speed merchant from the same team; Vic Gregg and Nick Knott, the latter a Kingston boy who played for the Toronto Maple Leafs; Don Hanneberry, Cleveland Barons; Goalkeeper Al Ritchie, Montreal Royals; Edgar Laprade, the sensational Port Arthur forward; Jim Giesbrecht, who hails from Pembroke and who is the brother of Roy of Detroit Red Wings, and Dinny McManus, the Perth net guardian who scintillated for the famous Oshawa Generals. Queen's University will present six of the players who won the championship last season. Some of the newcomers have been showing to advantage during practice sessions and officials in charge are hopeful that the team will be just as powerful as it was last season."

Remember When.

The light-heavyweight bout between champion Maxie Rosenbloom and Jimmy Braddock was stopped in the second round at New York 13 years ago tonight when both fighters "laid down." Later Braddock entered heavyweight ranks, won the world's championship in 1935 and lost it in his first defence in June, 1937, to Joe Louis. Braddock has appeared as special referee for several wrestling bouts at the Hume Arena here in recent years.

Sum Fun, Eh?

Local wrestling fans really got their money's worth of the grunt and groan business at the Hume Arena Wednesday night when the main bout terminated in as hectic a free-for-all as one could imagine. Not only were there a half a dozen grapplers milling around the ring taking sides with and against the principals, but patrons joined the general free-for-all to have their share of the fun at no additional expense. For a while the fans weren't quite sure whether Watson was fighting Katan, or Maxwell. Or whether Sexton was battling Dunlop or Katan. However, just why Maxwell declared Watson the winner and "still champion" didn't seem to matter much.

Horse Sense Bridge

LESSON NO. 528

By SAM GORDON
The Kibitzer

When do you begin to think you are becoming an expert bridge player? When you start saying to yourself: "Boy, oh boy. If I could just find a partner who always understands me."

An immediate opening game bid shows a long suit and no outside tricks. If it is four in a major, it may have eight tricks. If it is five in a minor, it may have nine tricks.

But either four in a major or five in a minor may be used for shut-outs or sacrifices. At such times, it may have seven or less tricks. And partner must assume the worst with that bid.

Such an opener expects to be defeated two, three, or four tricks. If partner has any tricks, they will not help make more than the bid. They will merely take up the slack; reduce the expected loss.

The rule is that partner should pass such a bid. Even with three aces, the responder will not have enough to help make a slam. So, no excuse is there for disturbing a bid that already is game.

Also, this may be one of the times when the opener used the bid for shut-out or sacrifice purposes. If so, even the three aces may not be enough to help you make the game.

Suppose your partner starts with an opening of five clubs and you have this hand:

♠A 6 4 3 2
♥A 4 3
♣9

Don't get ambitious with your three aces. Don't go messing up your partner's bid. He is in bad enough shape already. Be glad you have the three aces to help him. But pass.

When partner started that opening, he expected to be defeated. Because that is what a game opening means at its best. So pass.

Your three aces may help him make his game bid. If they are enough to help make slam, he must have had a better opening. So, pass.

Let him take the blame.

PICTON

Father Receives D.F.C. Citation Awarded Son

Picton, Nov. 10 — In a letter received yesterday by Rev. J. Cantrell, from the Minister for Air, Hon. C.G. Power, the citation covering the award of the D.F.C. to Flying Officer Arthur Cantrell, was given. It stated, 'This officer has completed numerous operations against the enemy in the course of which he invariably displayed the utmost fortitude, courage and devotion to duty.' The minister stated that 'the personnel of the Air Force are proud of your son's fine service record', and extended congratulations. F. O. Cantrell is serving overseas with the RCAF. He formerly taught school near Kingston and graduated from Queen's University before enlisting.

Meet Overseas

A brother and sister who had not seen each other for nearly five years were reunited recently in England. Pte. Arthur Franklin, overseas since December 1939 was able to spend a weekend with his sister, Mrs. Ronald Stone, who arrived overseas two months ago, to join her husband who is a member of the Royal Air Force.

In Naval Action

Stoker Garratt Harris, son of Mr. and Mrs. Frank Harris is a member of the M. T. flotilla commanded by Lt. Cmdr. Tony Lawe which sank a 3,000 ton German merchant ship and set an E-boat on fire, both off the Netherlands. The ten hour action took place the first of November and was announced Wednesday. Sto. Harris has seen considerable action overseas and took part in the invasion of Normandy.

Two Picton boys, Lieut. William Graydon and Pte. Woodrow Blakely met recently in the same hospital in England. Graydon was wounded in Italy and Blakely in France. Both are progressing favorably.

Gen. Eisenhower Speaks To Belgian Members

Brussels, Nov. 9 — (CP)—Gen. Eisenhower told the Belgian parliament today the Allies were fighting "an enemy who understands only one thing — force — and we intend to apply force to the utmost."

The Allied supreme commander received a tumultuous ovation as he entered the packed Chamber of Deputies to address both houses.

Gen. Eisenhower was accompanied by top Allied army, navy and air force commanders.

"We are sensible of sacrifices you have made," Gen. Eisenhower said, "and as far as possible consistent with military operations I pledge that you will get everything we can bring you. I only ask that you understand we are doing our best."

The general's promise of aid was interpreted as indicating his concern over the current shortage of civilian supplies in Belgium, where the bulk of the people face the prospect of a heatless and hungry winter.

Welsh Airwoman Flight Mechanic

London (CP) — A Welsh airwoman is flight mechanic of the Hudson aircraft used by Britain's coastal command chief, Air Chief Marshal Sir Sholto Douglas.

She is 21 year old LAW. Mary Griffith of the Women's Auxiliary Air Force and as far as can be learned the only woman member of an air crew. As flight mechanic (air frames) she is responsible for everything about the aircraft except the engines and flies with Sir Sholto wherever he goes.

Wartime Antwerp Incredible City of Want and Luxury

By MAURICE DESJARDINS
(C.P. War Correspondent)

Antwerp (CP) — A few miles from where Canadian troops are going about their important job of ridding the Schelde Estuary of stubborn Germans, lies Antwerp—the incredible metropolis.

Antwerp—a city of fluent Flemish and relentless rain. A city of customerless department stores and sad looking financiers. A city of well-stocked fruit stores and long-hairedviolin virtuosos playing for tired Canadian officers. A city where you can buy the best perfumes of Paris and blinking, mamma squealing dolls while the people are clamoring for more meat and butter.

Few Anversois speak French but the majority know—or claim to know—English. Flemish is the main language but servicemen do not have to look for a white star in the lapels—as in Brussels—to find an English speaking citizen to help with current problems.

I went in the town's largest department store to buy a comb and while at it enjoyed a fruit sundae sold by a clerk who spoke only Flemish. I was the only customer on the floor. Dapper sales women were filing their nails waiting for their missing clientele.

One girl in the toy department—where hundreds of mamma-chirping dolls were waiting for juvenile mothers—told me the store had been well patronized until the ministry of finance clamped down on all the big bills thus causing many an ill-acquired fortune to vanish into thin air.

Under the shadow of Antwerp's lone skyscraper is the financial district where black-derbied business men walk about with the preoccupied look of Wall Street brokers following the 1929 stock market crash.

Food is Scarce

Only one civilian restaurant is open in Antwerp—the Real—where a good meal is served for 50 francs, about $1.25. But there are quite a few vacant tables. Impoverished Anversois cannot afford even the above-mentioned price and stay at home to eat their slim rations.

There is one good eating place for officers, the Excelsior Hotel where a Belgian chef does miracles with ordinary army rations sometimes referred to by epicurean servicemen as dreary. No army cook I know has produced as yet a bully beef croquette as appetizing as the one dished out at the Excelsior.

The people of Antwerp do not suffer from lack of potatoes and vegetables and fresh fruits. The fruit stores show appetizing piles of blue grapes, apples and pears. A tall, kindly-faced Antwerp policeman confided, however, that he would gladly forsake all those fruits if he could stow away a man-sized steak from time to time.

The Anversois is a voracious reader and the bookshops are doing good business. Newsboys sell their piles of "Volksgazette" — a daily newspaper printed in Flemish—in fast time.

We dropped in the lounge of the Century Hotel, where an amazing violinist called Monsieur Lanoir was standing in front of his salon orchestra playing a ballet symphony by Massenet for an enthralled audience of civilians and officers.

A kind old lady sitting next to us bent over to our table and whispered, in perfect English: "truly amazing, our Monsieur Lanoir. He plays all his pieces from memory."

Losses in Schelde Won't Be Available Until Early December

Ottawa, Nov. 9. (CP)—Canadian Army casualties for the heavy Schelde Estuary fighting, which Prime Minister Churchill said in London today had cost heavy Canadian and British losses, won't be available until early in December, Defence Headquarters indicated today.

The last casualty figures covered the month of September and were issued Nov. 6. This lag is observed for security reasons and it is assured October figure—reflecting the heavy Schelde fighting—will be issued about Dec. 8.

The September figures showed the Army had suffered 8,445 casualties for the second highest monthly total of the war. The highest total—9,336—was suffered in August during stiff engagements in France which led up to the invasion of Belgium and Holland. Army casualties since war started to Sept. 30 were 51,022.

Prime Minister Mackenzie King mentioned the Schelde fighting in his reinforcement speech last night. He said:—

"The recent victories on the Schelde are the answer to those who say that, because of insufficiently trained reinforcements, the Army is not being adequately supported".

Early Air Attacks On North Britain

Newcastle (CP) — Sir Arthur Lamber, north regional commissioner, disclosed these details about air raids in Northern England.

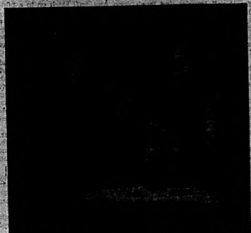
First attacks on industrial target were at Middlesborough and South Bank in May, 1940, some time before Southern England was raided. Worst single incident was the bombing of an air raid shelter at Tynemouth a year later with 108 casualties.

Newcastle was bombed for the first time in July, 1940, when old flour mills were destroyed and the Tyne bridges were almost hit. Sunderland suffered 160 fatal casualties in two raids in May, 1943, when 15,000 houses were damaged.

On August 15, 1940, six enemy aircraft were destroyed over the northern region in 48 minutes.

PORTSMOUTH AIR RAIDS

Portsmouth, England (CP) — Portsmouth has had 67 air raids which killed 930 persons, and injured 1,216 seriously enough to require hospital treatment, it has been announced.



AT THE BELLE — Irene Dunne, star of "The White Cliffs of Dover," has a new romantic lead in Alan Marshal, prominent star of stage and screen. The film is one of the most interesting and entertaining pictures of the year.

U.S. Breaks Up Liquor Rackets

By C. R. BLACKBURN
(C.P. Staff Writer)

Washington (CP) — Liquor black markets that threatened to bring back the racketeering of the '20s, have been virtually wiped out by law enforcement operations of the past ten months which have netted more than $1,000,000 in fines, sent many to prison and prompted damage actions for more than thirty million dollars.

A recent report from the office of price administration describes how the law descended upon price and liquor law violators all over the United States when shortages and price-raising brought on an epidemic of black marketing and bootlegging late last year.

Fines and penalties range from $100,000 and 30 days in jail, imposed upon the president of a liquor firm, down to suspended sentences for petty violators.

The president of an importing company was given 18 months without alternative of a fine and his secretary-treasurer a year and a day, while the firm and its officers were fined $54,000.

This racketeering was on a higher scale than in the old smuggling and bootlegging days, with prominent organizations concerned in a get-rich-quick scheme at the expense of the thirsty public.

High Prices Paid

Through collaboration down the line from maker or importer to retailer the price regulations were so circumvented that consumers were paying as high as $14 a bottle for whisky on which the ceiling price was $4.50.

The OPA and treasury department worked out a master plan for fighting the new racket, and, aided by the Alcohol Tax unit of the Internal Revenue Department, the Justice Department, state liquor boards and local enforcement officers, claim now to have crushed the major rings.

There are still plenty of violations and some of the ring leaders are still at large with many charges outstanding against them.

But officials say the large scale operations have been broken up. Liquor now is moving through normal channels to legitimate dealers and customers and at ceiling prices.

One of the evils overcome by these operations was the strategy of "up-branding" by introduction of a flood of new and previously-unknown labels. These were placed on ordinary liquor which sold at unreasonably high prices free of restrictions.

This could happen because the O.P.A., never having heard of the new brands, would not have fixed a ceiling price. When they got around to doing so a fresh flock of new brands would appear.

Has Novel Plan For Rehousing

Liverpool, England (CP) —Here's a novel suggestion from Liverpool council's housing director for solving housing problems.

He suggests building temporary houses in pairs in such a way that bedroom accommodation can be adjusted to suit the families living in them. Each house would have two bedrooms and these would be adaptable so that if a married couple without children live in one side of the house one of their bedrooms can be included in the adjoining house to provide sleeping accommodation for a larger family. The director didn't say what would happen if both families need more than two bedrooms, but the council authorized direction of two sample dwellings.

Little Benny's Note Book

Pop was up to the 2nd half of his first cigar, and ma said, William, if there's one thing that stays under my skin, it's to have somebody tell me I'm tackless, because if there's one thing I pride myself on it's my tackfulness. I'm honest enough to always say what I mean, but I'm certainly not tackless, she said.

That's what the fellow said when he told his rich old ant to take her money and go and jump in the lake, pop said, and ma said, The incident I am alluding to happened at the bridge game this afternoon. I remarked to Hannah Jefferies that anybody who would bid 2 no trumps with only 2 honor tricks ought to start learning bridge all over again at the beginning, if at all, and Hannah flared up like a skyrocket and flatly accused me of being tackless, ma said.

Was she your partner and did she by any means happen to make a 2 no trump bid with only 2 honor tricks? pop said, and ma said, Well naturally.

I see what you mean, pop said, and ma said, But William, would you say I had been tackless? and pop said, I'm tackful enough not to commit myself, but if you asked me for a definition of tackful people I'd say they are people with a noiseless automatic buzzer in their heads which warns them against making any unnecessary remark that might wound the sensibilities of others.

But for land sakes William do you expect me to go around repressing my sincerest feelings? ma said, and pop said, On 2nd thoughts I hereby issue an amended edition of the Potts dictionerry in which a tackful person is discribed as somebody who never injures another's feelings unless the tackful person doesn't happen to give a hoot whether the party of the 2nd part has her feelings hurt or not.

Well, that's more like it, ma said, and she started to do the bridge problem and pop started the first half of his 2nd cigar.

GYPSY BLOOD

By MARGARET NORRIS

CHAPTER FIVE

The big policeman scratched his head. "Sure and ye're a puzzlin' case. Mornin' comin' an' us needin' our sleep and yer Pa needin' his pants. Look here, kid, there's a place across the way where they'll take ye in for the night. No, no—it ain't the police station. Don't git skeered. I ain't runnin' ye in. I'll take ye there and they'll treat ye right and we'll talk things over in the mornin'. See?"

Holding the trembling girl by the arm Anna's new friend led her across the street.

Midnight calls are no unusual thing at headquarters of the Girls' Service League. In fact, the house sleeps with one ear open to miss none if they come. The peal of the bell at one in the morning startles this household no more than does the arrival of the grocery boy in an ordinary home. That the delivery boy proves a policeman, his parcel a terrified girl, causes no great sensation here. It is all in the day's work.

It was in the smallest of the wee, small hours that the matron wakened to the clamor of the bell and opened the door of her shelter house to Anna and her burly escort.

"Good evenin' ma'am", said the policeman, apparently no stranger here. "I've brought ye a lodger — can ye give her a bed?"

"Who is she?" asked the matron. She was a woman of few words but of infinite kindness, who knew a great deal about girls, especially about friendless girls, cast astray and alone. For years they had been her study, her life. The confidences she had won from them, locked deep in the well of her mind, would make a tale, were it to be told, in comparison to which the Arabian Nights would be dull and cold as a table of statistics.

"Here she is". From the ghostly darkness outside the officer produced a small creature, dishevelled and dirty, clad in ungainly clothes, bare of foot and of head, yellow forelock awry. He held her forth for inspection as he might have held a shaggy dog.

"She's really not as bad as she looks. A bite to eat an' a bed an' she'll be a new girl in the mornin'."

Then in a loud stage whisper: "An emigrant child from Poland. A runaway, probably. I found her just now in Union Square, flat on her face an' howlin' till she'd drawn a crowd like a fire. Not a cent in her pockets, but ye'll put her up?"

"Of course", said the matron. The policeman nodded.

"Talk to her in the mornin', ma'am. She's too tuckered out tonight. Then give me a call about what ye learn. Well, I must be back on my beat". The policeman mopped his brow. "Fine August weather—fine for them as likes it, that is." He tipped his hat and backed into the night.

Anna huddled back in the corner, shrinking into the least possible space, wriggled her bare toes in discomfort, and looked about her like one in a daze. Where was she, waking or dreaming? Why had they brought her here? Was a new punishment to be meted out here?—The lady was speaking to her:

"Perhaps you would like something to eat?"

Anna cocked one small ear. Only in a dream would one ask her to eat. It being a dream, why answer? She rubbed her eyes with her grimy little fists—

"A glass of milk and some bread? I'll bring it to you upstairs. Come with me and I'll show you your bed".

Anna followed like a somnambulist.

The matron looked at the clean, white sheets and then she looked at Anna. "Would you like a bath before you go to bed?"

Anna was still inarticulate.

"You don't speak English?"

Anna nodded.

"You do? Good! Here is the bathtub".

Anna, still in a daze, watched the lady adjust the faucets. She had never seen a bathtub before in her life. What a queer dream she was having! But the foaming water gave her a clue.

"I—I—I had a bath—before I left home". Anna spoke with a queer Slavic accent which told the matron that one more stray child had come.

"Where is home?"

"Poland".

"When did you leave?"

"I don't remember—but I did have a bath". Anna eyed the bathtub's fast rising tide suspiciously.

"Never mind, another will feel good on a hot night like this".

Silently Anna accepted the proffered towel. The matron backed out of the room. "Your bed is in there, where the light is. I'll come up later to tell you good night".

A half hour later an uneasy house matron knocked vigorously on the bathroom door. She could hear the water still running, but got no response to her knock. In sudden fright she opened the door. The bathroom floor was flooded with water and inside the tub, submerged to her chin lay Anna, sound asleep.

"I took my bawth and I wallowed. For Gawd! I needed it so!" quoted the matron as she turned off the water and gazed at her strange little guest.

"About that new little Polish girl, —Anna—what are we going to do? Her manners—"

"Utter demoralizing. She insists upon eating with her knife."

"With her fingers you mean. She never saw a table cloth until she came to this house. And you can't coax her into the bath tub. It's a plot to drown her, she thinks."

"I know. At home she took a bath every spring, which sufficed her needs for the year. But it isn't only her personal habits—it's her restlessness and her venturesome spirit. Her influence on the rest of the girls—"

Anna was under fire of discussion among the heads of the Girls' Service League, whose guest she had been for a fortnight—a fortnight of storm and stress which no one had enjoyed except Anna. It had given her the time of her life.

"Yes, she is truly a problem", said the matron, shaking her head. "A nice little thing, once you know her, with a tremendous heart but quite untamed and unmanageable. It's useless to find her a job. Every employer fires her for insubordination, and she returns triumphantly with her walking papers saying she hated the old job anyway!"

"She refuses to work in a factory—says she won't spend her life that way. But tell me, what else is she fitted for. She is utterly untrained."

"I suggest we make her a traffic policeman", said the matron. "She has the executive ability and the strength. The ideal solution would be to send her to school. Have you noticed how clever she is?"

"Oh, yes!" said the executive secretary. "I also have watched her try to squirm her way under the subway turn-stile without putting in a nickel".

"What she really wants and ought to have is a job on a farm. We will try to find her one in the spring. Meanwhile we must try to be kind to her, remembering how different New York is from Poland and that she doesn't understand our customs".

"Let us hope she may learn them", added the secretary, "before she disrupts our entire organization".

Anna's ears should have burned from her head, but, contrary to the old saying, they didn't. They remained cool and transparent as two, small pink shells, exposed by the New York hair cut which made her look so much like a boy. If Anna was the heart of a storm centre in the organization which had sheltered her, she was blissfully unaware of it. The unexpected hospitality of this new home where the ladies were surprisingly kind to her, where there was food in abundance, a comfortable bed and girls her own age to talk to, had removed the sting of her loneliness and left her strangely content. She was free to explore the queer, new life into which she had suddenly been plunged as a child explores a new kind of game—for the sheer sensation of its newness, without fear of unknown punishment hanging over her head.

Among the other girls whom she met here—it was interesting to find that many were friendless like herself, runaways from unhappy homes, from a parent with whom they could not agree, or from devastating poverty which stifled their every impulse for good. Many had strayed to this house by a stroke of providence similar to the one that had brought Anna here on that never-to-be-forgotten August night, which now seemed so long ago. Others were well dressed and busy, getting along in their jobs, and there were still others with whom Anna came in contact who were working their way through school.

Once Anna's shyness was dissipated, it was easy to talk to them. To forget all troubles and laugh and be gay with the resilience of youth, which enjoys today without thinking of tomorrow. At table she often regaled them with tales of her life in Poland.

"Of course we hadn't a table cloth at home. We just set the pot off the stove and the one who ate fastest got the most. That was one of the reasons Pa hated me!"

Or she would rehearse her experience with her most recent employer in New York.

"I says, 'do you think I come to America to sit all day in your stuffy old hole and turn a machine like this one? I'm going to do bigger things!' An' he says, 'Get out or I'll throw you out!' An' I says, 'Try an' do it!' an' shows him the muscle in my arm and then I walks out, proud as anything!"

Then the girls howled aloud with laughter while the matron frowned a little and sighed at the thought of the many knocks it would take to tame this unbridled spirit.

So Anna, well fed for the moment and clad in clothes at least made for her sex, (cast-offs sent in by patrons; it mattered little how they fit) shed her responsibilities as lightly as a snake sheds his wrinkled skin; thoroughly enjoyed herself for the moment, without thought for the problems that she must pick up tomorrow.

At last they had found a job for Anna that already she held for two weeks! No one was more surprised than she was herself!

She was also a trifle relieved—Not that she had ever been worried, exactly, "but Gawd! a girl's gotta have money, and if you only work a day or so at each place, they don't bother to give you any pay!" Especially since, in the majority of her jobs, the circumstances of Anna's departure had been so abrupt as to make it unwise for her to return to her place of business even to claim her brief earnings! Anna sensed that in the atmosphere.

But now Anna had a job in a candy factory for which she had drawn two pay envelopes! Thirteen slim dollars in each one, with the promise that if she "worked good" and stayed six months, one more dollar might find its way under the seal.

Her work was packing "assorteds," 8 to 12 and 1 to 6, with 8 to 1 on Saturdays, unless there happened to be a rush when the girls were asked to stay until 5—and it wasn't safe to refuse.

There was no sitting down in this job. Girls who packed were called "standees," so minor troubles were forgotten in the problem of feet. Feet, FEET! Why on earth must one have feet? If one had none, one could sit down.

The building was very handsome from the street. Anna was much impressed—until she got inside of it. She worked in Room 3, Wing 12—a cement-floored ice-box of a room, for unless temperature is kept low something fatal happens to chocolates. But this wasn't so bad in late August and Anna never looked so far ahead into the future when it would be cold outside too.

It was on the third floor and a walk up—no employees on the elevator below sixth; what were stairs and feet for, anyway?

Anna had a locker in the basement where she kept the thing she called her hat and a white apron she wore at work. Thus neatly arrayed she would climb three flights of stairs, stumble over three piles of barrels and boxes and a truck and be let in through a door like a safe, into the Polar regions. Here stood row upon row of zinc tables, two girls on each side of each table.

The woman who bossed them was Irma. It was because Anna liked Irma that she stayed. She was a large, florid German woman with ample charms and a kind heart behind her brusque manner. She wore a white dress like an apron, starched very stiff and clean and a white cap with turned-up corners. Anna was much impressed to be told that Irma earned $22 a week!

Anna's first day ran much like this: "Maisie, start this here new girl in on assorteds."

Pert little Maisie sidles up, observes Anna is young and pretty and pokes her knowingly in the ribs. "Say, kid, got a fella?"

Anna shakes her head disconsolately. Maisie gave her a langorous look that would have sold her to David Belasco. "Never mind, you'll pick one up. Jes' come over? Yu speak English good!"

"Maisie, quit talking and get to work!" Irma hollers at her.

"Yu start with half pound boxes. The choc'lates are under the table. Hi, Heinie! More plantations!"

Heinie is the slow moving colored boy, built for comfort rather than speed, who shuffles the length of the table knocking things off as he goes. He passes his life being shouted at without ever increasing his speed.

"You, Heinie! more cardboards and pitcher covers. Heinie, the mints is gone! Say Heinie! what about my boxes? O' course, sweetheart, tomorr'll do just as well. My time ain't worth nothin' a-tall!"

Maisie turns her attention to Anna again. "First yu put each choc'late in a cap—these here little crinkly paper things. Snap one off—see—jes' like that. If it sticks, lick your fingers." Maisie demonstrated daintily. "Then pack in the choc'lates, three in a row; all diff'runt. If y'aint sure, eat one. Stick in the p'titions and the first layer's done. Aw, ye'll ketch on in a minute!"

Maisie left Anna her box for a sample and danced off to do something else, with one last poke at Anna's ribs as an assurance of good will.

Maisie's fingers were so deft and quick. Why are Anna's so clumsy? Those caps,—how they stick! Were they pounded together? The deft snap only breaks them. If the cap comes whole, the chocolate breaks. Will she be docked for all those broken? But those that are eaten tell no tale.

Four hundred boxes ahead of her. "How many, about, in a day?" "Oh, 400, perhaps, for beginners." But already it is eleven o'clock and Anna has filled barely 20.

"Ouch! my feet! Why don't they give chairs? Gee, but it's cold! Who'd ever think that outside the sun is still shining and it's summer hot? Only fancy!

A gong peels. It is noon, though it seems like six. Everyone stops work like a shot.

"Time to tie on the feed bag, dearie!"

It is Maisie come to take Anna to lunch.

"If you don't bring your lunch you eat at the Greek's or at Mrs. Maloney's Chop House." Maisie conducted Anna to the latter.

"A better gang and cheaper!" she confided.

Mrs. Maloney's had whitewashed walls with uplifting advice written on them, which very few of her patrons could read.

Anna discovered that she wasn't a bit hungry and was feeling a trifle ill.

"Too many choc'lates," Maisie assured her. "But you'll get over it; everyone pigs at the start."

Maisie's appetite was splendid—"Coffee and a balogny and a ham!" The balogny looked to Anna disgustingly fat and the ham hung over the rye bread crusts like a tattered lace curtain blowing in the breeze. But Anna didn't mind anything, much, since she had a chance to sit down.

Maisie powdered her little snub nose and grew confidential over the coffee.

"Vamped a chauffeur last night and caught a ride home. Oh, I know it ain't safe, girlie! Don't you try it yet a-while, but I always says to myself, a girl is safe anywhere if she behaves. This one asked me for a date."

She waited for the effect on Anna but Anna was still feeling the choc'lates.

"Don't git discouraged," continued Maisie. "You'll like N'Yawk by'm bye. And the work at the factory ain't bad. Yu git used to yer feet and quit eatin' the candy!"

"How much do you make?" Anna asked her.

"Some weeks as much as sixteen! But I work by the piece."

"How many boxes is that?"

"Upwards of 600 a day."

IT'S A SIGN OF SINUS TROUBLE

Perhaps it's simply Vitamin deficiency! Pains in the head, catarrh, bronchitis, any one of a dozen signs you lack resistance through lack of vitamins. Here's a remedy—Multivims, the 100% natural vitamin and mineral compound. Multivims aid in promoting health of the respiratory organs essential to keeping the epithelial tissue healthy. Taken regularly, Multivims help build up resistance, soothe nerves and fortify the system. At drug stores everywhere, $1.98 for 100 tablets.

MULTIVIMS

Easy Way to Treat Sore, Painful Piles

Here is the chance for every person in Canada suffering from sore, itching, painful piles to try a simple home remedy with the promise of a reliable firm to refund the cost of the treatment if you are not satisfied with the results.

Simply go to J. S. McKeown or any I.D.A. or other drug store and get a bottle of Hem-Roid and use as directed. Hem-Roid is an internal treatment, easy and pleasant to use and pleasing results are quickly noticed. Itching and soreness are relieved, pain subsides and as the treatment is continued the sore, painful pile tumors heal over leaving the rectal membranes clean and healthy. Get a bottle of Hem-Roid today and see for yourself what an easy, pleasant way this is to rid yourself of your pile misery.

NOTE: The sponsor of this notice is a reliable firm, doing business in Canada for over 30 years. If you are troubled with sore, itching, painful piles, Hem-Roid must help you quickly or the small purchase price will be gladly refunded.

TORONTO STOCKS

Toronto, Nov. 10 —(CP)— Industrials and base metals were stronger and other groups displayed mild weakness this afternoon on Toronto Exchange. Volume was small at 224,000 shares.

Abitibi Pfd., up 1½ to a new high at 50⅝ and the liquor issues featured the trade in the industrial section. Hiram Walker gained 1½ to 75 and fractions were added by Distillers-Seagrams and Canadian Industrial Alcohol A. North Star Oil gained more than a point and Dairy Corporation advanced a point to a new high.

In the golds McIntyre weakened a point to 59 and fractions were lost by Lake Shore and Kerr-Addison, Buffalo-Ankerite, Sylvanite, Negus, Conwest, O'Brien and Malartic Gold Fields were all a bit soft. Lake Dufault and Mining Corporation were weaker base metals. Steep Rock gained 2 cents.

While plus marks were well distributed near the fourth hour, declines were plentiful.

Recording highs for the year or longer were United Aircraft, Grumman, Glenn Martin and Beech Aircraft. Ahead most of the time were Bethlehem, N. Y. Central, Great Northern, Anaconda, Texas Co., Distillers Corp., Westinghouse, International Harvester and Eastman Kodak.

Canadian issues were mixed, Hiram Walker gaining 3/4 while Dome eased 1/4 and Lake Shore 1/8.

WALL ST.

New York, Nov. 10 — (AP)—Aircrafts enjoyed another early bulge in today's stock market but later ran into profit cashing and lost most of their initial gains running to a point or so.

Few "Gainers" Back Disunity Says Bouchard

Toronto, Nov. 10 —(CP)— Senator T. D. Bouchard said in an address here last night that "no mind unbiased by racial prejudice inseminated in childhood would countenance the present disunion existing between the two large sections of the nationals of this country."

"It serves the cause of neither group at large, and it hurts the nation as a whole," he said in a speech prepared for delivery before a Service Club (Kiwanis) and broadcast over a Toronto Station (CJBC.) "I must confess that we (French-Canadians) are the worst losers in this dangerous game where but a few are gainers to the detriment of the large mass. The majority of Canadians of French descent know it, but if the minority be small, it is powerful."

Senator Bouchard, who created a sensation by charging in his maiden speech in the Senate last June that the order of Jacques Cartier in Quebec was plotting to set up an independent French state, said that "it is not only my right but my duty to tell you that the majority of Canadian or French descent are satisfied with their present political system."

"Come what may," he added, "they will fight openly to expose and defeat the insidious campaign that is going on to disrupt not only our economic but even our political system . . .

"Not only are we happy to live under our constitution but as long as, we are not interfered with in the practice of our religion, in the speaking of our language and in the maintenance of our civil laws and customs we will strenuously oppose the appeals to national discord and secession . . .

"Those of our masses who have had no opportunity of coming into social contact with our English-speaking brethren are led to believe that everyone of you is out to destroy in some way or another our language and religion, because some of your speakers and writers believe that there will never be national peace in Canada as long as there are two main languages."

The Senator said he had been warned by his physician to "guard myself against indulging in my one-time long and fiery speeches" while on his present speaking tour which will take him to Ontario centres and then into Western Canada.

Jet Plane Bases Pounded By 750 U.S. Planes

London, Nov. 10 —(CP)— Approximately 150 United States heavy bombers fanned out in several directions over Germany today in attacks on jet plane bases, Military Transportation facilities and Industrial plants in the Cologne and Frankfurt regions.

The heavies were escorted by about 600 fighters to make up a total force of more than 1350 planes.

R. A. F. Mosquitos last night raided targets in Germany and Holland, the Air Ministry announced. One plane was lost.

Mosquitos of the R. A. F. fighter command on moonlight intruder patrols last night shot up several trains, barges and other transport targets in Germany and Holland. One fighter is missing.

Fourteen United States heavy bombers and 19 fighters out of a force of more than 2,000 planes failed to return from yesterday's spectacular attack on German frontline positions in the Metz sector but several of them are reported to have come down safely in France.

R. A. F. Lancasters yesterday attacked unidentified targets in the Ruhr at a cost of two bombers.

A small force of American heavy bombers also bombed the Saarbrucken railroad yards yesterday with good results and 250 fighters, capitalizing on the lack of enemy opposition, reported destroying or damaging 16 locomotives, 225 freight cars, five parked airplanes and numerous ground installations inside Germany.

There was more few evidence today of the effectiveness of the American technique of "blind" daylight bombing.

A special communique detailed some of the "severe damage" inflicted on one of Germany's largest ball bearing plants at Schweinfurt Oct. 9 by a Flying Fortress Division bombing through solid cloud cover. It said hits were scored on at least 12 buildings, almost all of which were in the process of reconstruction after previous bombings.

Michigan Swings To Roosevelt Column

Detroit, Nov. 10 —(AP)— The untangling of a bewildering volume of errors by Wayne County election precinct workers gave President Roosevelt an apparently safe margin of 17,109 votes today in the race for Michigan's 19 Electoral College votes for president, but the county's board of canvassers faced long days of work to complete the correction of mistakes.

With only 16 of the state's 3,841 precincts missing and the count complete in all out-state counties, the vote was:

Roosevelt 1,097,606; Thomas E. Dewey, 1,080,497.

E. Cyril Bevan, Democratic National committeeman from Michigan, predicted the President would be found in the complete official returns to have won the state from Michigan-born Gov. Dewey, by 20,000 or more votes.

MADOC

Anniversary Is Observed At St. Peter's

Madoc—At the anniversary services held last Sunday in St. Peter's Presbyterian Church, celebrating the 70th anniversary of the building of the church, the Rev. J. Forbes Wedderburn, of Kingston, delivered two inspiring and heart-searching messages. For his morning sermon, Mr. Wedderburn chose as his text John 14:1 and had as his theme, "The Secret of the Untroubled Heart". In his discourse he brought out that it is not Christianity that has collapsed, but modern civilization. "Jesus had in mind such a time as this, He foresaw that and said, 'Believe in God, believe also in Me'. But let us be sure that we know the meaning of His Words".

In the evening Mr. Wedderburn spoke on the subject, "Paying the Price". He based his message on the passage in II Samuel, Chap. 24: "God forbid, that I should offer to God that which cost me nothing". "The evil of cheapness is a besetting sin", said Mr. Wedderburn. "There is no such thing as getting back that which is good for next to nothing. It cost Christ His Life for our salvation".

The attendance at both services was exceptionally good, the largest for some years. For the occasion, a basket of golden and bronze mums graced the Communion Table flanked by potted ferns.

An augmented choir was in attendance at both services and rendered suitable anthem. The organist, Mr. Stanley Hawthorne, presided at the console.

St. Peter's Y.W. Club.

St. Peter's Y.W. Club held its November meeting at the home of Mrs. K. West which opened with the singing of "God of our Fathers known of old" and the reading of "In Flanders Fields" by Miss L. Connor. The Vice President, Mrs. K. Nicol, occupied the chair. The circular letter from the W.M.S. Toronto Office, pertaining to the Peace Thanksgiving Offering Fund in which all women of the Presbyterian Church in Canada are asked to participate, was read. Mrs. Mabel Clark was appointed to represent the Club on the committee which will be formed to work for this fitting objective. The roll call was answered by 14 members present. The golden and bronze 'mums, placed in the church for Anniversary Sunday, were the compliments of the Club. Mrs. J. Watson and Mrs. Borland were appointed to serve on the nominating committee in order to better facilitate the election of officers for 1945. A review of Mrs. Rosalind Goforth's book "How I Know God Answers Prayer" was given by Mrs. E. Larsen after which Miss L. Connor closed the meeting with prayer. Tea was served by the hostess assisted by Mrs. Mabel Clark when a social time was enjoyed by all.

Two Addresses by Miss Gardiner.

On Wednesday, Institute members of Ivanhoe, Cooper and Remington, Eldorado and Bannockburn, Gilmour and Madoc branches and several visitors had the pleasure of attending two very instructive addresses by Miss Gardiner, Reg.N., of the Dept. of Agriculture, Women's Institutes Branch, who chose as her subject "Bedside Nursing". A pot-luck dinner was arranged for and the ladies spent a most enjoyable social hour. Many practical suggestions and demonstrations were given by the speaker, and a most profitable day was spent. At the conclusion a vote of thanks was tendered to the members of Madoc branch and to the speaker. The meeting was held in the school room of Trinity United Church with about forty ladies present.

Foreign Secretary Tells of Probing Assassination

London, Nov. 9 — (AP) — Foreign Secretary Eden told the House of Commons today the investigation of the assassination of Lord Moyne, British resident-minister in Cairo, was being conducted vigorously by Egyptian authorities in full co-operation with the Palestine police.

He confirmed a Cairo report that the two assassins had confessed they were members of the Fighters for Freedom of Israel organization and acting on its orders when they fired the shots.

"The reason they give," Mr. Eden said, "is that he was head of the political department of the British government in the Middle East and was carrying out a policy which was against that of the Jewish Nationals."

The organization, Mr. Eden said, is known as the stern group and, although the identity of the prisoners has not been established, they gave their names as Moshe Cohen Itzhak and Chaim Saltzmann.

Earl Winterton, Conservative, asked whether Mr. Eden would consider publishing a white paper on the full extent of the Palestine terrorism, "especially in view of the fact that malicious rumors are being put about in London that the government is hesitating to publish such a paper because it might create anti-Semitism and do mischief with our Allies in America."

Mr. Eden said he thought all information had been made public in the press, but that he would consider with the Colonial Secretary whether a white paper could be made available.

One of Patton's Columns Slashes Hun Escape Route

Nazi Opposition Reported Still Light to Moderate

By WILLIAM FRYE
(AP Staff Writer)

London, Nov. 11 (AP)—Infantry and tanks of the U.S. 3rd Army pushed their four-day-old offensive to new gains today along the 75-mile Lorraine front around Metz.

On the 26th Anniversary of the First Great War armistice at least six battle-hardened divisions punched through moderate and ineffective resistance in their drive to clamp pincers around Metz and strike into Germany through the Saar.

A field dispatch from Reuter News Agency reported that one of Lt.-Gen. Patton's tank columns today was astride the Falquemont Road slightly more than 12 miles due east of Metz, cutting one of the main escape routes to the Saar for the enemy's Metz garrison.

Another armored column, said this dispatch, drove forward three miles during the night to reach the vicinity of Haboudang, 23 miles northeast of Nancy.

Advance Six Miles.

Despite German reports of mounting intensity of the battle—one claimed recapture of the strategically important Delme Ridge—the Allied communique disclosed that opposition to the sweeping attack was still light to moderate.

Cutting of the Falquemont Highway meant that the 6th Armored Division, veterans of the whirlwind dash across France from St. Lo in Normandy, had advanced six miles during the night in their drive to encircle Metz from the southeast.

The 4th Armored Division also is leading attacks in the sector between Metz and the Rhine-Marne Canal, and at least four infantry divisions are in action—the 5th, 26th, 80th and 90th, the latter in the expanding bridgehead over the Moselle north of Metz.

600 Tanks in Action

The German Transocean news agency broadcast a report that 600 tanks are engaged in the Allied offensive, which is accompanied by a steady artillery barrage.

"The earth of Lorraine is shaking from the hundredfold thunder of countless heavy guns," it said. There was no mention of such an engagement in today's Allied communique.

Gains south and east of Koenigsmacher in the bridgehead north of Metz were reported by the Allied communique, as well as small advances in the area of Maizieres Les Metz.

In the Aachen sector, where infantry of the U.S. 1st. Army has been trying to breach the approaches to Cologne with a limited attack in the Hurtgen Forest area, a German counter-attack was thrown back.

Extensive minefields were encountered by the Americans attempting to drive the fiercely-resisting Germans out of their dug-in positions around Hurtgen. West of Schmidt, however, limited progress was reported as the Americans continued mopping up enemy pill-boxes.

At the southern end of the west front, Allied troops closing in on St. Die in the Meurthe River Valley captured two villages, Le Menil and Briarville, northwest of the town. Farther south, local counter-attack was beaten off east of Bruyeres, and enemy attempts to infiltrate the Allied lines in the Vosges Mountains were frustrated.

Fighter-bombers supported the ground operations with attacks on railways, freight yards and other targets behind the enemy lines east of Aachen and Metz, and also went after enemy communications behind the quiet Netherlands front where the 1st. Canadian and British 2nd. Armies now are drawn up along the line of the Maas (Meuse) River.

TO CLOSE BUILDINGS

Toronto, Nov. 10 (CP)—Premier George Drew yesterday issued a statement announcing that the Ontario parliament buildings will close Nov. 11, and expressing the hope that all members of the provincial civil service will observe the day as one of remembrance.

Only $11,870,250 Required to Meet Loan Objective

Ottawa, Nov. 11—(CP)—Canada's Seventh Victory Loan campaign today went into its final day with $11,870,250 required to meet the minimum objective of $1,300,000,000. Officials expressed confidence that the loan would be over the top by the weekend.

Friday's purchases of $80,469,100 brought the total sales at the end of the 17th selling day to $1,288,129,750. Yesterday's sales were about $6,000,000 higher than those on the corresponding day of the sixth loan and the new total is about $77,000,000 above the amount reached at the same stage of the previous campaign which, with an objective of $1,200,000,000 yielded $1,400,000,000.

Individual purchasers bought more than half the bonds purchased yesterday with their purchases for the day amounting to $41,110,300. The cumulative total for individual purchases now stands at $597,751,000, which is about $94,000,000 more than the amount subscribed by individuals in the same period of the sixth loan.

Officials said they were certain the weekend would put the campaign well past its minimum objective and expectations were that the final total would pass that of the sixth loan and set a new record. One of the main reasons for the increase shown so far is that subscriptions from individuals have averaged $241 compared with $221 in the previous loan.

In Ontario, the payroll savings section announced that 1,101 firms were over their quotas, compared with 556 at the same stage of the Sixth campaign. Ontario civil servants went over their objective of $900,000 by $10,000.

The armed forces total now stands at $5,015,750, 112 per cent of their original objective of $40,800,000 and more than $2,000,000 over their final figure in the last loan.

The Army total was $826,027,200, including $14,520,150 from overseas, for 124 per cent of its $21,000,000 quota. The Navy announced $5,856,950 for 122 per cent of a $4,800,000 objective and the R. C. A. F. reported $18,131,000, 121 per cent of a $15,000,000 objective.

SUPERFORTRESSES ATTACK NANKING IN LARGE FORCE

Forts Fly From China Bases and Hit Docks, Warehouses But No Details Given

Washington, Nov. 11 (AP)—Flying from China bases, a large task force of B-29 Superfortresses today attacked Japanese-occupied Nanking, hitting docks and warehouses.

War department announcement of the attack followed by a few hours a Japanese claim that "several scores" of American aircraft had appeared over north Kyushu, main Japanese island, at 10 a.m. Saturday (Japanese time).

The War Department communique gave no details of the damage at Nanking, but said that further information would be released as soon as available.

The Superfortresses flew through daylight to accomplish their mission, the War Department said. It was the second major daylight operation by planes of the 20th air force within a week, other India-based craft having struck Nov. 5 at installations at Singapore, at the tip of the Malay Peninsula, and at an oil refinery at Pangkalan-Brandon on the north coast of Sumatra.

Claim by Japanese.

The claim that American planes had appeared over Kyushu was made by the Japanese Domei Agency in an overseas broadcast.

The broadcast, recorded by the Federal Communications Commission, was quoted as saying:

"Our air defence units at present are giving a hot reception to the enemy raiders."

The type of aircraft reported seen was not given.

Kyushu island was hit by a strong force of Superfortresses Oct. 25. The area embraces one of the most important aircraft assembly plants in the Japanese home islands.

The War Department today made no mention of any raids other than against Nanking.

Nanking, located 225 miles inland from Shanghai, near where the Yangtse empties into the East China Sea, is the seat of Kiangsu Province and headquarters for a Japanese-controlled puppet government.

FINNISH CABINET RESIGNS

Stockholm, Nov. 11. (AP) — The Swedish newspaper Morgonitidningen said the Finnish Cabinet has resigned and Finnish sources here said President Von Mannerheim may appoint a new cabinet today.

The aging Dr. Juhu Paasikiivi, known as friendly to Russia, was considered the most likely choice to succeed Ehru Castren, whose government has been criticised for its handling of Russo-Finnish armistice problems.

'Politics Has No Place in Army' Says Maple Leaf, Canadian Army Daily

Brussels, Nov. 11 —(CP Cable) — In an editorial entitled "politics has no place in the Army," Maple Leaf, Canadian Army Daily on the Western Front, said yesterday:

"Political developments in Canada have been the subject of discussion and speculation by Canadians everywhere during recent weeks. Although the issues involved may be of particular interest to the Canadian Army, we must not take our eye off the ball. Our job at present overseas is to get on with fighting the war.

"Not that Canadian soldiers should not take an interest in the affairs of their country. But the fact remains that if we are to operate as an efficient fighting team there can be no room for political issues within our ranks.

"Maple Leaf in the past few days has published in its news columns facts about political events in Canada. Maple Leaf is a troops' newspaper. Its object is to provide news for the troops' information from home and the battlefront, and some entertainment. There is room here for timely discussion also, but not for political opinions.

"That Canadian soldiers overseas think about the affairs of their country is only too evident in letters received by Maple Leaf. It is a most healthy sign and Maple Leaf hopes this same interest will continue when we are back again on Civvy Street. Meanwhile the present issues must be decided by our government at home, not over here.

"Regardless of religious or political beliefs or of province, the Canadian formations now overseas have shown the finest example of united action in the history of our country. The purpose of their unity has been to beat the German —politics will have to wait.

"There never at any time has been any official military or political editorial direction given to Maple Leaf. Its editorial policy rests entirely with its own editorial staff. Under these circumstances a factual record of events only will be published in Maple Leaf.

"Any opinion, forecasts or speculation on domestic political issues are out."

The editorial was signed with the initials of Lt.-Col. Richard S. Malone, editor-in-chief of the paper and head of the Canadian Army Public Relations unit on the Western Front.

Maple Leaf also carried yesterday a message to the troops issued by Col. R. L. Ralston on his resignation as Canadian Defence Minister, and Gen. A. G. L. McNaughton on his succession to that post.

TWELVE KILLED IN TRAIN WRECK

This photo shows a general view of the scene where an estimated 12 persons were killed and about 75 injured when two baggage cars and five coaches of the west-bound Southern Pacific Challenger, were derailed and wrecked three miles west of Colfax, Calif. The entrances to the coaches were smashed closed by the wreck and rescue workers here are cutting their way through in an effort to remove bodies.

45 JAP VESSELS SUNK BY BRITISH IN FAR EAST

Submarine Chaser and Three Landing Craft Included in Total

London, Nov. 11 — (CP)—British submarines sank 45 Japanese vessels in Far Eastern waters in recent weeks, an Admiralty communique announced today.

Several supply ships were sunk and at least 14 others damaged, a communique said.

A submarine chaser and three landing craft were other victims.

A large supply ship, which was sunk by a torpedo, was intercepted while under escort near Padang, off the west coast of Sumatra.

The British submarines scored torpedo hits on a medium supply ship entering Port Blair in the Andaman Islands, while a similar vessel was believed to have exploded after a torpedo attack in the Malacca Straits, the communique said.

Other sinkings occurred off Sabang, where the Royal Navy submarines fought a brisk gun battle with a Japanese convoy of 12 small supply ships. In another action in the same area an enemy minesweeper was sunk.

British Progress North of Forli

Rome, Nov. 11 (CP) — British 8th. Army troops have made further progress north of the fallen town of Forli, vital road centre near Italy's east coast, today's Allied communique reported.

This was the only important ground activity mentioned in the bulletin. It said activity along the Allied 5th. Army front was confined to patrolling.

The 8th. Army smashed into strong German tank and infantry defences along a canal running from the northwest corner of Forli.

Snow has fallen over both the 5th. and 8th. Army fronts to a depth of nine inches in some places and on the 8th. Army front heavy drifts interrupted communications in the hills.

Southwest of Forli the Germans have taken up positions along the Montone River. Castrocaro, about five miles southwest of Forli, has been evacuated by the enemy but he is holding tenaciously in the hills to the west.

On the Allied 5th. Army front due south of Bologna Indian troops scored an advance in occupying Monte Budrialto, 2,200 foot feature east of the Faenza Road.

FLANKING MOVES TAKING SHAPE AROUND BUDAPEST

Reds Develop Attack on 200-Mile Front, Which Could By-Pass Capital

Moscow, Nov. 11 —(AP)— A wide outflanking movement took shape on two sides of Budapest today while the main Russian forces holding the city under siege clung to their positions in the capital's southern suburbs against desperate German counter-attacks.

One group of Marshal Rodio Y. Malinovsky's 2nd Ukraine Army edged westward from the wide Tisza river bridgehead capturing additional strong points northeast of Budapest and strengthened their hold on the vital Budapest-Miskolcz railroad.

Other Russian units and Yugoslav partisan troops of Marshal Tito pushed forward west of the Danube river in a drive up through southern Hungary aimed at Pecs.

The outflanking movements developed attacks on German and Hungarian positions over a 200-mile front, either end of which can turn into a serious by-passing of Budapest.

Malinovsky's troops yesterday breached the Budapest-Miskolcz line at Mesokovesd, 65 miles northeast of Budapest.

Slog in Mud.

Slogging onward in heavy mud, Russian infantry added eight villages and one railway station to the Soviet salient stretching from the upper Tisza river to the base of the Matra mountains, Moscow announced.

This sector, where the only essential changes of the entire eastern front were reported in the last 24 hours, was a steadily growing menace to the rear of the German and Hungarian forces still strung out some 40 miles east and northeast of Budapest.

Mesokovesd itself was threatened by the Russians with the capture of Borsodszemere, four miles to the southwest and two miles from the railway which skirts the Matra mountains.

Capture 4,100 Prisoners.

The 2nd Ukrainian Army Group, capturing 4,100 prisoners in the last 48 hours, raised its total bag of prisoners to more than 46,000 since Oct. 6 when the invasion of Hungary began, Moscow said.

The Soviet bulletin said the Germans were constantly reinforcing their troops on the southern approaches to Budapest in an effort to hold that gateway city on the road to Austria.

The increased number of prisoners being taken was considered in Moscow an indication of the spread of defeatism in the Hungarian ranks.

PRIME MINISTER CHURCHILL, EDEN APPEAR IN PARIS

Will Discuss With De Gaulle France's Future Political and Economic Relations

Paris, Nov. 11 (AP)—Prime Minister Churchill, Britain's self-styled "wandering minstrel" of diplomacy, appeared in Paris today for discussion with Gen. De Gaulle of France's future political and economic relations with Britain and the world.

Allied security censorship was lifted to disclose Mr. Churchill and Foreign Secretary Eden arrived in France by plane late yesterday.

It was the first state visit by a foreign governmental chief to France since the country's liberation and Mr. Churchill's first visit of state to France since the fateful June of 1940 when he carried an invitation for union to the tottering ally.

In London there was belief that Britain's war leader would reassure France of a place among the great powers in writing of the peace and would obtain the French position on pending international affairs as background for the coming conference of Messrs. Churchill, Roosevelt and Stalin.

May Rearm France

The immediate objective of the visit—in addition to the aim of cementing the friendship of the two peoples—was understood to centre around rearming the French military forces for more unified participation in the assault upon Germany.

Presence of Foreign Secretary Eden and Sir Alexander Cadogan, permanent Under-Secretary for Foreign Affairs, indicated the probability of detailed discussions on a number of other diplomatic and political problems, among them:

1. Allied help in the restoration of France.
2. Elimination of misunderstandings in the potential use of the U.N.R.R.A. to eliminate hunger in metropolitan areas.
3. Exchange of views on post-war treatment of Germany.
4. Use of French forces in the occupation of Germany.
5. Post-war Franco-German borders.
6. French representation on the European Advisory Commission.

It remained possible Mr. Churchill might extend Gen. De Gaulle an invitation to sit in on the next conference with Marshal Stalin and President Roosevelt. It is understood he took up this question at both Quebec and Moscow.

Cheered in Drive.

The party—which also included Mrs. Churchill and the Prime Minister's daughter Mary—landed at a United States air transport command base outside Paris, where they were met by Gen. De Gaulle and other French dignitaries and the

19-Ship Convoy Spotted by U.S. Airmen Thursday

Do-or-Die Stand Flames Into Savage Battle on Island

General MacArthur's Headquarters, Philippines, Nov. 11 (AP)—Japan's do-or-die stand on Leyte has flamed into a savage battle involving more than 100,000 men, as the enemy poured thousands of fresh troops against the invaders today, after landing them from a 19-ship convoy at a cost of three transports and seven destroyers.

Gen. Tomoyuki Yamashita, gambling with Japan's dwindling reserves of cargo vessels and escort warships, got reinforcements to Ormoc despite determined attacks spaced over a 24-hour-period by American planes and patrol torpedo boats. A heavy rain squall, prolonging a previous cover of darkness favored the operation.

The reinforcements, which reasonably might exceed 10,000, buttressed 35,000 other enemy troops of three fresh divisions moved in on western Leyte to replace 35,000 casualties already inflicted by four American divisions.

The biggest and most critical land engagement since Gen. MacArthur returned to the Philippines Oct. 20 is developing. Both sides are well equipped and backed by heavy artillery.

Spotted by Airmen.

The enemy convoy of four 5,000-ton transports and 15 destroyers—the Japanese frequently use destroyers for troop-carrying as well as escort duty—was spotted by U. S. airmen Thursday afternoon as it entered Ormoc bay.

Fighters dive-bombed with 1,000-pound explosives. Medium bombers went in at low level. The U. S. fliers were in small force but left a transport smoking before breaking off.

Thursday night, patrol torpedo boats darted in and out of destroyer searchlight paths, slipped by geysers churned up by five-inch guns and succeeded in sinking a warship. At dawn Friday a rain squall blotted out the newly-arrived convoy. When that cleared, the Japanese billowed a smoke screen over the ship.

Air Cover Routed

A Japanese air cover of more than 20 planes was routed. At least 16 were shot down, possibly five more. By noon U.S. medium bombers sank three transports and six destroyers. The enemy had achieved sizeable landings.

The action ended late yesterday when the convoy remnants fled west toward Cebu. The attack cost four bombers and four fighters.

Yamashita committed his reinforcements to a sector of Leyte covered by mountain ridges and crossed by a single, narrow winding road from American-held Pinamopoan south to Japanese-held Ormoc. Americans moved north, south and west against these Japanese from eastern Leyte.

Weather Forecast

Lake Superior — Moderate to fresh winds; mostly cloudy; light snow or rain in west portion. Sunday — Fresh winds; cloudy and a little milder with light snow or rain.

Kenora and Rainy River—Mostly cloudy today and Sunday with light snow and rain.

Manitoba — Cloudy today and Sunday with occasional light rain or part snow.

RECORD AVERAGE

Oakville, Nov. 10 (CP)—A Canadian record average of $1,257 for a consignment sale was established yesterday when 75 head of choice Holstein cattle from Canada's best herds sold for a total of $94,305. More than 1,000 Canadian and United States buyers attended the sale.

USE AUTOMATIC SIGHTS

Washington Nov. 10 — (AP) — The United States Navy disclosed last night that automatic sights keeping guns aligned on fast-moving targets are a part of the answer to success in shooting down attacking enemy planes.

Adolph Hitler Sinking Back Toward Oblivion He Knew Before Armistice

London, Nov. 11. (CP) — As the first Great War ended 26 years ago this morning, doctors in a military hospital in the German town of Paswalk studied the case of a shell-shocked German corporal and debated whether to send him to a mental institution.

They finally released the melancholy corporal as fit, and Adolf Hitler walked out.

At far-flung points elsewhere on the globe, three comparatively unknown men whom destiny had marked to shape the future of the world greeted the end of that war with a firm belief that only peace and prosperity lay ahead. They had never heard of Adolf Hitler.

In London, War Secretary Winston Churchill stood at the window of his room in Whitehall, looking out toward the crowds in Trafalgar Square. Earlier in the war he had served as first Lord of the Admiralty and Minister of Munitions.

In Washington, Franklin Delano Roosevelt, Navy Department Under-Secretary, was convalescing from pneumonia.

In Russia, Joseph Stalin was in the process of planning a long-range program of reconstruction for the new Soviet Union—a quiet little man still in the background.

In Germany, Henrich Himmler was trying to get enough gas to operate his taxi; a newspaperman named Joseph Goebbels was seeking employment; Herman Goering was boasting of his feats as a combat pilot.

Dwight D. Eisenhower, the man destined to command all the Allied armies against Hitler a quarter of a century later, was somewhat disappointed when he heard of the armistice because he had had no opportunity to get into combat. At 11 a.m., Nov. 11, 1918, Eisenhower was at Camp Colt, Gettysburg, Pa., commanding a tank training school.

Today, these men who celebrated that peace of 26 years ago are locked in the world's greatest conflict with the corporal who escaped confinement in a mental home.

This week Hitler failed to make his usual broadcast on the biggest Nazi anniversary of all—the anniversary of the Munich Beer Hall Putsch. Stockholm reports say people in Germany believe he is dead. Some reports have hinted he is mentally ill and that a brain specialist was called to Berchtesgaden.

But whatever the truth one fact stands out clearly—Adolf Hitler is sinking fast into the oblivion he knew before 11 a.m. 26 years ago today.

GROWERS DISAPPOINTED

St. Thomas, Nov. 11 — (CP) — District tobacco growers have expressed disappointment over the failure of the Ontario Tobacco Marketing Board to strike the average minimum price for the 1944 crop of flue-cured tobacco. The delay is said to have been caused because a deputation from the Tobacco Growers' Association is scheduled to go to Ottawa Monday to discuss British needs.

CITY AND DISTRICT NEWS

REAR BUMPER BROKEN OFF MOTOR VEHICLE

The rear bumper of a motor car driven by Abraham Safe, 52 Station St., was broken off the vehicle on Coleman St. Friday afternoon as the result of a rear-end collision. Mr. Safe was proceeding north on Coleman St. when a truck, driven by Don Dafoe, Point Anne, collided with the rear of the car after making a turn off Coleman St. to also proceed north. Police were notified and investigated.

PICTON BREEDER PAYS $4,800 FOR HOLSTEIN

Top flight cow in the H. J. MacFarland herd of Picton will be the six-year-old Montview Atis Pabst-Posch purchased on Thursday at the Oakville Holstein sale for the price of $4,800. The cow was consigned to the sale by W. A. Hodge, St. Laurent, Quebec.

The MacFarland purchase price was the second highest of the sale which saw 80 head of pure bred stock disposed of to buyers of the U.S.A. and Dominion. Top price of $5,200 was paid by R. H. McIlquham, Lanark, for a 15-weeks-old bull.

Average price of the sale was $1,200.

MacFarland already has several head of valuable cattle on his farm in the Picton area.

VETERANS TO ATTEND ARMISTICE SERVICES

War veterans of Belleville and vicinity will attend their annual Memorial Day church service on Sunday. Officers, members and affiliated members of the Army and Navy Veterans in Canada, unit 201, will parade to Christ Church where the service will be conducted by Rev. J. G. Sparling, former senior padre for the Eastern Command of the R. C. A. F., while the Canadian Legion, Post 99, will attend service at St. Andrew's Church.

The Legion will assemble at the Belleville Collegiate campus at 10.30 a.m. while the members of the Army and Navy Veterans will parade at the same time from the Armouries Lawn. The usual Memorial Day services will be conducted in both churches.

POLICE BLOTTER

Late Friday night Alderman Frank Follwell reported to city police here that his 1934 model Chevrolet coach, bearing Ontario licence plate number 5-L-611, had been stolen from the rear of his home. Later police found Mr. Follwell's motor car parked at the rear of his place of business on Front St.

Kick Garbage Tins Over

Police apprehended two young men alleged to have been responsible for the kicking over of garbage pails on Catherine St. Friday night. The name of a third member of a trio seen causing this sort of disturbance was also procured and court action has been assured, Chief Probert stated today.

Coat Taken From Car

A. V. Roy, Napanee, left his top coat in a parked motor car near Marble Hall on Front St. Friday night. Upon his return the coat was found to be missing. Mr. Roy did not miss the coat until he had arrived home in Napanee, but he immediately notified police here by long distance telephone.

Case Dismissed Under Milk Act

Magistrate J. L. Lloyd dismissed a charge against the Roblin Dairy of this city Friday afternoon. The proprietors of the dairy were jointly charged with selling homogenized milk contrary to an order of the Milk Control Board of Ontario, which prohibits the sale of a dairy product in any market in Ontario in which it had not been sold prior to February of 1942.

Charles A. Payne, K.C., appearing for the dairy, contended that milk as defined in the Milk Control Act included not only unprocessed, but processed milk and as the Roblin Dairy had been distributors of milk prior to the effective date of the order it could not be penalized for selling milk in another form, now referred to as homogenized milk. His Worship ruled in favor of the defendants, Messrs. D. Rae and Ross Roblin, to dismiss the charge.

Mr. Meek and Mr. J. Nelson of the Milk Control Board in Toronto and Professor Sproule of the Agricultural College were the principal witnesses introduced by Assistant Crown Attorney S. G. Robertson, who conducted the prosecution. During the course of the proceedings Mr. Payne pointed out to the court that considerable expense had been entailed by his clients in the establishment of an homogenizing plant in Belleville.

Market Prices Generally Firm

Heavier offering of fowl than has been noted previously this season featured the local produce market with farmers' wives quoting up to 40 cents the pound for well-finished birds. Chicken of a lesser quality could be had at from 32 to 35 cents the pound.

Eggs held at the 50 cent level for grade "A" with mediums being quoted at 48 cents the dozen and pullets at 45 cents.

Offering of winter apples featured the outside market with best grade Spy and McIntosh fetching $2.75 per hamper and combination pack of the same variety selling at from $1.75 to $2 the hamper. Talman Sweets sold at $2 per bushel with Snows selling at $1.75 and cooking varieties at the same figure.

Potatoes held steady with bag lots bringing $1.90 and peck measures 45 cents. Parsnips were 50 cents the peck as were carrots, while onions sold at 75 cents the peck. A few farmers offered cauliflower up to 30 cents while cabbages sold at five and ten cents and celery at ten cents or three for a quarter.

Hickory nuts were offered at 20 and 25 cents the quart while apple cider brought 50 cents the gallon, including container.

Whitefish brought 40 cents per pound, with pike, the only other type of fish offered, selling at 20 cents.

There was a large offering of young pigs with prices seeming a bit easier as farmers quoted $5 each and up. Two loads of mixed dry stovewood were offered at $20 for one and one half cords.

Canadian Legion Supports Stand On Draftees

Lively discussions on the part of the younger members of the Belleville branch of the Canadian Legion resulted in a unanimous endorsation of the resolution of the Dominion Command to demand the Federal Government to enforce the 1942 national plebiscite to send non-active draftees overseas as reinforcements for the Canadian divisions on the fighting fronts.

The question brought up for discussion by President Col. H. E. Smith precipitated a discussion that was outstanding in its sincerity as to what steps the Government should take regarding the present national issue. Veterans of the present war, most of them wearing the uniform of the Royal Canadian Air Force were forceful in their remarks while those of the "old sweats" of the last war were only a slight degree less convincing.

The branch was unanimous in its decision to support the resolution of the parent body.

A number of new members were initiated by branch officials, bringing the present membership of the branch to 200.

Concerted efforts will be made, the meeting was told, to have the Dominion President of the organization, Mr. Alex Walker, here at a not-too-distant date to address the members on important Legion business. Mr. Walker recently headed a Legion delegation to present the organizations' demands that the 1942 plebiscite be implemented.

On Sunday, branch members here will attend a special Remembrance Day divine service at St. Andrew's Presbyterian Church where the Rev. J. G. Hornsby will give the address. Members will parade from the Collegiate campus in time for service at 11 a.m. Notice of the service and parade is published elsewhere in this edition.

C.N.R. Veterans Hear Address By Flt. Lt. Cleland

Featured with an interesting address on his experiences overseas by Flight Lieut. "Chuck" Cleland, D.F.M., members of the Canadian National Railways Veterans' Association here held their annual Armistice night smoker at the Hotel Quinte on Friday evening.

Representatives of various veteran organizations of the city were special guests and a variable program of entertainment was provided.

Flt. Lt. Cleland in his talk gave some of the highlights of the life of an AC2 during the dark days in France preceding Dunkerque. Left at his aerodrome after the squadron had received orders to evacuate, the speaker, then an AC which he humorously defined as the "lowest form of life in the air force" wandered around France on a bicycle before being picked up by an officer in a staff car.

He was attached to an army cooperation squadron and has flown several times over France and other parts of the continent. He did not discuss the facts surrounding his award of the D.F.M.

Flt. Lt. Cleland was introduced by Pres. Col. H. E. Smith of the Belleville Branch, Canadian Legion and was thanked by President Larry Amo of the C.N.R. Vets who occupied the chair. Brief addresses were given by Col. Smith representing the Legion and G. H. Carver, of the Army and Navy Veterans in Canada Branch here.

Contributing to the musical program was Jimmy Corradi at the piano. Danny Boy Smith and winsome Miss Mary Grant, a "cowgirl" of exceptional singing and playing ability. "Jamie" Clark received a fine ovation following several selections on the bagpipes.

In a draw for a handsome smoking set, the prize was won by Flt. Lt. Cleland after President Amo turned it back for a re-draw following the announcement that the chair had won the prize.

Refreshments concluded an enjoyable evening.

KILLER FOUND DEAD

Salem, Mass., Nov. 11 — (AP) — District Attorney Hugh A. Gregg announced yesterday that the killer of Marie Lacombe, 14-year-old high school student, had been found dead in Salem. Gregg identified the killer as Wilfred J. Marquis, about 21, formerly of Salem. He said the man was found in a Salem rooming house —a suicide from gas poisoning.

More Candy Will Be Available This Christmas

Ottawa, Nov. 11 (CP)—There'll be a little candy on the Christmas tree this year but it will be simple and in undecorated containers. Service men and women overseas will have plenty but this fact, coupled with labor shortages and wartime restrictions, has sharply reduced the amount available for the holiday at home.

Chocolate bars will probably be in shortest supply, the Prices Board reports, because civilians have sent millions of bars overseas in Christmas parcels in recent weeks. Constant heavy demand also is placed on confectionary manufacturers for chocolate bars and other candy to supply service canteens and prisoner-of-war parcels.

However, although civilian trade has been held to strict quotas, manufacturers say they are hopeful of being able to provide enough for wartime Christmas needs from their annual allotment.

Hard candies for Christmas will not only be scarce, but plainer than ever before. Confectioners say the chief reason is that there are not enough workers to staff the candy factories and not enough sugar to provide a full pre-war stock. Fancy candy canes, ribbon and stick candy —all big Christmas items—have especially felt the pinch of the labor shortage.

There will be no chocolate Santa Clauses or reindeer and few lollipops because of their high sugar content and extra labor requirements. However, manufacturers report there likely will be as many chocolates this Christmas as last to meet civilian demands.

School Children Collect 700 Bags Milkweed Pods

School children in the public school inspectorate of South Hastings and South Lennox have gathered approximately 700 bags of milkweed pods for processing to make filler for life preservers, it has been announced by Mr. R. H. Macklem, inspector for the above area.

Picked during the autumn months, the pods were placed in special bags supplied through the Agricultural Supplies Board and have now been dried in readiness for delivery. Dates of delivery have been set for Nov. 11th and Nov. 18th at the Dufferin Street School in Trenton, the Belleville Armouries, and at Stirling, Napanee and Picton.

Freshly picked pods weigh about 15 pounds per bag at the start of the season but when fully dried weigh only about five pounds. Prices are based on full bags, not on weight, with each properly filled bag containing about 800 pods. School children receive 20 cents per bag for milkweed pods when they are properly dried.

Miner Instantly Killed at Madoc

When a large section of rock fell upon him from above, 31-year-old Albert Lalonde of Madoc, was instantly killed while working at the Reliance Fluorspar Mine near Madoc Friday evening.

Lalonde entered the mine after he and a fellow employee, Tom Lindale, had set of a blast to release a block of rock. After the blast fumes had subsided the pair entered the lower shaft tunnels when suddenly a large section of rock, weighing well over seven tons, fell upon Lalonde killing him instantly. Lindale escaped without being struck, however. The matter was investigated by Provincial Constable J. J. Hatch and an inquest held before Coroner Dr. Eagleson at Madoce Saturday morning. The proceedings were enlarged after identification was established.

October Purchases War Saving Stamps Higher Than Sept.

October purchases of war savings stamps by public school children in the inspectorate of South Hastings and South Lennox were almost three times that for September, it has been stated by Mr. R. H. Macklem, inspector for the area. Sales during October totalled $1,263.25 as compared with only $492.75 for the previous month.

Urban schools of Frankford, Trenton, Deseronto, Napanee and Newburgh led in purchases of war savings stamps with pupils in these schools buying $796.50 in stamps during October, as compared with $333.75 during September.

Rural schools in South Hastings bought $360.50 during October as compared with $108.50 the month previous, while rural pupils in South Lennox purchased $98.25 as compared with $48.75 in September. Pupils of Indian schools bought $8 worth of stamps in October as compared with $1.75 in September.

Motherhood Changes Name of "Teddy"

"Teddy" was a lady.

She still is, despite the fact that she boasted a male name.

For the past five years, she has withstood the amorous onslaughts of her wartime admirers.

For four years previous, she turned disdainful glances to advances. For "Teddy" was a lady.

But now, after nine years of spinsterhood, "Teddy" is basking in the wonderful aura of parenthood.

She is now the proud mother of quadruplets.

But "Teddy" was a lady. She probably had advance notice of political differences in the city. She did not want all her offspring to vote in one ward.

So, she acted accordingly.

"Beany" the first-born, saw the first light of day under the family bed. "Eeny, Meeny and Miny" came to life under the porch in another ward. Looking the family over, "Teddy" whimpered her approval. "That's enough", she opined, "there aint going to be no Mo".

Now that she has material obligations, "Teddy" will henceforth be known as "Theodora" by popular family approval.

She is the dog of a Dundas Street family.

Trenton Exceeds Loan Objective

Trenton, Nov. 11 — Victory Loan sales steadily increased in volume all week until Trenton was well over the top by Thursday night. However Friday brought $56,800 more, making the total on Friday night $626,500 or 116% of the 540,000 quota.

With Saturday yet to go no man can yet say how far Trenton will be over. Undoubtedly a great deal of the credit goes to the organizer, Doug. Mitchell, and the chairman, W. H. Ireland and his committee, but the banks and canvassers are to be highly commended for their part too in this great task. Come rain or shine the canvassers have been out in full force for the entire three weeks, while the staffs of the various banks have worked early and late on large orders and small to swell the totals.

Almost before the loan opened all the local industries were well over their quotas, all of these citizens buying to the utmost limit of their capacity.

It is understood individual subscriptions are higher for this loan than during any other loan period. It will be interesting to note Trenton's final total to this the "INVEST IN VICTORY" Loan.

Picton and District

Remembrance Day Observed at Picton

Picton, Nov. 11 — Remembrance day was fittingly observed here this morning, with a public service in the armouries and a parade. The service in charge of Rev. W. G. H. Swayne, was attended by a throng which filled the armouries, and included hymns, prayers and an address by Rev. Swayne. The Band of No. 3 District Depot, Kingston, provided music for the service and for the parade to the war memorial. Taking part were veterans of the east war and of the present conflict, members of the R. C. A. F. from Mountain View, members of the R. A. F. at Picton, Girl Guides and Boy Scouts. At the memorial, the Last Post was sounded by S. G. Lockyer followed by two minutes of silence and Reveille. Many wreaths from the Province, county, town, organizations and individuals were presented. Places of business were closed during the ceremony.

P. E. County "Goes over the Top"

Prince Edward County went 'over the top' in every department of the Victory Loan campaign when returns were received yesterday afternoon. Six of the ten county districts had exceeded their quotas and the others will do so today. In the general canvass, the quota was $925,000 with $945,800 reported or 102.22 per cent. In the special names division, objective was $75,000 with $80,000 or 106.66 per cent reported. In the armed services section, Mountain View returns totalled $237,450 or 148.40 per cent of their $160,00 quota. The overall percentage was 108.87, the objective being $1,160,000 and returns $1,263,050.

Salesmen reported last night that they had many more calls to make, and it is expected that the final returns will set a record for all seven of the loans. Prince Edward County has, from the start, led all counties in the Trent Valley-Quinte district.

County districts and their standing are as follows:-

Athol township, $46,550 for 133 per cent; South Marysburgh township $46,400 or 132.57 p.c.; Sophiasburgh township $74,400 for 119 p.c.; Bloomfield village $86,500 for 118 per cent; Wellington village $73,950 for 112 per cent; Ameliasburgh township, $77,900 for 97.37 p. c.; Hillier township $52,300 for 97.26 p.c.; Hallowell township $115,150 for 108.63 p.c.; Picton $368,700 for 94 per cent; North Marysburgh $23,750 for 68 per cent.

Prince Edward County differs from most districts in the fact that there are no large industries and subscriptions generally are for modest amounts. Some 3,803 applications have been received.

PRIME MINISTER

British and Canadian Ambassadors. They drove through streets lined—despite the "secrecy" of the arrival —with cheering people.

Bulk of Mr. Churchill's time in Paris is expected to be spent in private conferences with French officials. The visit was largely a British-French affair, without the participation of American personalities.

The Prime Minister, pale but jaunty, clambered down the steep plane steps agilely. A cigar was in his mouth. He omitted the familiar V-sign gesture.

With Gen. De Gaulle were prospective French conferees Chief of Staff Gen. Alphonse Juin; the French Ambassador to Britain, Rene Massigli; cabinet members Georges Bidault of Foreign Affairs, Alexander Parodi, Labor, and Charles Tillon, Air; and a veteran parliamentarian, Jules Jeanneney, representing the Consultative Assembly.

The British military delegation included Field Marshal Sir Alan Brooke, Chief of the British General

DEATHS

BRADFORD — In hospital at Kingston, Ontario, on Friday morning, November 10th., Mrs. Jane (Marsh) Bradford, wife of Mr. James Bradford, Belleville, in her 68th. year.

Resting at the Belleville Burial Company Funeral Home, Campbell Street, from where the funeral will take place on Monday afternoon, November 13th. Service in the Chapel at 2 o'clock. Interment Belleville Cemetery. N10-2t

IN MEMORIAM

SMITH — In loving memory of Frederick Smith, who passed away November 10th., 1937.

We little thought when leaving home,
He would no more return.
That he in death so soon would sleep
And leave us here to mourn.
We do not know the pain he bore,
We did not see him die,
We only know he passed away
And never said good-bye.

—Ever remembered by Wife and Daughter, Marguerite. 1t

McGUIRE — In loving memory of Bernard Lawrence McGuire, who died November 11, 1932.

We who loved you sadly miss you,
As it dawns another year.
In our lonely hours of thinking
Thoughts of you are ever near.

—Ever remembered by Father, Brothers and Sisters.

CARD OF THANKS

Mrs. W. C. Watts and family of Cannifton, wish to extend their heartfelt thanks and appreciation to their relatives, friends and neighbors for their kind expressions of sympathy and floral tributes received during their recent sad bereavement in the loss of a dear Husband and Father, especially thanking the Rev. J. R. Trumpour.

DOUBLE VICTORY

Ottawa, Nov. 11. (CP) — Glebe Collegiate scored a double victory in the Ottawa Interscholastic Football League play-offs yesterday, Seniors defeating Ottawa Technical School 6-3 while the Juniors upset St. Patrick's College, defending champions, 2-1.

The Seniors now meet Montreal West Hill High School in an intercity series which starts here next

WOOLER

Hold Annual School Concert

Wooler — Lovely decorations in hues of autumn colors made a charming setting in the senior rooms of Wooler Public School, when the Senior and Junior pupils presented their annual October concert. Welcoming the guests to the entertainment were the teachers, Mrs. Bell and Miss Merton.

Miss Betty Walker very ably performed the duties of chairman for the occasion.

First on the program was the "Opening Chorus" by the senior and junior pupils, who were attired in full masquerade costume, representing different characters. This was followed by "O Canada". Next number was "the masquerade". Miss Shirley Blake captured the first prize of "Drum Majorette" and for comic dress as "Mother Goose" Miss Gertrude McAuley was winner. A chorus, entitled "October" was sung by senior pupils. "The Masqueraders", was given by five boys. Following this, five girls gave suitable readings. There was a chorus, "Jack 'O Lantern", by junior pupils. A reading, "Nothing to be Afraid of", by Miss Doreen Dorland and a drill by the junior pupils. Guy Austin sang, "Deep Down In My Heart."

A reading "How Pa Spent Hallowe'en" was given by Max Haggarty. Senior girls presented a play "Accidents" and Wayne Whitney gave a reading. A play was enacted by Senior boys and four girls, "Hallowe'en Ghost Party" and the last chorus was by senior pupils, "Pumpkin Time". Closing the program all joined in singing "The National Anthem".

Acting as serviteurs for refreshments, consisting of apples, candy, tea and cocoa with cream and sugar, sandwiches, cookies, chocolate layer cake, and doughnuts, were pupils of 7th and 8th grades.

The afternoon realized gratifying results, the proceeds to be used for school supplies.

Personals

Dr. J. S. Anderson was taken to Belleville General Hospital seriously ill.

A number from here called on Miss Isabell Burleigh at Belleville General Hospital on Sunday. Her condition is critical.

Mr. John Callahan, K.C., Toronto, arrived here on Wednesday evening to attend the funeral of the late Mr. E. M. Wessels on Thursday.

Mrs. Marion Mitchell of Trenton was a noon dinner guest of Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Bell on Sunday.

Mr. and Mrs. R. Rowe of Frankford paid a recent call on friends in the village and Mr. and Mrs. Bert Rowe on the Terrill Line.

Mr. and Mrs. Andrews and daughter have left here, going to Vancouver, B.C. in the interests of Church activities sponsoring Foursquare Gospel.

Recent guests of Mr. and Mrs. A. G. Austin were Mrs. Fanny Clarke of Picton and Mr. and Mrs. Davis of Pembroke.

Rev. F. A. Lawson and Mrs. Lawson have returned home after a few days' visit with relatives near Kingston.

Boston, England (CP) — Mrs. Mary Smith, 95, received instructions to report for work of national importance but it was just a mistake. The papers were meant for the wife of an army officer by the same name who lodged in her home long ago.

WALLBRIDGE

Monthly Meeting Of W.A. Is Held

Wallbridge — The November meeting of the W.A. was held on Wednesday afternoon at the home of Mrs. E. Smith, the president Mrs. Jas. Sine being in charge. The treasurer's report showed a substantial balance on hand. Some discussion on quilting followed. Mrs. Geo. Rikley read a poem. Mrs. Sine conducted a contest. Mrs. Frank Phillips on behalf of the Phillips' family thanked the society for flowers sent to them in their recent sad bereavement. Mrs. Latta offered her home for the December meeting.

W.M.S

The W.S.S. meeting immediately followed in charge of Mrs. W. Badgley. The treasurer's report was given, also the secretary's report. It was decided to have lantern slides in connection with the Study Book at the church towards the last of the month, Mrs. E. Lane, Mrs. P. Shorey, Mrs. F. Harris and Mrs. J. Sine to be a committee regarding the program.

Mrs. L. J. Ketcheson, group leader, then took charge and conducted the service of worship as outlined in the Missionary Monthly. Mrs. Cecil Sine read the poem "You can find it wherever a child is Scared or Hungry." Mrs. Geo. Rikley and Mrs. K. Massey then gave the chapter from the Study Book showing the conditions in Malaya and Dutch East Indies and the benefits from the work of Christian missionaries.

The meeting closed with singing and prayer. A hearty vote of thanks was tendered Mrs. Smith for her hopitality.

Mrs. Smith served lunch and a social half hour was spent.

Personals

Mrs. Cecil Smith of the wireless school, Quebec, spent the weekend at her home here.

The cold snap of Sunday came as a surprise but the farmers are still working to get their fall ploughing done.

Mrs. G. A. Ketcheson spent the weekend with Mr. and Mrs. Chas. J. Massey.

Mr. John Hogg attended anniversary services at Foxboro Presbyterian Church on Sunday and spent the remainder of the day with Mr. and Mrs. C. H. Ketcheson and Mr. and Mrs. Ted Evans.

Mr. Chester P. Bowers and granddaughter Miss Jean Shorey went to Toronto last Friday for a weekend with the former's daughter Mrs. Archie Finnie. Mr. Bowers will remain with Mr. and Mrs. Finnie for the winter.

Mr. and Mrs. Roy Gunter and Kathleen were Sunday visitors of Mr. and Mrs. Jas. Hinchliffe.

Mr. and Mrs. H. Pound and Ross, Cannifton, were guests of Mr. and Mrs. F. Harris on Sunday.

Mr. John Hogg left Monday morning for a week's visit with Mr. and Mrs. Jack Hendricks, Belleville.

Mr. and Mrs. Jas. Hinchliffe attended the sale held at the home of the late Mr. John Lowery, Holloway, last Thursday.

Mr. Earl Hancock, Carrying Place, spent Sunday at his home here.

No Travelling Time For Holiday Leaves

Ottawa, Nov. 11 —(CP)— Personnel of the three armed forces in Canada will not be allowed any travelling time in addition to the five days' leave they get either at Christmas or New Years, Defence Headquarters said Friday.

Headquarters said this meant that personnel from Eastern Canada and stationed on the West Coast could not possibly get home during the holiday season. The same applied to Westerners stationed in the East.

However, some personnel would be taking their annual leave during the season and this would give them sufficient time to reach their homes and return to their bases.

"Meet the Navy" Touring Britain

London (CP) — The Royal Canadian Navy's musical revue 'Meet the Navy" began a British tour recently under the auspices of the Entertainers' National Service Association (ESNA.)

Performances are being given to the general public in some of Britain's music halls and the company of 102 serving men and women of the RCN will tour service camps throughout the country, with priority given to Canadian centres.

London expects to see "Meet the Navy," profits from which will go to King George's fund for sailors, early in the new year.

MAROON

You've heard of the patches from Canada
Of the red and the blue and the green,
Each man has his own preference,
And this can be plainly seen.

Well, here's to the boys who ride horses,
Though they're made of metal and steel,
For they fought with the courage of dragons
And have never been known to yield.

The annals are full of their bravery,
Citations and praise for each deed,
The div with that patch on their shoulder,
The div with the honor to lead.

So ask any who hail from Canada,
Go to mountain or sleepy lagoon,
Their shout will come all together,
"It's the Fifth! The color's Maroon!"

—(Maple Leaf).

These Fighting Donnans.

There's a trio of youngsters who, in the blue of the Royal Canadian Air Force are nobly upholding the traditions of a fighting family. They are the sons of Lieut. Col. Bryson C. Donhan, himself a warrior of no mean ability in the last war, and this one too, for that matter.

Flight Lieutenatn Bryson O. (Buster) Donnan, is the proud young commander of a Lancaster Bomber flight somewhere in England. Flying Officer Eddy Donnan is flying a Wellington blasting the daylight out of the enemy wherever he is to be found while Sergeant Navigator Thomas C. Donnan is stationed down Lachine way. All the lads are doing well thank you.

WORLD BUSINESS BASED ON MUTUAL UNDERSTANDING

Pres. Roosevelt In Message Describes Requirements in Post-War Era

By THOMAS HAGENBUCH
(AP Staff Writer)

Rye, N.Y., Nov. 10—(AP)—World business after the war must be expanded "on a basis of non-discrimination and of freedom from excessive barriers and restraints," President Roosevelt said today in a message to the opening session of the International Business Conference.

"The necessary expansion can be achieved only as nations and their citizens work together cooperatively toward understanding each others' problems and taking effective and mutually advantageous measures for solving these problems," the President said in extending greetings to some 300 businessmen from 50 countries, including Canada, who will meet here for 10 days to discuss various aspects of world trade.

The President said that by exchanging information and by "frank and friendly discussion in a spirit of mutual helpfulness," businessmen from all countries can help to replace the "war-distorted economy of the world with the new and better structure which is necessary to the maintenance of world prosperity and security."

The President's message was read by Eliot Wadsworth, chairman of the American section of the International Chamber of Commerce, one of the four organizations sponsoring the conference. The other three are the National Association of Manufacturers, the National Foreign Trade Council and the United States Chamber of Commerce.

When International Trade Again Moves.

In a welcoming address, Wadsworth said the delegates are not expected to conclude their deliberations with a set of resolutions, but when the conference is over "these businessmen will have a general idea of what their counterparts in other countries will want when the war ends and international trade can move again."

"They will be in a position to give advice and counsel to their governments, which inevitably will play an important part in the post-war international economic and trade picture."

Eric Johnston, President of the U. S. Chamber of Commerce, told the delegates:

"The world of tomorrow must not be a restricted world of high walls, high suspicions and high animosities. We have tried that system and it does not work. It will be a world of competition, to be sure, but this competition must be constructive and not destructive."

Heiress Doris Duke Offers Settlement Of Seven Millions

Reno, Nev., Nov. 11 — (AP) — Heiress Doris Duke, seeking to validate her December divorce from James H. R. Cromwell, testified by deposition Friday she was prepared at the time of their separation in 1940 to set up a trust fund for the former U. S. minister to Canada.

"But," she added, "his demands were so exorbitant that I refused to meet them and I will not be frightened into meeting them."

The statement was read into divorce court records as the tobacco heiress attempted to attest her bona fide Nevada residence and to force Mr. Cromwell's New Jersey Chancery Court counter proceedings into the Reno action. The New Jersey court has ruled she is a resident of that state.

Mrs. Cromwell testified she discussed with Cromwell a $7,000,000, settlement plan, but "there was never any mention made to me of philanthropies or public work."

"The plan was entirely for Mr. Cromwell's personal benefit to give him $110,000 a year or more if possible. This entire portion of his testimony, including all the malicious insinuations is utterly false."

"I cannot say I am surprised that Mr. Cromwell would thus falsely testify," she added, "as he had prior to and at the time of my separation repeatedly made false charges that I was unfaithful to him,....and had threatened that if I did not accede to his wishes in regard to settlements he would make these false charges public; and by this testimony was only carrying out that threat."

She denied that John Monroe, who allegedly accompanied her on a west coast trip, was responsible for their separation.

"It was Mr. Cromwell's conduct and that alone that caused the separation."

Their seperation, she asserted, she attempted to keep quiet in the interests of Cromwell's political campaign. Cromwell, appointed U.S. Minister to Canada Jan. 1940, resigned the following May 22 to campaign for the United States Senate.

V. D. Germans Sent To Russian Front

St. Louis, Nov. 10 — (AP)—German soldiers who contracted a venereal disease while in France during early Nazi occupation were shipped to the Russian front as punishment, it was related to a national conference on post-war venereal disease control by Lt.-Col. Paul Padget of the United States Army Medical Corps. He said American troops found records to that effect when they took over territories previously held by Germany.

Trenton R.C.A.F. Station Sets New Record in Purchase of Victory Bonds

With a magnificent display of enthusiasm that gathered momentum as Canada's Seventh Victory Loan campaign entered its final stages, officers, airmen and airwomen of R.C.A.F., Trenton, purchased bonds to such an extent that not only have they reached the highest total in the history of the station, but have set a new record for all stations in the R.C.A.F.

Oversubscribing their objective of $175,000 on the opening day of the drive, the big air station continued to set the pace for the R.C.A.F. and secured the co-operation of many famous celebrities in keeping the need of meeting the Government's challenge before its personnel and civilian friends. Canada's Finance Minister, Mr. Ilsley, spoke to a massed gathering of Bond Committee members on Friday, October 20, and from then on numerous entertainment programs were presented which included performances by members of radio's famed Happy Gang, Mart Kenney and his Spotlight Parade broadcast, top-notch artists from the wrestling world, and movie stars Carol Bruce and Hume Cronyn.

To date, R.C.A.F. Trenton has reached a total of $456,000, an amount which, added to the station's effort in the Sixth Victory Loan drive, exceeds by far the combined totals made in the five previous campaigns. Coverage of personnel at present is 96 per cent, another record, for making allowances for postings to and from the station since the start of the drive, the coverage is actually over 100 per cent.

ONE TAKING NAP

London, Nov. 10 —(CP)— The court martial of 10 American Negro soldiers was interrupted yesterday while the judge advocate aroused one of the defendants from a nap. All 10—including the lad who dozed off—are charged with murder, the aftermath of a shooting which brought death to two M. P.'s and the wife of an innkeeper.

NAZIS EVACUATE CITY

Stockholm, Nov. 10 —(AP)— The Germans have evacuated the Norwegian town of Hammerfest, northernmost in Europe, and removed the civilians, the Berlin correspondent of Aftonbladet reported yesterday. The Arctic ocean port, recently attacked by planes of the British Home Fleet, is threatened by Russian columns which captured Petasmo and Kirkenes.

Remembrance Day

Remembrance Day has come again, a day Canadians especially honor those who have given their lives for liberty and its preservation both in the First World War and in the present struggle which is moving to its close in Europe and to the defeat of Japan in the Pacific. It is a day of solemn memory when this nation pays its tribute to the immortal dead. Again Canadians pledge themselves to their eternal memory while on the fronts of the world today a present young generation fights in the same great cause of freedom which too claims its toll in life and limb and treasure while it assures freedom for mankind.

To the honor of this age, the people of the United Nations regard this day as one calling for the high resolve of all to dedicate their lives on the altar of freedom and so assure for all the generations to come peace, security and the freedoms for which this conflict is waged by the United Nations, to be obtained by crushing in the dust forever tyranny and aggression which have exacted so great a price of the youth of the world, so that the children of today and of the oncoming generations may dwell in a world where the tyrant and aggressor cannot let loose war without being immediately brought to face such power that he cannot go on the course of aggression.

Those whom the world of free men remembers today have known what it is to have experienced a man's greatest hour in sacrifice for others.

Their memory is an inspiration to all men and women and youth to live and achieve so that they may be worthy of the liberty so dearly bought and of supreme surrender of their lives by those who have given all, even unto death for their country and freedom's sake.

The cause is the greatest cause, calling to rededication of their lives by those who now live that they may live worthily and do nothing that is unworthy of the memory of those who gave up all that mankind may know freedom and justice and abolish tyranny.

The battle has passed beyond those Flanders fields which are sacred to the memory of the men who fell in the years 1914-1918 but the challenge which the people of a generation ago heard from Lieut.-Col. John McCrae, is still heard:

IN FLANDERS FIELDS

In Flanders fields the poppies grow
Between the crosses, row on row
That mark our place: and in the sky
The larks still bravely singing fly
Scarce heard amid the guns below.

We are the Dead. Short days ago
We lived, felt dawn, saw sunset glow,
Loved, and were loved, and now we lie
In Flanders fields.

Take up our quarrel with the foe:
To you from falling hands we throw
The Torch; be yours to hold it high!
If ye break faith with us who die
We shall not sleep, though poppies grow
In Flanders fields.

Today the achievement of peace with security is to be more than an ideal. It must become a fact for the Great Powers of the United Nations realize the supreme need of exercising all their strength to assure that blessing to the world through mutual understanding and the exercise of a restraining force, if need be, to curb any who would plan to disturb security. The grave danger which the Axis created has as a consequence made it obligatory upon the fair-dealing and peace-loving nations to make peace endure. They will find the way to that triumph over selfishness, envy and lust for power the forms that tyranny takes, so that mankind may be spared repetition of such tragic experiences as the two worldwide wars within a generation.

The free world will not break faith with the gallant dead and all those others who have served in freedom's cause.

On Saturday Night

But Saturday night! It's town hall tonight! exclaims The Strathroy Age-Dispatch. It's the night for Johnny's haircut. It's the night to try on that simply marvellous tweed coat you saw last Saturday. It's the night to do the shopping for the week. It's the night to come into town and see some of your friends. Saturday night is the night for the young bloods to go to the town hall and mock their ancestors with strange gyrations and animal caterwaulings, that are called "dancing" and music," respectively. Saturday night is the goal of everyone during the week. A visit at the hardware store with old friends while the good wife is at the grocer's and at the dry goods counter. Renewing acquaintances. Visiting. Cars jam the main streets. Sidewalks are crowded. There's an added note of general goodwill. Whatever it is, the mysterious catalyst that makes Saturday night the big night of the week is a welcome and happy one.

Greek and Roman Gems

(Royal Ontario Museum News)

We think of gems as blazing stones cut to catch the light. But the Greeks and Romans were more interested in cutting gems for use in rings as imprint seals. They liked to cut figures or heads deep into the stone which would make a relief impression when pressed on sealing-wax. They showed amazing skill in rounding out the cheek and shaping the curly hair so that many heads look like the portraits of their owners. How they did it with merely a tiny bow-drill without the aid of eyeglasses or magnifying lenses is difficult to understand. The Royal Ontario Museum has just reset its ancient gems so that you can see for yourself the fine heads, the animals, the little Cupid picking grapes, which must have lent beauty even to mortgages and other legal documents as the business men of antiquity sealed them with these rings.

Rambling Ration Books

(Consumers' News)

It is surprising how many ration books are still lost or temporarily mislaid. Over a three-month period 6,728 were reported lost in Central Ontario alone.

Ration books have been found on the floors of movie houses and concert halls and amongst the household paper salvage; they still sometimes pay a visit to the cleaners in coat pockets or are appropriated by the imaginative youngster to serve as ferry or street car tickets.

Peace Terms

(Chicago Daily News)

How would it do to tell the German people that all we intend to do to them is to put into effect the German military and civil regulations imposed upon France, Belgium, Holland, Czechoslovakia, Poland, Norway and occupied parts of Russia?

It might inspire them to fight to the death, but trying to frame an answer would probably tie Goebbel's tongue into a double bowknot.

New Power

(Business Week)

A Soviet engineer—Georgi Babat—is reported to have developed recently a motor vehicle which receives its power from electric wires laid beneath the surface of the street. No contact with the wire is necessary.

This is one of the non-military products of Soviet wartime research, conducted by more than 25,000 scientists and engineers working in 700 universities and 900 research laboratories at a cost in 1944 of about $1,000,000,000. Since 1941, more than 1,000 scientists have received Stalin prizes for their contributions to the Russian war effort.

Noisy Worms

(Chicago Sun)

A farmers' bulletin of the Department of Agriculture says that worms, which most persons regard as the epitome of silence, emit a wee noise. About a dozen put together can make a snapping sound just audible to a normal human ear. Some fast-thinking fisherman may think that here's a brand-new alibi, ("Doggone worm kept snarling at the fish . . . scared 'em off.") It won't work, Waltons. A fish has a good sense of touch and fair eyesight, but his hearing is worse than that of an uncle about to be touched for a $10 loan.

Every violation of truth is a stab at the health of human society.—Emerson.

ARMISTICE DAY

Do you remember how we cheered,
And fancied men with war were done;
That when the battered fields were cleared
The grain would ripen in the sun?

Do you remember how we danced
And laughed and sang and drank our wine,
Thinking the cause of peace advanced
And banished every battle line?

Well, we have learned one lesson well:
Hatred to strife is doomed to lead.
Peace in the hearts of men must dwell
Or war will the next war surely seed.

LOOKING BACKWARDS

GLEANINGS FROM OUR FYLES OF BY-GONE YEARS

20 YEARS AGO

November 11th., 1924.

Nominations for the bye-election to be held in West Hastings on Nov. 25th., were held in the city hall here this afternoon and a big crowd was present. The chair was occupied by Mr. Charles A. Cameron. The Returning Officer, Mr. Walter C. Boardman of Sidney Township, announced that there would be two nominations, those of Mr. E. Guss Porter and Mr. Charles Hanna. Mr. P. H. Wills is agent for Mr. Porter and Mr. E. D. O'Flynn is agent for Mr. Hanna. There were many names on the nomination papers of each candidate. The candidates were supported by one speaker each: Hon. G. N. Gordon, Deputy Speaker of the House of Commons, for Mr. Hanna, and the Hon. Edmund Bristol, M.P., for Mr. Porter.

Mayor Mikel, K.C., is the Crown Prosecutor at the Welland Assizes.

Lyle and Bert Twiddy spent a few days with friends in Madoc.

Mr. Dan Donoghue has returned home from Hamilton.

30 YEARS AGO

Mr. Frank S. Solmes and his son have left for Batavia, N.Y.

Mrs. J. W. Haight of Stirling is visiting friends here.

Messrs. A. R. Walker, president; W. J. Diamond, secretary, and W. R. Vallance of the Belleville Horticultural Society, left today to attend the annual meeting of the Provincial Association in Toronto.

Mr. Byron Hudson of Hamilton, formerly of Belleville, is spending a few days in town.

Mr. Thomas Moore, local manager of the Steel Company of Canada, sailed today from New York for the Old Country.

Major P. McL. Forin, O.C. 34th. Battery, C.F.A., is attending the Royal School of Artillery in Kingston.

40 YEARS AGO

November 11th., 1904.

Wouldn't it be a good idea for the city council to sell the old street car rails, now unused on Front Street, and with the money thus obtained, import enough hard rock from somewhere to properly macadamise our main aisle? We will never have a satisfactory roadway on our principal thoroughfare until something of this kind is done.

Mr. A. A. Richardson of Deseronto was in town today.

Belleville market prices: Butter 22 to 23 cents per pound; eggs 22 to 23 cents per dozen; chickens 36 cents to 70 cents per pair; geese 80 cents each; ducks $1.25 per pair; turkeys 12 cents per pound.

Mr. P. J. M. Anderson, County Crown Attorney, attended court in Trenton today.

The herring fishing is a failure so far, the bay fishermen say.

The first snow arrived today, but it did not last long.

There are few vacant houses in town.

The schooner D. Freeman is unloading coal here for Hart Bros and Lazier.

Butter sold on the market today at 20 cents to 24 cents per pound.

Capt. W. F. Meyers, a former resident of Belleville, was elected a member of the North West Legislature from Kinostone District by a majority of four.

LETTER TO THE EDITOR

73 Pine St.
Belleville,
Nov. 6th, 1944.

The Editor,
The Ontario Intelligencer.

Dear Editor,

May I again encroach upon some of your valuable space to answer the letter under the nom-de-plume of a Belleville Housekeeper in your last Saturday night's issue.

This correspondent is evidently very much in the dark as to the correct relationship between gas and electricity in the home and gas and electricity as applied to industry. Whilst one many concede that gas may be a declining asset in the home, nevertheless gas is still a vital necessity in many industries today and it is on these industries that workers have to depend for their livelihood, therefore the prosperity of our people and the City is inevitably bound to these industries and as a consequence no first-class city can afford to be without its Gas Plant. If you put out your Gas Plant you will simply restrict and hamper the healthy expansion of these industries which we all desire in the post-war era.

These are definite principles and common sense which neither your correspondent nor anyone else can deny. Your correspondent has apparently misunderstood my previous letter and I would recommend housekeeper to again read it through more carefully, when he or she will realise that I never suggested that the Gas Plant itself would provide work for our returned men, as most people know that a gas plant operates with a minimum of labor. My point was, that as a consequence of gas being available to all industry in Belleville these industries themselves will be able to support more labor than would otherwise be the case, and it is this factor that those who are not gas users should bear in mind when coming to a decision.

Upon reading the letter again I am struck by the failure to mention the 111 commercial users of gas in this city, in spite of the fact that they are the employers of labor, and they are still using gas because it is still their best medium of heat in their particular line of business.

By these principles, what applies to our present 111 commercial users of gas today also applies to untold potential commercial gas users of the future.

The issue is therefore plain, we either close up our gas plant, and in so doing close the door to all this possible future industry, or we retain what we have, looking confidently to the future, safe in the knowledge that here in Belleville we have everything to offer in the way of inducement to any new industry which may desire to locate in Belleville.

I trust that as a result of the foregoing, your correspondent will have a deeper understanding of some of the issues involved in the closing of a gas plant.

Thanking you, Mr. Editor, for your courtesy.

I am,
Sincerely Yours,
W. Bean.

NUGGETS OF KNOWLEDGE

A horse with a gait in which the legs move in lateral pairs is called a pacer. The pace in the sense of a specific gait seems to be the natural gait of some horses.

In pacing a horse lifts the two feet on each side almost simultaneously and all four feet are off the ground together at certain moments. The animal is supported alternately on the right and left legs. Variations of the pace are known as the amble and the rack. All are easy gaits at moderate speeds.

"Tin," the name of a valuable metal, is of unknown origin. The root is found only in Teutonic languages. Some authorities suppose that "Britain," an early name of England, is derived from the Phoenician word for tin.

There is an old superstition, which is still quite common, that it is unlucky to walk under a ladder leaning against a building, tree or other object. How the belief originated is not known for certain. It may be merely the natural outgrowth of the danger incident to walking under ladders. But it is also considered unlucky to walk on a ladder lying on the ground. One writer suggests that the superstition about walking under ladders may have arisen from the fact that in early times culprits were often hanged from ladders propped against buildings.

Those who believe in the superstition say that ill luck will follow a person who walks under a ladder, regardless of the physical danger, unless he stops to make a wish, in which event no ill luck will befall him. Moreover, the wish made under such circumstances will come true. In England the superstition has a special provision, namely, if an unmarried woman walks under or over a ladder she will not be married within a year.

The Constitution of the United States makes no provision for choosing a new Vice President in case of death, resignation or removal of that official.

The popular notion that snakes can jump off the ground, is erroneous; no snake can leap entirely from the ground.

On this subject the U. S. Biological Survey made the following interesting statement a few years ago: "The idea that a snake can strike its full length or even a greater distance is another popular but erroneous belief. When a snake strikes from its usual S-shaped curved position, the anterior half of the body which is thrown forward must be free from coil. In striking the snake simply straightens out the S-shaped curves. It does not have to be in this position for observation has shown that when irritated most of our poisonous snakes can strike from almost any position for short distances. The greatest length of stroke is about three-fourths the length of the snake."

Benedict Arnold was twice wounded in the American service during the Revolution—in the assault on Quebec in 1775 he was wounded in the right knee, and at the battle of Saratoga in 1777 his right thigh was broken by a musket ball.

CONSERVATIVE TREATMENT OF ENLARGED TONSILS.

In the majority of cases there is no evidence of infection and no need of treatment for enlarged tonsils in children from three to fifteen years of age. It is physiological or normal for children of this age to have large tonsils

Medical or surgical treatment is required if the tonsils and/or the pharyngea tonsil (adenoids) become so very large that the child's breathing is manifestly obstructed. For instance, if the child cannot breathe through the nose with the mouth closed; or if the child chokes and snorts and tosses about at night or assumes the knee-chest posture in order to maintain free breathing while asleep.

Although the tonsils and adenoids, composed of the same type of tissue as that in the spleen, the lymph nodes or "glands" throughout the body, the red bone marrow etc., probably serve a useful purpose, contributing to maintenance of immunity against the cri (and please understand this term (kree) means any one of the Common Respiratory Infections, from the mildest acute coryza or rhinitis to infantile paralysis or measles)—there is a point where this protective function of the tonsil tissue fails and surgery, conservative surgery becomes necessary.

By conservative surgery I mean one of three alternatives to standard surgical tonsillectomy or "complete" removal of the tonsils. These are (1) a series of X-ray treatments, particularly effective where the child has middle ear trouble or some deafness; (2) diathermy (electro-coagulation), for patients old enough to co-operate with the physician giving the treatments—usually children under eight years of age will not co-operate; and (3) tonsillotomy.

Tonsillotomy means merely slicing off, clipping, removing a portion of the tonsil, by means of the tonsillotome. This is a jiffy operation, and even without an anesthetic it hurts no more than extraction of a tooth—so say many older children and adults who have submitted to tonsillotomy. In my opinion this is as far as we should go with surgery for enlarged tonsils and/or adenoids— I believe tonsillectomy so-called "complete" removal of the tonsil is justified only in rare instances of malignancy.

The first two alternatives are bloodless. The first, (X-ray) is painless. The electro-coagulation method is not more painful than is, say, dental treatment of a cavity. Of course tonsillotomy is momentarily painful, and some bleeding occurs, although rarely enough to cause alarm.

One or another method of treatment should be used when the child with enlarged tonsils (1) has repeated attacks of sore throat or tonsillitis or more frequent attacks of cri than other young persons in the household; (2) when the child with enlarged tonsils and/or adenoids shows signs of defective hearing or symptoms of middle ear trouble; (3) when there is manifest obstruction of breathing as above described.

That leaves a majority of children with enlarged tonsils and/or adenoids entitled to be let alone, so far as medical or surgical treatment may be concerned.

QUESTIONS & ANSWERS

Leg Cramps

I am 32 years old and sometimes I am awakened in the night with severe cramps in legs and feet that I could scream. (Mrs. O. B.)

Answer—The most frequent cause of such cramps, I believe, is tetany. Calcium and vitamin D supplement for the diet brings relief promptly or prevents further trouble in most instances. Send stamped envelope bearing your address, for pamphlet "Adult Tetany and Growing Pains" —you must ask for it yourself—a clipping will not do.

No Diagnosis

I am aware that there is a war on, I'm willing to bend the code of medical ethics to the breaking point to help a correspondent when I can conscientiously do so. Yet every mail brings a lot of letters from people who write pages and pages of history and ask me to waive the rules and let deserving correspondents wait while I confine my attention to their cases. No, no, children. We believe the ideal way is to try to do the greatest good for the greatest number. That makes ten-page letters out of order.

Capital Closeups

By JAMES McCOOK
(Canadian Press Staff Writer)

Ottawa, Nov. 11 —(CP)— Some day the representatives of nearly 10,000,000 British Commonwealth and United States farmers may assemble in Ottawa to decide their production programs and means by which they may assist each other.

Canadian Federation of Agriculture officials, who have their head office here, say that for years discussions have gone forward aimed at establishment of Commonwealth - United States farm co-operation which would result in conferences at which their common problems could be discussed.

A delegation of the National Farmers' Union of Britain is expected to visit Canada shortly and will discuss suggestions for collaboration. This delegation also will visit Australia and New Zealand.

H. H. Hannam, Canadian Federation President, said there had been a proposal that one of the first Commonwealth-United States farm conferences should be held in Canada, and a quick invitation had been issued by his organization. But the war and transportation difficulties had delayed arrangements and a definite place and date still had to be set, with the possibility the United Kingdom would be the choice.

Drill: Canadian chiefs of staff know their drill—both foot and fire. A test fire alarm was rung when they were in session at a national defence building the other day. The high officers left with the others, following the proper direction signs, and officials announced proudly that the building had been cleared in three minutes.

Nickname: Canadian sailors in Newfoundland have an irreverant name for H.M.C.S. Preserver, the big, black mother ship which carries gasoline and other supplies for Fairmile motor launches in the Royal Canadian Navy Newfoundland Command.

They call her "Petrol-Packin' Mammal."

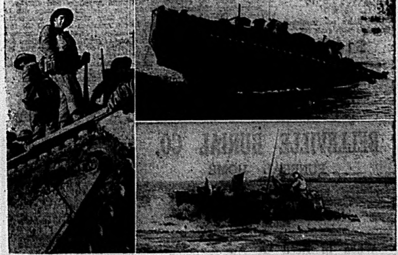
CANUCKS LAUNCH AMPHIBIOUS ATTACK IN HOLLAND



Fighting bitterly and at times fanatically, the Germans have taken advantage of every natural obstacle in the Lowlands of Holland and Belgium to hold back the Allied advance. The First Canadian Army staged a miniature invasion of their own at one point in Holland, sending amphibious forces across water to hit the enemy at an unexpected point. Tactics such as these, have almost cleared water approaches to the port of Antwerp, badly needed as a supply port for future operations. At left Canadian soldiers with their landing vehicles and equipment get ready to embark on their amphibious attack. Top right shows one of their landing vehicles hitting the water as the operation began and (below) the men and equipment are ferried across water to establish their beachhead. The action eliminated a strong German pocket.—(Canadian Army Photos)

SOCIAL AND PERSONAL

ENGAGEMENT NOTICE

Mr. and Mrs. Roy Brown, Harold, Ont., wish to announce the engagement of their eldest daughter, Annie Marjorie, to Gordon Cleborn, son of Mr. and Mrs. Hubert Gay, Foxboro, Ont; the marriage to take place late in November.

Writer Francis Langton, R. C. N. V. R., and Mrs. Langton spent a few days with the former's brother, Constable Neel Langton and Mrs. Langton, in Deseronto.

Mrs. Nelson Kiser received word that her husband has been slightly wounded in action in Belgium.

Mrs. Pearl Prentice and daughter, of Calabogie, are visiting with Mrs. A. Crouter, S. Front St.

Community concert enthusiasts will be interested to know that Walter Cassel, baritone, a member of the Columbia All-Star Opera Quartet which gave a recital in the city during October, is to be a guest artist on a radio broadcast tomorrow, Sunday afternoon at five o'clock.

The lucky winner for the Wedding Ring Quilt in aid of the British War Victims Fund, donated by Mrs. R. Latchford, Belleville, R. R. 5, was Miss Norma Corneal, 50 Grier St. The sum of $32.55 was realized from the sale of tickets.

Miss Carolyn Cameron, Reg.N., General Hospital Montreal, is spending a few days with her aunts, Miss Winnifred and Miss Carrie Miller, of Glen Miller.

Mrs. Mary Barrett, College St., entertained at a delightful euchre and tea on Thursday evening in honor of her niece, Mrs. D. V. Huffman's birthday. The euchre prizes were won by ladies: Mrs. Edward Schrieder, Sr., and Mrs. Vincent Freeman; men's, Messrs. John Whelan, Vincent Freeman.

Mrs. Cecil Steel, of Tichborne, accompanied by her father, Mr. R. Crawford, visited with relatives and friends in the city.

Miss Joan Wynne has returned to her home on N. Park Street, after being a patient in the Belleville General Hospital.

Bridal Couple Feted

Mr. and Mrs. Ernest Mack, Crookston bride and groom, were recently honored at a reception given at the home of the groom's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Percy Mack. About 75 friends were present. The bride is the former Ines McFadden.

Mr. Robert Downey acted as master of ceremonies for the occasion, and Mrs. William French read an address to the young couple, signed on behalf of the community by Mrs. Jas. Miller and Mrs. W. French.

Numerous gifts were presented to Mr. and Mrs. Mack and an enjoyable evening followed.

Internationally known as one of the outstanding figures in the fight for women's rights and a well-known fashion designer. Miss Elizabeth Hawes will speak at the Collegiate Auditorium here on Monday evening on "Women in Society and in Industry".

Miss Hawes is an author of repute. She wrote "Why Women Weep" a whimsical best seller also "Fashion is Spinach".

She is a graduate of Vassar and later worked with Paris designers writing lively sketches for the people back home. In 1929 she set up her own exclusive dress establishment in New York and made it a sensational success. She got "fed up" with rich customers and chose the pen for the scissors.

She learned to grind gears in a war plant and wore a union badge. Now she has a full-time job in the educational department of the United Automobile Workers, where she deals chiefly with women's problems. She speaks under the UAW auspices here.

Former Glen Miller Residents Celebrate Silver Anniversary

Mr. and Mrs. James A. Hennessey, 709 Bender Avenue, Niagara Falls, were the recipients of many good wishes, gifts and floral tributes Sunday on the occasion of their silver wedding anniversary. They held a reception at their home, attended by a large number of friends of the well-known couple. The bride and groom of twenty-five years ago received at the entrance to the living room. Mrs. Hennessey wore a black and gold chiffon gown with a corsage of mums and bouvardia. They were assisted by Mrs. William Trapnell of St. Catharines who was the bridesmaid at their wedding and Mr. Frederick Abel, of Cleveland, who was the best man and Mrs. John Hennessey, mother of Mr. Hennessey. Presiding at the tea table in the afternoon were Mrs. Percival Mayes, Mrs. G. R. Inglis, of Niagara Falls; Miss Mabel Adie, St. Catharines and Miss Charles Bagg, Niagara Falls, N.Y. In the evening Mrs. Morley Brown, Mrs. Merle Stoner, Niagara Falls; Mrs. William Milward, St. Catharines, and Mrs. Arthur Read, Ridgeville. The assistants were Mrs. George Meek, Niagara Falls, N.Y.; Mrs. Arthur Armstrong, Mrs. Jack Peckham, Miss Lois Shaver, Toronto; Mrs. George Henderson, Mrs. L. Sommerville, Mrs. Joseph Etherington, Mrs. William McCarthy, St. Catharines; Mrs. Walter Thomas, Mrs. Arthur Abel, Mrs. Frederick Abel, Cleveland, Ohio. Miss Marion Peckham opened the door and Miss Phyllis Sommerville invited the guests to sign the guest book.—Niagara Falls Review.

Mr. and Mrs. Hennessey who were former residents of Glen Miller, are well known in Belleville and district.

Sees Russia Ready to Fit Into World Economic Picture, Russia Symbol for Reform Progress

Dr. R. M. Saunders Speaks to Women's Canadian Club on Russia After War

The idea contained in the expression "We don't have to fear Russia on grounds of revolution" is the summing up, the very essence of the address "Russia in the Post War World", delivered by Dr. R. M. Saunders to the Women's Canadian Club in the Bridge St. Church S.S. rooms on Friday night. From the knowledge he has derived from his study of this particular subject, Dr. Saunders, in eloquent oration, painted with wide sweeps of his brush an extremely colorful picture of Russia and its part in the post-war world.

Dr. Saunders is from Toronto, where he is associated as Professor of History with the University of Toronto. He is an historian and a lecturer and is well known to Belleville audiences particularly in the latter capacity. In his opening remarks, Dr. Saunders said "that Russia knows what she wants to do but how she will apply her ideas remains to be seen. Ask ourselves what we want in the post war world. We wish peace and security, equality of economical and materialistic opportunities, and spiritual and cultural freedom. Then ask ourselves how Russia will fit into that picture.

Russia's Great Size

"We will consider first Russia's size. It is two and one-thirds the size of Canada and is one sixth of the land surface of the world. It is a nation in one great block which has an advantage over a nation that is scattered. There are vast resources in that vast size. The resources that have been there, have been the mainstay of the Russians against German opposition. Not one half of Russian resources however, have been developed. It is a vast empty territory, which can and will be developed after this war. It is a land of opportunity.

"Russia is in a strategic position," continued Dr. Saunders. "It is the heart of the world". He suggested, that just such a country could not be left out of the international picture following the war or there would be no international picture. In regard to Russia's population, there could be anywhere from 25 to 30 million killed before the war is over. "However," he said, "Russia's birth rate is high and it is a land of opportunity. Add these two factors together and you have a population rising to approximately 250 million people following the war."

Russia's military strength and prestige have never been what they will be at the end of this war. Summing up all these facts, it is a country that can not be avoided, left out of the picture or slighted in any way.

Russia and the Future.

Does Russia want peace? It will vary with circumstances and with our attitude. Dr. Saunders said the question is rising now in Eastern Europe. Many people believe that we are faced with a new Russian imperialism. Since war began, Russia has captured territories to which old Czarist Russia had claim. She is determined to have what she calls strategic frontiers too strong to be attacked the speaker said. If Russia follows this policy, then she relies on her own strength. That reflects the old suspicious attitude of Russia towards the outside world. If Russia should continue in that policy, then you can say goodbye to any international relations with her. If she wants to rely on her own strength as she has done in the past, then the world is going to be divided between Russia and Anglo-America. That horrible situation will not happen, however, if we persuade Russia that international organization will successfully function to keep peace in the world. For the defence of Russia she wishes to surround herself with a ring of friendly states. She has no intention of being hemmed in. This is not aggressive imperialism like that which Germany and Japan have been exerting.

Russia Needs Peace.

In regards to Russia's possible imperialism, the question rises. "Is she going to be aggressive?". I do not think that she can go on with her living if she invites further wars. We need peace, and so does Russia. She has to build up her country that has been devastated during this war. At the beginning of this regime, Russia set out to modernize herself. Marshal Stalin was heard to say that such a program would never terminate. Dr. Saunders suggested that Stalin's idea was to demonstrate Russian culture and Russian ideas of society as being superior to the rest of the world. They wish to build a perfect socialist state. They can not do that sort of thing without peace. Russia cannot afford war.

Nationalism.

Another question arises pertaining to Russia's Communism. Dr. Saunders called it a religion, because it is an all-absorbing idea. "There has been no abandonment of the ideal of Communism in Russia," he said. But he went on to tell that there has been a revival of Nationalism there also. The Russian people's love for their land was the spark that made the Russians fight as they have done today to drive the foreign invaders from their country. This expression of Nationalism has expressed itself more and more. The Greek Orthodox Church has been reinstated, and Nationalism is the main driving force in that respect also. Stalin is not prepared to have perpetual religious war in Russia. He knows that it is common sense for the Church to be recognized. The Greek Orthodox Church will play a large part in the life of Russia to come, predicted Mr. Saunders.

We do not want extreme Russian Nationalism nor Russian Communism. Communism there may curb the extreme Nationalistic feeling and thus the system in Russia will not be so aggressive.

Symbol for Reform and Progress.

Her influence will be tremendous following the war. She is going to be the great power of Eastern and Central Europe. Russia is the symbol for reform and for progress. We are in the midst of social revolution but Russia is not the cause of it. The causes of social revolution go back to the consequences of the industrial revolution. Communism is basically materialistic. The Christian and democratic world must prove to Russia that the changes that have to be made in the post-war world are for the sole purpose of international peace. We must cooperate on grounds where we have a common interest.

Russia Honors Financial Obligations.

Can we do business with Russia? There is no known case, stated Dr. Saunders, that Russia did not pay its debt since the beginning of the new Soviet government. We are dealing with a government which has always met its financial obligations. It is the opinion that Russia is now ready to fit into the required world economic arrangements. In regard to spiritual and cultural freedom, Russia has over sixty nationalities which all have different ideas. If Russia has allowed these varied ideas to prevail in her own country then she will certainly tolerate the varied ideas of other nations.

Dr. Saunders brought his most engrossing address to a close with this idea. "The British Commonwealth of Nations and the United States have learned to cooperate in this terrible conflict of today. When the military battle is ended we must keep up this cooperation and thus pave the road to a lasting peace and a happier world."

WAR SERVICES

Wednesday evening, in the Y.M.C.A. gymnasium, the White Group of the Red Triangle Hostess Club under the leadership of Mary Moult and Ada Moore entertained a large number of service men at their annual Sadie Hawkins Party. The decorations in traditional Dogpatch fashion were done by the Decoration committee in charge of Hilda Murray. Hillbilly costumes prevailed with the more prominent characters portrayed as follows:—Sadie Hawkins, Ada Moore; Daisy May, Barbara Bolte; Mammie Yokum, Lenore Vermilyea; Moonbeam McSwine, Dorothy Hammett, Marryin' Sam, George Wonnacott. The evening opened with a brief floor show with Marryin' Sam as Master of Ceremonies. Under the leadership of Gena Hicks and accompanied by Lois Harper, eight girls impersonating "Scraggs" sang two songs written especially for the occasion. The "Hillbilly Trio" consisting of Bill Bankier, Gord Bankied and Buddie Cavanaugh dressed in true hillbilly fashion sang "I'm Goin' Back Where I Come From". A skit "Saturday Night in Dogpatch" was presented with Lenore Vermilyea and Sylvester Cavanaugh playing Mammie and Pappie Yokum. The floor show ended with the Sadie Hawkins race. Dancing followed with George Nichol of Campbellford, at the piano and Bill Navan as Master of Ceremonies for the remainder of the evening. Refreshments were served in the Games' Room with the following girls assisting—Dorothy Poste, Peggy Webster, Elaine Drew, Vera Ballinger, Evelyn Coulter, Elizabeth Gladney, Winnie Bird.

Women's Activities

IVANHOE W. I.

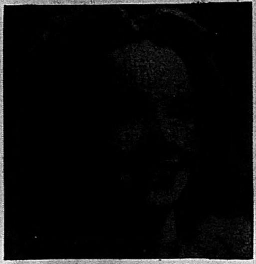
The November meeting of this branch of the W. I. was held the afternoon of Nov. 7, at the home of Mr. and Mrs. J. B. Hagerman. The president, Mrs. M. Shaw, opened the meeting in the usual manner after which Mrs. Geo. Wood, the delegate to the area convention at Belleville, gave an interesting report. Mrs. Wagar, convener, then took charge. A reading on "Democracy" was given by Mrs. H. Mayo. Members were favored with music by Mrs. V. Hagerman. Mrs. C. Mitts then gave some thoughts on the motto "Democracy is based upon the conviction that there are extraordinary possibilities in ordinary people." Current events were given by Mrs. Wilbur Bateman after which Rev. O. Wagar gave an address on "Hints on Budgeting Your Income."

A duet was sung by Mrs. V. Hagerman and her daughter, Eva. The National Anthem was then sung and the hostess served lunch.

CARMEL Y.P.U.

The regular meeting of the Carmel Y.P.U. was held on Wednesday. It took the form of a Hallowe'en Party. Prizes were given for the best costumes and were won by Luella Homan, Vernal Prindle and James Fox. Games and refreshments were enjoyed by all.

How to Become Popular



Sally Ellis has both beauty and charm.

By HELEN FOLLETT

YOU WANT to be popular, don't you? You give much attention to appearance, and that's all right. But you must learn to turn on the charm, and keep it on. To some girls, darlings of the gods, charm is as natural as breathing. Faces brighten at their approach. They're always on the list of party guests. Now why do you suppose that is? Because they are amiable, affable, pleasing. They are courteous and gracious. They couldn't be spiteful if they tried. They are appreciative of others who do nice things for them. They never forget to say "please" and "thank you."

Good Listeners

They practice the amenities of life, are not quick of speech or tiresome. They have attentive ears, listening when others are speaking, instead of doing monologues, expressing opinions in which other people are not interested.

They are adaptable, fitting themselves into the crowd. They know that the ability to get along happily with other individuals is not only making others happier but themselves too. The girl who goes around with a chip on her shoulder isn't the girl who is dragged places by the fellows. Don't think the boys aren't keen! They can size up a girl at a glance.

Good Sport

Be a good sport. Play the game. Be fair. If a tire must be taken off the car, don't pout and fuss about being late to the party. Fall to and help if you can.

MEALS AS SKIN CLEANSERS

In the quaint old days when ladies wore silk mitts, rode in phaetons and saved rose petals to put in perfume jars, there was a violent interest in bath bags. You found formulas for these mixtures in women's magazines back in the '80's. Castile soap was cut in fine shreds, meals and perfumes were added, and the mixing placed in gauze bags. To the girls of that period rouge and lipstick were unthinkable. So the making of these bath accessories must have been pretty exciting. As these dainties were used only once, they must have been something of a luxury; you'd think not worth the time, the trouble and the investment.

We use meals now on our complexions, consider soap the proper medium for scouring the body. Meals are particularly acceptable to skins that kick up a rumpus when they come in contact with soap suds. We realize that there are such skins because the afflicted ones brag about them. "My complexion is very sensitive! Soap drives it into a red fury"—as if an ill-natured cutaneous covering gave one social standing. But there you are!

Finicky complexions may be suffering from some mild form of dermatitis. Skin scales are shedding too rapidly, or the sebaceous glands have gone on strike—not supplying the epidermal surface with enough oil to keep it in normal condition.

Excellent cleansing meals can be found on cosmetic counters. Finely ground oatmeal is the basis for some of them. Oatmeal contains starchy properties that are soothing to the skin, and it whisks away sebaceous oil in a hurry.

If you belong to the enthusiastic cult that loves to mess around with home-made cosmetics, you can compound a delightful mixture by combining six ounces of powdered Florentine orris, four ounces of powdered castile soap and six ounces of fine almond meal. A few drops of oil of lavender imparts a refreshing perfume.

Dip a large wash cloth in warm water; sprinkle over it some of the cleansing agent; go over the flesh lightly. The most convenient container is a glass jar with a shaker top.

The meals sold in the shops are water softeners. In almond meal there is a certain amount of oil that the fussy complexion accepts with pleasure.

The thorough renovating should be accomplished at night, followed by a soothing lubricant. Cold cream or a thin oil will do for the girls who are under thirty, but after that milestone is past, a heavy emollient is more effective because it offers resistance to the fingers, hence the underlying fibers are massaged and strengthened. Keep the tissues firm and you will ward off wrinkles until you are 100. Use brisk tapping and slapping movements. Don't force the flesh up in folds under the eyes.

The Experts Say

(By The Canadian Press)

Ottawa, Nov. 11 — (CP) — Cheese Facts: Cheese, contrary to popular belief, is not an indigestible food, says the Nutrition Division of the Health and Welfare Department. Grated cheese, because it is finely divided, dry cheese, because it is better masticated, and uncured cheese—such as cottage cheese—are more easily digested. High temperatures in cooking which makes cheese tough and stringy retard digestion.

Delicious as cheese is as an extra—with apple pie or for a midnight snack, the nutritionists urge that it be used as a food rather than a flavoring. Classed as a meat alternative, for cheese is rich in high-quality protein, it is also a particularly good source of calcium in which many people's diets are deficient. Its use as a main dish is good nutrition practice.

Buying Brellies: Sight of an umbrella counter during a rain storm makes us wish for a magic parasol that could be always tucked away ready to hoist against the elements . . . which leads up to the sensible advice to choose an umbrella, if you must have a new one, when you can examine it free from the pokes and jabs of the mob. Be sure of the quality of both covering and frame before you buy. Shake it out before opening so that the fastening won't catch and pull the ribs. After using dry it open . . . in the bathtub or on the back porch where the dripping water won't cause any damage.

Bean Feast: The Agriculture Department Consumer Section has successfully tested this delicious bean and cheese casserole . . . a dish fit for a king, especially on these cold November days.

You will need: one cup of white navy beans, one small carrot, one small onion, three tablespoons of fat, three tablespoons of flour, two cups of milk, salt and pepper to taste, ½ cup grated cheese.

Pick over, wash and soak beans overnight in cold water to cover. Drain. Cover with fresh water and cook until tender, about two hours. Cut carrot and onion in small dice. Make sauce of fat, flour, milk, salt and pepper and add grated cheese. Arrange beans and vegetables in alternate layers in a greased casserole dish. Cover with cheese sauce and top with a little grated cheese or a mixture of cheese and bread crumbs. Bake in a moderate oven, 350 degrees fahrenheit, until vegetables are tender, about 45 minutes. (Left-over cooked vegetables may be used and the oven time reduced to 15 to 20 minutes.) This makes six servings.

Germ Wins: Time to switch from cold cereal to hot porridge . . . but don't overlook the major league playoffs: wheat germ versus no wheat germ. The first team always wins. Add vitamin B-packed wheat germ to hot cereal just before serving; use it to replace some of the flour in muffins and oatmeal cookies.

Fruit Cellar: Keep the temperature down in the cellar where you store your fruits and vegetables . . . 35 degrees fahrenheit is fine for storables and preserves, the Agriculture Department says. Also, they add, vegetables don't keep well if put directly on the floor. Keep them in bins and crates.

PACE-SETTING LEAFS FACING TOUGH BATTLE

Play Canadiens for First Time at Home This Season

By ERIC ANDERSON
Canadian Press Staff Writer

The pace-setting Toronto Maple Leafs face their toughest assignment of the young 1944-45 National Hockey League campaign when they play hosts to Montreal Canadiens, last year's champions, tonight.

The match promises to be a test of strength for both and one which the flying Frenchmen will go all out to win. The meeting will be the second this season of the two, Leafs having won the initial game 4-1 at Montreal.

In the only other game tonight, Detroit Red Wings clash with Lester Patrick's Rangers at New York. On Sunday, the Wings tangle with Toronto at Detroit and Canadiens take on the Blacks Hawks at Chicago.

Despite Leafs' five-game winning drive, neither Coach Hap Day nor his club members is anticipating an easy time this weekend.

Many things have to be taken into consideration for tonight's encounter. Both teams are strong and fast and each is gunning for a victory. A win for Toronto would send them four points ahead of Canadiens, who have won four of their five starts.

Further, both boast of at least one powerful line. Toronto's crack trio of Schriner-Bodnar-Carr currently lead individual pointergetters and so far have caused opposing teams plenty of trouble. On the other hand, Canadiens' Richard-Lach-Blake combination, which led the flying Frenchmen to victory last season, appears to have come into its own and the three snipers also are well up in the point-getting column.

There have been no pre-game predictions from either club. Toronto's rookie netminder, Frank McCool, who at present is the leading custodian in the league, will tend the nets tonight with Bill Durnan, last year's Vesina Trophy winner, between the posts for Montreal.

PACIFIC VETERANS COMPETE IN 100 YARD DASH

Tunney Willing To Accommodate Wrestling Fans

"Apparently Belleville wrestling fans like wild demonstrations tossed in with their bouts. If that's the way they want it, well we're always willing to co-operate," stated Promoter Frank Tunney of the Queensbury A. C. before announcing his feature attraction for next week at the local palace de sport.

"If it's rough-house tactics the fans desire here's a real dish for them. I'm tossing John Katan, the Palermo Panther, in against Jerry Monahan, the Irish Bull, for the main bout to a finish. Then if the fans are satisfied with that dish I'm signing Al Dunlop, who the fans seem to dislike to no great end, against a newcomer to Belleville who is none other than the turbulent Jean Pusie, former National Hockey League defenceman. All sport fans know what a ruffian Pusie has been in the past and he should be just the man to satisfy the Belleville fans next Wednesday," prophesied Tunney as he seemed quite satisfied with his stroke of matchmaking for the time being at least.

Just what may happen to the Hume Arena chattels can't be prophesied, but with a guaranteed preliminary most anything could take place to over-shadow last week's donnybrook.

Softball Loop To Hold Banquet To Honor Players

In a get-together of all softball players in the district, a banquet will be held by the Belleville Men's Softball League at the Y.M.C.A. on the night of Dec. 5th. At the same time various trophies and crests won by the two local provincial finalists, Stephens-Adamson "Marines" and the Columbian Squires juniors. The announcement of the banquet was made by President J. E. Samain today after a general meeting of the league had been held last night.

During the banquet the Bank of Commerce Trophy, emblematic of the City Softball Championship and the McCarthy Theatre cup will be given team finishing on top of the league at the conclusion of the regular schedule prior to the league play-offs. The SACO "Marines" took both trophies this season past. Crests indicating Eastern Ontario O.A.S.A. champions will be given both the Columbian Squires and the Marines, Secretary Don Lee announced.

The entire personnel of the league will be feted by the league while a few staunch softball supporters will be permitted to attend the first men's softball banquet and presentation of trophies ever held in Belleville.

Toronto, Nov. 11 —(CP)—Strange study in contrasts was provided in recent Montreal dispatch that wrestling and basketball referees were asking higher fees for their services. The grappling game, next to hockey probably is the best-paying sport in the Montreal area, while the least said about basketball's financial condition the better.

The wrestling officials want more money just on the general principle of the thing, figuring they should get all they can for risking their lives and limbs in a ring full of charging huskies. Frequently the referee comes out of the match more bruised and blackened than the, wrestlers themselves—but of course it's usually all in fun.

The basketball refs asked to have their fees boosted one lone dollar from the present figure of $2.50 a game, but the governing officials say they can't afford to pay even that, because their attendance has fallen off so. When you figure that, even at a very nominal charge of 10 cents each it would take only an extra 10 customers to pay the referee his extra greenback, it doesn't say much for the size of the crowds that turn out to see the game.

Wanted: Santa Claus:

The big three of the National Hockey League, Toronto, Canadiens and Detroit might do well to distribute some of their excess strength among the other three squads to balance up the league and make for more interesting games, comments Doug (Windsor Star) Vaughan. An example of the excess baggage the triple alliance is retaining, is Paul Bibeault of Canadiens. He was acclaimed as the league's second-best goalie (some said best) with Leafs last year, but now he is cooling his heels on the bench.

JIMMY McDANIELS CLIMBS HIGHER IN WELTER RANKS

Outpoints Sammy Angott in Slam - Bang 10 - Round Bout

New York, Nov. 11 (CP)—Jimmy McDaniels of Los Angeles, climbed higher in the welterweight ranks last night by outpointing the veteran Sammy Angott in a slam-bang 10-round fight at Madison Square Garden.

The youthful Californian came close to being the first scrapper even to kayo the ring-wise former lightweight titleholder from Washington, Pa. In the seventh he caught Angott flush on the jaw with a hard right. Angott fell into the ropes where his cunning foiled all of McDaniels' efforts to whip over the finishing wallop.

While McDaniels outsped the veteran, it was by no means a one-sided affair. Angott easily won the first two rounds, giving McDaniels a bloody nose, then outslugged the Pacific Coast youth in a furious ninth that made McDaniels retreat.

Angott weighed 144 1-2 to 144 1-4 for McDaniels.

Sports Roundup

New York, Nov. 11 —(AP)— Columbia's Lou Little, for our money one of the smartest football coaches in the business, looks for a new type of football offence to come out of wartime experiments with different formations.

Alphabet Soup

Little's suggestion is that the offence of the future will combine the best features of the "T" formation and the single wing or "Z" . . . The successful "T", according to Chick Meehan, who ought to know something about the game, requires a quarterback who can pass and a fullback who can run wide as well as plunge. . . . The "Z," of course, is more of a power formation, requiring husky operatives . . . Some coaches, including Michigan's Fritz Crisler and Colgate's Andy Kerr, have been mixing the two with fair success this season. Herb Kopf's "Q-T" isn't a new variation and now comes Charlie Bachman of Michigan State with the "X-Z" formation . . . The "X" is supposed to represent a factor of uncertainty whether the fullback will hit what Bachman thinks is a defensive weak spot at centre or just fake it . . . With all those lettered formations to choose from, the next big problem for the coaches to solve is what to do about the alumnus who draws a seat in row ZZ behind the goal post.

Just a Start.

A business man tells of a friend who said to him one day: "Life—well, it's just not worth living; it's just one trouble after another. But I'm going to try out a new scheme . . . I've just engaged a man, and whenever I have a worry, I'm going to pass it on to him and he'll have to take care of it."

"That's a good idea," said the other. "What are you going to pay him?"

"A thousand a year."

"What's that? You complain of bad trade, and pay a man a thousand a year to take care of your worries. Where are you going to get the money?"

"Well," said the friend, "I reckon that's going to be his first worry."

Around the Town.

See where the Belleville Men's Softball League is going to tender the entire personnel of the league to a banquet on Dec. 5th at the "Y"....The usual spouting off will precede the presentaton of trophies and crests to the SACO. "Marines" and Columbian Squires..St. Mike's junior six-man gridders downed Picton Collegiate 17 to 11 here yesterday in a game that featured fumbles more than anything else that resembled football....The outcome made little or no difference in the group standing, as the local "Irish" had to beat the undefeated Belleville Collegiate juniors in their next meeting to force a play-off regardless as to yesterday's result...Coach Townsend's B.C.I. juniors can't be euchred out of the top slot regardless as to the remaining results....One more win and they're in....Out in the Trent Valley COSSA 12-man loop yesterday Tweed High won 14 to 5 over Stirling High in a final play-off....Now Tweed is ready for the COSSA playdowns, which are scheduled to commence one week from today.... No doubt Albert College is ready to meet Tweed, but otherwise in the city it seems the abbreviated game has taken up practically all of the concern at B.C.I. and St. Mike's.. Eddie Schrieder and Red Townsend handled the Tweed-Stirling game.

This and That.

With such beautiful autumn weather at our disposal there's no reason why the Reliance Boxing Club shouldn't stage at least one more of their popular mitt-slinging shows before the snow flies.... Wonder if the Paul McNamara, of Toronto, who paid a speeding fine in local police court Thursday is one and the same Paul who coaches St. Mike's Junior "A" hockey team?....Jockey Eddie Arcaro, who has always been high in his praise of the horse Devil Diver, pays the thoroughbred an odd compliment ...He says all the horse needs is someone to sit in the saddle and hold his head up....Hockey authors who report the doings of the Chicago Black Hawks at Chicago Stadium have won a point from rink officials and are justifiably happy over the victory....The Stadium management wanted to move the press box from the present position at rink level in the centre of the building to up under the organ....The scribes raised a vigorous objection claiming that they were being pushed around just so their old quarters could be made into ringside seats to be disposed of at juicy prices.

Dough in the Bank.

The New York Yankees had a tremendous year financially. They finished with $600,000 in the bank, and baseball debts of not more than $30,000. It is not likely that any other club in the major leagues finished the pennant race in such solid financial shape.

So solid is this condition here that the club is not likely to be sold. The dope around here is that Lt.-Col. Larry MacPhail's effort to purchase the Bombers has failed. Just what brought about the failure is not known. But it may be that Ed Barrow's opposition was the chief stumbling block. There is a new figure in the picture. But the Yankees are going to open the 1945 season under the old ownership. That is definite.

Remember When.

Billy Sunday, major baseball league player who became a celebrated evangelist after leaving the diamond, died eight years ago this week in Chicago. He played seven years with the Pittsburgh Pirates in the National League before starting his campaign of evangelism in 1897, causing thousands to renounce the "devil and demon rum."

Bedlam, What?

When Promoter Frank Tunney announced he had signed Jerry Monahan to meet John Katan and Jean Pusie, former N.H.L. badman, to battle Al Dunlop, apparently he didn't take into consideration he might be inciting to riot. After all Wednesday night's termination wasn't any pink tea party, but with a quartette of ruffians like the above-mentioned all in the building at one time most anything is liable to happen and no doubt will.

Horse Sense Bridge

LESSON NO. 522

By SAM GORDON
The Kibitzer

The relative values shown by higher bids seem cockeyed. But that is the last thing I would want you to think. Because there is logic in having a higher bid show less strength than a lower.

An opening of three in a major suit shows a long-strong suit and an outside sure trick. An opening of four in a major shows the same type suit without the outside sure trick.

That brings up an interesting comparison. A four bid is already at a game contract. A three bid is lower; one less than a game. And yet a three bid shows more strength than a four bid.

Why does a sound system follow such a policy? Because a four bid is used as a gamble and asks partner to shut up. But the three bid has a strong foundation and asks partner for information.

The four bidder says there is no information from partner that will influence him to go to a slam. So he has left no room for partner to say anything.

On the other hand, the three bidder says he is anxious to know if partner has any slam help before they decide to end at a game. So, he has left room for partner to impart such advice.

In answer to a three bid, the contract can still stop at game if partner bids and shows no slam help. But in answer to a four bid, a partner's bid only hurts a situation already bad.

Toy with this hand:

♠ A J 9 5 2
♥ 9 6 2
♣ 9

If partner starts with an opening bid of four hearts, you must pass. Don't take a chance at showing slam help. Be glad you can help make game.

But if partner starts with three hearts, bid three spades to show your slam help. If partner has nothing more to show, he can still stop at a game contract.

What reasons explains, no sneers may disdain.

Sgt. and Men of Armored Recce Car Kill or Wound 300 Nazis in Half Hour

By SEAGHAN MAYNES
(Reuter War Correspondent)

With the 21st Army Group, Holland, Nov. 11 —(CP Reuter)— Sgt. Ross Bell, 23, of Winnipeg, claimed Friday he and the men of an armored reconnaissance car under his command killed and wounded 300 Germans within half an hour in close-range combat near Rouen last summer.

This is the story he told:

His armored reconnaissance car, of the 12th Manitoba Dragoons, literally ran into 100 Germans marching along a narrow sunken road near Rouen last August.

The appearance of a charging armored car only 40 yards away with its machine guns blazing put the Germans into a panic. Front ranks crumpled under a hail of bullets and some of the Germans tried to climb the high banks of the road.

The car roared into the columns, shearing away the men on the banks and running down every man on the road. The road was thickly littered with dead and dying.

Bell saw a big German horse-drawn artillery column a few minutes later approaching the crossroads and immediately pounced. The column was three-quarters of a mile long and Germans were crammed into carts.

"We let them have it and there was immediate chaos," said Bell. "The horses went down in a screaming, plunging mass and we poured machine-gun fire into the Germans struggling to get out of the carts. . . .

"Germans were falling everywhere to our guns and everything was a great panicky jumble. We just kept on raking them. Some of their machine guns were firing on us without effect. . . .

"Then we ran out of ammunition and I yelled to the crew: 'Let's get to hell out of here.' We had cut down about 300 Germans and had fired well over 5,000 rounds."

The armored car raced through to its own lines six miles back.

CAPITALS, FLYERS PLAY 2-2 DRAW

(By The Canadian Press.)

Jack Hewson's third-period goal lifted Indianapolis Capitals into a 2-2 deadlock with St. Louis Flyers in the only American Hockey League played last night and set the Caps within three points of the league-leading Pittsburgh Hornets.

Winkie Smith started the St. Louis score sheet with an early first-period goal and Hewson provided the equalizer for that one. The game continued without further score until late in the second period when Orville Smith renewed the St. Louis lead. Hewson added his second goal of the night midway through the final frame. Billy Kendall drew assists on both St. Louis goals.

Cornwall Cookies Move Into Lead

Cornwall, Nov 11. (CP)—Cornwall Cookies moved into the lead of the Interprovincial Hockey League last night with a 5-3 overtime victory over Shawinigan Falls cataracts. The two points collected lifted the Cookies out of a deadlock for first place with the idle Valleyfield Braves.

Coach Lex Cook introduced four new players to the Cornwall fans, Marks, Bourcier, Kelly and Marshall. Marks featured his debut with a second-period goal.

Johnny Carracher was the star of the game scoring three of the Cornwall tallies while the other goal came from Desroches.

Lupien scored twice for Shawinigan Falls and McIntyre added the third.

London — (CP) — Blackout restrictions on all passenger-carrying aircraft flying between Eire and Britain have been removed.

Little Benny's Note Book

Pop came home early on account of Saturday, and ma said, There's a new accumulation of old newspapers down the cellar, William. You must remind me to call up the Salvage Committee, she said.

I hereby remind you, pop said. We've got to do our bit about all that sort of thing if we expect to sit back and enjoy the peace with a clear conscience, he said, and ma said, The only drawback is, they wont come and collect paper unless it's tied into neat bundles, but if you and Benny get together on the job it wont take any time, you'll have it all done before Jack Robinson.

Me thinking, Aw heck, and pop just looking kind of surprised without saying what he was thinking, and ma said. The best plan is to go right down there after lunch and get it over with without letting any grass slip from under your feet.

I agree with you, pop said. Benny can go down and make a start by piling the bundles, and then I'll tie them up securely with heavy twine. That tying business is a man's job, he said, and I said, Aw gosh, pop, I'm a bum piler, but tying knotts is just my specialty.

We seem to of reached a dead end here or what the French call an impasse, pop said. Maybe we'd better take a little walk and discuss the matter further, he said, and ma said, Now William, you're not going to give Benny any such a lesson in procrastination.

By gollies that's right, it would make me feel ashamed, and it would serve me right if Benny added to my humiliation by offering to do the job all alone, pop said. In fact it would be such a good lesson to me that I believe I'll offer him a dime to suggest it, he said, and I said, G, pop, okay, I'll do it.

Which I quick ran down and did, feeling lucky, and pop stayed there and started to read the paper probably feeling the same way.

BRITISH TOMMIES ADMIRE GIRL OF WHITE BRIGADE

Admiring British Tommies gather around a girl who carries a heavy automatic pistol instead of a powder puff. She is a member of the Belgian White Brigade, an underground organization, and she is credited with having been a great help to the British in the Antwerp area and later in the drive that captured Roosendaal, Dutch town to the north.

GYPSY BLOOD

By MARGARET NORRIS

Chapter VI

Six hundred boxes, six rows of four chocolates each in the bottom layer; seven rows of four each in the top layer—cover them, count them, put them on the truck—Anna's head reeled and the choc'lates sat heavier than ever. But it was time to go back to the factory.

"That new girl, she packs frightful! See if you can't show her right."

Even Anna could hear Irma's loud stage aside.

"Now see here!" answered Maisie, "if you ask me to break in another green girl, I'll jes' lay down and quit!"

"Who'll pay for the balogny then?"

Maisie thumbed her nose at Irma and danced off.

Anna's neighbor across the table was a powdery faced girl called Daise. "She tried to get away with Daisy, but not with a face like that!" Maisie confided to Anna.

Only by courtesy was Daise called a girl. She was well into Indian summer and it looked as though the frosts might come without that last burst of bloom to which each year in its cycle is entitled. As though to get even with Nature for the sorry trick she was playing with her, Daise fought the advancing season with every cheap artifice known. She wore a boudoir cap to work and had a playful, bird-like manner. She could talk faster than she could work.

"Oh it gives me the coziest feeling to step on them soft choc'lates and feel them squash beneath my feet! Don't it you, dearie?"

Anna admitted quite frankly that she had stepped on more chocolates in one day than she had ever eaten in her entire life.

Her feet ached as though there were pebbles in her shoes—as though she were walking on boils. She would have bartered her pay envelope, still to be earned, for the chance to sit down for one instant. The clock moved around with all the relentless slowness of Judgement Day. At three o'clock, it must be five. It's a quarter past, it must be six! Could she ever live until the day was over? Could she look another choc'late in the face?

Anna thought what a box of chocolates had meant to her before: A youth with a face like a collar advertisement, a beautiful, fairy-like girl, together on the sofa, one light dimly shining, the nightingale singing in the moonlight outside.

From his pocket he brings forth a box of fancy, assorted chocolates—plantations, mints, marshes, cherries, sitting neatly in paper caps. He offers it to her; she thanks him with the love light in her eyes dimming the light above the sofa, and she takes one, their two lips meet—And so they lived happily ever after!

"Bah!" said Anna. "Bah! If anyone ever offers me a box of choc'lates I'll—I'll—I'll turn him over to a policeman—provided I don't kill him first!"

With her new job, Anna moved to a new home. It was found her by the Girl's Service League, which already had housed her for almost a month and which felt, now that she was a wage earner, that it had earned the privilege of shifting the responsibility elsewhere.

The new home was called the Elizabeth Club, on West twelfth street near the docks. No one was quite sure who Elizabeth had been, nor what was her history. But the unseen presence that lingered in the chilly, institutional rooms, would not seem to indicate that she had never been an eager impulsive young girl like the 24 who now dwelt there. Or if ever she had been, clumsy executors had misconstrued her beneficance and the codicils of her will.

The house was gay pink stone without, and stark, whitewashed walls within, and each room as like its fellows as one pea is like the next in the pod. Each one was furnished with two slim, chilly, white beds, a bureau, a chair and a clothes closet and none was spacious enough to permit of any careless nocturnal wanderings. Any ambitious soul that felt inspired to do the daily dozen, must mount the bed or move into the hall. Even there, prone-falling or arms-outward-stretch meant cracking ones knuckles against the wall. Only those too slim to need the exercise, dared indulge in it.

But to Anna, her room was quite lady-like and grand. Accustomed as she was in Poland to sharing her sleeping quarters with mother, father, younger sisters and brothers, with no one holding any legal rights to any particular bed, her present quarters were a marked step forward in privacy and elegance of living.

For board and room at the Elizabeth Club, one paid $8 a week, which entitled one to two meals a day and the use of the parlor for callers. Since Anna hadn't a boy friend, the parlor furniture didn't make her suffer, though she knew all the girls found the fire escape much chummier, while the weather was pleasant.

By budgeting her weekly income, allowing $2 for lunches and carfare, Anna had three whole dollars left for clothes and riotous living. Her conscience told her that one of those dollars should be set sternly aside each week toward the fund which mentally she had ticketed, "Ma and the kids over from the old country."

But the exigencies of the moment never granted her as much as a dime to start the fund. And every week the obligation was growing dimmer .The way that candy factory ate up shoes, one might think ie was a species of goat; and if a girl ever had a half dollar left over by next pay day, she always needed a hair-cut.

Anna's room mate was Greta, a vivacious Italian girl, born in New York of foreign parents—hence always quarreling with them because she aped the freedom of American girls and her parents disapproved. So one dark night when they locked her out because she stayed too late at the movies, she decided never to go back to them, but henceforth to live independently. Providence had looked after her and she drifted to the Elizabeth Club. Now she had a job in a west side department store, selling behind the counter. Sometimes she earned as much as $20 a week, including her commission. But out of this vast, luxurious sum she didn't save a cent, but spent it all for flashy clothes, French heeled shoes and bright red hats in which she looked as pretty as a picture. Greta knew it herself.

It was from Greta that Anna learned how to dress—learned that clothes may be jaunty, though shabby. From her she learned the use of a fork and the value of table manners. From her also she learned that a bath tub is not a place of suicide, and that as a beautifier it is without peer among artifices.

The other girls in the house were of such varying types as one might expect to find in a "club" whose members were limited to wage earners of under $25 a week. They were girls who longed to go home again and girls who had left home forever and girls who had never known a home outside of an institution. Each had her own ambition which varied from being a bandit queen and seeing her name in the headlines, to winning a handsome husband or going away to college.

Thus to Anna the Elizabeth Club was a great school of Americanism; a chemical bath in the melting pot, from which she was to emerge a changed creature, with new habits and customs, new work and new play and a brand new mode of thinking—less and less the little Polish immigrant; more and more the American girl.

So the days and the weeks sped by and Anna was happy—but she did not know it, for she wanted to change the life she led for another that haunted her imagination.

"Got a boy friend to bring to the dance?" It was Greta who asked the question.

"A what?" asked Anna.

"A boy friend. You know, for the dance at the Club. They always have one this time of year. You can come if you bring a friend."

"You mean some boy that would dance with me?"

"Sure!" said Greta. "Why not?" In her life the boy friend played no small role; he came and went like the tides, like a series of players on the stage, none holding the star part long, but alwayss another applicant to succeed him, once he had gone.

"It would be fun!" said Anna. "But who is there I could bring?"

"But there aren't any, except Heinie, and he's black."

"Maybe I can find you someone. You don't have to dance with him all the time and you might meet someone you really liked there."

"You think I might?" breathed Anna.

"Sure! I always do!" said Greta. She had one clear plan of life. Plainly stated it was, "Search the man!" Each place where the sex met in numbers was an Open Sesame to new fields, to greener, larger pastures stocked, perchance, with bigger game. In fact, it was to enlarge her hunting ground she had run away from home.

"But I'm not like you, Greta."

"You never know till you try. You're different but just as pretty. You're the sort of girl men like."

"What do you mean, the sort of girl men like?"

"Get out and see for yourself. You can't hide your light under a bushel if you're going to stay afloat in this burg. You've got to step out in the bright lights—like I do; then you'll have fun."

"But I haven't even a dress to wear!" Anna gazed with dismay at the clumsy, second-hand cast-off to which she had fallen heir through the cheap charity of an unknown friend, built on lines quite different from herself. She was thankful enough when first it came—but look a gift horse in the mouth, and one is bound to find ugly teeth. Now it looked quite impossible. "No boy would dance with me in this!"

"No matter. I'll lend you one. I'll lend you a dress and also a beau if you promise to return them both."

"No danger, I wouldn't do it," murmured Anna, "but I wish I had a beau of my own .The American men that I've met are ugly and rude and I wouldn't want any of them."

"You've got a lot to learn," said Greta. "Well, I must be breezing along. Plan to come to the dance, old dear." She flounced gaily out of the room.

Disconsolately Anna watched her go. How she envied Greta her pretty clothes, her manner and her savior faire—her absolute confidence in herself which made the world her oyster, which she might open at will, there to pluck out the lurking pearl. If there were a pearl, Greta would find it.

"Oh, dear, Oh, dear!" sighed Anna. The routine of the factory was getting on her nerves. For three long months she had been there and the unfair proportion of work and play was getting on her nerves. She longed for some gaiety as a hungry man longs for food.

Anna thought of the only dance she had ever seen, in the beautiful ball room on shipboard. She remembered the entrancing picture—the music, the flowers, the people, the lovely little flower-like girl, the nice boy who had been her partner. That boy—what had happened to him? Would she ever see him again? Since that terrible night she ran away, she had scarcely dared think of him. He seemed so unattainable—as far removed from her present life as the New York she had dreamed about was from the New York she had found.

Anna remembered the note he had dropped her on shipboard. Its words were written on her heart.

"If you are in New York you may need help. If you do, you can always find it by calling on Harry Baldwin." Anna remembered the Fifth Avenue address.

A ridiculous idea flashed into her mind. She would take advantage of his offer. She would tell him that she needed help—needed it pitiously. And suppose she invited him to the dance—Every girl had her boy friend but who would have one as handsome as he? She pictured Greta's amazement.

The notion, crazy and mad as it was, burned in Anna's brain like fire. Once there, she could not stifle it. Why should she, after all?

She would do it now, while the resolve was hot. She would take a day off from work. She would not go to the candy factory today. She would obey that impulse. After that—but beyond such a time Anna dared not think.

Anna set forth on her romantic quest one sunny morning in early November, with a shabby frock, a happy heart and spirits which were not dampened by the fact that she hadn't the remotest idea of how to reach the place where she was going.

The address was on upper Fifth Avenue, but Fifth Avenue meant nothing to Anna. It was beyond her beat, therefore unexplored. Anna's beat was limited. It ran from the Elizabeth Club, where she lived, on West Twelfth Street near the docks, to the candy factory where she worked in the caverns of down town New York. To the factory at dawn, back home at dark with the struggling, strangling rush-hour mob—this was the routine of Anna's day. Lack of leisure time and of carfare curtailed all curious explorations into what might lie beyond; and the vague fear that she might get lost again, as on that hideous night, kept her from venturing far afield, however the unknown lured her.

Britain Fights Clothes Racket

London (CP) — Illegal traffic in children's clothing has become so widespread throughout Britain that the Board of Trade intends to take drastic action against offenders in the future.

Most transactions are sales by poor persons to the rich and to curb this fines up to $2,250 or 12 months' imprisonment have been authorized.

London — (CP) — Fifteen million of the 18,500,000 people now working in Britain receive holidays with pay, a Ministry of Labor handbook reveals.

Fall Ploughing Almost Finished In This District

West Huntingdon.— The farmers have nearly all finished their Fall ploughing, and due to dry weather much cultivating has been done which will no doubt be of great benefit to next year's crop. Much serious concern is felt over the recent dry weather. A number of wells and springs have ceased to operate and already a number of farmers are drawing water for their livestock. If the Fall rains do not come before the freeze-up it will be a difficult situation.

Mess Room Chatter Of Canada's Airmen

With the R.C.A.F. Overseas, Nov. 10 — (CP) — Flt. Lt. Cottrill, D.F.C., of Beamsville, Ont., and Toronto won't forget a mission he made over France with his pal in the City of Edmonton night intruder squadron, Flt. Lt. Dave Forsyth of Brooklyn, N.Y.

Forsyth shot down one of three aircraft they spotted just as they were about to turn for home and then the fun began. Streams of flak came up from an airfield and Cottrill's port engine burst into flames. The tail-plane, fuselage and mainspar were hit and the wiring system was wrecked. Home was two hours away.

"If Dave had any sense he would have known I couldn't get home," said Cottrill, "but do you know what the crazy lug did? He stayed on my tail just in case the Hun did decide to fight and he nursed me all the way back."

Cottrill made a neat crash landing and neither he nor his navigator was even bruised.

The City of Edmonton Squadron is one of the foremost night-flying outfits. During the flying bomb blitz on England the squadron shot down 79 1/2 of the bombs — all at night. The outfit has destroyed at least 158 enemy aircraft — 103 of them in the air. The R.C.A.F.'s Lynx, Cougar and Nighthawk squadrons have destroyed a total of some 120 aircraft since D-day.

Bent on Destruction... or speeding Construction
FORD V-8 ENGINE

It's Engineered to stand up!

CONVOYED by their protecting self-propelled Bofors Guns, Allied supply columns move faster and in greater safety along invasion roads. Mounted as a unit on its Canadian-built Ford chassis, this new weapon has a road speed as high as forty miles an hour. At the first sign of strafing planes or enemy tanks, the gun crew leap into instant action and let loose a stream of deadly two-pound shells, 120 to the minute!

Ford products are doing an outstanding job on the home front, too. On gigantic war-born construction projects, for instance, Ford Trucks are preferred for their great hauling power—their easy manoeuvrability in mud, sand and snow—above all, for the enduring dependability of the Ford V-8 Engine.

This power plant asks for no coddling, needs no nursing when the going is tough. Smoothly and silently it takes the grades in its stride. It's engineered to stand the gaff . . . to do a great job dependably and on mighty meagre rations of gasoline and oil.

YANKS DEVELOP ENCIRCLING MOVE ON METZ

Spearhead Forces Push Ahead North And South of City

Germans Report Americans Penetrate Into Thionville

By WILLIAM FRYE
(C. P. Staff Writer)

London, Nov. 13 (AP)—The United States 3rd army expanded a new bridgehead across the Moselle river north of Metz today, threatening the Germans' only usable railway connecting the fortress city with the Saar and developing a pincers grip on the enemy-held part of Thionville.

The German high command reported American troops had succeeded in "penetrating into Thionville."

Armored spearheads swinging around Metz from the south punched forward on a 20-mile front 17 miles south of the Saar border.

One of these wedges by-passed the stronghold of Dieuze on its south flank and fanned out behind Morhange on its north flank. This wedge was reported to have reached Bermering, three miles east of Morhange where, French and German troops fought in one of the first big battles of the First Great War, and reached Lidrezing, five miles north of Dieuze, where flood waters loosed by Allied dam bombings protected the American right flank.

33 Miles From Rhine.

To the south the 7th army, fighting on a 15-mile front from east of of Rambervillers and Bruyeres, captured villages only a mile west of St. Die in the entrance to a Vosges Pass, and but 33 miles from the Rhine.

Southeast of Metz the Germans were reported in front line dispatches to be pulling out men and materials before the 3rd army's encircling threat, but they were destroying dams on canals and rivers to the northeast of the city and holding tight.

Front reports said they were pulling guns out of Metz itself, but supreme headquarters believed it unlikely a real evacuation was underway.

Only two railways remained to the Germans out of Metz. The southern arm of Lt.-Gen. Patton's army was within two miles of the southern line running northeast through Boulay to the Saar and close enough to interdict daylight traffic.

The second line running northeast to the Saar apparently was the target of the new thrust across the Moselle south of Thionville, an important fortress town already menaced by American bridgeheads to the north.

The part of Thionville west of the Moselle already was in American hands.

There was no report of action from the British-Canadian Netherlands sector, where the 21st Army Group still held its positions along the south bank of the Meuse river, or from the U. S. 1st Army front near Aachen.

Bad weather restricted air operations along the western front.

As 3rd Army tanks sought to close the gap between forward units forming the tips of pincers thrusting about Metz, the Germans were reported to have begun a withdrawal from that fortress.

Long enemy columns, including many horsedrawn vehicles, have been seen moving eastward from Metz along two highroads. The Germans were believed also to be attempting to tow some of the big guns from the city.

It was not clear whether the enemy retreat included all the forces in the Metz area or only specialized units and equipment. A withdrawal of only a limited number of troops apparently would indicate that the Germans were leaving a sacrifice garrison in the city itself.

With Lt.-Gen. Patton's offensive now entering its sixth day, American units driving behind Metz from positions southeast of the city thus far have cut the Metz-Sarrebourg-Strasbourg and Metz-Forbach Saarbrucken railway lines. The Americans also have thrust within two miles of the Metz-Saarlautern line so that its use can be denied to the Germans whenever the Allied Command wishes, a front dispatch said.

The Germans still have another rail connection leading northeast from Metz by a roundabout way to Saarlautern and Saarbrucken, and it is of vital importance now to the gasoline-starved German army.

Despite rain and snow which robbed Patton's men of all air support, American tanks and infantry smashed forward from two to four miles along a 20-mile front southeast of Metz yesterday, advancing 15 miles beyond the original jump-off positions.

U.S. Air Base At Luichow Has Been Destroyed

Chungking, Nov. 133 (AP)—The United States air base at Liuchhow has been destroyed and evacuated, Allied headquarters announced late today.

The Japanese in Kwangsi Province appeared on the verge of meeting from north and east to provide a continuous land route from Canton to Manchuria.

Chinese reports on the Japanese drive in Kwangsi were grave.

A Chinese communique said yesterday that the northerly enemy column has captured Liucheng, 19 miles northwest of Liuchow on the railway leading to Kweichow Province.

At the same time another Japanese force was reported to have seized Laipin, 45 miles south of Liuchow, and driven on 20 miles to the north. Still a third enemy column reached the outskirts of Chienkiang, 55 miles southwest of Liuchow on the highway leading to the old provincial capital of Yungning (Hanning).

Tirpitz Pounded By Lancasters

London, Nov. 13 (CP)—The German battleship Tirpitz was attacked again Sunday morning by a force of 32 RAF Lancasters and hi's were scored on it with 12,000 pound "earthquake" bombs, the Air Ministry announced today.

The aircraft landed away from base. The Air Ministry added that details of the attack will be issued as soon as interrogation of the crews and examination of the photographs are completed.

The crippled "white elephant" of the German navy was caught in the Tromsoe Fjord along the north coast of Norway, not far from where it was attacked by a similar force two weeks ago.

Another recent attack on the Tirpitz was launched from Russian fields.

Ottawa, Nov. 13 (CP) — Dominion Observatory officials checked their records today after reports from North Bay of an early morning tremor. They said there was no indication of any earthquake disturbance.

Churchill Tells French Assemblage Nazis Might Be Beaten Within 6 Months

Paris, Nov. 13 (AP) — Frenchmen have from Prime Minister Churchill the assurance that Great Britain desires to see France possessed of a powerful army and united under the government of Gen. De Gaulle.

Speaking in French before a cheering assemblage yesterday in the Hotel De Ville, Mr. Churchill said the Germans might be beaten within the next six months.

"We don't want to prolong the war merely to give your army the opportunities it desires," he added, "but we hope as much of the French army as possible will be able to engage in the final battles."

Mr. Churchill visualized a powerful and well-equipped French army as an aid in re-establishing stability in Europe, and a united France as a help in "protecting us from the repetition of German aggression."

He declared that "fortunately you have at this moment at your head an incontestibly able chief," adding with a smile that he had had "some slight differences" with him from time to time.

Then he added in great earnestness: "but rally to him so that France remains united, indivisible."

"Unity! unity!" was Mr. Churchill's parting advice in commenting that France could not afford anything which would upset her national life at the moment when all the nation's force must be thrown into the post-war reconstruction period.

This advice was given, he said, so that France might not only help defeat Germany but help "protect us from a repetition of German aggression."

"This is the moment for France to take her place among the other great powers," he told the assemblage of notables, and as he again emphasized the necessity of unity he looked squarely at the leader of the National Resistance Council.

The entire membership of the Committee of Liberation, in their best uniforms or wearing blue and red sashes—colors of the city of Paris—awaited the Prime Minister and his party in the resplendent reception room, while thousands outside strained at police lines.

Mysterious Explosion Shakes North Bay District

COL. J. L. RALSTON GIVES REASONS FOR RESIGNATION

Urged Federal Cabinet to Send Home Defence Draftees Overseas for Reinforcements

Ottawa, Nov. 13 —(CP)— Col. J. L. Ralston Sunday night gave the first glimpse of his recent report to the cabinet urging that home defence draftees be sent to the overseas reinforcement stream immediately.

Today, he continued answering letters from hundreds of persons who told him they supported his stand and he prepared to start a vacation. It was reliably learned that he was not interested in a reported move to form a political coalition of conscriptionists.

It was his report that created a cabinet crisis following the Colonel's return from a battlefront tour. And when he found his recommendation was not to be accepted and he could get no assurance the government was committed to this policy he tendered his resignation "as requested by the Prime Minister."

The Colonel had been silent on his resignation and last week had issued a brief statement indicating it was up to Prime Minister Mackenzie King to give the "details."

Since that time Mr. King had given a radio speech to the nation and Col. Ralston said in a statement last night he felt the Prime Minister's summary of his report to the cabinet "is not sufficiently complete."

Estimate Too Low

"What is particularly important," he said, "is that the summary gives no indication of the necessity of sending additional infantry reinforcements at the earliest possible moment." Casualties for all branches of the army were lower than estimated; casualties for the infantry were higher.

He made no mention of the announced policy of his successor—Gen. McNaughton — that the voluntary system of recruiting for overseas was to be continued. But he declared that untrained men enlisted now could not be ready for battle until June whereas 8,000 sufficiently trained draftees could be in the battle areas by Jan. 15.

100 Old Town-Owned Houses New Lease of Iife

Haileybury, Ont., Nov. 13 (CP) — Almost 100 old town-owned homes here have been given a new lease on life—in more ways than one—in this town's scheme to encourage citizens to own their own homes.

The plan provides that the houses —all in dilapidated condition, should be sold cheaply at present value less the amount deemed necessary to make it habitable and beautiful. At present 42 have been sold, 19 are being rented to residents with no other place to stay, and eight houses in poor condition are uninhabited.

CANADA'S 7TH VICTORY LOAN WELL 'OVER TOP'

Final Total Expected to Approach $1,500,000,000 When Details Compiled

Ottawa, Nov. 13. (CP)—Canada's Seventh Victory Loan has gone over the top with a bang, latest figures showing subscriptions of $1,402,956,100 against the minimum objective of $1,300,000,000, and the final total is expected to approach $1,500,000,000.

National heaoquarters announced Sunday that Saturday's purchases of $114,826,350, one of the largest single day's totals ever recorded, boosted the loan $102,956,000 over the minimum quota.

They added that many "millions of dollars" of purchasers still remained to be recorded and it was "obvious" that the final figure would not be far short of the $1,500,000,000 mark.

Further reports, based on delayed figures, will be issued Wednesday and Saturday.

The total to date is approximately $110,000,000 higher than the final figure for the Sixth Loan last Spring, when the objective was $1,200,000,000. The objective of this three-week campaign—$1,300,000,000—was the largest amount ever sought through public borrowings in Canadian history.

Saturday's total of $114,826,350 included approximately $15,000,000 purchased by the Armed Forces, Overseas, and in Newfoundland, which had not been included in the original objective of $1,300,000,000 because overseas returns were carried in a separate account.

Individual Canadians purchased $71,432,050 Saturday, bringing their total to $669,183,050, approximately $106,000,000 more than their final figure in the Sixth Loan. The number of applications to date also was higher totalling 2,793,895 against 2,511,238 six months ago.

Statement Issued.

Finance Minister Ilsley issued a statement describing the over-subscription as a "magnificent achievement".

"The public support has been maintained at an inspiringly high level right from the opening day of the campaign", he added. "The armed forces, with purchases of more than $52,000,000, have surpassed all their previous figures. The determination to make this loan an outstanding sucess, combined with the unflagging efforts of the Victory Loan organization itself, has brought a result of which all Canadians may well be proud".

Italian Patriots Ordered to Cease Organized Activity

Rome, Nov. 13 —(CP)— Gen. Alexander, pointing out that winter has brought an inevitable slowing down of the Italian campaign ordered Italian patriots north of the battle line today to "lie low" and cease large-scale organized activity.

In a message broadcast from Allied Headquarters, a spokesman for the Allied Commander told the patriots to keep their weapons oiled and take advantage of any "targets of opportunity" and continue general sabotage.

The spokesman said the Allies never had more than a "slight superiority in numbers" in the Italian campaign, adding that the terrain in which they are fighting is "the best possible for defence and the worst possible for attack."

"No less than were Hannibal's elephants, the tanks are hampered by the rain and mud," he said.

5th Indian Division Clears Stockades

Kandy, Ceylon, Nov. 13 —(CP Reuter)— Troops of the 5th Indian Division in the Chin Hills have cleared the stockades, two strongpoints on the road east from Tiddin, and have pushed on to within 10 miles of Kalemyo, vital Japanese defence point controlling the main route north from Tamu to Celewa, Admiral Lord Louis Mountbatten's headquarters reported today.

In the Kabaw Valley East African forces advancing on Kalemyo through the Kabaw and Kale valleys are shelling the town.

Heavy fighting was under way north of Bhamo, eastern defence hinge of the Japanese line barring the Allied advance into central Burma.

Increasing Japanese resistance is being met by the British 36th Division driving south along the railway corridor. Seven miles north of Naba Junction, where the Myitkyina - Rangoon railway curves west to Indaw and then south to Mandalay.

Hun Officer Staggers Out of Aachen Ruins

Somewhere in Germany, Nov. 13 (AP)—A gaunt, haggard German army officer staggered out of the ruins of Aachen yesterday to surrender to U.S. soldiers garrisoned in the wrecked town. The officer had waited in hiding for more than three weeks without food, expecting a German counter attack would set him free. It never came. "Three weeks without food it too much, even for the Fuehrer," he said.

NO COMMENT

Ottawa, Nov. 13 (CP) — The Prime Minister's office today had no immediate comment on statement issued last night by Hon. J. L. Ralston, former Minister of National Defence, in which he detailed reasons for his recent resignation.

PEAK GUARDING ORMOC CORRIDOR IN YANKS' HANDS

Leyte Liberators Tighten Squeeze on 42,000 Bitterly-Resisting Japs

General MacArthur's Headquarters, Philippines, Nov. 13 (AP) — A 2,300-foot peak overlooking the bloody Ormoc corridor battleground was in American hands today as the liberators tightened their squeeze on probably 45,000 bitterly-resistant Japanese in the climatic fight for Leyte island.

While Ormoc itself was dealt an effective, 62-ton bombing infantry units driving south toward that last enemy reinforcement port gained three miles at one point to capture strategic Mount Catabaran yesterday.

Along the main Carigara Bay-Ormoc Road, the main column aided by strong tank and air support made "good progress against heavy opposition," Gen. MacArthur reported today.

Gen. Tomoyuki Yamashita's reinforced troops continued their attempt to break the American pressure, but a headquarters spokesman said the invaders still held both the initiative and the preponderance of numbers.

No more enemy reinforcements were reported landed at Ormoc, where the Japanese lost six destroyers, four transports, 13 planes and most of 8,000 troops Saturday as American carrier planes wiped out a convoy. It was believed Yamashita had upwards of 45,000 troops in the Ormoc area, however.

To the southeast, cavalry troops were meeting increasing resistance on the Mount Pina saddle. Tanks and mortar fire helped eradicate enemy pockets on both sides of the ridge.

Blinding Flash Of Light Seen As Far as Ottawa

Giant Meteorite Believed Cause of Disturbance

North Bay, Nov. 13 — (CP)—An explosion followed by a blinding flash shook the entire North Bay district at 4.23 a.m. E.D.T. today and was believed to have been caused when a giant meteorite struck the ground somewhere in the vicinity. The flash was so bright, it was seen in Ottawa early this morning, Dr. R. Meldrum Stewart, Dominion astronomer, said.

Early reports indicated the explosion may have been caused by an earthquake, but Dominion Observatory reports said their seismograph gave no sign of any earthquake disturbance.

At Callander, Ont., six miles from here, two distinct blasts were heard by persons awake at the time. Others were wakened by the first explosion said it was followed by a more subdued blast. Railway employees in northern Ontario reported a blinding light flash which was immediately followed by an explosion.

Firemen sleeping in the North Bay fire station, awoke with a start as the building was badly shaken by the explosion. Railway employees in this city who saw the flash said they believed the blast occurred near Lake Nipissing, but other reports concerning location of the disturbance were conflicting.

Railway employees aboard the Canadian Pacific Railway transcontinental train travelling west said they thought the blast occurred in the region around Bonfield, east of here. However, residents of Bonfield claimed the explosion seemed to be in the direction of North Bay.

E. A. Lavery, of North Bay, who was using the telephone at the time, reported a deafening roar came over the wires when the blast took place.

Rumors of an airplane crash as well as of a 'V-2 bomb' circulated in this city early today. The first was dispelled when a check with North Bay airport revealed no plane accidents.

HAD PART IN BATTLE

Melbourne, Australia, Nov. 13—(CP)— M. C. Warren, war correspondent for the Melbourne Herald, reported today that the Australian heavy cruiser Shropshire and destroyer Arunta played a gallant part with United States warships in the Oct. 25 battle in southern Leyte Gulf in which a Japanese force consisting of nearly a score of warships was wiped out.

Warren reported that several blazing Japanese hulks, including the battleship Yamashiro which had been hit by the U. S. ships, were sent to the bottom by broadsides from Australian fighting craft.

SEARCH PARTIES TO GO OUT

Halifax, Nov. 13 — (CP)—Search parties were expected to go into the Black River area near Saint John, N.B., in search of a plane reported to have crashed there Saturday. At the same time, it was reported a Mosquito bomber was missing from the R.C.A.F. Station at Greenwood, N. S.

Oil for Rockets and Robombs Seriously Curtailed by Air Raids

London, Nov. 13 (CP) — Heavy Allied attacks on German synthetic oil plants have seriously curtailed production of fuel for robot bombs and V-2 rockets, the Air Ministry announced today.

Reconnaissance photographs of large sections of the Ruhr where the enemy has been manufacturing synthetic fuel show factories either destroyed or heavily damaged. Fuel consumption of the vengeance type —particularly V-2—is believed enormous.

Each rocket burns an estimated 2,500 gallons of fuel a minute, so that in a five-minute flight from their launching sites they use 12,500 gallons—to deliver between one and two tons of explosive.

Since November 1 approximately 10,000 British, Canadian and American bombers have participated in attacks on the oil plants. The attacks were temporarily halted by bad weather during the weekend, giving Germany its first raid-free Sunday in many weeks.

German industrial and military targets have been blasted with 638,880 tons of explosives through October 31 by American heavy bombers of the 8th. and 15th. Air Forces, the U.S. Strategic Air Force in Europe said yesterday in a summary.

Germany felt the weight of 330,000 tons.

Since the 8th. Air Force began operations from Britain in August, 1942, and the 15th. from Italy, in November, 1943, the fighters and bombers have destroyed 15,210 enemy planes, getting 12,640 in the air and the west on the ground. Combined American losses were 5,708 bombers and 2,449 fighters, the report said.

Ralston Asked For Resignation

Ottawa, Nov. 13 — (CP) — Col. J. L. Ralston, in a statement last night on his reinforcement views, revealed that Prime Minister Mackenzie King had asked for his resignation.

He quoted a section of Mr. King's Wednesday speech in which the Prime Minister said he realized that unless the Colonel's views were accepted his resignation would follow.

Col. Ralston said last night: "On this point, it is quite true that I had stated that I would have to resign if my recommendation (that drafted men be sent overseas) were not accepted."

He had understood government policy to be that if the draftees were needed overseas and volunteers were not available the draftees would be sent.

"My recommendation was not accepted, nor could I get any assurance that the government as a whole considered that the Prime Minister's speeches committed the government to this course.

"Under these conditions, and as requested by the Prime Minister, I at once tendered my resignation as Minister of National Defence."

When he announced Gen. McNaughton had succeeded Col. Ralston, Mr. King told newsmen the Colonel's resignation had been a verbal one.

Air Conference Still Deadlocked

By FRANK FLAHERTY
Canadian Press Staff Writer

Chicago, Nov. 13 — (CP)—Informal discussions among delegates of leading powers at the International Conference on Civil Aviation during the week-end failed to yield a break in the apparent deadlock which has prevailed since the early days of the meeting.

Reconstruction Minister Howe is back at the conference today after several days in Ottawa and is expected to add the weight of his prestige and practical experience to the position of the Canadian delegation.

The principal objective at the moment is to find a practical workable compromise between more and less regimentation of international civil flying.

The United States wants the least possible regimentation. The United Kingdom wants a large degree. Canada stands in a middle position with the emphasis on the regulatory powers to be conferred on an international authority.

2 TOWNS AND 22 VILLAGES IN POLAND BURNED BY HUNS

FOXBORO RESIDENT ROBBED OF TIRE, TUBE

Provincial Police today are investigating the theft of a tire and tube stolen from the garage of Wm. Johnston, at Foxboro, some time over the weekend. It is believed the tire thieves entered Mr. Johnson's garage and removed the tire and tube at night. No unnecessary disturbances were heard in the vicinity of the Johnson home to indicate a robbery was in progress, police were informed.

SHEET OF ICE COVERS MOUTH OF RIVER

With the mercury dropping to as low as 25 degrees early Monday morning, Belleville awoke to find the lower reaches of the Moira River frozen over from shore to shore. Although only a thin layer of ice covered the mouth of the river, it was of sufficient thickness to hold the large number of gulls that gather there to feed each morning. However, with the river covered with ice the gulls had to forego their daily rations until the sun partially melted the ice covering shortly before the noon hour. The sheet of ice extended for some distance below the C.P.R. bridge. There was no evidence of ice above the lower bridge where the current prevented freezing.

Obituary

FOSTER KEENE
(White Lake)

Madoc, Nov. 13 (Special)—Foster Keene, a resident of Belleville for the past year and a half, died suddenly on Sunday at the home of his daughter, Mrs. Ernest Woods, White Lake. He was in failing health for some time.

Born at Hazzard's Corners sixty-one years ago the late Mr. Keene was a son of the late Mr. and Mrs. Richard Keene. For some years he was engaged in farming and breeding of silver fox at Hazzard's Corners and on leaving the farm he moved to Belleville.

In religion Mr. Keene was a member of the United Church at Hazzard's Corners and fraternally he was a member of Hazzard's Loyal Orange Lodge No. 1133, being a Past Master, and of the Royal Black Knights.

Surviving him are his wife, the former Jennie Wood; three daughters, Mrs. Ernest (Beulah) Woods, White Lake; Mrs. Roy (Gladys) DeMille, Crookston, and Miss Lorna Keene, Belleville; one brother, Charles Keene, Hazzard's Corners; two sisters, Miss Alma Keene, Hazzard's Corners, and Mrs. Lillian Bacon, Edmonton, Alberta.

The funeral announcement is made in this issue.

Shriners Entertain Knights Of Columbus at Masonic Hall

Imperial Potentate, Morley E. MacKenzie, Toronto, Principal Speaker

Adding another link to the bond of fellowship and brotherly camaraderie that characterized their initial meeting, members of the Belleville District Shrine Club and the Knights of Columbus here held their second inter-club gathering on Friday night in an aura of fraternal environment.

With the district "Shriners" as hosts, an elaborate program of entertainment, addresses and last but not least, a sumptuous repast was tendered the visiting Knights and Shriners in the Masonic Temple, Upper Front Street.

Heading an imposing array of out-of-town "Shriners" was Illustrious Noble, Morley E. MacKenzie, Toronto, Imperial Potentate of the A.A.O.N. Mystic Shrine for North America, who gave an illuminating address on his experiences as head of the Shrine and who also spoke in warm terms of the work being done by the Shrine in the interests of crippled children.

Imperial Potentate MacKenzie referred to the fine work done recently here by members of the Belleville District Shrine Club in which they raised a substantial amount for the humanitarian work for children in the first appeal to non-members for funds. He urged the continuance of interest in the work for much remained to be done and there were many children yet to be benefited by treatment and orthopedic appliances.

Presented With Cheque.

He was officially presented with a cheque for the large amount raised in this district by the Belleville Shrine Club, by Noble D. L. Storey, President Bell-Ra Club.

This amount was made possible through the district members of the Shrine, including those of the city, in their sale of tickets, which was climaxed at the Belleville Exhibition by the presentation of the forty handsome prizes offered. The response of the public was generous to this first effort of the District Shrine, and later it is expected, other methods of raising funds for the crippled children fund will be studied and put into effect.

The 136 guests present were officially welcomed by Noble Storey with response being made by Grand Knight George O'Brien. Brief addresses were given by Illustrious Noble W. G. Reilly, Potentate, Rameses Temple, Toronto, who introduced the guest speaker; District Deputy George Lee. "Knights" Army Hut Supervisor, Urban Hughes; Chief Rabban, N. D. F. Kelly and Knight Jack McVeigh, who formally thanked the guest speaker, and His Worship Mayor Harry Rollins who in a short talk eulogized the splendid work being done by both organizations.

Illustrious Noble Morley E. MacKenzie, Imperial Potentate, Mystic Shrine for North America, who addressed the second inter-club meeting of the Belleville District Shrine Club and the Belleville Knights of Columbus at the Masonic Temple Friday night.

Number From Toronto.

Visiting Shriners included a special party of eighteen from Toronto, who accompanied the Imperial Potentate, and others from Oshawa and Kingston.

As a result of the decorative ingenuity of Nobles Al. Reynolds and Ketcheson, the supper room was colorfully garbed in blending patriotic hues, while the tables gleamed in the Shrine colors. The Masonic orchestra dispensed lively tunes during the supper hour.

Noble Ernie Bruce, well-known Toronto entertainer, headed a cast that featured the original clown piper and many others. Conchita, an attractive dancer gave the guests cause to temporarily forget the war, taxes and other things, while Highland dancer revived Scottish memories with varied interpretations of the reels 'O the "Hielands". A sweet-voiced tenor earned acclaim while other musicians and instrumentalists were well received. Mr. Alec. Gordon presided at the piano.

Armistice Day Ceremony Pays Tribute to Fallen of Last War

Under sullen November skies, reminiscent of that memorable morning twenty-six years ago, veterans of both wars and members of city organizations, augmented by civilians, paid Armistice Day tribute to the nation's fallen at the Station Street Cenotaph at eleven o'clock Saturday morning.

The service was unique as it was solemn and impressive. For the first time in the city's history, against the cold statutary of the Memorial itself a "layman" through force of circumstance, took charge of the ceremony and service and acquitted himself nobly.

A large delegation of the Army and Navy Veterans in Canada, Belleville Branch No. 201, with representative of the Canadian Legion Branch here, and other city associations were present to offer humble tribute through President James Lazenby, of the A. and N. Veterans to the memory of the glorious dead of two wars.

Heroic Sacrifice

President Lazenby, due to the absence of a clergyman, briefly, yet forcefully impressed upon his listeners the solemnity of the occasion. Sincerity sounded in his voice as he recalled the heroic sacrifice made by those who gave their all, and those who are now fighting on the far-flung fronts of Empire. "It is through this sacrifice," he said, "that we are able today to live in a country that is free; that we are able and permitted today to pay them tribute."

A cold raw wind blew across the Cenotaph grounds stirring dead leaves underfoot. A lone plane droned overhead. Heads bowed. Men and women alike, children too, paid silent tribute for two minutes. Then the silvery tones of Trumpeter Jack Green's bugle rang out in the haunting notes of "Last Post." The stirring call of "Reveille" brought memory leaping back across a chasm of time.

Then "Abide With Me" in soft unison came clearly to those watching from a distance. President Lazenby, in simple expressive eloquence offered prayer. Veterans stiffened to attention as the National Anthem was sung. The service was over.

Representatives of various military, veteran and other organizations paid further tribute when they concluded the ceremonies with the depositing of wreaths at the foot of the Cenotaph.

Wreaths Placed

The wreath given by the Province of Ontario was laid by Mrs. Moreau, city war widow, who has given her husband and five sons to the cause of Empire. Other wreaths were laid by Mayor Harry Rollins, on behalf of the city of Belleville, who was escorted by Joseph Seames and Sgt. Arthur Hobb, war veterans, and representatives of The Army and Navy Veterans, Belleville Branch No. 201; The Canadian Legion, Belleville Branch No. 99; the 21st. Battalion, C.E.F.; Ladies' Auxiliary, A. and N. Veterans; Ladies' Auxiliary, Canadian Legion; Argyll Chapter, I.O.D.E.; St. Julien Chapter, I.O.D.E.; Canadian National Railways War Veterans Association, Belleville.

POLICE BLOTTER

Routine activities kept city police busy over the weekend, although no serious crime was reported in Belleville and environs.

Ed. Huddleston, No. 8 Campbell Street, reported a child's coaster wagon missing from his residence, while householders at 80 South Front Street, informed police a bag of potatoes had been left at their residence by mistake in delivery.

Police investigated a report of disturbance at the city yard on Church Street, on Sunday with the result several teen-aged lads were warned to refrain from loitering and playing about those premises.

Residents of the Cedar-West Bridge Street area phoned to police early Monday stating several bags had fallen off a transport while en route along Highway No. 2. Sergt. C. Arnott investigated and found four bags of bran, which were removed to the police station for safe keeping.

Provincial Police are holding two youths by the name of Patrick Crossett and Van Allen on nominal charges of vagrancy after the lads failed to give an accounting of their activities, when accosted by police Sunday.

Veteran Organizations Attend Church on Remembrance Day

Army and Navy Veterans Hear Rev. Grant Sparling, Recently Discharged as Chaplain in R.C.A.F.

"Against the fact of cruelty, selfishness and degradation of war, comes this declaration of the way out. 'Christ Jesus came into the world to save sinners'. This is no vain platitude of man. It is the truth of God," the Rev. J. Grant Sparling, rector of Christ Church, said in an impressive Remembrance Day service on Sunday morning.

Speaking in the flag-draped church to a capacity congregation that included 125 members of the Army and Navy Veterans in Canada, Belleville Branch No. 201 and the Ladies' Auxiliary of the same organization, the rector added, "the rest is left to you. It means big business for Christ in this generation—the biggest business that has ever been done by that old firm, the Christian Church. Shares are for sale, but the cost is high. The price is your life, just what the boys paid whom we are remembering today. The price may be high but the dividends are great, the saving of mankind. You want it? Well, here is your chance."

Remembrance Day is a day of memories, he pointed out, likening some to "roses" and others to "thorns, briars and burdocks."

Memories of "roses" are those millions of the bravest and best who gave their lives in the last war for what they thought was the freedom of mankind. "You men lived, ate, cracked jokes with them and when they were taken, buried them. The world applauded their sacrifice. 'O valiant hearts, who to their glory came, through dust and conflict and through battle flame.'"

"Then the world went to sleep," Mr. Sparling said, "and allowed a civilization to grow up that forgot God, ignored religion and exalted man. A philosophy of life changed the Apostle's Creed to the Creed of the Humanist. So war came again but not a war of soldiers and sailors. It involved women and children.

"With it has come the atrocities in occupied countries. The slaughter of the innocents. These things are remembered and these are the memories of the thorns and the briars."

The rector spoke of his experiences as a padre insofar as he visited the next-of-kin of those who will never come back. "I expected to find bitterness and resentment in the homes. I found sorrow, yes, but this was swept away in the aroma of the roses of December. There was pride in their remembrance."

Colorful Ceremonies.

The veterans, headed by the Belleville Municipal Band under Lieut. Fred Jobson, and led by their color-bearers and President James Lazenby, swung in martial parade along Bridge Street to Coleman Street to the church a few minutes before eleven o'clock.

Inside the edifice the colors were received from Color Sergeant Majors W. Lindsay and J. Laney by Mr. Sparling and Mr. Everett Smith, and deposited beside the altar table. Veterans occupied the front of the centre pews.

During the service the First Lesson was read by President Lazenby. A fine musical contribution to the service was the solo "The Lord is My Shepherd," sung in splendid voice by young Master Douglas Warham.

At the close, two minutes' silence was observed in tribute to the memory of the fallen. "Last Post" and "Reveille" were sounded by Trumpeter Jack Green, and two verses of the National Anthem were sung by the standing congregation.

The colors were received by the bearers and the veterans filed out of the church to form up outside, whence they marched along a city street route to the Armouries for dismissal.

Canadian Legion and Auxiliary Members With Cadets Hear Rev. J. G. Hornsby at St. Andrew's Church

"The master key for a better world future is not more political uniformity nor eradication of class distinction but the observance of the law of Jesus Christ. Without that law there can be no peace and no prosperity."

Thus spoke Rev. J. G. Hornsby, minister at St. Andrew's Presbyterian Church on Sunday morning as he preached a special Remembrance Day service before the combined audience of his own congregation and members of the local branch of the Canadian Legion and its women's Auxiliary, the local air cadets and sea cadets. Personnel of the above-mentioned units paraded from the Collegiate campus to the church a few minutes before eleven o'clock.

To love God with all the heart, mind and soul and to love the neighbor as self, was quoted by the minister as the law of Jesus Christ, the observance of which would make for a better world future.

Pointing out the fallacy of nations disregarding God while on their pathway to success, Mr. Hornsby indicated that in doing so they often find themselves "in hot water". "Man cannot spend his life building in a non-approved plan without reaping the scorn of God," he said. Every civilization since the dawn of history had been affected by the morality of its people who to survive as a nation must see that God and his law be recognized primarily and continuously.

Fight for Democracy

Turning to the war situation Mr. Hornsby stated that men today are suffering just as courageously and dying just as heroically as their fathers did in the last Great War —and they too are fighting that Democracy might live.

"But," he continued, "Democracy means more than equal opportunities for all and more than families enjoying comforts made possible by adequate wages. True, we want a new world but will it be worth building if we leave God out?"

Guests of the day were officially welcomed to the church by Mr. Hornsby who dedicated the colors of the Canadian Legion as the color party carried the flags to the front of the church at the start of the service. In keeping with the solemnity of the occasion the silvery voice of Mr. John Deacon was heard as he rendered in solo "There Is No Death", by O'Hara, while as an offertory anthem the choir was heard in a special arrangement of "Onward Christian Soldiers".

Parade marshal for the parade of veterans and other personnel to and from the church was Mr. Sam Johnston with the Canadian Legion being in charge of Roy Madden, air cadets under command of their commanding officer Flt. Lieut. Dawson Boyd, and the sea cadets under command of Lieut. Zeran. Trumpet band of the air cadets acted as duty band for the parade.

$926.40 Collected For Poppy Day In Belleville

Remembrance Day still holds a warm spot in the hearts of residents of this city and district, if their reaction to purse-strings can be judged a criterion.

For Saturday, Poppy Day for 1944 broke all previous records from a financial point of view. Approximately $926.40 swelled the coffers of the Poppy Fund here after the day's receipts had been checked.

The Fund was administered by Chairman Jack Clarke and William Holland of the Army and Navy Veterans, and E. Dainard of the local branch of the Canadian Legion. Both organizations Veterans' Funds will benefit from their respective shares of the net receipts.

Chairman Clarke of the Poppy Fund here, speaking on behalf of the veterans of the city today expressed his sincere appreciation and that of the organizations, to the general public for the generous response to the annual appeal of Poppy Day. He also paid high tribute to the members of the various Ladies' Auxiliaries and others including veterans who assisted in the sale of the little red flowers.

"They did a splendid job," he said, "and the veterans are grateful. The monies collected will go a long way toward alleviation of the needs of the less fortunate old soldiers as well as providing a source of income for those engaged in the manufacture of the poppies.

"We are very grateful to all who assisted us in the sale of the poppies no matter what sphere of activity they were engaged in. Tell the citizens of Belleville 'Thank you'."

Albert College Holds Armistice Day Service

Fallen heroes of the present war, former students of the college, were appropriately remembered at Albert College on Saturday when Rev. J. G. Sparling, senior chaplain of the R.C.A.F., and recently appointed minister at Christ Church, was the guest speaker at a special memorial service. The service commenced with a two-minute period of silence followed with prayer and the sounding of the Last Post after which Dr. Howard spoke briefly in grateful remembrance of former college students who have laid down their lives in the present war.

Two hundred and ten former students or staff members at Albert College are in the armed services many of them in overseas service. Of these 21 have paid the supreme sacrifice, while three have been awarded the Military Cross for outstanding bravery on the field of action.

Flt.Sgt.Anderson, Point Anne, Killed in Action

Member of a crack Canadian night fighter squadron, Flight Sergeant W. Wallace Anderson, eldest son of Mr. and Mrs. Earle Anderson, Point Anne, has been killed in action during enemy operations, his parents were officially notified on Sunday.

The twenty-one-year-old fighter pilot was killed on Nov. 8. Other details will follow, the communication stated.

Enlisting in September, 1942, he received his I.T.S. training in Toronto, getting his pilot's wings later at Moncton, N.B. Posted to Bagotville, Quebec, he received instruction in operational training and finished with army co-operation instruction at Camp Borden.

Going overseas in May, 1944, he was for some time employed as an instructor there before going on operational duty.

He received his public school education at Point Anne and also attended the Belleville Collegiate Institute. At home are two brothers, Keith, 16 and Gary 3.

TRENTON

PO. Walter Moran Reported Missing

Trenton, Special —Word has been received by Mrs. F. Moran, Smithfield, that her son Pilot Officer Walter Moran is missing after enemy operations overseas. Enlisting in September 1942, he trained at Lachine, Moncton, Victoriaville and No. 4, A.O.S., London, Ont., from where he graduated as a Navigator on Nov. 26th, 1943, going directly overseas. A twin brother Wing Commander Charles Moran, D.F.C., is serving on the East coast having returned from overseas operations about a year ago, after he was forced down in the North Sea while in action against the enemy and spent several hours before being rescued.

Letter of Appreciation Bucks Up the Editor

A telephone jangles in the editorial rooms. "Hey," shouts a voice, "gimme the editor."

The editor answers.

"What the blankety-bank do you mean by spelling my name with an 'O'. It shoulda been an 'I'."

Another phone rings. This time the secretary's name of some organization mas been inadvertently omitted in the report."

The editor heaves a sigh and settles down to do some work.

A heavy set fellow or maybe a lady, in either event both have fire in their eyes, demand an audience.

"Don't you people ever get anything right?" the man may ask. "It wasn't my cow that hopped the fence it was that no-good so-and-so who lives next door. I want it put right."

A timid soul may come into the sanctum. "I forgot" she meekly asserts, "that in my report of the Juniper Creek Burying Society's annual statement, I should have included Deacon Brown's gift of fifty cents to the annual barbecue. Will you please insert something?"

And so it goes.

So when a letter like that received from a Mr. J. E. Cooley of Lafayette, Indiana, which stated he had enclosed his annual subscription to the Great Family Journal because it is the "good old paper which has come into our home for the past seventy-five years and which we feel is part of the family," the editor is ready to get up, roll up his sleeves, get a battle gleam in his eye and take on all comers.

BULLET CRASHES THROUGH CAR WINDOW; POLICE INVESTIGATE

Reports that a bullet crashed through a motor car window north of Millbridge, sometime last Friday, is being investigated by Provincial Constable J. J. Hatch of Madoc. Fortunately no occupant of the car sustained injury.

Today Constable Hatch cautioned hunters regarding the discharging of rifles while hunting in the vicinity of highways or concession roads. "It was only by good fortune no person was injured near Millbridge. However, a repetition could well bring about a fatal shooting," explained the officer.

WAR VICTIMS' FUND ENRICHED BY $60

The British War Victims' Fund will benefit to the extent of approximately $60 as result of a silver collection taken at the organ recital given by Mr. Alec Gordon in Bridge Street United Church on Sunday evening. It was the first of a series of concerts Mr. Gordon expects to give during the winter in support of various war charities. While the figure $60 was given as the proceeds of the night's collection, it was stated that additional contributions toward the concert fund are usually received following the recital date.

Legion to Admit Canadian War Correspondents

Ottawa, Nov. 13. (CP)—Canadian War Correspondents who have served in a theatre of war will be admitted to the Canadian Legion as honorary members until the next Dominion convention when steps will be taken to grant them full active membership, Legion headquarters announced here today.

This action was taken last week at a meeting of the Dominion Executive Council. War correspondents previously were not eligible and it was explained that a change in Legion constitution will be necessary before they can be admitted to active membership.

Defence headquarters said that since war started about 30 Canadian war correspondents have served in a theatre of war.

"These men have performed a wonderful service to Canada", said Alex Walker, Legion president. "They have shared the dangers and hardships of our fighting men. They have gone into battle time and again. The Legion will be proud to have them as members".

The correspondents will be invited to join the branch of their choice, but also will be accepted as members-at-large.

"Their work within the Legion can be most helpful", said Jack Moore, Dominion chairman. "They are brilliant men who have been able to see and appreciate the service men better than any other group".

Japs Say Manila Raided by Planes

London, Nov. 13 —(CP Reuter) —A Japanese Domei Agency broadcast said Allied planes raided Manila, capital of the Philippines, early today returning a few hours later to strafe the city's "downtown centres."

Heavy casualties were caused among the civilian population, the agency claimed.

The Japanese report has not been confirmed by Allied sources.

DESCRIBED AS 'MISER'

Calgary, Nov. 13 (CP)—Described at a civic relief committee meeting here last week as "a miser... slowly starving herself to death," Mary Jean Hall, 86-year-old spinster, was found dead in her bare, unheated home Saturday. The committee was told Miss Hall owned the seven-roomed house in which she lived alone, had another in eastern Canada and had 'several thousand dollars in the bank."

THE WESTMOUNT RUNS AGROUND

Port Colborne, Nov. 13 — (CP)— The Westmount, Canada Steamships Lines upper lakes freighter, ran aground in the Welland ship canal while downbound with a cargo of coal in heavy fog early today and was still aground on the west bank of the canal at eleven a.m. The Westmount, commanded by Capt. Alex Maclennan of Midland, was swung cross-wise in the canal, a barrier to navigation.

Officials Expect County Will Exceed Quota When Final Returns Made

With the exception of three areas and returns from these districts are still incomplete, all canvassing divisions in Hastings county went over their respective objectives in the Seventh Victory Loan, it was announced from loan headquarters in Belleville Monday morning. Total general canvass subscriptions in the county were $3,214,800, or $214,800 over the general public objective of $3,000,000.

Total county objective was $3,730,000 with the armed services being asked to raise $330,000 and special names $400,000. The armed services early exceeded their objective with last minute subscriptions showing $474,300, while final figures for the special names division are still not available.

Belleville Goes "Over Top"

In one final drive toward the goal, the city of Belleville went "over the top" on Saturday with final returns showing residents had purchased $1,410,000 worth of bonds. The objective in Belleville was $1,380,000.

Th town of Trenton went $88,000 over its objective of $540,000, while the Sidney, Thurlow and Frankford area exceeded its $410,000 goal by $23,450. Stirling, the first county general canvass area to reach its objective, subscribed $190,900, while the Tweed district came through with flying colors to exceed its $150,000 quota by slightly over $30,000. Deloro also went slightly over its objective of $35,000.

County areas which according to available figures on Monday morning had still failed to reach their objectives were Madoc and district with an objective of $175,000; Deseronto and district with a goal of $105,000, and Bancroft and district with a quota of $150,000. Campaign officials pointed out, however, that returns from these outlying points were still incompleted and were confident that when final figures were tabulated every area in the county would have surpassed its objective.

Hardest Fighting U.S. Fighter Pilot Commander Missing

Somewhere in England, Nov. 13 (AP)—Col. Hubert Zemke, 31, of Missoula, Mont., known as the hardest fighting American fighter pilot commander in Europe, is missing in action, it was announced.

The colonel, who turned down desk jobs and possible promotion to general to keep on flying, was shot down inside Germany Oct. 30 while leading his Lightning-Mustang fighter group on a bomber escort mission.

Zemke was leading American fighter pilots in western Europe at that time with 28 planes destroyed —22 in the air and six on the ground. Three days later Maj. George E. Preddy, Greensboro, N.C., ran his total to 29 1-2—23 1-2 in the air and six on the ground.

Leading ace in western Europe is Wing Cmdr. J. E. (Johnny) Johnson, Englishman who commands a Canadian Spitfire wing now operating in the Low Countries, with 38 planes shot down in air combat.

ETHEL BARRYMORE ILL

New York, Nov. 13 (AP)—Veteran actress Ethel Barrymore was taken to the hospital today, suffering from "pneumonia and a cardiac condition", her physician, Dr. Louis Rene Kaufman, announced.

Miss Barrymore, 65 years old, was forced to cancel her engagement in "Embezzled Heaven" Friday night when she suffered an attack of influenza. It was the first time in nearly 50 years that she had missed a New York performance. Saturday performances also were cancelled.

All performances of "Embezzled Heaven" have been cancelled pending her return. Miss Barrymore never has understudies for her roles.

90 Non-Nazi Germans Trained in Democracy In Occupied Germany

London, Nov. 13. (CP)—Ninety non-Nazi Germans are being trained in democracy at a school within occupied Germany to become policemen under military government officials.

These 90 Germans are the first of many who will be trained, it was stated today. They are being taught English and the laws and proclamations by which Germany will be governed.

An important part of their studies is the democratic principle that the law functions for the people and all men are equal before the law, and that public officials serve the public rather than rule it.

The German police will wear a distinctive blue uniform with red stripes on the legs.

MADE IN JAPAN

Spokane, Wash., Nov. 13 — (AP) —A sailor, home after two years of navy duty in the South Pacific, rushed from an Armistice Day parade to retrieve a paper American flag dropped from a plane. He ran several blocks and climbed a telephone pole after the souvenir. Then he threw it down in disgust. In one corner were the words: — "Made in Japan."

COUPONS BUY ANOTHER

Windsor, Nov. 13 —(CP)— Thrift displayed in previous loans enabled a young Windsor woman to buy an extra bond in the Seventh Victory Loan drive. Recalling she'd never clipped the coupons from bonds bought in previous loans, she did so, cashed $51 worth the next day and bought herself another $50 bond.

Monty's Armies Capture 189,926 Since D-Day

At 21st. Army Group Headquarters, Nov. 13 (AP) — Field Marshal Montgomery's British and Canadian Armies have captured a grand total of 189,926 prisoners since D-Day last June 6, it was disclosed today by a 21st. Army group spokesman.

In addition, it was announced that French Maquis have taken more than 30,000 prisoners, swelling the bag to considerably more than 200,000.

Lt.-Gen. Crerar's 1st. Canadian Army held a slight edge of Lt.-Gen. Dempsey's British 2nd. Army, with a total of 1,857 officers and 93,375 other ranks captured, compared with 1,278 officers and 93,518 other ranks seized by the British army.

Between Nov. 3 and Nov. 10 the Canadians captured 2,822 prisoners and the British 567, the spokesman said.

15 KILLED IN CRASH

Clovis, N.M., Nov. 13 — (AP) — Six officers and nine men were killed when a four-engined bomber crashed and burned near here Friday night, the Clovis army air field announced yesterday.

7th Victory Loan's Success

Canadians will wait for the final counting of the subscriptions to the Seventh Victory Loan but in the meantime they will feel an intense satisfaction in realizing that it is expected that the participation in this issue has been the greatest success in the Dominion's financial history.

It is well that it should be so. All through the war the Canadian people have loyally supported every effort to add strength to the fighting forces by raising money to further the interests of the Dominion, and the Allies to the greatest possible practical effort. Now when the victory over the enemy is within sight, they have realized it is the time that there should be the most generous outpouring for investment of the savings of the Canadian people to reap the inestimable results of the success of the struggle in a world where liberty will be restored and peace secured.

Mr. Churchill in Paris

France has observed a number of great days associated with the liberation and one of them was last Saturday when Prime Minister Churchill, who with the British people stood practically alone in June 1940 in the fight against Hitler after the fall of France, rode down the Champs Elysees in Paris and was cheered to the echo by the people, more than a million crowding the streets in welcome to the great British leader who has been closely associated with Gen. De Gaulle since 1940.

The France that was liberated at so great speed during the summer has been one of the marvels of the war in its revival of strength. Despite the occupation Hitler could never touch the soul of France for France still lives and will take her place as the great power she once was.

It was a great day for the French and for Gen. De Gaulle, for Mr. Churchill and his Britain as a symbol of the association of the two great powers for the coming days and the post-war era.

It showed the wisdom which throughout the war directed the cause of liberation and the continuance of the war against Hitlerite tyranny.

Great Efforts in "Last Lap"

On two occasions Mr. Churchill has referred to the final phase of the war against Germany in terms of the track and of a race. He has called it as "the last lap."

He has again warned against over-optimism because it is always in the last lap that great efforts have to be forthcoming and that there must be no slackening of total effort.

The world has lately seen the desperation of Hitler in his "vengeance" weapons and the desperate character of the fighting in Germany to try to delay the Allied victory in the hopes of something turning up to let Hitler and Germany escape the consequences of their crimes.

Goebbels on Sunday spoke of a fight to the last ditch, admitting that the last round of the war had come and pledging the Volkssturm army's aid by the millions. Goebbels there showed what the Hun master minds are at work on—to try and have something turn up to weary the nations of the war, to try to upset Allied morale and to aim to cheat the Allies of the fruits of victory.

Hitler harbors vengeance against the world and cares not what the cost to Germany or the Allies, if he can only escape and have another chance. He sends vengeance weapons for this reason.

So the United Nations go in against the enemy to deliver their total blows, fully set in their minds to make sure that the enemy will be crushed, never to have the opportunity to rise again to assail freedom. It is a time for the utmost effort to beat down the enemy in the shortest possible time and to do that means no slackening of effort by the peoples of the United Nations. Slackening can come only when the war is ended in victory over the Axis.

Hitler's Desperation

Hitler's new vengeance weapon, V-2, "the flying telegraph pole," has been in use, but its devastating results have not been marked. Though it comes down from a great height at a speed faster than sound, the explosion is not so damaging as the missile plunges deep into the ground before it explodes or can explode, according to the Prime Minister of Britain.

Germans with their fanaticism and fury of frustration have hailed the new weapon and have said it is not the last to be used. They boast that Britain will never find the camouflaged sources of these bombs while Mr. Churchill said the other day that some of the launching sites have been found on captured Walcheren Island. He also declared that enemy accounts of the new weapon had been "highly colored" by the Germans, showing the desperation of the enemy in trusting to these missiles.

No. 1 secret weapon, the robot bomb, failed to do what it was intended to do, devastate and destroy southeast England and London. It failed to upset the morale of the British people in the bombed area. Now the second weapon is at work, associated with all sorts of prophecies of the Goebbels school, but its accuracy has been questioned.

While the British Prime Minister said that "we cannot be certain that the enemy will not be able to increase the range of the rockets," he added that "there is no need to exaggerate the danger."

Mr. Churchill knows the British people, those civilians who cannot be shaken and he has an uncanny understanding of the weaknesses of the Germanic mind which has stood him and Britain and the Allies in good stead. He knows how anxiously Hitler is grasping along with the other leaders of Germany for something to try to shake morale and to affect the course of the war which is rushing directly to overwhelm Hitler and all his works.

Superlatives

(Boston Herald)

From Airacobra to Kingcobra, Wildcat to Hellcat, and Fortress to Superfortress was a short step, but what are the namers of planes going to do when their latest models are themselves improved, as the Hellcat has been? Hyper-Super and Hyper-Supe-Duper Fortresses are available, as well as Hellfiirest-Cat and King-Kong-Cobra, and the Mustang might be changed to Boss-Mustang or Master-Mustang, but there must be an end somewhere. The designation of the newest and most formidable Hellcat by a series of letters and digits suggests that the aerial vocabulary is not equal to the up-to-the-minute demands.

The builders of the old clipper ships were in a similar predicament. They put no end of color and superlatives on the bows of their glorious craft. Then men with the most florid imaginations won in the nomenclature contest, the titles not being exactly descriptive. The brethren of the iron-horse and passenger and freight trains have also engaged in a go-as-you-please race. Perhaps in time the Minute Man will be known as the Less-Than-a-Minute-Man, and the resplendent Lark of the Pacific Coast will become the Up-All-Night.

Largest Cities of Europe

(Ottawa Journal)

Before the war, there were 14 cities in Europe with more than a million people, ranging from London down. They are as follows:

In Great Britain: London, 8,575,700; Glasgow, 1,119,000, and Birmingham, 1,118,000.

In Germany: Berlin, 4,242,501; Vienna, 1,874,190; Hamburg, 1,129,307.

In Russia: Moscow, 3,663,500; Stalingrad, 2,776,609.

In Spain: Madrid, 1,148,720; Barcelona, 1,648,070.

In France: Paris, 2,891,530.

It might be noted in connection with these European figures that the United States has six cities with over a million population, and half a dozen more close up. Canada has one of close to a million, namely Montreal.

SOLDIER LONGING

When he comes home, and soon I pray
Will come to all that happy day,
I'm very sure he'll want to see
The old home as it used to be,
His room, his pictures on the wall,
And Ma and me not changed at all.

When all the battle flags are furled
He'll want the same old little world
That once he knew. He'll look to find
The things he long has kept in mind:
The shops, the church, the people good
That long made up his neighborhood.

'Tis not some visionary scheme,
However noble it may seem,
He longs for now, so far away,
But for those joys of yesterday:
The home he had and wants to see
Just as it was, and Ma and me.

WISE MEN OF GOTHAM

Why is New York called Gotham?

This nickname was first applied to New York in 1807 by Washington Irving in the "Salmagundi Papers." It was merely a humorous and satirical allusion to the alleged presumption of New Yorkers who were supposed to pride themselves upon their superior wisdom.

Gotham is a village in Nottinghamshire England, whose inhabitants are proverbial for their stupidity and conceit. In the 16th century, when bluff King Hall VIII was King, a book was published entitled "Merrie Tales of the Mad Men of Gotham, gathered together by A.B., of Phisicke, Doctour."

It is supposed that the author (A.B.) was Andrew Borde, an eccentric scholar, who was physician to King Henry VIII. Some authorities suggest that Andrew Borde was the original of "Merry Andrew" in the sense of a buffoon, jester, zany, clown or attendant to a quack doctor at country fairs.

The book contained many preposterous tales about the wise men of Gotham. It contains the original of the Mother Goose rhyme:

Three wise men of Gotham
Went to sea in a bowl;
If the bowl had been stronger,
My song had been longer.

According to the book, King John announced his intention to pass through Gotham in royal procession on his way to Nottingham to select a site for a new palace in the vicinity. The Gothamites objected and plainly told the king's messengers so. They were not anxious to be taxed for a royal establishment in their community and they feared that any ground over which the king passed would become a public road forever.

So the Gothamites hit upon a scheme of all appearing hopelessly stupid and imbecile. When the king's advance agents approached Gotham they found everybody engaged in some idiotic pursuit or foolish occupation. Some were trying to drown an eel in a puddle; some were lifting horses into haymows; others were putting carts on barns to shade the shingles from the sun; still others were trying to shut in a cuckoo by joining hands around a bush, etc.

The messengers returned in disgust to inform His Majesty that Gotham was a village of fools and that there was no use in proceeding, whereupon the Gothamites observed: "We ween there are more fools pass through Gotham than remain in it.

COL. J. L. RALSTON

It was true there were just about enough infantry reinforcements in the battle areas to bring units up to strength but there was not a sufficient backlog from which to meet any unexpected increase in casualties in a particular engagement.

Needed by December End

He found the pools "so depleted as not to ensure the prompt replacement of casualties." The estimates of casualties were made on the basis of experience already gained and on the probable intensity of activity up to January.

In making estimates, full allowances were made for volunteer infantry reinforcements which could be counted on, and he realised that "the need which had arisen could not be met by enlisting untrained men. In the ordinary course, an untrained man enlisted now would not be ready for battle until next June."

The best forecasts were that by the end of December "a considerable aggregate shortage infantry would have developed. For the following months the forecast was that the aggregate infantry shortage would progressively increase month by month in the new year."

TAKE 3 — COL J. L. RALSTON.

Only One Conclusion.

He could not agree with the alternative that he felt was apparent—of reducing commitments or breaking up formations. And it appeared "clear" that enough volunteers could not be made available to meet the needs.

So he came to the conclusion that the only "practical relief for the urgent situation" was conscription for overseas of the drafted men.

The best estimate was that it would take about two months to get the first 8,000 sufficiently-trained draftees overseas. This would mean they would be in the battle areas about Jan. 15.

"This first 8,000," he said, "would not have assisted during November or December in providing the pools I have spoken of, but it would have reassured our infantry units in the field that we were determined to back them up; it would have made up the December shortage soon after Jan. 1; it would have re-established the pools in the battle areas."

Another 8,000 partially-trained home defence infantrymen could be ready to reach the battle areas early in February. These, with the volunteers which would become available during February and the following months, would, it was calculated, see the army through to June with "some margin."

The Prime Minister had mentioned a total of 42,000 draftees as being suitable material for the infantry. Col. Ralston said that with the first 16,000 dispatched as he had outlined "we could be re-mustering and training as infantry the remaining 26,000 to be available if required."

BRITISH PEOPLE THANKED

London, Nov. 13 — (CP-Reuter)—Cardinal Villeneuve, Roman Catholic Archbishop of Quebec, in a BBC broadcast yesterday thanked the people of Britain for their "many tokens of high esteem" towards Canadians in the armed forces. The Cardinal is shortly to return home after a two-months visit to Canadians in the European and Mediterranean theatres.

WHO CARES WHAT STEVENSON HAD?

"Robert Louis Stevenson was tubercular," a remarkably well informed correspondent reminds me, "but the immediate cause of his death," the correspondent adds, "was rupture of an aortic aneurism, a malady that has, supposedly, causal relation to Spirochaeta pallida."

All I know about Stevenson's illness and death is what I read in biographies. I had gained the impression that Stevenson was tuberculous, not tubercular—there is a difference, as we shall see—and that he succumbed finally to apoplexy, a stroke or shock, rupture of a vessel and hemorrhage into the substance of the brain.

Tubercle is a nodule or lump or swelling either on the surface or in the substance of an organ. Tubercles are characteristic of more than one disease, notably leprosy, lupus, and advanced syphilis. These diseases are tubercular, but only tuberculosis is tuberculous.

It is true that aortic aneurism (dilatation or ballooning of the great artery) occurs as a rule in men who have had syphilis for fifteen or twenty years, wth final involvement of the cardiovascular (heart-artery) system. Spirochaeta pallida is one name for the specific germ of syphilis. It is otherwise known as Treponema pallida.

My correspondent himself, now getting along, is or rather was tuberculous. "The only injunction laid on me by Dr. Trudeau, when I was a victim of tb. was," he writes (tb. being the abbreviation for tuberculosis). "Never get chilled." The soundness of that advice was, I think, indisputable..I am sure that chilling may usher in colds. That many persons fail to catch cold as a result of chilling proves absolutely not a thing."

Having given me the rights of it in his magisterial way my correspondent (his sagacious observations on migraine were published in one of the leading medical journals—a rare distinction for a layman) bows out saying "You are doing a good work. I must admit that ....'s stuff is of more interest and value to me."

Probably ....'s stuff conforms more carefully to the quaint tradition that exposure to cold, dampness or chilling is a dangerous thing and a cause or a predisposing factor of whatever illness you happen to have.

After all, who am I to question the belief or opinion or teaching or advice of an Osler, a Trudeau or any other great dead medical authority?

Let's leave the dead men out of it. If you can quote a living medical authority, in not more than a hundred words, I'll go to the mat with him.

QUESTIONS AND ANSWERS

Tuberculosis

This pamphlet tells about resistance to tuberculosis. You claim there is no scientific basis for the idea of resistance. (B. L. S.)

Answer—That is true, so far as the common use of the term is concerned. The pamphlet—"How Your Body Fights TB" issued by National Tuberculosis Association, 1790 Broad way, N. Y. City, is an excellent one. In it the word "resistance" obviously means immunity. Immunity is scientifically recognized, definite, clinically measurable. "Resistance" is just a lot of hooey, wherever and whenever the term is employed in medical literature.

Garlic

For my high blood pressure I have been taking garlic pills but they are very expensive. (R.S.)

Answer—Neither garlic itself nor any extract, concentrate or derivative of it has any effect on blood pressure. Lucky (for your welfare) the nostrum is expensive. High blood pressure, like high body temperature or high pulse rate, occurs as a manifestation or symptom of many different disease conditions. Therefore it is silly to try this or that remedy which purports to be good for it. Instead of squandering your money on such nostrums, you should invest in an examination by a good doctor—and leave it to the doctor to decide what, if anything, to do about the blood pressure.

Pores

Kindly send me literature on pores. I claim the pores cannot absorb but only give vent to secretions. (E. M.)

Answer—Consult any standard text-book of anatomy or physiology, in the public library. You are right. The skin cannot absorb anything through the "pores" or otherwise.

Events of Past Week Lay Base For Massive Invasion of Reich

By ALAN RANDAL
(CP Staff Writer)

London, Nov. 11 —(CP)— The foundation for a massive invasion of Germany has been laid by the events of the last week, particularly by the clearing of the Schelde estuary and freeing the approaches to Antwerp by the 1st Canadian Army aided by British formations.

In addition to clearing the approaches to Antwerp, this operation swung the left flank of the northern sector of the Western Front across the Schelde and gave solidity to this portion of the front which runs from the mouth of the Meuse River eastward to Arnhem, a front held by British forces on the right and Canadians on the left.

By this push, this short east-to-west section of the Western Front also became flexible. It could be swung northward on its Arnhem fringe until the whole front faces east and into Germany or the Canadians might be pushed directly to the east and grouped with the British forces for an assault into Germany.

At present the Western Front is L-shaped from the mouth of the Maas to Arnhem, thence directly south to the Mediterranean. The north-to-north sector is held by British, American and French armies.

The Canadian divisions are still closest to the Schelde, the area they have just cleared in bitter, bloody fighting. Next to them eastward are Polish troops in the Canadian Army and farther eastward are American formations integrated into Lt.-Gen. Crerar's command. The Americans hold a section of front between the Polish and British forces.

The Canadians probably are in need of a rest and drying out now after a month of day and night fighting in the low-lying, dike-divided fields of southwestern Holland's Breskens pocket and attacks along Beveland Peninsula or over-the-sea assaults on Walcheren and Beveland.

Theirs has been a hard road. After the tough jobs of liberating Boulogne, Cap Gris Nez and Calais, they received the assignment of clearing the Breskens pocket. Sometimes they advanced knee deep in mud or waist deep in water through flooded lands about towns the Germans had garrisoned and fortified with men, guns and concrete.

Conditions were the worst the western front had seen in this war. The area was low lying and damp to start with. Autumn rains made it worse. The Canadians had to fight rain and mud and cold and the Germans, too.

Canadian infantrymen became tough-looking crews. For nights and days they were advancing from one foxhole dug in a dike to the next one. They became muddy, wet, dirty and tired. Most times they ate when they could from Compo rations and brewed up tea for themselves by dikes when opportunity offered, one company relieving another when the going got too long-drawn-out.

Against the wet and cold inhospitable Schelde lands the men wore anything they could to keep warm and thatched their slit trenches with captured German groundsheets and straw, always providing they stayed long enough in any slit trench to make such an effort worthwhile.

British Patrols Cross Canal After Nazi Withdrawal

By LYNN HEINZERLING
(AP War Correspondent)

Rome, Nov. 13. (AP)—Patrols of the British 8th Army, crossing the Chiala Canal South of Ravenna, have moved into a thick pine forest four miles south of the city in an advance of two miles, Allied headquarters announced today.

The advance was made after German troops guarding the southern approaches to the big city on the Adriatic coast withdrew from some of their positions on the canal.

The next and final water obstacle before Ravenna is the Fiumi Uniti —less than a mile from the southern limits. The Fiumi Uniti, or "United Rivers", is formed by the Montone and Ronco which join south of Ravenna and flow into the Adriatic.

Patrons crossing the canal south of Ravenna were able to move well forward in the wooded area without making contact with the enemy, it was announced.

The German withdrawal in this sector, where the 8th Army has been stalled for weeks, suggested the enemy may intend to give up Ravenna.

In the San Stefano area southwest of Ravenna the Germans held to their positions on the north bank of the Chiala Canal in order to prevent the 8th Army from by-passing Ravenna and trapping the German troops there.

A stiff fight developed when Allied units attacked German outposts on the north bank.

The Allied communique said "further progress" has been made northwest of Forli despite "very stubborn resistance". Elsewhere there was a change in forward positions.

St. John's Anglican Y. P. A.

The first combined meeting of the A.Y.P.A. was held on Monday at Trinity Church, Frankford. Thirty-five young people attended the meeting. The president, Stanley Fletcher opened the meeting with a short prayer. It was decided to devote half an hour of each meeting to the study of the A.Y.P.A. Book and to purchase some books along the lines of A.Y.P.A. work. After discussion and business of the meeting, the Frankford A. Y. P. A. put on an excellent program. Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Duncan of Batawa, were guests of the A. Y. P. A. and Mr. Duncan gave a very interesting and helpful address. The meeting closed with the National Anthem and benediction by the Rector, Rev. C. C. Brazill.

While lunch was being prepared, the young people enjoyed dancing. Coffee, sandwiches and cake were served and soon after the young people of Stirling left for home agreeing that all had had a most enjoyable and educational evening.

Personals

Trapper Bests Black Bear In Rowboat Battle

Fresno, Calif., Nov. 11—(AP)—A scarred trapper told today how he battled a big black bear in a rowboat while halfway across Huntingdon Lake.

The trapper, John Vistak, wanted to bring the bear back alive to cage at a public camp. He knocked it unconscious, tied it, pulled a gunny sack over its head, loaded it in a rowboat and started back across the lake.

When the boat reached the middle of the lake — a good half mile from either shore — the animal worked loose from its bonds, shook the sack off its head, and gave Vistak a disapproving glance.

Action began immediately.

Round one was about even, with Vistak and the bear sparring for an opening.

Round two went to the bear, which caught Vistak a slashing blow on the hand with a huge paw. Vistak retired to his end of the boat.

Round three saw the finish of the fight. Vistak stunned the animal with blows from an oar.

Despite his injured hand, Vistak again tied the bear, this time more securely, and took it ashore.

The animal was put in the cage and Vistak said he was through giving boat rides to bears.

FRANKFORD

Public School Holds Visitors' Day

Frankford—Wednesday, Nov. 8th was visitor's day at Frankford Public School. A large number of the parents of Frankford and Batawa availed themselves of the opportunity of seeing what their children are doing every day at school. The rooms were all nicely decorated for the occasion in the colours of the flag and poppies for Remembrance Day. Potted plants in all of the windows gave the rooms a homey look. The children were all hard at work to show their guests the kind of students they are. Some were doing art work, others spelling, reading, arithmetic and social studies. The display of children's work in each room were interesting and very commendable, showing art work and samples of writing and spelling. Of interest to all was a map of Frankford in room six and sand tables in rooms 2 and 3.

Mrs. Arthur Duncan of Batawa was in charge of room one for the week in the absence of the regular teacher, Miss Hazel Mikel. The other teachers are: Room 2, Miss Lorna Mikel, room 3, Miss M. Wilson, room 4, Miss Joan Scott, room 5, Mrs. Roy Osterout and room 6, Mr. J. A. Warren the principal.

Burlington Route

Stainless Steel
1934
GAINED WORLD RENOWN

WHEN the Burlington "Zephyr" sped like a silver bullet on its first run from St. Paul to Chicago in 1934, the fame of a new structural material rang around the world. True, Stainless Steel had been used as early as 1916, but for the first time the amazing strength and rust proof qualities of Stainless Steel were utilized by modern designers and engineers to revolutionize railway construction. This new train was completely encased in Stainless Steel (8% Nickel, 18% Chromium), so thin—yet so strong—that weight and operating costs were reduced, and hours cut off its running time.

Soon this alloy was being used in airplanes, automobiles, hotel and hospital kitchens, in the pulp and paper, oil and chemical industries. Another new market for Nickel with far-reaching peacetime possibilities was thus developed to replace and overshadow the war markets lost in 1918.

Today Canadian Nickel is again diverted to war purposes, and again the industry looks to the future with confidence. Plans are ready to develop and expand old and new peacetime markets, so that the Nickel Industry may continue through its own initiative and enterprise, to make still greater contributions to Canada's welfare.

Ronald Elmy, 14 Dunbar St., was in Odessa, on Saturday where he sang during the signing of the register at the Babcock-McPherson nuptials in the United Church.

Messrs. Harry and Ed. Hall are spending two weeks' vacation deer hunting at Millbridge.

Mrs. Harry Hall, Huff's Island, spent a few days last week with friends at Roslin.

Pte. Margaret McCormick, C.W.A.C., Barriefield, has been transferred to the east coast.

Private Harold Cooney, of Farnham, Quebec, spent the weekend with his mother, Mrs. Arthur Cooney, Ivanhoe.

Mr. Harry Hurley, of Toronto, spent the weekend with his mother, Mrs. T. J. Hurley, 244 Ann Street.

Mrs. P. B. Moran received word from Ottawa, that her son, F/O. Walter P. Moran is missing after air operations over Germany.

Mr. and Mrs. Fletcher Swayne, New Liskeard, spent Friday evening with the former's sister, Mrs. Fairhead and family, College St.

Mrs. D. E. Grass, Front of Thurlow, who had the misfortune to fall and break her hip, is confined to the Belleville General Hospital.

Mrs. H. J. Allin, 135 North Front Street, who recently underwent a major operation in the Belleville General Hospital, is progressing favorably.

Petty Officer A. J. Cleeton, R.C.N.V.R., has rturned to his ship after spending a leave with his mother and sister, Mrs. Kay Cleeton and Gwen, 224 Front Street.

Women's P-C Assoc. Holds Pot Luck Supper

The Women's Progressive Conservative Association held a very successful Pot Luck Supper at their clubrooms, Front Street, on Friday evening, November 10th., with an attendance of about fifty.

Mrs. E. Martin proposed a toast to the King, not only as a sovereign but as a father, response to which was sung by the club "God Save the King".

Mrs. Kinnear proposed a toast to the Conservative Party, including the leaders, the Hon. John Bracken, and Col. Geo. Drew, the response to which was the Conservative theme song, sung by the Club.

Music for these items, and also for the community singing was provided by the club pianist, Mrs. G. Stackhouse.

The President of the Club announced that there would be no December meeting.

After the minutes and Miss Lazier's report on "Can-a-Month Club" and the treasurer's report given by Miss Warham, convener of Finance a motion was made to donate $10 to the Kinsmen Milk for Britain Fund, and $10 to the Christmas Cheer for British Children.

Mayor Harry Rollins, the speaker of the evening, gave a very interesting description of the Corvette "Belleville". A reading "Flanders Fields" by Mr. Jack Scott was enjoyed. One of the oldest members of the Club, Mrs. Wiggins was present. Recognition of her birthday was sung by the Club. Mrs. McLuskie, secretary, gave a full report on the annual meeting of the Ontario Conservative Association, Eastern District, at the Chateau Laurier, Ottawa, on September 29. Mr. Geo. Stokes, M.P. spoke briefly on the issues of the day.

P.M.'s Jewel Presented.

The Past Matron's jewel was presented to Sis. Nellie Clarke by her daughter Sis. Wilma Reddick, and the Past Patron's jewel to Bro. John Fisher by Bro. Wallace Embury.

Sis. Nellie Clarke was presented with many beautiful gifts on retiring from her office, among which was a set of Wedgewood dishes from the chapter.

The meeting was brought to a close by all present singing "O Canada."

Lunch was served by the new officers, after which dancing was enjoyed by all present.

The Place of Sleep On Your List of Beauty Rules

Glenda Farrell lists regular sleep high on her beauty schedule

By HELEN FOLLETT

If there ever was a time when girls and women needed plenty of sleep it is now. Since the war we've been doing double duty, most of us, and the human machine can stand just so much work and no more. We've been through troubled times, had heart-breaking anxieties. You see the marks of war strain on the faces of many women.

The best habit you can cultivate, for the sake of health and good looks, is to tuck yourself in bed right on schedule every night. Get your eight hours of sleep, rain or shine. Don't forget that if you are overfatigued you will be suffering from nervous tension that sometimes keeps the sand man away. If you can stick to regular hours you will be a gainer. The overhead for cosmetics and beauty treatments will be cut down.

Importance of Sleep

Every stage and screen star, every professional model, will tell you that sleep ranks high, if not first, among her beauty rules. With these pretties good looks and health are stock in trade. They understand well enough that if one feels seedy, one looks it. No makeup will conceal the shadows of fatigue. No magic will erase them.

Fatigue has a devastating effect upon the emotions. You've heard women say they were so tired they could roll on the floor and scream. They aren't fooling.

Signs of Strain

Work or play beyond the limit of endurance and then look at yourself in the mirror. Is that you? No, it must be somebody else, years older. There are tight mouth lines, strained looks around the eyes that are dull and listless, forehead wrinkles and frowns. Why make a wreck of yourself? T'isn't playing fair. It is bad business, dangerous, too.

If you've been an non-sleep marathon don't think a facial will put your worn pieces together again. It won't. Nothing but sleep will restore you to normal.

KEEPING THE FEET IN FORM

How are your feet carrying on? Do they take you wherever you want to go without protest, or do you dread walking to the nearest letter box because locomotion is painful? Painful feet beset many a traveller along the beauty road; they do not make for pleasant going. They make for such troubles as grouches, frowns, bad posture, slouchy figures.

Many pedal ills would disappear if the feet had proper care. They receive almost no attention and, in many cases, are packed away in shoes that are devastating to contour and tendons. We take excellent care of our complexions, silky tresses, hands and fingernails, but the poor trotters are strictly on their own, getting along as best as they can. Our foundation structures should be kept in first class form, instead of being neglected. Some women fancy that painful feet are a part of life's tribulations, do nothing about them.

Bathing the feet daily is necessary, for the reason that the feet are subject to many forms of infection. Parasites, bacteria and fungus growths find suitable tenements in the soft, moist flesh between the toes and the cuticle surrounding the nails.

Because of ill-fitting shoes, toenails become deformed. The flesh is pushed up against the side of the big toe, causing ingrowing nails that can become extremely painful. It is not safe to dig out the hardened cuticle with a steel instrument, as the slightest wound may become infected. Narrow shoes will distort the shape of the little toe, causing a high ridge to form in the centre, from top to bottom. Unless a shoe is wide enough to permit the free movement of the toes, it is not the shoe that should be worn. If we went barefoot, our toes would be as flexible as fingers.

Soaking the feet in fairly hot water twice a week is a practice recommended by some chiropodists The soaking should continue for half an hour. By that time they will carry a high blush, which is all to the good; it shows that the capillaries have become filled with blood.

After the drying, there should be a brisk massage with cocoa-butter or mineral oil. The soaking will loosen dead skin scales and the massage will remove them. Finish with a talcum rub. Slip on cotton socks and go to bed. If you have had a wearying day and your feet are just about killing you, try this treatment.

A month of this practice will result in a softer, more resilient skin. Callouses will be softened. Anyone suffering from cold feet or feet that perspire excessively will be benefited.

Remember that corns and callouses are caused by pressure. Relieve the pressure with comfortable, well-fitting shoes and these horrors will disappear.

Hold Expression Demonstration At St. Michael's

On Friday evening St. Michael's Academy pupils presented a unique program in St. Michael's auditorium filled to capacity with parents and friends. Each grade from I to X included, participated in an Expression demonstration of oratory, music, vocal and instrumental and dancing.

David Peets of Grade X, was chairman for the occasion. In his opening remarks, he expressed the gratitude of the academy students to all who had helped provide excellent opportunities of education; and he also voiced a reminder to all present to keep alive interest in the Seventh Victory Loan campaign.

The program was as follows:

Grade I—Margo Poirier and Barry Roy, readings. Grade II, Dick Lynch reading and Bruce Vallance and Joan Lloyd, a dialogue. Grade III, Jack Roote and Angela Lupenette, the Minuet. Grade IV, Bernard Mascaro and Aileen Whyte, reading; Grade V, Billy Johnson and Yvonne Paquelle, readings; Grade VI, conducted a series of S.O.S. calls ending with an S.V.L. call, Seventh Victory Loan campaign; Grade VII, Ronnie Donovan, dance; Grade VIII, Barbara Donavan, dance; Grade IX, readings by Barbara Mascaro and Robert Power; Grade X, Sheila Bowler, a reading.

Additional numbers were: A song, "Dutch Gardens" by a group of senior girls; Bobby Young, a saxophone solo, "The Rosary"; a dance was contributed by Greta Galbraith Grade V and a song by Mary Crae, Vivian Cannon of Grade VI, a reading; A Bell solo, Helen Grant accompanied by Mrs. Grant at piano; Helen Cooper and Genevieve Tracey sang "The Little old Church in the Valley"; Mary, Catharine and Helen Grant, and Catharine Barrett, a Scottish reel, followed by a solo dance, "Highland Laddie" by Mary Grant, Mrs. Grant at the piano.

St. Michael's band, under the direction of Mr. and Mrs. William Grant, played Army Air Corps, Old Timers' Waltz, Little Gypsy, and Imperial March.

Presentation of Prizes And Certificates.

Prizes awarded annually by the Catholic Women's League were presented by the president, Mrs. S. B. Upper. They were awarded for highest standing in the grades: Grade IA — Shirley Beaton; Grade IB — Dick Lynch; Grade IIA — Catharine Muir; Grade IIB—Mary Raycroft; Grade IIIA — Marilyn Cruji; Grade IIIB — Margaret Durkin; Grade IVA — Garry Schrieder; Grade IVB — Ronald Muir; Grade V — John Bohan and Joan Adamson (equal); Grade VI—Genevieve Tracey; Grade VII—Gerard Fluery; Grade VIII—Harold O'Neill; Grade IX — Norman Kalnay and Lawrence Power (equal); Grade X — Maureen Upper.

Right Reverend Monsignor J. F. Nicholson presented prizes as follows:

Knights of Columbus prize, for highest standing at the Junior High School Entrance (five dollars) merited by Harold O'Neil.

Mr. B. J. Black and Sons' prize of $10 awarded for highest standing in Grade IX, merited equally by Norman Kalnay and Lawrence Power.

St. Michael's School Board prize of $15 awarded for highest standing in Grade X, merited by Maureen Upper.

Catholic Women's League prize of $10, awarded for second highest standing in Grade X, merited equally by Teddy Boyle and Ralph Beasley.

Presentation of Certificates.

Rt. Reverend Monsignor presented certificates to thirty-six candidates who secured high school entrance in June 1944. Monsignor also presented intermediate certificates to twenty-four candidates who had successfully completed the course of Grades IX and X.

Monsignor J. F. Nicholsin in a short address stated that the large assemblage was evidence of their interests and cooperation in the work of St. Michael's Academy. They felt a legitimate pride in the success crowning the efforts of the staff in this modern well equipped school. The audience had enjoyed every moment of the lavish entertainment provided. The speakers congratulated the young artists in the various numbers and felicitated the pupils receiving diplomas and prizes for scholastic proficiency. He noted with pleasure the presence of St. Michael's band. A vote of thanks was due Mrs. Grant for the contribution of her rare musical abilities. Monsignor spoke of the untiring devotion of St. Michael's School Board and of the generosity of the donors of prizes. "On this eve of Remembrance Day," he reverently paid glowing tribute to the achievement of our Canadian heroes of today as in the past. St. Michael's band playing the National Anthem brought the program to a close.

Women's Activities

AIKENS' W.M.S.

The November meeting of Aikens' W.M.S. was held at the home of Mrs. A. Saylor on November 2. Mrs. R. McNary took charge of the worship service The theme was "Consecration to the Kingdom For Their Sakes". After the hymn "O Valiant Hearts", prayers were given by Mrs. S. Westover, for the men and women who have been demobilized from the forces; Mrs. S. Spafford, for all children in Canada who are hungry or in any way under-privileged; Mrs. E. Hubble, for strength and guidance as we seek to find our part in making Canada God's "Dominion". A reading, Armistice Day" was given by Miss Ruth Spafford after which Mrs. T. Irwin closed the worship service with prayer.

Reports of the 19th annual sectional rally held at Foxboro were given by Mrs. Brickman and Mrs. Pearson. A vote of thanks was given by the President, Mrs. E. Hubble for the splendid reports given by the ladies.

Mrs. E. Bush rendered a lovely solo. Mrs. R. McNary and Mrs. M. Jeffery gave the second part of the Study Book, "The Church in Malaya and the Dutch East Indies". This study of West of the Date Line gives one an idea of the Islands where the Allies are fighting today.

Mrs. E. Hubble gave a short talk on "The Church Women as Citizens".

The meeting closed with prayer.

To Condition Hair for Permanent.

What does more for a woman's poise and good grooming than a permanent that's soft, lustrous and manageable? You cannot demand a beautiful wave if your hair itself is dry, lacking in elasticity or has split, brittle ends. At least two weeks before the date of your permanent, begin a few simple home treatments. If your hair is dry, give yourself 2 or 3 hot oil shampoos. Warm four tablespoonfuls of a good mineral or vegetable oil. Part the hair in sections and apply the oil to the scalp, along the length of each part, with absorbent cotton. Rub the oil thoroughly on ends of the hair. Then wring out a bath towel in hot water and wrap around your head. This spreads the oil and softens the hair. Leave for twenty minutes; shampoo with a pure castile shampoo. Between shampoos, keep your hair glossy and clean by 100 nightly brushings with a good, stiff-bristled hair brush. See that the brush sweeps your scalp as well as the length of your hair. Always brush upwards and outwards—and remember to keep hairbrushes clean and dust-free with at least two weekly dippings in warm water and extra-soapy suds to which one teaspoonful of ammonia has been added. For an excessive dandruff condition, use a professional dandruff preparation, usually a liquid antiseptic.

Make-up Tricks!

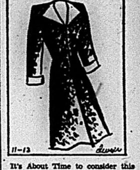
Want to look your loveliest for that special furlough date? Here are a few After-Nine make-up tricks borrowed from the New York models. To give your skin a glamorous translucent glow, start with a good whipped cream lather facial with your favorite complexion soap —a dash of astringent—then choose face powder one shade lighter than your liquid or pancake foundation. Dry-skinned gals or those with fine-grained complexions prefer a liquid foundation to the popular pan-cake formula. A touch of vaseline on eyelids and at the corners of the eyes, then the merest hint of blue eyeshadow gives added depth and loveliness. And if you're using eye make-up, don't forget mascara. With a slightly moistened brush apply from the lids outwards. Remove excess with a dry brush. Mascara applied more thickly at edges of eyelids makes eyes look more wide apart. And now for that most important—lipstick. If you haven't already experimented with a brush, begin now. You'll find one careful application with a brush, a light dusting of powder then the brush again will last you all evening. Incidentally, there's nothing like dark lipstick, with orchid or purple for evening glamor.

Keep Winter Sweaters Fluffy.

Here's a tip that does wonders towards keeping that precious wool sweater soft and fluffy. After its dip in lukewarm water and gentle, fine-fabric suds, add two tablespoonfuls of vinegar to the last rinse water. This not only removes any excess fibres, but helps restore the wool fibres, but helps restore its fresh-from-the-store sheen and texture.

When White Silk Turns Yellow.

If the man in your house has a white silk scarf that's turned yellow through the years—here's how to bleach it fresh and white again! Simply wash in the usual manner in warm water and soapy-rich suds; rinse thoroughly. Then let it stand overnight in a solution of 1 teaspoon cream-of-tartar to 1 quart water. In the morning, rinse in clear water. When nearly dry, press on wrong side with a pressing cloth between iron and silk.

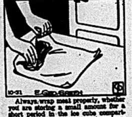


It's About Time to consider this alteration on a fur coat which is worn at collar, cuffs and closing. Use woollen cloth to look like a cloth lining. It replaces the worn collar and cuffs and edges the closing.

Wife Preservers

Be sure to number your window screens before storing them for the winter. Put the corresponding number on the window frame. When screen time comes again these precautions will save you time.

Wife Preservers.



Always wrap meat properly, whether you are storing a small amount for a short period in the ice cube compartment of your refrigerator or in a deepfreeze cabinet. If it isn't completely covered, portions of meat will freeze to each other and to the sides of the storage compartment.

Ex-Husband, Twice Married Since Their Divorce—Wife Considers Returning

Dear Miss Fairfax:

I was married eleven years ago, but divorced my husband two and a half years later because of non-support, drinking and "other women." He asked me several times later to come back, but I was having a good time and refused. He married again and his wife died leaving a son.

He married a third time, but his wife put the boy in a boarding school because she doesn't want him. This marriage isn't going along smoothly, and his mother tells me that she thinks he's still in love with me and that we could be happy together — the little boy, he and I. I love the child, but can't say how I feel towards my ex-husband. I loved him devotedly at first, but after all these years I don't know how I would get along with him.

I'm not satisfied to remain single, yet I hate to break up his present marriage. If I visited in his city so we could see each other, it would not seem fair to his wife, and if he came to see me, it wouldn't be right either. Should I wait until he's free of his own choosing? We are now 31 and 32.

Beth

You divorced your husband because of non-support, drinking and other women. Before going back to him, don't you think it would be well to be reasonably certain if he has overcome drinking and skirt-chasing, and if he is willing and able to support you? He's had quite a bit of matrimonial experience since you parted. Your unwillingness to break up his present marriage does you credit. Don't rush to a conclusion; watch your step.

How Prosperous Husband Declines to Return to Former Standards of Living

Dear Miss Fairfax:

My husband and I were married shortly after the depression. For years we lived in almost unbearable poverty. For me this was particularly difficult since I had given up a good social position when I married.

My husband recently obtained a high-salaried job in a defence plant and his present earnings would enable us to better our standards of living. However, my husband insists we remain where we are and invest our money in War Bonds.

Do you think I am selfish and unpatriotic because I insist we try to better ourselves now that we have the chance, or do you honestly believe my husband is doing the right thing?

Undecided.

Why can't he do both—set a certain amount of his salary aside for War Bonds, and another portion to improve your living conditions? I've had a number of letters like yours since the depression. Not that the writers were doing anything as praiseworthy as buying War Bonds, but that they enjoyed down-at-heel living.

One woman wrote me not long ago that as her husband had the best salary of any man in the neighborhood, he enjoyed going to the grocery store and becoming a cracker-box philosopher. There he pontificated to all who would listen. This woman naturally wanted better conditions for her growing family. Is this the case with your husband?

Try to persuade him, while not neglecting his patriotic duty in buying War Bonds, to go in for better standards at home.

House Always at Sixes and Sevens

Dear Miss Fairfax:

I've been married for seven years and we have two children. My wife is very untidy about the house, and doesn't seem to improve as time goes on. I have threatened to leave, because at times it is unbearable. Often I can't even eat a meal. On the other hand, occasionally she'll work so hard that she becomes ill. Her intentions are good, but she doesn't have any system, and is inclined to be lazy. Please tell me what I can do.

W.C.

Systematized housekeeping is taught in many domestic science courses. They would help to solve the problem of your wife's lack of system. She works so hard some days as to make herself ill, which proves conclusively she isn't indifferent to the appearance of her home. If one of these domestic science and housekeeping classes is not within reach of a bus or trolley, have your wife borrow some books on housekeeping from your nearest public library.

He Asks Her to Wait 'Til the War is Over

Dear Miss Fairfax:

I am 20 years old, and my boy friend is 21. We've known each other for four years, and he has always said he's very fond of me. He's in the Army and writes in his letters that he hopes I'll wait for him and we'll be married after the war.

I care a lot for him and have no desire for others. Yet my friends tell me that if I've known him this long and he hasn't married me (he's still in the U.S.) he has no intention of doing so later. They say I'm wasting my time, and that I should start going with someone else.

Should I continue waiting for him? He says if we married now, he didn't think he could do his share in the Army, knowing that I wasn't getting the companionship a wife should have.

F.L.M.

As you've asked my advice about your problem, please let me say that I think the boy you've known for four years has taken a very mature view of the situation.

At 21, very few men are able to support a wife even half way, unless she keeps her job. And in suggesting that you wait until he is out of the Army, he realizes he is not able to give you the companionship he will be able to give you after the war. He sounds like a sensible fellow to me.

The Marry Go Round

Chivalry Rides Again.

Sometimes I am amazed to observe the amount of chivalry that still exists in this materialistic modern world. It is especially apparent in war-times, and among the men at the fighting front.

The dictionary defines "chivalry" as "courtesy; bravery; magnanimity; gallantry" etc. Roget adds "honor" and "generosity" as synonyms. So, it is pretty hard to tell how or why "chivalry" should have lost its place in the sun, and have been looked upon as something "old fashioned" or "mid-Victorian". Some even think of it vaguely as connected with plumed hats, long curls and sweeping bows from the waist.

But in spite of all the discouragement they may have received from militant feminists and efficient young women with "Independence" written all over them, most men still are chivalrous at heart; and some of the stories of gallantry and bravery which have come out of this war have thrilled the whole world. Chivalry rides again!

It's true chivalry wears modern dress and is not always so picturesque, dramatic and dashing as it was in the days of Launcelot or Sir Walter Raleigh. But whether you find it in the pilot who sticks to his plane until his wounded buddy is safe or in the chaplain on the battlefield, it is the same old flower in less gaudy coloring.

As for the chivalry of men toward women. It comes disguised in many homely and unsuspected ways these days. Chivalry is not always glittering; and sometimes there is more real chivalry in the simple, homely, unselfish act of an everyday husband than in all the picturesque exploits of a Launcelot. The unsung Knights of the Hearthstone are legion!

For instance, I don't know of a married man who is not gallant enough to help his wife with the household chores these maidless days; and one of the best pieces of publicity I have seen was the picture of a Hollywood star helping his wife hang out the washing.

One man will gallantly carry a woman's heavy suitcase for blocks while another will put his nose to the grindstone to carry a heavy insurance for her for life. One man will bring his wife roses or bon-bons—while another will cheerfully go by the butcher's and lug home the roast for dinner.

One man will give a woman sympathy and tender words—while another will get up on a cold night to get his wife the aspirin or the electric pad or a dose of bicarbonate. One man will fight for a woman's love—while another will gallantly give her her freedom, and pay the alimony without complaint.

But THAT'S carrying chivalry a little too far! It only proves that chivalry comes in many guises and disguises; and that the world is as full of chivalry today as it was when Knighthood Was in Flower.

GOOD MANNERS

By MRS. CORNELIUS BEECKMAN

If You Are Spoiling Your Child Change Your Viewpoint.

All of us know some adults who are spoiled grownup children. They show that they were brought up by indulgent and overfond parents, and that they have never made the slightest effort to overcome this pathetic training. They usually aren't particularly happy people; they demand a lot of understanding and patience, and they usually aren't popular. They are unfortunate victims of incompetent training.

Parents can't bring up their children to be one thing and expect them to be something quite different when they are grown. "As the twig is bent" is a logical process.

In bringing up a child, love for the child isn't enough. That love must be tempered by wisdom. Besides love there must be a lot of common sense, a lot of backbone and a world of patience. Weak submission on the part of a parent has no relationship to discipline. If a mother (for hers is usually the major part in a child's training) has this point of view about bringing up her child, she's being tragically unjust to that child. Such indulgence can't see beyond the minute. And her job is to prepare her child for the serious business of living, of living his own life richly and rewardingly and of living comfortably and pleasantly with other people. The birthright of a child is a parent's clear perception of how to develop a child's character so that this child will become a good person and a good citizen.

There are two ways for a spoiled child to grow up. He may continue his spoiled way all his life full of nettles, indulging in the same tantrums in which he was allowed to indulge when he was a child, showing an irritating indifference to anybody who tries, however kindly, to make a dent in his all-absorbing ego, having a complete disregard for other people's feelings or comfort. He won't have a rational viewpoint about himself, but other people will have a viewpoint about him—and it won't be an endearing one.

The other way for a spoiled child to grow up is by the stern realization that he has been spoiled. In his heart he will blame his parents for this spoiling, he will resent the indulgence, he will see that this way of life doesn't make sense. Then, wisely, he will have to begin a session of self-training—and it will necessarily be a terribly difficult readjustment.

He'll have to undo what has been so mistakenly ingrained in him; that his ego, his wishes, are the only important thing in life. He'll have to defeat his tantrums and all other evidences of his early spoiling. He'll have to keep everlastingly on the job of trying to do what will make him an agreeable person to have around. He will see that being spoiled has no value except a nuisance-value.

As far as a beautiful and successful design for living is concerned, this business of spoiling children is a ridiculous and pathetic procedure. Spoiled children pay dearly for being spoiled. And their parents pay dearly for spoiling them.

OVERCOME BY FUMES

The KIDS ARE CERTAINLY TOUGH ON SHOES!

1,300,000 MORE PAIRS

OF CHILDREN'S SHOES LAST YEAR

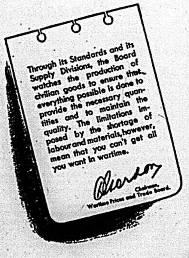
In the last twelve months Canadian manufacturers made for Canadian children about 25% more shoes than in 1939—a fine job—done by the organization and direction of production by this Board's Footwear Administration and the co-operation of manufacturers. And this was accomplished while they were making many more essential type shoes for war workers, who wear out their shoes faster than they do in their normal employment.

Now you see it . . .

THE DISAPPEARING ACT OF RUBBER-SOLE SHOES

In normal times most young Canadians got at least one pair of rubber soled, canvas-top shoes a year. But natural rubber supplies fell into enemy hands, and the manufacture of rubber footwear was drastically curtailed. We're now using reclaimed and synthetic rubber in these shoes—there have been more of them this year and there will be more next year. Leather-soled shoes have had to be used in place of this rubber-soled footwear but shoes made of leather need more care than running shoes. When they don't get it they wear out more quickly; when they get wet they must be dried slowly, away from direct heat—and they should be greased also. It's not always a case of poor quality; it's poor care.

Now you dont!



Through its Standards and its Supply Divisions, the Board watches the production of civilian goods to ensure that everything possible is done to provide the necessary quantities and to maintain the quality. The limitations imposed by the shortage of labour and materials, however, mean that you can't get all you want in wartime.

Chairman,
Wartime Prices and Trade Board.

LEATHER GOES TO WAR

You've got to have good strong leather for children's shoes but the soldiers are taking most of ours for their boots. For these leathers, a substantial portion of the hides came from South America and other countries. War cut down these imports and there have been difficulties in getting enough of these and our own hides tanned into leather due to shortage of workers. The production of high grade leather shoes has, however, been maintained at the highest level consistent with the labour and materials available. While shoe factories have been working overtime, factory capacity for civilian shoes cannot be expanded in wartime and it's not possible to change plants from the manufacture of one type of shoe to another,—for instance, from women's to children's. The processes, the machines and the lasts are different.

TURNING HIDES INTO SHOES

There are very large war uses of leather—for instance, in footwear. A soldier requires four pairs of shoes in the first year of his service and about three pairs per year thereafter. But what is more important, he needs to have his shoes re-soled four or five times a year. His shoes are of the highest quality leathers obtainable, leaving the other grades of leather for civilian use. Airmen need leather for jackets and mitts. War factories need leather for belting and farmers need leather for harness. Leather — the best leathers — has gone to war.

Three Top Teams in National League Win and Lose Over Weekend, Rangers Win and Tie

Leafs Defeat Canadiens but Drop 4-2 Decision to Detroit Red Wings

By ERIC SANDERSON
(Canadian Press Staff Writer)

Early season predictions that almost anything could happen in the 1944-45 National Hockey League campaign were borne out during the weekend when the three top teams each won and lost a game and Lester Patrick's lowly New York Rangers jumped out of the basement position.

More than 60,000 spectators witnessed five top-notch games, highlighted by the defeat of the league-leading Toronto Maple Leafs and a win — their first since last Jan. 22 — and a draw by Rangers.

The Leafs downed the Stanley Cup champions, Montreal Canadiens, 3-1 on home ice Saturday night for their sixth successive victory, but were handed a 4-2 beating by Detroit Red Wings at the border city Sunday. Canadiens partly made up for their loss by winning 4-2 from Chicago Black Hawks on the latter's home ice Sunday.

In the only other Saturday night contest, Rangers defeated Detroit Red Wings 5-2 for the first victory this year in five starts. The Patrickmen then played to a 5-5 tie with Boston Bruins Sunday to send them into a fourth place tie with Boston, each with three points.

Chicago's loss dropped the Hawks into the cellar.

Rookie Goalie Good

Toronto's victory over Canadiens saw much of the credit going to their rookie netminder, 26-year-old Frank McCool, who played a sensational game. Veteran Dave (Sweeney) Schriner's master workmanship however, and polished offensive continuity of the Leafs paved the way for the goals. Gus Bodnar, centre on Toronto's top line of Bodnar-Schriner-Carr, netted the only goal of the first period and drove in one other puck in the final session. Schriner whipped in the other goal and got an assist on Bodnar's second tally. Less than 3 minutes before the final whistle Buddy O'Connor backhanded a shot behind McCool to rob the Leaf custodian of a shutout.

Detroit's victory over Toronto came after a rough and hard-fought game in which 12 penalties, six to each team, were meted out. The Wings checked the Bodnar-Schriner-Carr combination to a standstill, and while Detroit never trailed, Leafs came from behind twice to tie the score. Rookie Jud McAtee sank the first goal of the game before Mel Hill netted for Toronto. Steve Wochy of Fort William sent the Redshirts ahead again, but Babe Pratt got the equalizer before Bill Quackenbush and Ted Lindsay netted again for the Wings.

Rangers Had Edge

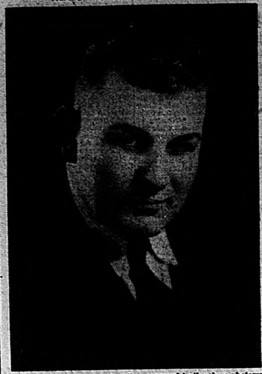
Playing before more than 14,000 fans Saturday, Rangers had the edge over Detroit from start to finish. Walter Atanas, rookie from Hamilton, Ont., netted once in the opening period and added another just before the final whistle to take scoring honors. Veteran Ott Heller, Phil Watson and Bob Dill got the others. Mud Bruneteau and Flash Hollett netted for Detroit.

The Blueshirts continued their smart play Sunday until late in the third period, when the Bruin pressure paid off with three quick goals, two of them by Cowley, to tie the count. Rangers were ahead 4-2 at the start of the final session and Bob Dill made it 5-2 before rookie Gino Rossini scored for Boston and was followed in quick succession by Cowley. Fred Thurier, Watson, Atanas and Ab Demarco got the other Ranger goals. Bill Cupulo and Herbie Cain netted the others for Boston.

In the Hawks-Canadiens game Sunday night before more than 16,000 fans the score was tied at 1-1 at the end of the first period on goals by Montreal's Buddy O'Connor and Harvey Frased for Chicago.

Maurice Richard and Ray Getliffe counted the only two goals in the second to give Montreal a 3-1 lead going into the final. Toe Blake got another for Montreal early in the third before Bill Mosienko netted the last goal for the Hawks.

HEADS RUFFIAN SHOW HERE.



Although he appears to be rather composed in the above photograph, Jerry Monahan, the Irish Bull, can be just exactly that without provocation. The "Irish Bull" takes on John Katan, the Palermo Panther, in the main bout of Wednesday night's collection of ring ruffians who will invade the Hume Arena. Monahan and Katan are undoubtedly the most unscrupulous pair of grapplers ever to step foot into the Market Street sports palace and to predict the outcome of this meeting would be little less than folly. However, it goes without saying the final outcome will put to shame last week's termination of the Katan-Watson brawl. For good measure Promoter Tunney signed Jean Pusie, the turbulent N.H.L. badman of wide renown, to meet Al Dunlop in the semi-final match and here the fans have another wild affair. A preliminary goes first as tickets are selling with reckless abandon at Cook's Cigar Store where you can telephone 74.

Shawinigan Falls Defeats Cornwall

Shawinigan Falls, Que., Nov. 13 (CP)—Shawinigan Falls Cataracts opened their local inter-provincial hockey league schedule by registering a 2-0 shut-out over Cornwall Flyers here yesterday before an approximate crowd of 5,000.

Flyers failed to increase their lead in top-slot of the loop standings while Cataracts joined Valleyfield Braves and Lachine Rapids in a second place deadlock, one game behind Cornwall. Rapids broke the ice for the first time in Lachine today by edging out Valeyfield 5-4.

Jules Trudel and Roger Brodeur paced the Shawinigan offensive with their third-period goals in a hard-fought game of hockey in which 10 penalties were handed out. Brodeur slammed home the first tally after a solo rush from his own blue line while Trudel provided the second one when Flyers were short-handed, Norm Perron having been banished for roughing.

Sports Roundup

(By HUGH FULLERTON Jr.)
(Associated Press Sport Writer)

New York, Nov. 13. (AP)—For the first time in 24 years of Basketball coaching at Western Michigan College, Herbert W. Read hasn't a single veteran on his squad. . . . Last year he started with 14 lettermen and only lost to one Collegiate rival.

Orders is Orders.

When fiery George Stallings managed the Rochester Internationals back in 1926, a Rookie pitcher, Jerry Mallett (later a Texas League manager) came up to bat in a tight spot. . . "Think you can hit this guy?" Stallings asked . . . "Sure", replied Mallett, who then whiffed on three pitchers. . . Stallings blew up. "Get out of this ball park", he ordered . "Go and burn up that uniform. You're no ball player'". . . .Overwhelmed by the torrent of words, Mallett did just what Stallings ordered and set fire to his monkey suit. . . Warned to steer clear of Stallings, the youngster hid in his room all the next day and finally, after repeated knocks went unanswered, the door was forced open. . . In strode Stallings, waving a sheaf of bills. . . "But Mr. Stallings, I burned the uniform", Mallett wailed. . . "Here's $50", replied the manager, handing him the money. "I've told that to 19,000 ball players and you're the first one who either had the courage or was dumb enough to do it".

WILDCATS WHIP BALMY BEACH, NAVY WINS TITLE

Hamilton Has Nine-Point Margin to Work on in Return Game

By The Canadian Press

The Dominion champion Hamilton Wildcats demonstrated Saturday that they can play winning football even without Joe Krol, their high-scoring triple-threat halfback. With Krol absent because of illness, the Wildcats whipped Toronto Balmy Beach 13-4 before 11,000 fans in Hamilton to take a long stride to their second successive Ontario Rugby Football Union title. It was the first game of the title series.

In Toronto, the Navy Bulldogs became the first team to win the championship of the recently-organized Ontario Armed Services Football League by scoring a surprise 20-1 triumph over the favored Hagersville R.C.A.F. Flying Tigers in a sudden-death title game.

The Wildcats win gives them a nine-point margin for the second game of the home - and - home points-to-count title series in Toronto next Saturday. They also missed lineman Abe Zvonkin because of an injury he suffered in a wrestling match in Brantford Friday night.

Start on Road

Gordon Miller, in the Royal Canadian Navy two years, filled Krol's position and started Hamilton on the trail to victory with a single point when Earl Selkirk was rouged on one of his kicks in the second quarter. Mel Lawson followed that up with a touchdown which Joe Capriotti converted before Beaches scored with a field goal by Ross (Red) McKelvey.

Miller was rouged on a Selkirk kick in the third quarter but in the fourth the Wildcats came up with an inspired offensive which produced another six points — a single by Jack Brown and an unconverted touchdown by hard-plunging Paul Miocinovich.

Leading Seaman Annis Stukus, leading scorer in the Services League this season, went on a point-getting rampage in the Toronto game with two touchdowns, two converts and a field goal for 15 points. The other Navy points came on a touchdown by Patrolman Al French who grabbed the ball on the bounce when Sgt. Joe Richman fumbled a kick and then went 20 yards for a touchdown. FO. Bill Douglas accounted for the Hagersville single, OS. Jim O'Brien being rouged on one of his kicks.

Stukus Scores Eleven

Stukus, who got eleven points in the final quarter of the Toronto game, had able assistance in ground-gaining from youthful OS. Royal Copeland and OS. Tom Waldon on the halfline and a hard-hitting line led by Stoker Les Ascott and Leading Seaman Hank McMahon.

At Kingston the Ottawa Trojans of the O.R.F.U. defeated Queen's University team 12-5 in an exhibition game. It was the first defeat of the season for the University team which had won the Kingston city title.

What's Doing in Sport

(By The Canadian Press)

No. 3 Wireless School Bombers, Winnipeg, Saturday scored a 15-5 decision over Rivers, Man., Pathfinders to take the two-game, total-points series for the Winnipeg Inter-Service football league championship 26-12. The Bombers won the first game 11-7.

Two Canadian army teams from the Borden area in England met in the finals of the Canadian reinforcement units baseball playoffs and the Borden "B" team won the three-game series, taking two straight games after the Borden "A" squad had won the opener.

CFNS. D. Diemer, of Windsor, Ont., and B. Jarvis of Sarnia, Ont., combined to pitch the "A" squad to a 6-4 victory in the opener, with CFN. J. Hollowell of London, Ont., smashing out a home run for the winners.

The Borden "B" aggregation evened the series with a smashing 16-2 victory and then edged out a 3-2 triumph for the championship.

Largest entry in the 11-year history of the annual Kitchener bonspiel has compelled Granite Club officials to arrange for a preliminary event, to be staged next Friday three days before the bonspiel. With accommodations for 64 rinks, the Club secretary had already received 85 entries.

Allan J. Shafer, Jr. 17-year-old star freshman quarterback of the University of Wisconsin Football team, died in hospital Saturday night, a few hours after he had participated in Wisconsin's 26-7 triumph over Iowa's Hawkeyes. Shafer was injured midway through the second half. He died from internal injuries.

Sam Breadon, president of the World Champion St. Louis Cardinals, Saturday announced plans for the post-war construction of a $1,000,000 baseball park in St. Louis.

Lt.-Col. John I. Turnbull, who captained the United States lacrosse team in the 1932 Olympics and was a member of the U.S. hockey team in the 1936 Olympics at Berlin, has been killed in action. The War Department informed his mother at Baltimore Saturday. He was a member of the Army Air Forces.

CASUAL COMMENT by K.J.C.

She was sitting alone in a dim corner of the Red Cross Service Men's Club. Noiselessly a soldier stole up behind her and before she was aware of his presence, he had kissed her:

She (exclaiming)—How dare you!

Soldier (bluffing glibly)—Oh, pardon me, I thought you were my sister!

She—You dumb ox, I am your sister.

A rude and vulgar man is one who stares at a girl's figure when she's doing her best to display it.

It's the Army.

Notre Dame's "Four Horsemen and Seven Mules" must have gone through their most terrible nightmare Saturday afternoon when West Point's Army team ran roughshod over, around and through the Irish to hand the South Bend eleven the worst reverse that a Notre Dame team has been subjected to since 1905. Coach Blaik's Army squad roled up a 59 to 0 score over Notre Dame for the worst defeat the Irish has suffered in modern times. It was a fitting scene at New York's Yankee Stadium with over 80,000 on hand to see the Army celebrate Armistice Day of 1944 in favor of the armed services.

Statistics of the game go to show the Army scored its first win over Notre Dame since 1931. It was also the first time Army had crossed the Irish goal line since 1938 and it came 20 years to the Saturday after the late Knute Rockne pulled his now-historic—"win one for old Griff" dressing room scene of 1924 when N.D. came back in the second half to win that day 13 to 7 over Army.

In winning by such a striking margin on Saturday the Army eleven established itself as the best football team in the United States today, despite the fact Ohio State "Buckeyes," Randolph Field, Yale and a couple of other smaller colleges still remain in the undefeated bracket. In their seven conference games this season the West Point "Kaydets" have enmassed the mammoth collective score of 419 points, the greatest number of points ever scored in a single season by an Army team, and they still have Penn State to play next Saturday before the big Army-Navy game on Dec. 2nd.

Although Doc Blanchard was in fine football form Saturday, it was halfback Glen Davis who thrilled the patrons as he ran 50 yards for the Army's eighth try bringing his total of touchdowns to 17 for the season. Davis now leads all scorers in the nation and may establish more scoring records before the season's curtain is rung down.

Football Standings.

The standing of the two Bay of Quinte six-man football groups today finds St. Mike's seniors 1944 champions in their group, while the Belleville Collegiate juniors have to win but one more game to take the junior title. The standing:

Senior

	W	L	P	A	Pts
St. Michael's	5	0	133	38	10
Trenton	1	2	5	56	2
Belleville Coll.	1	3	19	53	2
Albert College	1	3	50	60	2

Junior

	W	L	P	A	Pts
Belleville Coll.	3	0	59	12	6
St. Mike's	2	1	45	25	4

Final game: Wednesday, St. Mike's vs. B.C.I.

Remember When.

Torchy Peden, Victoria, B.C., six-day bicycle rider, established a world's one-mile mark at Minneapolis 13 years ago today. Paced by an automobile, Peden pedalled the distance in 48 2-5 seconds, sixteen seconds better than that made previously in 1917. Even then Peden's record has since been shattered.

Turbulent Pusie

Arnea manager Walt Gerow wants to secure all hockey equipment before Jean Pusie, the wild N.H.L. badman moves into the Market St. sports emporium on Wednesday night. Pusie is an expert at wielding a hockey stick over some unsuspecting opponent's noggin and would like nothing better than to bounce one off Al Dunlop's head when they tangle. Promoter Tunney must be inciting to riot when he'll sign Pusie and Dunlop in a semi-final affair and then continue with "Irish Jerry" Monahan and John Katan in the main affair. It's solid.

Service Boys First.

More than 500 prints of 16 and 35 mm. sound films of the 1944 World's Series are being turned out by the Chicago Film Laboratories for distribution to the armed forces and hospitals overseas and in this country. The first 240 prints are expected to be ready this week and 200 wil be available for civilians and private organizations early in January. The films will be cut to 3,000 feet and will require about 30 minutes for complete showing.

Canadian Sport Snapshots

By SYD THOMAS
(Canadian Press Staff Writer)

Toronto Nov. 13 — (CP)—Where are the Canadians of the old brigade, who are giving way before the onslaught of the foreign-born in the junior Ontario hockey world, wonders Fred Craig in the Peterboro Examiner. Line-ups of some of the teams sound like the Irish of Notre Dame . . . While admitting it's a good sign to see that second- and third-generation Canadians are fitting into our Canadian sport life as well, Fred would like to know if the "descendants of older Canadians are developing into a generation of jitterbugs and drugstore cowboys."

On the House:

A wrestler with the thirst-provoking handle of Tom Collins appeared in a mat card with burly Abe Zvonkin at Brantford, Ont., that prompted Al (Brantford Expositor) Rose to suggest it might not be the first time a Tom Collins appeared in the Dufferin and Haldiman Rifles armories, where the bout was held.

Brave Man:

Keeping that northland feud over girl hockeyists alive, Vic (Timmins Free Press) Copps, a sturdy bachelor, intimates that only the fear of the Missus keeps Ralph Adams of the North Bay Nugget plugging for the girls' constitutional rights to play hockey if they want to. A rugged individualist, Mr. Coops says women are all right in their place, but in hockey uniforms, no.

Incidentally:

The three Chin brothers, being seasoned and done to a turn in Port Colborne for Toronto Maple Leafs, are reported showing plenty of class with the junior squad... the Canadian Amateur Hockey Association kissed and made up with the obstreperous Quebec Senior Hockey League in solemn conclave at Ottawa, reports Lloyd McGowan in the Montreal Star. He says "treaty conditions" will be announced shortly in Port Arthur. The National Hockey body was wise to mend all differences with the rich and influential Quebec organization . . . Sgt. A. G. (Scotty) Kennedy, owner of the 37-cents filly, Omar's Gift, is having the time of his life these days inspecting the European race tracks, whenever he has time to spare from his fighting duties . . .

Horse Sense Bridge

LESSON NO. 530

By SAM GORDON
The Kibitzer

You may hate me for telling you this. And I may hate myself for telling you. But there are some things in bridge that I must not leave unsaid. People will say you didn't know.

An opening of four in a major (or five in a minor) shows a long suit and no outside strength. Such a bid is usually made with full intent of being defeated.

Remember what I have been telling you about the reply to it? I've been saying you should pass such a bid. Even with as much as three aces. Even with as much as three aces and a queen.

Well, this is what you may hate me for. There is a time when you may answer it with a bid. You may invite a slam if you have at least three aces and one or more kings.

Don't go around nursing the idea that maybe three aces and a queen may also be enough. Perish that thought. If it is not at least three aces and at least one king, drop it like a hot potato.

And even with three aces and only one king, curb your enthusiasm. Don't hop to a slam. First get some more information from the opener. And if there is still some doubt, stop at five.

Bid four no-trump and find out what the opener has in aces and kings. If he shows up with three kings or an ace and two kings, try for a slam. If he has less, stop at five in his suit.

With a king in addition to your three aces, perhaps your pair can take 11 tricks. But 11 tricks are not enough for a slam. Unless partner has the best kind of a four bid, a slam is still not there.

Suppose your partner opens with four spades when you have this hand:

♠J 7
♥A K 9
♣A 8 7 3

Bid four no-trump. If partner says he has no ace and only two kings, stop at five spades.

If sufficiency lacks, you may stop in your tracks.

HERSHEY BEARS' WINNING STREAK SUDDENLY ENDS

Indianapolis Comes Up With Five Goals in 10½ Minutes to Win 5-1

By The Canadian Press

Indianapolis Capitals put a sudden end last night to Hershey Bears' winning stride in the American Hockey League by netting five goals in 10 1/2 minutes in the third period of a scheduled game that yielded a 5-1 victory for the Caps.

Thus Indianapolis moved within a single point of the league western division leadership now held by Pittsburgh. The Bears retain the leadership in the eastern division, a position into which they moved back Saturdayy after white-washing Buffalo Bisons 6-0. Buffalo made up for it however, with a 5-2 victory last night over Pittsburgh.

Providence Reds, coming from behind twice, gained a 3-3 tie with Cleveland Barons. It was the second tie in four home games this season for the Reds whose only victory was scored at Cleveland.

Saturday night, Cleveland Barons defeated Pittsburgh Hornets, league leaders, 2-1 before a crowd of 9,525 largest of the season gathered at Cleveland. The game was featured by a tussle in which one spectator got excited and drew a punch in the mouth from one of the Hornet players. Another fan was ejected for throwing a chair in the general direction of the ice.

Charles A. Robbins of the United States Navy yesterday won the National Amateur Athletic Union Marathon which began and ended at New York's Empire City race track. The 24-year-old hharmacist's mate covered the 26 miles and 385 yards in 2.40.48 3-5, to lead a field of 24 finishers out of 45 starters.

Toronto, Nov. 13 (CP)—Harold Wagner of Waterloo Saturday was elected President of the Provincial Lawn Bowling Association. A. A. Langford of London, Ont., Honorary Secretary-Treasurer for 14 years, asked to be relieved of his duties and was appointed Honorary Life President.

It was announced that so far this year the association had raised $30,000 for war services.

Dr. A. Semple of Toronto is immediate Past President, Jack Burns of Markham was elected Vice-President, Al Sage of Toronto Secretary-Treasurer and Lt. Cmdr. Nelson Hart of London, Ont., Official Umpire.

BIG SEVEN

By The Canadian Press

Sweeney Schriner and Gus Bodnar of Toronto remained tied for first place among the scorers, each gathering two points as the Leafs trimmed Montreal Canadiens Saturday night in Toronto. Bill Cowley's two goals and an assist which helped Boston Bruins to a 5-5 tie with Rangers Sunday also put him among the leaders, in a sixth place tie with Modere Bruneteau of Detroit.

Grit in Your Teeth

Gritty spinach once bitten, twice refused. So you think you can't get all the sand out . . . well, matriarchs, lend us your ears! Pick over the next bunch of spinach you're preparing for dinner carefully. Cut off the roots. So far nothing new here but now put it in a large pan of warm water . . . swish it up and down several times and let it stand for two or three minutes then lift it out. This is important. The grit and sand are at the bottom of the pan and if you pour off the water, back into the spinach goes the enemy. But you're not through yet. Repeat the procedure a second time and finish off in a pan of cold water. Away with it to the cooker.

It's In the Bag

Carry your own brand of filing basket with you on your household tidying jobs. Pin a paper bag to the belt of your housedress and use it to collect the part of the jig-saw puzzle you'll find in the hall or the ties that must go to the kitchen for pressing . . . all the small items that have to be moved from one place to another every day. (A paper bag is useful too when you go through the house dumping ash trays and picking up apple cores.) And how about designating a special drawer in a special place as a Lost and Found Dept. Helps teach children to be more careful about picking up their toys if there is a kind of ceremony about getting lost articles out of the drawer.

To Egg You On

What do you do with a left-over egg yolk? Cover it with cold water and keep it in an airtight jar in the refrigerator of course. We were sure you knew. But what do you do next? Use it up in sandwiches and salads? Here's a tip on that. Poach it just as you would a whole egg but cook until it is firm. If you're going to bake, remember that two egg yolks can take the place of one whole egg and make a custard more tender and golden. Don't forget that you can add the yolks to the next pan of scrambled eggs too.

I was reading the story of William Fox, in his day the continent's greatest film and theatre man, and came across an interesting fact about his "Over the Hill," a picture made in 1921. The film was based on the poem, "Over the Hill to the Poorhouse," and caused many heart-throbs, being about children who abandon their parents or place them in institutions. GYPSY BLOOD

CHAPTER SEVEN

But this morning there was no fear at all. She was off on a grand adventure. It made her heart beat high, her eyes shine like stars and brought the color back to her cheeks—cheeks that had faded pitifully with long months of work indoors. New York was no longer the torturing monster demanding excessive toll of the stranger. It was a creature that could be reasoned with, provided one paid in the coin of the realm and held one's temper now and then before the disagreeable people who crossed one instead of exploding like a fire cracker, blurting out all that one wanted to say.

So now Anna set forth for the long cherished address with perfect confidence in her ability to get there and to find, at the end of her journey, Harry Baldwin waiting for her. Any vague misgivings that he might not remember her or be entirely pleased to see her, did not trouble her for the moment. The sun was bright and her heart was gay. With the blissful short sightedness that is youth, which sees no further than its nose, she had no idea what she would say to him nor how to explain why she had come. He was so clever and kind that he would understand and if they got along well with each other, she would invite him to be her partner at the dance at the club Saturday night.

Anna always thought of Harry as dancing. It was thus he had first swum into her ken, and whether in the beautiful ballroom of the ship or in the parlor of the Elizabeth Club, would make little difference, or so it seemed to Anna, just so one were dancing. She pictured the reactions of the other girls when she introduced Harry as her partner, the most beautiful, cultured, charming, graceful "boy friend" who had ever set foot in the "Club." The very thought of the languishing glances that Greta would cast at him, raised her pride to ecstacy. But of course he would prefer her, Anna, to Greta. That was a foregone conclusion. She was certain that Geta was not his type. She could tell by his smile, (which she remembered well) that he did not like bold, forward girls with too much self assurance and a manner of using their eyes.

While still perusing this happy trend of thought and wondering which way she should turn, Anna chanced to meet one of the girls from the "Club" who worked in the same part of town as she did, at a factory not far from the candy factory. Each looked at the other sheepishly, for both knew they should be at work at ten o'clock of a week day morning, instead of sauntering along in the sunshine. Simultaneously an unasked for excuse rose to the lips of each one.

"I've been fired," said the other girl, frankly. "Late too often. And you?"

"I'm taking a day off to look up a friend. Say, where is Fifth Avenue?"

"Gee, but you're swell! Where'd you pick him up?"

"Is that a swell part of town?" Anna wasn't quite sure whether she wanted the answer to be yes or no.

"The swellest there is. What's the number?"

Anna showed her the well worn address written on a grimy sheet of paper.

"I say, that's way up town. Honest, are you going up there for a job? Housework? I, wouldn't do that."

Anna froze her dead with a glance. "Will you tell me the way, or won't you?"

"Don't get high hat just because you've got friends. You got to take a bus. Got a dime? All right. You walk this way—See?" She waved a soiled hand East—"till you see a bus going this way—see?" She waved the same member North. "Then—Oh I don't know just how far you ride but you can always ask a policeman."

Anna assimilated these sketchy directions.

"Thanks awfuly. Sorry you lost your job."

"Oh, you'll probably be fired yourself."

"A lot I care!" laughed Anna. Had she not a whole dollar in her pocket, a million dollars' worth of youth in her heart and all of life before her?

Anna's ride up Fifth Avenue on the top of the bus was a never to be forgotten occasion. It was worth a dime—which is saying much, for in Anna's budget a dime was a fortune.

But never before had one thin dime been better invested than this one to bring its owne pleasure. The broad beautiful street in the autumn sunshine (New York's most flattering season) the buildings the people, gay, handsomely dressed—here was the New York Anna had dreamed of. Where had it been hiding itself all this time? How long she had been in discovering it. But it was not far—she could walk here on Sunday, walk and save the dime.

"This is your stop, young lady."

Anna stumbled down the swaying, winding steps of the bus to find herself facing an imposing structure on which was carved the address which for many long weeks had been carved on her heart.

It was an apartment building, one of those palatial marble bee hives which house the rich in congested New York. Fifty families, perhaps lived under this one roof, but Anna did not know this. To her the whole building was merely the home of her young friend, Harry Baldwin.

Here then, dwelt her own Prince Charming—but why did she suddenly feel like Cinderella at the stroke of twelve? Could she call on him in these rags? Even a cat may look at a king,—but no one has ever told how the king behaved when he saw the cat—or whether he ever saw it at all. Woefully conscience of her sartorial needs and inefficiencies, Anna suffered the first inhibitions off her mad, impulsive errand.

But mindful of the capital she had invested in the venture (bus fare and the day off from work, not to mention the priceless hopes involved) she held her head high and sailed in through a dizzy, revolving door, where she found herself confronted by a smat official dressed like a policeman, only thinner and more impertinent.

"Servants' entrance the other way round." The greeting was not quite cordial.

"I'm not a servant." (Anna's savoir faire surprised even herself She must have learned it from Greta. One needed it in New York). "I've come to see Harry Baldwin. This is his house isn't it?"

"Well, not exactly, you might say, but he lives here. You want to see him?"

"I do." (Anna had dealth with policemen. What need to be afraid here?) "Will you please tell him that I'm waiting?"

"What name shall I give?"

"Oh—well—but that's not important. Just say that a friend is down stairs."

"But I must announce you, Madame."

When he said "Madame" he bowed. Anna caught the sarcasm of his manner but decided to play up to her part.

"Miss Anna Wozswski." Had she said Queen Marie, she could not have spoken more proudly.

The man pressed a button in the wall and spoke through a telephone apparatus. Purposely he spoke so she could not hear and during the conversation she grew nervous. She shifted from one foot to the other and wriggled her shabby toes.

"He isn't in. Any message, Miss—Miss—pardon me if I don't get the name?"

It was half relief, half disappointment. Anna opened her mouth to speak—but the words died unuttered on her lips. From the outside came voices and laughter. The revolving door whirled round. It admitted a lovely, flower-like girl with dark hair, clad in a slim fur coat with a bright red hat set a-tilt on her head, and eyes that were dancing with laughter. Behind her came a lad in a light gray coat and a smile as sunny as noon.

With eyes that saw straight over Anna's head, chattering gaily together, the couple walked toward the elevator, stepped inside and waited.

The elevator man looked at Anna, a mocking question in his eyes.

But Anna was frozen into the corner, her face gone suddenly blank, her red hands clenching each other until the knuckles were white.

With a lump in her throat that choked her, she saw Harry Baldwin and the flower-like girl shut off from her view by the elevator door, with a click like a slap in the face.

Anna sped down Fifth Avenue—but the sun was frozen and the flowers had no scent and the crowds no longer lured her and the whole world was lifeless and dull.

Thankful for the action of walking (which seemed to make it easier to think) thankful also to save a dime, Anna scorned the bus and went on foot, unconscious of her direction, praying it might be right. And she found she was running, not walking—running madly as though pursued, although she was in no hurry at all. Indeed, what was there to hurry for?

"Oh, how could I ever have been such a fool as to think he'd remember me?"

Anna almost shouted the words aloud. It gave her relief to shout them. She wanted to scream and beat the air as she used to beat the oxen when they stood stock still in the furrow, stolidly refusing to budge.

The girl was stunned and humiliated and angry—angry at no one but herself unless at that pompous doorman who had so thoroughly enjoyed the scene, gloating over her humiliation. Some dark night she would wring his neck. She would steal upon him in his palatial quarters through the revolving door and break his thin body with her two hands! Savagely she revelled in the prospect.

She was not angry at Harry Baldwin. He had played an unconscious role. Had she made herself known to him, he would have been kind. That she knew by his smile. But he hadn't even noticed her! That was the thing that hurt—the crashing down of her house of cards, the end of her beautiful illusion that the distance between them could be bridged. But his world was as far from hers as America was from Poland. As well try to bridge the Atlantic.

What was it that made the gulf between them so wholly impassable? She would talk it over with Greta tonight. Greta knew everything. But she knew the answer of her wordly room mate before she ever put the question to her.

"It's money, dearie, money! the thing that Americans call dough. That's what ticks you off at your proper stop and keeps you there, willy nilly, till you somehow pick up dough enough to get on to the stop higher up. Believe me, dearie, I'm out for the cash!"

Greta was sharp and cheeky as a bell boy. She had clothes and knew how to get on. Anna knew that Greta would never cringe when confronted with marble halls; however insolent the doorman, she would pay him back in his own coin. Greta might some day own a fur coat—already she was planning to buy one—but even so she wouldn't look like that flower-like girl with Harry Baldwin. The difference between them was deeper than clothes. Anna herself could detect that.

Perhaps the bridge to that other world was what the girls at the Club called "Cultcher," the thing that you get from going to school, reading books and looking at pictures—that indefinable something that makes one say, "Oh, she's been around!"

But why even think of things like that when those of the waking hours which were not passed in packing assorteds, were passed swinging on a subway strap?

The thought of the subway jerked Anna back to earth—to the world where she belonged. The clock on the corner had read half past twelve. Anna was surprised it was no later. What a lot can happen in a morning! The face of the world can change.

If she hurried and luck was with her, she might get to the factory by one, and if Irma were in a good humor, she might count it halg a day. She couldn't afford to be docked more than that.

Anna inquired of the policeman the way to the subway and hastened in the direction he indicated. She went so fast that passers by stopped to stare at the strange young girl with the pretty face, and the shabby coat, running as though in a race.

Arrived at the factory, Anna had a sinking feeling to discover the lunch hour was over. This meant it was after one o'clock. Without stopping to go to her locker, she dashed up the three flights of stairs which led to the familiar ice-box of Room 3, Wing 12.

Tossing hat and coat on the floor, she walked toward her place at the long zinc table. But a strange new girl was standing there, packing "assorteds" in boxes.

Irma was calling to her, looking more than usually severe.

"Sorry, girlie, but how could I know that you was coming back?

"You don't mean I'm fired, Irma?"

"You said a mouthf , kid."

Anna wakened next morning at seven to the jangle of Greta's alarm clock and already had one foot out of bed before she realised she had no job. Therefore, why get up?

She dropped back between the warmth of the sheets, and begun to enumerate her troubles; no job, no money, no friends, no fun, no pretty clothes, no dance. A gloomy outlook indeed, for sweet sixteen and, laid low by the weight of her burden, she heaved a sigh which reverberated like the echo of a closed door forever.

"Cut out the gloom!" muttered Greta. "Just think, you can sleep all day!"

Greta was standing before the cracked mirror engaged in the sacred rite of gilding the lily—powdering a nose as smooth as bisque, rouging lips like two cherries and making brighter her already bright cheeks.

"That's pleasant enough till the rent comes due, but it isn't sleep I need," groaned Anna, sighing a second time.

"Say, what's losing your job, now and then? It's easy to get another. It's the holiday rush; there are plenty of jobs; yoyu'll have one next week, Silly!"

"And what sort of jobs do I get? Just one factory after the other. I'm sick of the work women do over here. I wish I had stayed in Poland!"

"Oh, rave on! rave on!" mocked Greta. "Say, turn over and sleep till noon, then maybe life won't look so sour!" Greta set her cheap hat at a jaunty angle, made one last jab at her nose and flounced out of the room, slamming the door behind her in vigorous rebuff.

TAKEN BY YANKS FIRST METZ FORT

Captured Stronghold is Fort Verny, 5½ Miles South of Metz

With United States 3rd Army in France, Nov. 13 (AP) —American troops took their first Metz Fort today in a broadened northward push.

The Germans counter-attacked strongly beyond Chateau-Salins as snow, slippery mud and fog bound Allied air support to the ground.

The captured stronghold is Fort Verny, 5 1-2 miles south of Metz. It was taken by the 5th Infantry Division which broadened its front to five miles and overran four towns besides.

An earlier report said 3rd Army Infantry pushed their lines to a point within five miles south of the Fortress City of Metz.

Hitler Under Care Of Four Doctors Says Report

By JOHN F. CHESTER
(Associated Press Staff Writer.)

London, Nov. 13 (AP)—A report was received in London today from a person whose information usually is reliable that Hitler was under the care of four doctors last week and that his strange proclamation of yesterday commemorating the Munich Beer Cellar Putsch may have been written by somebody else.

The doctors were named as Professor Morell, Hitler's permanent medical adviser, Doctor Zabel, the attending physician regularly attached to his staff, Professor Horster, an outstanding brain specialist who treated Field Marshal Rommel before he died, and Professor Sauerbruch, one of Germany's most prominent surgeons.

Sauerbruch operated on Hitler about eight years ago for what he called a non-malignant growth in the Fuehrer's throat. A person close to German affairs said Sauerbruch at one time, and possibly even today, was known among his intimates as strongly anti-Nazi. He expressed surprise that the surgeon had been called in.

The same source said he had spotted six passages in Hitler's "Fight to the Death" proclamation yesterday that had been taken from the Fuehrer's book, Mein Kampf, and others that clearly came from some of his old speeches. He expressed belief the proclamation had been written by someone other than the man who gave the excuse that he was "too busy" to come to the microphone.

The proclamation yesterday was read by Heinrich Himmler, Gestapo chief.

Always cautious about commenting on Hitler rumors in the past, official British sources asserted flatly that the proclamation had a "phoney ring."

Enemy Radio Says Unsuccessful Attempt Made on Churchill

Unconfirmed Story Says De Gaulle Also Object of Attack That Failed in Paris

London, Nov. 13. (CP)—An enemy radio station, broadcasting in French, claimed today an unsuccessful attempt had been made on the lives of Prime Minister Churchill and Gen. De Gaulle, head of the Provisional French government, during the former's visit to Paris.

The broadcast was recorded by the BBC but lacked verification from any other source.

The assassination attempt, the broadcast said, was made by a number of "armed individuals" when Mr. Churchill and de Gaulle were riding down the Champs Elysees together. The police succeeded in arresting thirty men, the enemy station added.

The broadcast originated from a new station known as Henri-Robert which officials here believe is located not too far from Berlin. Little is known about it so far, however, except that it broadcasts in French and comes in clearly.

TORONTO STOCK EXCHANGE

Toronto, Nov. 13 — (CP)—Industrials and base metals were narrowly higher this afternoon on Toronto exchange. Volume totalled 183,000 shares.

Utilities and steels were higher and senior oils lower. Foods held about steady. Weston at 19 7-8 stood at a new high, Consumers Gas gained 1 1-2 and Page-Hersey a point.

Lower prices were posted in golds for Kerr-Addison, Bear, Aunor, Beattie, Upper Canada and Queenston. Steep Rock, off 8 cents to 2.87, was a soft spot in base metals. Smelters weakened 3-8.

NEW YORK STOCK EXCHANGE

New York, Nov. 13 —(AP)— Assorted stocks exhibited mild forward leanings in today's market while many leaders backed away or were at a standstill. Some customers held aloof to await United States congressional trends and more important war developments.

Prices were notably mixed near the fourth hour.

In front at intervals were American Telephone, N. Y. Central, American Smelting, Texas Co., Westinghouse, Woolworth, Goodrich and Kennecott. Occasional stumblers included U. S. Steel, Chrysler, General Motors, Douglas Aircraft, Boeing, United Aircraft, Allied Chemical and Standard Oil (N. J.)

Canadian issues were easier but Lake Shore gained ⅜. C.P.R. eased ⅛ and Seagrams and Hiram Walker lost ½.

TORONTO LIVESTOCK

Toronto, Nov. 13 (CP)—Cattle trade was very dull with prices about steady up to mid-session on the Livestock Market here today. Calves, hogs, a few sheep and lambs in very dull trade, were steady.

Receipts reported by the Dominion Marketing Service were: Cattle, 6,800; calves, 800; hogs, 1,200; sheep and lambs 3,100. Unsold from last week were 600 head of cattle.

Cattle:—Weighty steers $10 to $12 with one choice load at $12.25; a few butcher steers and heifers $8.50 to $10.50; butcher cows $7 to $9; canners and cutters $5 to $6.50; a few bulls $6.25 to $8.25; fed yearlings $11 to $13.50. There were no stocker sales.

Calves: $14 to $15 for choice, heavy vealers $7 to $13, grassers $5.50 to $6.

Lambs: A few good ewes and wethers $13, bucks $12, culls $7 to $8.00.

Sheep: $2 to $4.

Hogs: $17.55 Grade A dressed-weight, sows $13 dressed.

HOGS

Toronto, Nov 13. (CP)—Dressed-weight were down ten cents at Peterborough at $16.80 plus transportation and prices unchanged at other bacon-hog markets reporting early today. Dressedweight, Grade A delivered, London and Hamilton $17.50; Hull $17.40; Stratford, to farmers $17.40, to truckers $17.55.

740 Belleville Boys Overseas To Receive Fags

The largest single shipment of cigarettes ever to be sent overseas through the Belleville Kinsmen fag fund was despatched last week by Chairman "Buster" Labarr when seven hundred and forty Belleville boys on active service and seven prisoners of war were sent individual shipments of 300 cigarettes as a special Christmas gift. This shipment will total 224,100 cigarettes for the single shipment.

The Kinsmen fag fund provides cigarettes and tobacco for Belleville boys serving on the big seas as well as at the various fronts in the theatres of war. The fund is conducted purely as a voluntary project and is a recognized charity under the War Charities Act of Canada which entitles donors' deduction privileges when contributions are made in their favor. Individual contributions to the Kinsmen Fag Fund have made it possible for the lengthy conduction of the project. Next to letters from home cigarettes are considered by armed service heads as the best morale producing agency conducted on the home front.

Many Wounded Servicemen Home For Furloughs

By JOHN LeBLANC
Canadian Press Staff Writer

Halifax, Nov. 13 — (CP) — Survivors of land fighting in France and Italy and the air war over Europe, hundreds of wounded Canadian servicemen returned to the Dominion Monday aboard the British hospital ship Aba.

Their experiences of the battlefields temporarily thrust aside, the disabled fighters showed keenest interest, as they came home, in Canada's Army manpower crisis. Newsmen going aboard the ship were bombarded with questions on the developments leading up to Defence Minister Ralston's resignation and about Gen. McNaughton's stand on the overseas conscription issue.

Men of the army, most of them veterans of France, made up the bulk of the arrivals, with a small group of R.C.A.F. personnel rounding out the contingent. Besides the wounded men from the front, there were a number of servicemen invalided back after suffering injuries or illness in England, or with their categories lowered for other reasons.

Took Two Shells

Two hits on him in the same day were too much for Pte. Glen Bilton of Sault Ste. Marie, Ont. "First it was a mortar bomb and then an 88-millimetre shell," he said. "But it took the both of them to make it curtains for me."

The northerner lost his right arm in the double blasting near Buron, France. He was attached to the Highland Light Infantry of Canada.

Another Ontario man was Pte. Gordon Frocking of Windsor, wounded when a Nazi machine gun nest opened fire on his outfit near Caen. He was with the Stormont, Dundas and Glengarry Highlanders.

Bombed by Allied Planes

Bombed twice by Allied planes and twice by his own artillery, Sgt. Brouchu of Kingseyy Falls, near Montreal, considered himself lucky to be back home, even though he had lost his left leg and was wounded in the right.

"The first time the planes came over was near Caen," he said. "That wasn't so bad. Next time was at Falais — that was on Aug. 14. It was a quartermaster with the Regiment de Chaudiere, and I was back of the lines with a couple of cooks and a driver preparing food.

"When the planes came over, the four of us scrambled under a truck. A blockbuster landed nearby and set the truck afire. The other three were killed. My leg was smashed, but I managed to get out in a hurry.

COLLEGIATE NEWS

ASSEMBLY, WEDNESDAY, NOVEMBER 8

Songs by the Glee Club — Once again the music-makers of B. C. I. V. S. were on hand to entertain their listeners with a short program of vocal selections. The lead-off number a rousing Negro spiritual, was entitled "I got a Robe", and outside of a slight confusion in the vicinity of the fourth verse, was performed with pleasing precision. As an encore the Glee Club sang the old favorite "The World is Waiting for the Sunrise". The applause with which both of these numbers was received indicated the listeners' appreciation of the efforts of this organization.

Announcements — Ann Nicholson, speaking on behalf of the Library Club, said that a new club was being formed in this section of the school for boys as well as girls. It is to be hoped that a large enrollment will be realized for this new group.

The play will be presented on Thursday and Friday of this week, and Kaye Martin asked that the students cooperate wholeheartedly in the sale of tickets for this enterprise. All seats are reserved for this year, and so tickets should be bought early to assure satisfaction.

Kaye also made an appeal for ushers to assist in the seating of the large crowd expected.

The Senior football game between St. Michael's and B. C. I. V. S. was announced by Bob Strahan. (For details concerning the result of this game, see the sports section of this column)

Students' Council Report — George (Minutes) Manjoures informed the listeners as to the "goings on" at the last meeting of the Students' Council. The high points seem to be two in number. We bought a car for $37. This wreck will be molded and caressed into the form of a station-wagon by Mr. Davies and Mr. Bear for the transportation of teams representing our school to the sites of future games.

A grant of $225. was voted to the Boys' Athletic Society for the purchase of uniforms for a twelve-man football team. This sport is definitely on the way back in the schools and it is only proper that our teams be properly dressed.

—W. J. B.

REMEMBRANCE DAY ASSEMBLY FRIDAY, NOVEMBER 10

Today a special assembly was held in honor of those graduates of our school who, in the struggle of 1914-18 and now, in this war, have given their lives in the defence of Christianity.

After a hymn and a prayer, Gordon Bankier of form XIIIB gave an original address on the subject of Remembrance Day, explaining how we must not forget the fallen if an humanitarian peace is to be carried out after the termination of the present conflict.

The address was extremely well written, and delivered with a clearness and sincerity that reflected the thoughts of the whole school as well as those of its author.

The names of the ex-students of B.C.I.V.S. who heard the last clear trumpet call of God in the Wars for everlasting peace were read by Mr. Mott, after which a humble two minute silence was observed.

The main speaker of the afternoon, Squadron Leader the Rev. J. G. Sparling of Christ Church, spoke to the students at this time, emphasizing the great debt which we owe to those who have made the supreme sacrifice. He said that the only way this debt can be repaid is through religion and the building of a better world.

Under the direction of Kaye Martin, the stage crew did a fine job of decorating the stage, and the band assisted admirably throughout the service by playing suitable numbers from time to time.

SADIE HAWKINS TEA DANCE

A cool sting of approaching winter was hanging in the air, and in keeping with the spirit of leap-year a Sadie Hawkins tea-dance, sponsored by XIC was held in the girls' gymnasium on Nov. 8. The faces of the masculine members of our school, which usually are masked with financial frowns were, on this day, wreathed in carefree smiles as their lady friends led them periodically to the soft drink stand. It might be said here that the bottles are large and were filled right up to the neck with cool, refreshing liquid.

A large bright nickelodion supplied haunting melodies in an order something like this: "Stardust", "Going My way," "Stardust," "Temptation", "Stardust," etc. Obviously the operator had a favorite record. However, the music was fast and slow, and loud and soft, and sweet and hot, and added in no small way to the success of the enterprise.

A "Paul Jones" was organized to get the people acquainted (although this was hardly necessary) and a spot dance was held. This last was won by Campbell (Sliver) Cameron and his charming escort, Marion Wannamaker. Incidentally, your editor was standing only three feet from the winning spot. We think we were gyped!

The dancing lasted from four until six, and every moment of this time was thoroughly enjoyed by all in attendance.

COMING EVENTS

Week of Mon. Nov. 13—Friday, Nov. 17.

Thursday Nov. 16—Fri. Nov. 17.

This column is disrupting its usual order of events to remind you that Thursday and Friday of this week are the days set aside for the presentation of our annual school play, Junior Miss' hot off Broadway, is one of the best plays to appear in this school in some years.

With a cast "par excellence" and a really well-organized backstage crew, this year's production should really go over big. And besides, coming from a well-informed and reliable source, "Who else gives $500 to the Junior Red Cross?" So come and support the Red Cross, the Dramatic Society and, above all, your school. This is your play.

Tuesday, Nov. 14.

Noon practice for Group II Juniors will be held. Four o'clock marks the first game of the House League play-offs. With Bankier in first and Spafford in second the last play-off spot will go to the winner of Woods vs. Rollins replay last Friday. So it's Woods or Rollins vs. Spafford in a two-game points to count series. Then the winner of this series meets Bankier in the finals. So far these boys have had very little support and the students don't know what they are missing.

Wednesday, Nov. 15.

In the gym Woods or Rollins meet Spafford in the second of a two-game-series. This is a very important game, deciding which team plays Bankier in the finals.

On the campus our undefeated Juniors stack up for a second time against St. Mikes. Our boys have as good as cinched first place, but an unexpected defeat might change things considerably. Come out and see your Juniors in action.

Thursday, Nov. 16.

Thursday noon, Junior basketball practice for Group III and Thursday at four it's the same for Group I.

Friday, Nov. 17.

Junior basketball practice for Group I at four o'clock. This schedule for practice will hold good until further notice.

P.S.: Don't forget the play. We aren't promising anything yet, but the Students' Council is debating on a post-play jam session. If this should be the case, Thursday's ticket stubs will be good for Friday's dance. See you at the play.

BOYS' SPORTS

Junior House League Basketball.

Bankier vs. Woods—On Tuesday, November 7, Gord Bankier's team defeated Stew Woods' team in the final game of the schedule, thereby cinching first place in the league standings. The score was tied 7-7 at half time, but in the last half the winners started a scoring spree and despite a strong comeback by Woods' team in the last few minutes of play, Bankier's team won out.

Lockyer, Buchanan and Graham were good for the winning team, as were Galbraith and Barlow for the losers.

Rollins vs. Woods — Friday, November 10 saw a replay of a previously protested game between Rollins and Woods. Rollins' team jumped into an early lead and retained that lead until the final whistle, despite the determined play of the losers. This game marked the first time that two referees had been used, and this system will probably be followed for the play-offs. Inability to shoot foul shots probably cost Woods' team the game, as they missed thirteen free shots. For the winners Bridger, Bongard, and Merle Massey turned in a fine game, while Colin Cameron stood out defensively for Woods' team.

Analysis — The result of last week's play now decide the play-offs. Woods' team has now been eliminated, and Rollins and Spafford will meet in a two game total points to count series. The winner will then meet Bankier's team in a best two out of three series for the championship. The dates of these games will be announced and it's up to the students to get behind the teams in this playoff series.

Senior Rugby.

Now that our Senior six-man rugby team has been pushed out of the picture, the hopes of B.C.I. rest on our twelve-man team. With the arrival of eighteen sets of football equipment on loan to us from Trenton airport our team has now no lack of equipment and are looking forward eagerly to their first game with St. Mikes. We wish them better luck than the six-man team had.

Junior Rugby.

On Wednesday of this week our strong Junior six-man team meets St. Mikes, and a win means the Bay of Quinte Championship for our school. There is no need to remind our students as to where they should be on Wednesday at four o'clock. Last Tuesday our Juniors defeated Picton 21-5, in a league game, and are ready and confident of victory.

Junior Basketball.

Last week over forty boys announced their intention of trying out for the Junior basketball team. Practice will commence this week, with the boys being divided into three groups. The days on which these boys will practice are on a list on the bulletin board. Gord. Bankier and Maurice Rollins are assisting Mr. Townsend to pick out the final team.

Senior Basketball.

About ten boys are trying out for the Senior school team, of which only Stew Woods and Gord. Bankier are members of last year's district championship team. However, Bill Spafford, George Wonnacott, Vince Massey, Maurice Rollins and Roddy Lyall have moved up from last year's Junior team, and several newcomers are also trying out for positions. Albert College will have a strong team again this year, and this league promises to be just as thrilling as it was last year.

Boys Gym Team.

Mr. Townsend, in a call to all school gymnasts, has announced the possibility of a Gym Night to be held some time after Christmas. The fine displays put on in Assembly last year are only a forecast of the things to come. This night will be one of the outstanding events of our school year. All boys with gymnastic ability should hold themselves in readiness for future announcements as to practice times.

The War Today—

Is Successful Drive in Metz Sector Curtain Raiser to All-Out Offensive?

By DeWITT MacKENZIE
Associated Press War Analyst

Developments on the western front indicate Lt.-Gen. Patton again has been assigned one of those tough pioneering jobs which he does so well — this time to strike the real opening blow of the all-out Allied offensive against the Rhine defences.

This isn't to say that Patton necessarily has been chosen as spearhead of the big drive. That will be decided later in accordance with developments, and it may be that his task will be to run interference for another army which is carrying the ball.

However, the U.S. 3rd Army's thus far successful offensive in the strategic Metz sector bears the earmarks of being the curtain raiser.

Patton's thrust about both sides of the powerful Metz fortifications towards the great Saar Valley industrial region strikes me as being the first of several attacks which we may expect to be mounted along the extended Allied front at intervals. If this is what's under way we shall have a fresh demonstration of tactics which have served the world's generals for centuries.

Historic Tactics for Centuries

The idea is that you hit your enemy a hard blow at an important point. Then when he withdraws forces from another sector to reinforce the spot attacked, you slam him in the zone just weakened. If he calls on some other spot for help, you hit him there as well. PFinally when one of these enemy defences begins to cave, you pile in heavy reinforcements in an effort to break through there.

Of course the success of these tactics on the western front depends on the Allies having vastly superior striking power, as fortunately they have in all categories. However, we shouldn't delude ourselves that this advantage will make things easy, because the Germans are making a grim last-ditch stand, and while they're woefully weak in manpower and in all other departments, they have the advantage of the strong Siegfried and Rhine fortifications.

Nazis Haven't Sufficient Strength

The Germans know what's happening to them but they haven't sufficient strength to stage counter-drives to keep Gen. Eisenhower off balance. They've got to depend largely on the Siegfried Line and that wide, swift river which in itself is a most formidable barrier.

What the Nazis don't know is where Eisenhower intends to stage the break-through along his 450-mile front.

It could be on the extreme northern wing where British and Canadian forces ostensibly are set to outfland the Nazi battleline and sweep into the Ruhr and on to Berlin over wide-open spaces.

All things considered, observers rather expect the main Allied attack to come on the north. A highly important reason is that the great port of Antwerp lies directly behind that northern front. One of Eisenhower's problems is to maintain the vast stream of supplies necessary for a grand offensive. Antwerp is likely to be ih mainstay.

Llanfairfechan, Wales — (CP)—A 21-foot tide driven by a north-westerly gale pounded the North Wales coast early this month. Waves 30 to 40 feet high broke over the promenades of resorts between Rhyl and Llanfairfechan and caused much damage, the worst at Towyn where a gap nearly 30 feet wide was made in the stone and concrete embankment.

There's been lots of talk in Hollywood about this glamour girl and that having the most appealing limbs, so co-workers of Ann Jeffreys decided to show you their idea of top honors in this field. Ann certainly seems to bear out their contention.

Helps Check Colds Quickly

You can often check a cold quickly if you follow these instructions.

Just as soon as you feel the cold coming on and experience headache, pains in the back or limbs, soreness through the body, take a Paradol tablet, a good big drink of hot lemonade or ginger tea and go to bed.

The Paradol affords almost immediate relief from the pains and aches and helps you to get off to sleep. The dose may be repeated, if necessary, according to the directions. If there is soreness of the throat, gargle with two Paradol tablets dissolved in water. Just try Paradol the next time you have a cold and we believe that you will be well pleased. Paradol does not disappoint.

CANADA'S VETERANS
Their Post-War Opportunities
This is the seventh of a series of advertisements to inform the people of Canada of plans to re-establish men and women of the armed forces. To get the full details save and read every advertisement.

For complete information write for the booklet, "Back to Civil Life."

The Farmer—The Commercial Fisherman—
AND THE MAN WHO WANTS HIS OWN BUSINESS

The backbone of Canada's natural wealth is the farmer, while, in many of the Dominion's Provinces, commercial fishing is of the utmost importance. In all sections of Canada, the small businessman is a real contributor to the national economy. Here are three fields which many of Canada's veterans will want to enter. It is important that they should have that opportunity and, in planning for re-establishment, Canada has made full provision along these lines. There is financial assistance for ex-service men and women who are qualified to achieve these ambitions.

FULL-TIME FARMING

Provision for return to the land is made by the Veterans' Land Act under the same terms as apply for small holdings outside the high taxation area. The ex-service man or woman, qualified for full-time farming, will have assistance in financing up to a total cost of $4800 for land and buildings, and up to $1200 for stock and equipment. Any cost of land and buildings in excess of $4800 must be paid in cash at the time the agreement is made.

Although large acreages of land are being held for veterans after the war, a man is at liberty to choose his own farm any place as long as it offers a reasonable change for his re-establishment. The veteran going on the farm must pay down ten per cent of the cost of land and buildings, and the establishment is then resold to him for this down payment, plus two-thirds of the cost of land and buildings. The two-thirds can be financed over a period of twenty-five years, with interest at 3½ per cent.

The remainder of the cost of land and buildings (23⅓ per cent) and the $1200 for stock and equipment becomes a grant, after the veteran has lived up to his agreement for a ten-year period.

To take advantage of full-time farming provisions, the ex-service man or woman must be qualified for full-time farming, must have overseas service or at least 12 months' service in Canada, and must have a reasonable expectation of living up to their agreement.

COMMERCIAL FISHING

For the veteran who has a background of commercial fishing, and who is qualified to resume that occupation, there is the same assistance as in full-time farming.

Homes are financed on small acreages near commercial fishing grounds on the same basis as for city and other workers. This is a measure to provide security for the veteran, for it enables him to raise a portion of his food requirements to assist in those periods when commercial fishing is not possible or profitable.

The provisions for commercial fishing take into account that in many cases, to be successful, a partnership arrangement is necessary. In these cases, if the partners are both ex-service men, each will receive a grant of $1200 which can be pooled for the purchase of needed fishing equipment. Each also will receive the same assistance as the farmer in securing a home on a small holding of land.

ASSISTANCE IN BUSINESS

Those ex-service people whose ambition is to have their own business can receive financial assistance. To purchase the business they can draw on their re-establishment credit, which is made available to them on the basis of $7.50 for every thirty days' service in the Western Hemisphere and $15.00 for every thirty days' service overseas.

The re-establishment credit also can be used to provide working capital for a business already owned.

In addition, Canada has recognized that in establishing a business there may be a period when returns are not sufficient to maintain the owner. During this period, maintenance grants can be paid on the basis of:

$50 monthly for a single man or woman.

$70 monthly for a man and his wife, together with allowances for dependent children.

These grants may be applied for at any time within twelve months of cessation of hostilities or discharge, whichever is the later date.

Veterans' Welfare Officers are stationed in key centres throughout Canada. They advise and assist Ex-Service personnel and should be consulted on all re-establishment problems. Veterans considering taking advantage of the Veterans' Land Act should see the Regional Supervisor in the district where they intend to settle before making any commitments.

AMERICAN INFANTRY CLOSE IN ON METZ

Capture Fourth Fort in Defence Ring of Fortress

All Lines of Retreat Now Within Artillery Range

By WILLIAM FRYE
(A.P. War Correspondent)

London, Nov. 14 (AP) — American infantry, hacking a new breach in fortifications south of Metz, captured Fort Orny today, and pushed to within 3½ miles of the besieged city.

Even as this fourth fortress fell and all of Metz' roads of reinforcement or retreat were brought within artillery range, infantrymen on the left flank of the 70-mile 3rd Army front shoved forward in their Moselle bridgehead to within 1½ miles of the German border near the Luxembourg corner.

Troops of the 5th. Division seized Fort Orny, and pushed on into the hospital woods in the closest approach to Metz. The assault arc against Metz from the south now extended nine miles from Fort Orny to the town of Corny on the east bank of the Moselle.

Take 3 Forts Yesterday

Fifth Division units, punching through unexpectedly light resistance, had captured Fort L'Aisne and two of its satellites near Verny yesterday, and seized the towns of Corny, Pommerieux, Verny and Liebon.

With capture of Fort L'Aisne and the town of Corny earlier, the Americans had cut up behind formidable Fort Driant, on the Moselle's west bank.

South of the 3rd. Army's southern flank U.S. 7th. Army infantry surged forward in two-mile gains at either end of a 10-mile front extending the American attack into the snow-drifted foothills of the Vosges Mountains.

As Berlin indicated a general withdrawal might be planned in Lorraine, broadcasting a report that Metz already had served its purpose for the Germans, American infantry swept into Fort L'Aisne and two of its smaller satellites last night, almost without a fight.

Front Broadened

The forts, within six miles of Metz itself, fell as the attackers broadened their front with a swing to the left which carried them to the Moselle River and captured Corny, Pommerieux, Verny and Liebon.

The almost total lack of opposition at Fort L'Aisne, in sharp contrast with the savage and successful defence of Fort Driant, underscored increasing indications that the enemy was falling back before the 3rd. Army attack.

Berlin radio said: "It would be a mistake to place exaggerated importance on the German citadel of Metz."

Guenther Weber, German commentator, said the Germans' Moselle bridgehead had served its purpose by delaying the Allied offensive while the enemy strengthened the Westwall.

Along the British-Canadian front in The Netherlands, activity was limited to patrolling and artillery duels across the Maas (Meuse) River.

The 1st Canadian and British 2nd Armies still were drawn up along the south bank of this barrier, across which the enemy withdrew last week.

Extend Bridgehead.

East and slightly north of the captured Metz forts, American troops astride the Metz-Saarebourg railway extended their bridgeheads beyond the Nied River in the vicinity of Herny and Daudrecourt, and pushed a mile northeast of Ancerville.

In the area east of Chateau Salins, despite counter-attacks on their flank which drove them back about a mile on the eastern fringe of the Foret de Bride et de Koecking, American tanks and infantry pushed farther north. Gains of about two miles were scored northeast of the Chateau Ealing Forest, and the towns of Gilliers, Achain and Marthille were captured.

The Moselle bridgehead north of Metz, where enemy resistance has been most determined, were extended, and the American troops in the bitterly contested Koenigsmacher sector pushed down the river and captured an unnamed fort northwest of Valmestroff and across the river from Thionville.

Churchill Returns From France

London, Nov. 14 —(CP-Reuter)— Prime Minister Churchill returned to London this afternoon from his visit to France.

The Prime Minister, who arrived in Paris Friday on his first visit since the black days of 1940, conferred with Gen. de Gaulle and French government members and took part Saturday in the first Armistice Day celebration in five years.

Premier Drew Heard at Windsor

Windsor, Nov. 14 —(CP)— Premier Drew in an address last night to 500 teachers of Winsdor and Essex County declared "I am definitely going to seek a solution to the educational problems with which we are faced."

He referred to the proposal to make provincial grants of up to 50 per cent of the cost of education and said: "one of the things which would help greatly in the further examination of the subject would be to have your Ontario Teachers' Federation and its component parts take the public into your confidence and explain some of the difficulties of the mechanics of education."

The Premier also declared: "let us remember that in entrusting children to our teachers we must make the teaching profession sufficiently attractive to keep them in that profession."

Premier Drew, who is also Minister of Education, pointed out that educational facilities are based on financing related to assessment, and that there is hardly the same basis of operation in any two counties. "If the public realized this," he said, "it could assist in the finding of a common denominator."

Eire's Attitude On Asylum To Political Refugees

London, Nov. 14 — (CP) — Paul Emrys-Evans, undersecretary for the Dominions, disclosed in the House of Commons today that the government of Eire had informed Britain it could give no assurance against the granting of asylum to political refugees should "justice, charity or the honor of the nation" so require.

Prime Minister De Valera's reply stated, however, Mr. Emrys-Evans said, that it was the policy of the Eire government to deny admission to aliens whose presence would injure the neutrality of Eire or the interests of friendly states.

Churchill's Car Embedded in Snow In Trip Made to Visit French Army

By COLIN BINGHAM
Sydney Morning Herald Correspondent distributed by The Canadian Press

On the Vosges Front, Nov. 14 —(CP)— Prime Minister Churchill's visit to the Jura mountains zone of the French 1st Army yesterday was one of the most exacting of the many he has made in this war in the cause of international good will.

It was made so by a series of mishaps on the slippery road in the snow-covered area. For 15 minutes his car was embedded in a snow drift, after being held up previously for 10 minutes by a flat tire. Later the chains came off one wheel.

So worn out was the Prime Minister when he returned to the rail head which he had left at 10 a.m. for his visit to the troops that he went straight to bed after standing for a few minutes with Gen. de Gaulle in the little station square while British, United States and French National anthems were played.

But the Prime Minister wasn't too tired to make a typical Churchill gesture to the driver of his car who for several hours held such responsibility on the snowy, icy roads. Mr. Churchill stepped down from beside Gen. de Gaulle and warmly shook the driver's hand while the crowd chanted "Churcheel!, Churcheel!, Churcheel!"

Thirty cars originally set out with the Prime Minister's convoy, but only 10 finished the course, the remainder being either ditched or snowbound or gave up.

In the party were Gen. Charles deGaulle, Field Marshal Sir Alan Brooke, Miss Mary Churchill and Maj.-Gen. De Lattre de Tassigny who commands the 1st Army.

Driving to a nearby town from the French Command post 3,000 feet in the mountains, Mr. Churchill stood without hat in a heavy snow storm to receive cheers of the French people.

There was general appreciation of his eagerness to show his admiration of the French forces.

First Norwegian Troops Back To Liberate Homeland

London, Nov. 14 — (CP) — The first Norwegian detachment to return home since the ill-fated 1940 campaign have landed in Norway and are operating with the Russians against the Germans on the Arctic front, the Norwegian government in London announced tonight.

The vanguard, small but specially picked and highly trained in Arctic fighting, sailed recently from a north British port.

Hoping for early liberation of their country, the Norwegians also sent a military mission into Norway, composed of representatives of the navy, air forces, and a number of government departments.

The first units of Norway's police force, trained in Sweden during the last two years, were expected to arrive later this week in territory liberated by the Russians.

Many of the Norwegians who landed at an undisclosed Arctic port were Commandos who had participated in the British combined operations against Norwegian islands last year.

The official announcement said the military mission was under the leadership of Col. Arne Dahl, Commander of the famous Alta battalion during the last bitter days of the 1940 campaign around Narvik. The mission, however, is under control of Maj.-Gen. William Steffens, Norwegian Military Attache in Moscow.

The Norwegian troops are under the direct command of Marshal Kirill Meretskov, Russian Commander in Norway.

Norwegian government officials here estimated Hitler's Norwegian garrison numbered about 200,000 men. In recent weeks, they said, the Germans have been moving south into the Tromso and Narvik areas where defences have been strengthened for a possible delaying stand against the Russians.

Coinciding with the announcement that a Norwegian mission had arrived in Norway from Britain, it was learned in reliable quarters that a representative of the Minister of Justice was also in the country to carry out measures to deal with Quislings and traitors and re-establish Norwegian law.

Parliamentary Session Is Called for November 22nd

By JAMES McCOOK

Ottawa, Nov. 14 —(CP)— House of Commons members will assemble in Ottawa Nov. 22—nearly 10 weeks earlier than they expected at adjournment on August 15—and it is expected they will at once be asked to rule on whether or not there shall be conscription for overseas service.

Prime Minister Mackenzie King, in a brief statement following a cabinet meeting last night, said that Speaker J. A. Glen had been advised the earlier House sitting was in the public interest and now was notifying members.

It was learned on reliable authority that Mr. King will ask for a vote of confidence on the government's stand to continue the voluntary system of supplying reinforcements for overseas.

Col. J. L. Ralston, who resigned as defence minister after recommending that draftees be made available for overseas service, will attend the session.

Gen. McNaughton, who succeeded Col. Ralston, has no House seat, but it was understood the government may suggest that he be called before the House in secret session to set forth his views in support of continued voluntary overseas service.

Mr. King declared his continued support of the voluntary system in a broadcast address last week, but said that draftees would be given further encouragement to enlist for service anywhere, while the government still would use its authority to send them overseas under order-in-council if it considered conditions warranted such action.

Col. Ralston, in a statement issued Sunday, said that on a recent visit to the European battlefronts he had found reinforcement pools "so depleted as not to ensure the prompt replacement of casualties." He could receive no assurance that the government as a whole considered the Prime Minister's speeches committed the government to the course that draftees should be sent overseas of the volunteers were not available.

TIRPITZ SUNK IN TROMSOE FJORD BY 6-TON BOMBS

Remnants of German Surface Fleet Now Bottled Up in the Baltic Sea

London, Nov. 14 — (CP)—Sinking of the German battleship Tirpitz in Norway's Tromsoe Fjord is expected here to release additional strong units of the British Home Fleet for service in Far Eastern waters.

As long as the Tirpitz remained afloat she constituted a potential threat which made it imperative that the Royal Navy keep some of its most powerful warships at home ready to deal with the German vessel should she venture forth.

With the Tirpitz gone, sunk at her mooring Sunday by R.A.F. bombers, all that remains of the German surface fleet is bottled up in the Baltic. These remnants include two pocket battleships, the Admiral Scheer and the Lutzow; two eight-inch gun cruisers, the Hipper and Prinz Eugen, and four six-inch gun cruisers.

The 41,000-ton Tirpitz, last of the vaunted "unsinkables" of the German Navy, capsized and went down when hit squar[illegible] by three six-ton [illegible]

American Advance Through Ormoc Corridor Penetrates Assembly Areas

By DEAN SCHEDLER
Associated Press War Correspondent

General MacArthur's Headquarters, Philippines, Nov. 14 —(AP)— (Via Army Radio)—Japanese reinforcements and equipment became a bloody shambles in Limon today when trapped by an artillery barrage as American troops moved on the Ormoc Road town from three sides.

Observers on Breakneck Ridge near Ormoc Valley, where the bodies of more than 600 dead Japanese soldiers were counted after one day of fighting, saw large concentrations of Japanese reinforcements, troops, trucks and guns rolling into Limon.

American artillery roared throughout the night and today the town was a mass of flaming wreckage and apparently uninhabited.

The Japanese have elements of five divisions fighting against the Americans in the Philippines, Gen. MacArthur has announced.

San Tome Village Is Captured In Fierce Battle

Bagnalo Taken by Poles, Monte Casole is Cleared

Rome, Nov. 14 (AP)—The British 8th army has scored further "important gains" in the Forli area of Italy an Allied communique said today.

British troops thrust northwest from the fallen road junction in advances of up to two miles, and after a fierce fight took the village of San Tome.

To the southwest other British units crossed the Montone river at several points and drove into the foothills to the north of the water barrier against strong German opposition.

On the left flank of the British forces, Poles of the 8th army took the town of Bagnalo and cleared Monte Casole despite heavy opposition.

Along the rest of the Allied front in Italy there was brisk patrolling but the communique listed no other major changes in front positions.

Other 8th army units which crossed the Ghiaia canal south of Ravenna yesterday cut back across highway 16, the main coastal route, and captured German rearguards.

Excellent results were reported by tactical air force fighters and fighter-bombers bombing and strafing enemy troop concentrations, strongpoints and gun positions in the battle area. Approximately 1,100 sorties were flown. Twelve planes are missing.

Province Needs Much More Rain

Toronto, Nov. 14. (CP)—There is need of more rain in most parts of Ontario, the weekly crop report of the Ontario Department of Agriculture said today.

In Western Ontario recent rains have improved late plowing but more is needed The water supply is causing anxiety in Waterloo and in Wellington, where fall plowing has been pretty well cleaned up, complaints of failing wells are fairly common.

Rain is badly needed in Eastern Ontario. Many wells are dry in Dundas County and in Glengarry some dairy herds are being cut down due to a serious water shortage. Many herds are being driven some distance to water in Glengarry. Grenville County also reports acute need of rainfall.

In Northern Ontario threshing is progressing fairly well and Manitoulin reports plenty of moisture in the ground. A three-inch snowfall in South Cochrane made fall plowing difficult but plowing has been almost completed in other sections.

Nazis Ordered Soldiers to Shoot Comrades, Officers If Fear Shown

On the Western Front, Nov. 14—(AP)—A captured German document disclosed today that the Nazis had ordered all soldiers to shoot their comrades or officers instantly "like a dog" if they observe the slightest decline in battle morale.

The order was published in Scorpion, a Nazi news commentary distributed to troops. The order was specifically applied to any German contemplating surrender. It was attributed to Henrich Himmler, Gestapo head and commander of the German home army.

The Nazis acknowledged their critical position in these words:

"Our will to resist is the only thing that we have left against the material superiority of our enemy until the new weapons are ready for the front. Therefore, whoever sabotages our will to resist must be smashed."

Scorpion said that Himmler "for the first time has given the common soldier an opportunity to execute the will of the people even if he is forced to take up arms against his superior."

Considerable space then was devoted to adverse effects which the "no capitulation" order might have on military discipline, with every soldier given carte blanche to shoot his officer or companion. Scorpion explained:

"Any scruples that military discipline may be endangered by such individual action shall not frighten us. Even if it should happen that cowardly, treasonable elements take advantage of this right in order to remove unpopular superiors, this newly-won liberty of action should not be restricted.

"Cases of cowardly murder of superior officers which occurred during rearguard battles were due to that cetain lack of discipline which accompanies every disorderly retreat."

German soldiers were then cautioned against allowing their "new right of unscrupulous action to degenerate into a state of chaos."

Scorpion summed up:

"If soldiers observe even the tiniest spark of softness or cowardice, that is the time to act and to eradicate the cancer before it causes disaster. If your responsible commander thinks or speaks about retreat, then you must act or the position is lost."

Huns Built Black Road of Death Of Victims' Ashes

Moscow, Nov. 14 (CP-Reuter) —A "black road of death" surfaced with the ashes of millions of victims of the Germans has been found in the area of the notorious "death camp" at Remblinka in north eastern Poland.

At this camp, several million people are stated to have first been gassed and then cremated on huge wooden pyres. Survivors said the Germans used a mixture of human ashes and bones instead of asphalt to cover this road.

Death Camp in Yugoslavia

London, Nov. 14 (CP-Reuter) —The Soviet News Agency today announced the discovery in Yugoslavia of yet another "death camp."

Quoting a Belgrade dispatch the agency said: "Through this camp, found at Banice after the Germans had been ejected from Belgrade, about 30,000 Yugoslav Patriots had passed and, according to German records found there, more than 10,000 were shot while an equal number were sent to Germany into forced labor.

Chinese Forces Encircle Base At Bhamo

Kandy, Ceylon, Nov. 14 — (CP-Reuter) — Chinese forces have completed the encirclement of Bhamo, supply base on the great bend of the Irrawaddy and vital point for the control of the Burma Road, it was reported today.

Harry Plumridge, Reuter correspondent at Myitkyina, reported that with the rapid Allied advance and the pinching off of the vital points on either side of the city, Bhamo now can be by-passed.

"It seems clear," he added, "that the main Japanese forces will soon be compelled to fall back southwards to strong points in the mountains."

One hundred and sixty miles to the southwest British troops were exerting ever-tightening pressure from north and west on Kalemyo, Japanese base 55 miles inside the Burma border. The communique reported some progress despite strong resistance.

Heavy bombers of the Eastern Air Command yesterday attacked bridges on the Burma-Thailand railway.

CITY AND DISTRICT NEWS

TROOPER ARRESTED ON BIG ISLAND

Wanted by the armed services on a charge of being absent from his military unit without leave since last April, Trooper S. M. Williams, formerly of Belleville, was apprehended in a fish shanty on Big Island as Provincial and Military police swept down on the shack under the cover of darkness late Monday night. Williams was in bed when the officers walked in on him.

The raid was conducted by Sergt. Ash of the Kingston Military Police and Constable W. Hendren of local O.P.P. district headquarters, who today said Williams previously had escaped apprehension by swimming the Scugog River to escape service police at Lindsay last summer. He was stationed at Camp Borden at the time of his leaving camp without permission, they added. Williams was taken to Military District Headquarters No. 3 at Kingston under escort.

PARTIES AMICABLY SETTLE DAMAGE

Property damage resulted to motor cars at the intersection of Bleecker Ave., and Station Street early Monday evening when an automobile driven by Lloyd Wood, R.R. No. 3 Trenton, struck a parked car owned by Albert G. Bishop, 23 Earl Street, Belleville. Police investigated and found Mr. Wood had made a right-hand turn off Bleecker Ave, when he drove too close to the line of parked cars on Station Street with the result fender damage was reported to Mr. Wood's vehicle. The matter was amicably settled when police arrived.

STKR. WILLIAM GRAHAM HOME ON FURLOUGH

Stkr. IC. Wm. Graham of the R.C.N. is home on furlough visiting his father, Wilbur Graham, 30 Chatham Street. It marks the first furlough Bill has enjoyed since seeing action along several war fronts. Before enlisting in the Navy Bill Graham attended St. Michael's Academy, where he played a season of Interscholastic hockey for the Irish.

FRANKFORD MAN ARRESTED; CHARGED WITH TIRE THEFT

Following a police investigation which has been periodically conducted since last July looking into the theft of two tires, tubes, complete with the wheels which were stolen at Glen Miller last summer, Provincial Police today arrested William McMillen of Frankford and charged him with the robbery. The two complete wheels with tires, were stolen from the motor car belonging to Farrell O'Rourke of Glen Miller. The charge will be aired in county police court Thursday until which time McMillen is being held. Provincial Constables Chas. Siple and E. J. Soublierre investigated the matter at length before apprehending the accused.

POLICE BLOTTER

Police raided a shack on Sidney Street on Monday with the result two Trenton girls and two Belleville lads were apprehended on charges of vagrancy and L.C.A. counts.

Kinsmen Office Seekers Heard

In the absence of any scheduled guest speaker aspiring Kinsmen office holders for the next year's executive had the opportunity of presenting their respective cases before club members at the regular bi-weekly dinner meeting at the Quinte, Monday evening.

Two club members Harry Rollins and Newton Wilbur have signified their intentions of contesting the election for the 1945 presidency, while a third, Frank Lang, was nominated but withdrew his name leaving the field to the other two. Frank decided instead to offer himself as the club treasurer and as no other name has been mentioned for that position, will undoubtedly handle Kinsmen funds for 1945.

Sixteen club members have been nominated to stand for election as directors for the forthcoming year with election to take place at the next Kinsmen club meeting on Nov. 27th. No nomination has yet been made for the position of secretary.

President "Matt" Currie was in the chair and called for a vote of thanks to Kin Bill Dennis and Clarence Downey for their work contributing to the success of the recent Kinsmen shell-out party. Kin Bill announced that proceeds from the shell-out party would be in the neighborhood of $700. Ernie Colebourne reported on the progress of the ticket sale for the fur coat the winning ticket for which will be drawn on Dec. 1st. Kin Bill McIntosh led in community singing with Phil Huddleston at the piano.

Inflammable Material In Overseas Mail Is Indictable Crime

Occurrence of a fire Oct. 20th in a ship's hold in Montreal which destroyed several bags of Christmas mail destined for members of the armed forces overseas has again prompted postal authorities to emphasize the importance of keeping inflammable materials of all kinds out of parcels. While it is realised that the Montreal fire might have originated from other causes, there is evidence that matches and lighter fluid have been secreted in overseas parcels either through carelessness or indifference or failure to realize the danger.

Insofar as the post office is concerned there are no such things as "safety matches" and persons who enclose them or any other inflammable material risk the lives of the merchant marine, and the burning of ships at sea with all attendant horrors and render themselves criminally responsible.

Those held gave their names as Lorna Weese, 19, and Gertrude Mountenay 16, both of Trenton and Wm. Archer and Russ Wilson, of Belleville, the latter two being charged under the L.C.A. Sergt. C. Arnott and Traffic Officer Chas. Siple conducted the raid on the shack following complaints of neighbors.

Napanee police reported the theft of a 1936 model Pontiac coach bearing licence plate number 16 L 7 Monday night.

When the residents at No. 9 Albion Street returned home from the theatre early Monday night they were surprised to find the front door window shattered. At first it was surmised that a burglar might have been responsible, but a subsequent check-up revealed a stone had been hurled through the glass. Police were notified.

Some Factories Forced to Close In North Districts

Lack of adequate feed and scarcity of water for stock has combined to close cheese factories in the Madoc, Tweed and Peterborough districts at an earlier date this year than in the normal season, according to J. L. Irwin, chief dairy grader for the central Ontario district.

With the flow of milk in the above districts diminishing rapidly only four or five factories are still in operation, it was stated, while these are expected to close during the current week. This estimate was based on reports from district dairy instructors, it was stated.

According to reports the below normal rainfall this autumn resulted in pastures drying up at an earlier date than usual while wells in many districts have given out, necessitating drawing of water to supply stock.

With cheese factories in the northern districts closing at an earlier date it is the intention for the plants to continue butter making for a brief period and then permit cows to dry up until the freshening period next spring.

Factories in the southern district of the region are still operating, it being the intention to continue as long as weather remains favorable. It is not expected that any great amount of winter cheese will be made in the Belleville district.

POLICE COURT

Jail Sentence Given For Theft of Bikes

"It is doubtful if the consideration of the court would do you much good anyway," remarked Magistrate J. L. Lloyd as he meted out a maximum sentence of six months determinate with an additional indeterminate term of six months to 29-year-old Samuel Guthrie, Toronto, after the accused had pleaded guilty to a charge of the theft of a bicycle when arraigned in local police court today. A younger brother, 17-year-old Garnett Guthrie, also of Toronto, was given two months after being convicted on a similar charge.

The Guthrie brothers were apprehended at Shannonville by Traffic Officer Harry Caldwell on the evening of the recent jail break here. The arrest came while Constable Caldwell was searching for the escaped prisoners and happened to see two men riding bicycles with Belleville bike licenses affixed.

In summing up the matter Crown Attorney B. C. Donnan introduced the elder Guthrie brother's list of previous convictions that were dated over a period of the past eleven years and ranged from vagrancy to that of car theft and receiving stolen goods. His Worship stated there was little use in showing leniency to such a character. "We have had considerable trouble in the matter of stolen bicycles lately," remarked Deputy Chief Harman and that the bikes in this case had been returned.

Otherwise in the court Joseph Hamelin, LaSalle, Que., paid $18 including costs, after pleading guilty to a charge of careless driving while a local young man, who was convicted of booting over garbage pails on Catherine St., was assessed five dollars and costs for his fun.

Mrs. Rowena Steeves and her 17-year-old son, James, of Boston, were arraigned on charges of vagrancy and held in custody on remand for one week. "I want a lawyer," exclaimed Mrs. Steeves, who was promised access to a telephone.

TRENTON

Pte. J. G. Chatrand Prisoner of War

Trenton, Nov. 14. — Missing since June 8th., presumably in France, Private Joseph George Chatrand, son of Mrs. Marceline Chatrand, 20 Bay Street, is now a prisoner of war in Germany.

Just two days after receiving an official telegram from Ottawa, advising her that her son was a prisoner of war at Gamp Stalag 4B at Germany, Mrs. Chatrand received a post card from him from the camp. Under the date of Sept. 10th., the card advised that he was in the best of health and would appreciate letters, describing them as "Spirit Senders" On the contrary, however, he asked that no parcels be sent as "Things look much brighter".

It is interesting to note that such a comment should be allowed sent from a German prison camp but may be more proof that the Hun is definitely breaking up.

Pte. Chatrand, who is 20, left Camp Borden on June 6th., 1943, with the Glengarry Highlanders but upon arrival in England was transferred to the North Nova Scotia Regiment.

Trenton Over Quota.

Citizens of Trenton have every reason to be proud of their efforts on behalf of the Seventh Victory Loan as the final figures on Monday registered $658,050.00, $118,050 more than the required quota of $540,000.

Regardless of the high figure raised, Loan Officials advise this was probably the easiest Victory Loan on record as far as Trenton was concerned. From the very beginning subscriptions started pouring in and almost every day proved to be a record. This however did not in any way keep canvassers from their diligent task of selling and they worked hard and long as did all employees of the Banks and Organizers of Pay Roll deductions.

Organizer Doug. Mitchell, President Bill Ireland, his committee, and all who in any way assisted are to be highly congratulated upon their success in this Victory Loan.

Mayor H. Rollins Not a Candidate In Coming Year

Assurance of a new slate of aspirants for the mayoralty in Belleville in the forthcoming municipal election was given at the local Kinsmen Club meeting Monday evening, when Mayor Harry Rollins publicly announced he definitely had no intention of running for mayor this year.

The announcement that he would not contest the mayoralty was made by Mayor Rollins as he accepted nomination to run for the presidency of the Kinsmen club for 1945. In accepting the nomination Mayor Rollins indicated, that it was his belief too much could be taken on in the way of accepting public office and assured he had no intention of contesting the mayor's chair.

Mayor Rollins' decision to not contest the mayoralty leaves but one known aspirant for the first magistrate's position. This is Alderman Frank Follwell, who has definitely announced his intention of running for mayor.

Alderman Follwell's name was mentioned as a possible candidate for the mayorship last year but owing to press of business he did not see his was clear to stand for election. Speaking to the Ontario Intelligencer this morning, however, he stated he now felt in position to give the time and effort which the position of mayor requires and deserves.

The one known aspirant for the mayor's chair has had four year's experience in council with three years as chairman of the printing and stationery committee and acting this year as chairman of light. Attesting to his popularity among the tax payers, Alderman Follwell has been consistently high in the number of votes received and last year led the polls as alderman. He is one of Belleville's successful young businessmen, recently having purchased the supply business bearing his name.

RSM. Len Fry of 34th Battery Presented With Efficiency Medal at Social Evening

Reminiscences of the "good old days" when the guns were hauled by horses and gunners were gunners and not "motor mechanics" flew thick and fast at the Armouries Monday night when Captain Steve A. Sword and his officers and men of the 34th Field Battery, R.C.A., were hosts to a number of veteran gunners at an "At Home."

Featuring the affair was the formal presentation of the Efficiency Medal to Regimental Sergeant Major Len Fry, who was a member of the unit "way back." Present as special guests, besides the veteran gunners were Lieut.-Col. B. C. Donnan, former officer commanding the Argyll Light Infantry; Mr. James Lazenby, president of the Army and Navy Veterans in Canada branch here; Lieut. Nicholson and Captain Les Shiels of the Argylls, Flight Lieutenant Pat Townley, Pilot Officer Jack Sword, R.C.A.F., and others.

Captain George H. Carver was master of ceremonies for the occasion and introduced the several guests to the personnel of the Battery. A varied program of entertainment was provided outstanding in which was the showing of a film by Lieut. Nicholson of many events of a military nature. Mr. Fred Wootten, talented elocutionist of this city, held the rapt attention of the party with his efforts, while Piper Jamie Clark aired the airs of Auld Scotland on his skirling pipes.

Bombardier Bill Crawford and his banjo kept the guests entertained during the refreshment period.

Medal Presented.

Formal presentation of the medal to R.S.M. Fry was made by Captain S. A. Sword, commanding the battery, and who was a former battery mate of the recipient. R.S.M. Fry in a reminiscent address expressed his appreciation and recalled many amusing incidents of the "good old days."

President Lazenby in a brief address complimented the men of the unit and stated that by virtue of the fact that they were volunteers they would be entitled to the benefits and memberships of the Army and Navy Veterans in Canada at the end of their term of service.

Lieut.-Col. Donnan also spoke briefly. Pictures of the former members of the Battery were displayed by former Battery Sergeant Major William Lindsay. Among the "old sweats" who attended were Bob Browning, George Smith, Fred Wiggins and others. Refreshments concluded an enjoyable evening.

PO. Jack Sword, Veteran of 47 Operational Flights, Home on Leave

Hero of forty-seven operational flights over France, Germany, the Mediterranean and the Balkan States, Pilot Officer Jack Sword, son of the late Major James Sword arrived home the other day on a thirty-day furlough. He was met by his wife the former Cecilia Seames, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. George Seames, Foster Avenue.

The young veteran air gunner has seen plenty of service since he enlisted in the RCAF in August, 1941. He has flown over the turbulent Balkan States in his Halifax bomber when the flak was so thick it could be walked on. He has viewed Greece, Yugoslavia, Albania from the loftiness of his gunseat. He saw action over and in Bengasi when the Desert Wolf Rommel was scaring or trying to scare the daylights out of his eventual Nemesis, Montgomery.

Saw Service in Africa.

On his breast there gleams the ribbon of the 1939-43 Star with its silver rosette denoting service in North Africa.

He received his I.T.S. training in Toronto and rounded out his air gunner instruction at Mountain View where he received his wing. From there he went to Halifax and eventually embarked on the Great Adventure in August, 1942.

The biggest thrill he had upon arriving home apart from seeing his wife and relatives, was his first sight of a beefsteak in three years. "I almost had to be introduced to the thing," he smiled.

The war has narrowed the confines of the globe down to the point where anything is liable to happen or anyone may be seen. In London he ran across his cousin, Doug. Sword of the Royal Canadian Artillery and a son of Captain Steve Sword of this city. In Cairo, he met by accident Drury Denyes, son of Mr. and Mrs. Eric Denyes.

Visits Wade Tripp's Grave

Conversing with a pretty English girl one day, he learned she had known a former Canadian pilot very well. The conversation revealed that the dead flyer was none other than Wade Tripp, son of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Tripp of this city, who was killed overseas. Later, P.O. Sword visited the cemetery where Tripp is buried and took photographs of the grave which he will present to the relatives of the former popular Belleville boy.

He has been a member of several crews, but the one that was most outstanding from an international point of view was that composed of three New Zealanders, one a Maori, two Englishmen and two Canadians. Five of that crew are dead, or have been shot down.

Women Urged To Throw off Shackles Of Fear to Hold Place in Industry

Miss Elizabeth Hawes Gives Address on Women's Place in Industry and Society

"Women's place in industry and society" was the subject of the address delivered by Miss Elizabeth Hawes, an enthusiastic figure in the fight for women's rights, to the assemblage in the Collegiate Auditorium on Monday night. The meeting, sponsored by the Workers' Educational Association and UAW-CIO Educational Department, introduced Miss Elizabeth Hawes, internationally famous author, fashion designer and champion of women's rights. She now works in the educational department of the United Automobile Workers where she deals chiefly with women's problems.

Miss Gwen Cleeton who was chairman for the evening's program, said that the women are playing an important role in this war and will be playing an equally important one in the post-war world. She introduced Mr. Drummond Wren who in turn introduced the guest speaker.

Should Be Equal Pay.

According to statistics, said Miss Hawes, there are fifty-three million women over fourteen years of age in the United States. Nineteen million are in labor forces and thirty-four million are housewives. A large majority of these housewives would like to do something else besides the usual routine of household duties, but they do not know how to go about it. They are in reality afraid to do anything about it. In regards to labor forces of the United States, one-third are women, eighty-five per cent of whom will want jobs after this war. Miss Hawes stressed that there be equal pay for the women with the men, that they find it as easy to get a job as men, that they get as good a training as men and that they enjoy seniority rights with the men. The working women desire better shop conditions, but they do not come forward and ask for their rights. "Why?" "Because they are afraid to go against their lords and masters. The majority are not straightforward.

Says Men Fear Women's Competition.

"In the United States, we can proudly boast of a fine democratic country with a great deal of opportunity. Everybody should take part in the country's activities, and particularly the women," urged Miss Hawes. "The men are afraid that the women who are going out for jobs are going to take the jobs and leave the men out of it. The men are also afraid that they will lose their prestige if the women go into the jobs. The women," stated Miss Hawes, "must convince the men that they are not after their jobs nor their prestige.

"It is essential for every adult to function in the community, in the country in which he or she is living," stated the speaker, "How are we going to make the women function one hundred per cent? The majority of women are stuck because of the tradition that they are dubbed the weaker sex and therefore must conduct themselves accordingly."

Nursery Schools.

Miss Hawes spoke briefly on the nursery schools for children from two to six years started in the United States following the bombing of Pearl Harbor. She said that the women showed great interest in this particular project and received it very enthusiastically. "It is, therefore, possible to make women active," concluded Miss Hawes, "by getting in things in which they are commonly interested."

Musical interludes were contributed to the evening's program by Mr. Bill Naven at the piano who played "Dark Eyes" and "Night and Day." Mr. F. J. Brooks rendered two solos, "Without a Song" and "United Nations." A question period followed the address by Miss Hawes, who answered the various number of questions asked her by the assemblage concerning women's place in industry and society.

Napanee Officer Awarded M.C.

Napanee, Nov. 14 —(CP)— Serving in France with an anti-tank unit of the Royal Canadian Artillery, Lieut. Gordon W. MacGregor, 32, of Napanee, has been awarded the Military Cross, a letter received by his wife today, said.

Born in Madoc, Hastings County, he came to Napanee as a child. Prior to enlisting he was in the mercantile business with his father here. He has two sons, five and six years old.

Lack of Adequate Storage Facilities Prevents Exhibit

Although lack of adequate storage facilities for cheese manufactured during the early summer months prevented the British Empire Cheese Exhibition from being held in Belleville this autumn, according to J. L. Irwin, local dairy grader, it is expected this difficulty will be overcome by another year.

Refrigeration plants are being built in Madoc, Campbellford and Napanee and by another year will be available for storage of exhibition cheese, it was stated. Inability to secure proper storage facilities has in the past affected the quality of exhibition cheese manufactured in the Belleville district.

While no cheese exhibition will be pleted for staging the annual cheese peted for staging the annual cheese makers' convention on December 5th and 6th. A two-day program has been arranged with prominent dairy and marketing officials scheduled to address attending makers. Highlighting the program will be the address of Hon. Chas. Daley, Labor Minister for Ontario, while W. H. Montgomery, president, Ontario Cheese Producers' Association will also speak.

Scoring Competition.

Included on the program is a cheese scoring competition for participation by cheese makers. This contest will be under the direction of T. J. Hicks, Senior Dairy Produce Grader, and offers eight cash prizes and also three instructors' prizes.

Essays by cheese makers on "The effect of cooking temperature on the quality of Canadian cheese," are being invited with suitable cash prizes to be given. An address on this topic will be given by W. H. Sproule of the Guelph Agricultural College.

Election of new officers for the association is also scheduled. H. Henderson of Campbellford is the current president.

MARMORA

Wreaths Placed Beneath Tablets On Memorial Hall

Impressive Services at Town Hall, and St. Paul's

Marmora — Remembrance Day was observed at Marmora with a service outside the Memorial Hall at 10.50 a.m. for which legionnaires and other citizens congregated. The five local clergy took part namely, Rev. Father H. J. Farrell, Rev. E. M. Cadigan, Rev. J. M. Brownlie, Rev. J. Stephenson and Rev. L. G. Ball. The address was given by Rev. J. M. Brownlie. Wreaths were placed beneath the memorial tablets by the following—Mrs. Bruce Wright for the fallen in this war; Col. A. V. Yates, M. C., on behalf of Marmora Branch No. 237 Canadian Legion; Mrs. W. M. Regan on behalf of Marmora Chapter I. O. D. E. The Last Post and Reveille were sounded by Comrade George Brooks.

On Sunday morning, members of Marmora Branch No. 237 Canadian Legion, also Private Frances Sine of the C. W. A. C., Kingston, who was present for the Saturday service, paraded to the Town Hall, where Rev. E. M. Cadigan of St. Andrew's United Church conducted an appropriate service and gave an address in which he depicted the deeds of valour of those who have passed on as well as the lives of those who are making a stand in the various theatres of war today for the cause of freedom. Last Post and Reveille were sounded by Comrade George Brooks. At the close of the service, the Legion paraded the main streets to the Memorial Hall for dismissal. President Wilbert Mumby was in charge of the parade with past president Wilbert Bedore acting as standard bearer. Before dismissal the president thanked the Legionnaires for assembling in so large a number.

Remembrance Sunday was observed at St. Paul's with a family Communion Service at 9.30 a.m. and Evensong at 7.30 p.m., the rector Rev. J. M. Brownlie officiating. His address at the morning service was upon the significance of Holy Communion. At Evensong, he delivered an impressive and appropriate discourse upon the historical event of David asking for water at the well at Bethlehem and then when procured at such risk of life considering it too sacred to be placed to his unworthy lips and so poured it worth upon the ground as a libation. After the third collect, the rector installed the newly elected officers of the A. Y. P. A. assisted by W. J. Cottrell, lay reader, who also read the lessons. The officers installed were Lila Mumby, president; Margaret Kerr, vice president; Glen Lavender, secretary and George Cheeseman, treasurer. The rector announced at both services that his induction will take place on St. Andrew's Day, November 30th, with the Lord Bishop of the Diocese officiating and Very Rev. R. E. Seeley, Dean of Ontario being the special preacher.

PICTON

Pilot Married Five Weeks Ago Killed in Crash

Picton, Nov. 14 — Sgt. Pilot R. E. Wood, RAF, who was married five weeks ago to Mary Cooper of Picton, was one of three fliers killed in an airplane crash at Elmvale, near Barrie, on Saturday. He was stationed at Camp Borden.

The body was brought to Picton yesterday. Full military honors were given Sgt. Pilot Wood at services held here this morning at the Church of St. Mary Magdalene. Interment was in Glenwood cemetery.

Sgt. Wood was the son of Mrs. R. Wood, Nottingham, England, and until recently was stationed with the RAF at Picton. He was in his 21st year. He was married to Mary Cooper, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Gerald Cooper, Picton, on Oct. 9th, by Rev. A. B. Payne at St. Thomas Church, Belleville.

Church Anniversary

Rev. Prof. S. M. Gilmour of the staff of Queens' Theological College, Kingston, was guest preacher at Cherry Valley United Church anniversary services on Sunday. Large congregations enjoyed the speaker's challenging message at the morning service. Dr. Gilmour spoke on "The Heart of the Gospel," based on the text, "For God So Loved the World."

"The Freedom that is Ours," was the subject of Dr. Gilmour's evening talk. Freedom of worship has been secured at great cost. The speaker expressed his confidence that freedom of worship would be preserved from attack from without by defeating the Nazis, but also expressed fear that we at home might lose it through disuse or neglect. He summoned his hearers to a renewed loyalty to their church and their religion. "Whether this freedom is worth fighting for depends on the use you and I make of it in our homes, our schools and our churches.

We can not keep it, if we do not practise it," he said.

Special music was provided by the choir, a quartette, a solo by Mrs. Gordon Bell and cornet solos by S. G. Lookyer. The minister, Rev. E. V. C. Lewis, presided.

Letter From Eire

By J. H. MURDOCH

Dublin, Nov. 14 —(CP)— The task of obtaining "freedom" for the six counties of Northern Ireland remains as the greatest work lying before the Irish people, says Prime Minister de Valera.

In a recently-delivered speech the Eire Prime Minister said the people of Eire had decided that they must be governed by themselves — "that we could manage our own affairs better than outsiders."

"Consequently," he said, "our first aim was to get rid of outsiders and secure government by our own people. That goal has been fully secured for 26 or 32 Irish counties. But what we want is not freedom for a portion of the country but for the whole of our country.

"The task of securing freedom for the six Northern Ireland counties remains."

Mr. de Valera said Irishmen wanted that freedom to do the things they thought right to do and one of those things was the restoration of the Irish language and the struggle for 750 years of the Irish people has been for one main objective — the preservation of their individuality as a nation.

Failure on the part of the present generation to revive the ancient Irish language and make it the every-day tongue of the country would be equivalent to "a great national defeat."

The Prime Minister told the Irish people that they wanted freedom for material as well as spiritual things. They used to see their country being used as a sort of outside farm for Britain. The Irish people had sold in the British market the things they grew, at the price the British were prepared to pay — the lowest price consistent with keeping Ireland in production, he asserted.

As a result, he said, the Irish people were losing their population through emigration and were in danger of literally disappearing as a nation until they had adopted the present policy of providing for themselves many of the things they formerly imported.

Now, as a result of the government's home grown wheat policy, $45,000,000 had gone into the pockets of the Irish farmers.

In 1931, the year before his government came into office, the Eire people had 14,000 acres of sugar beet. Now they had 80,000 acres. He said that when the war ended he did not want to see a slipping back to the old position in which Eire had less ground cultivated than any country in the world and the aim should be for the Irish to supply their own needs in wheat.

FAIL TO IMPLEMENT ACT

Toronto, Nov. 14—(CP)—A letter sent yesterday to Charles Daley, Ontario minister of labor, by the Trade Union Committee of the C.C.F., expressed discontent at what they termed "failure" of the Industry and Labor Board to implement the new 48-hour-week and compulsory vacation legislation in a large number of Ontario industries.

Tirpitz Sunk

The 41,000-ton German battleship Tirpitz, which has been the quest of British naval and aerial search has gone down to Davy Jones' locker, there she is secure, no more can the huge battleship flee across the ocean waters.

Allied sea strength has given a most impressive account of its effectiveness during the two wars with Germany. The all-seeing eye of the fleet air arm was on the watch for the giant Nazi battleship and at last it is announced by the London Air Ministry that the Tirpitz has been sunk off the coast of Norway.

Through weather conditions the Tirpitz had been able to avoid capture. Several times she had been attacked.

The German navy and U-boat fleet have been rendered ineffective. The U-boats waged a bitter war upon shipping but steps were taken which have dealt them blows of greatest importance at the time when they were delivered.

Again the seas have proven one of the great allies of the United Nations. They have joined whatever lands required to be linked by sea lanes and cargoes of shipping. As was pointed out some time ago it is possible to bomb land routes into such a state that a great measure of reconstruction or substitution is required but not so with the sea ways. The bombs may fall into the seas and oceans but the trade routes remain. A sea-going nation, Britain has by instinct maintained a powerful navy to maintain the freedom of the seas. And her merchant fleet has been powerful and between these two services and the air service Britain with her American ally has been very powerful on the sea. Hitler sent his sea wolves to prey upon American shipments crossing the Atlantic but the Allied measures were so effective that the menace was controlled with a large number of the U-boats destroyed.

About Hitler

Himmler the hated became, he said, the mouthpiece of Adolf Hitler on Sunday to take the place of the Fuehrer who is so busy he cannot go to a broadcasting station or sit at a microphone to carry his speech into the broadcasting station and out upon the German ether waves. Montreal Gazette pokes fun at the pretence about Adolf Hitler, and says that Prime Minister Churchill finds time to visit Moscow and report to the British people in speeches in the Commons, and Mr. Roosevelt has time to conduct the war and at the same time carry an election in which he made many appearances and travelled a good deal but Hitler has time to prepare his address but not time to deliver it and so he chose Himmler.

The Gazette says "Corporal Hitler, through Himmler, Goebbels, et al., tried to speak up bravely as he proclaimed a last ditch struggle.

"'As long as there is breath left in me,' he said—as if perhaps he was thinking that the time was drawing short—'my body and soul'—if he has any—'will serve only one thought: to make my people strong in defence and attack against this deadly danger.'

"That danger may not be all from without is indicated in the next words: 'if there are people who are objecting to this, it cannot be helped. Whoever attempts to sow doubts among others, whoever lifts a sword or throws a bomb against Germany, will be mercilessly and ruthlessly destroyed.'"

Some sources are doubtful whether Hitler wrote the speech he had time to write but not to deliver into a microphone. A story published yesterday said Hitler was under the care of four doctors and hence that the belated speech on the Munich beer cellar putsch was possibly written by some one who snitched a number of phrases from Hitler's Mein Kampf to lend an atmosphere of reality to the address. The inference is that things have been going on in Hitler's brain and that some one else wrote the address which Heinrich Himmler poured into the "mike."

Anyway the speech harped on fighting to the last ditch and the duty of every German to fight to the end.

There was a time when Hitler was not too busy to magnify his voice before the world over the microphone—those were the hectic days of Munich, and of the attack upon Poland when he launched his threat upon the world. Ever since the time when the swing began against the Germans he has been rather chary of his presence before the microphone or in public. His utterance in the Munich beer cellar on news of the Allied landing in North Africa seemed full of foreboding and of doom for he said that if ever events turned against Germany he would not flee—referring of course to the former Kaiser who fled to Holland in the last hours of the First World War—that he would stay in Germany.

Since then his whole collection of overrun states has almost entirely been torn from him and the Allies are on German soil in the east and west. There is now much doubt of Hitler's appearances and addresses.

Near Billion and a Half

Canada's armed services contributed over $52,000,000 towards the Seventh Victory Loan, a magnificent demonstration of the deep interest the men under arms took in the campaign to throw the full financial weight of Canada into the loan. This and the magnificent total of possibly one and a half billions have indicated how deeply Canadians have felt their individual obligation in the war. By investing so well they have made possible the payment of a good share of the war debt out of current revenue. Like the British people, Canadians have done well in this regard.

Victory Where You Make It

(Christian Science Monitor)

If Americans could see the stuff of which victories like that in the Philippine Sea are made, there would be no reason to warn against over-optimism. But the home front cannot see, nor yet imagine. Every war correspondent who comes back home brings this realization with him—only seeing is believing in modern war.

Admiral Nimitz's report on the second battle of the Philippine Sea confirms the impression created by earlier but vaguer dispatches. The battle must be written down alongside the great naval contests of all time.

The boys on Leyte, however, will not take time off to celebrate the naval victory in some expensive night club. They will not take it easy tomorrow on the grim assembly line that reaches into the jungle. They will not decide that a strike can do little harm now that the Japanese fleet has been sent limping home.

The sniper's bullet whistles as menacingly overhead, the machine gun has as nasty a bite as when the Japanese navy was bearing down on Leyte. The point of the battle for the men who have to build victory all along the road to Tokyo is, "We're still here, thanks to the navy, and we'll show our gratitude the way a soldier can."

Are the Japanese reshuffling their cabinet in Tokyo? The G. I. hears the news and ducks as a shell bursts near by. "Four battleships, did you say the Japs lost? Well, keep your eyes open, or it won't matter to you very long.

"So the home front likes the news? Okay, okay. Hope they don't like it too much, though. We'd like to join the home front ourselves before too long."

Anyone Who Quits

(Providence Journal)

Anyone who quits his war job now in the belief that the war is as good as won has no conception of the scope and toughness of the fighting yet to be done. The war in Asia is expected to last for a long time yet. And surely one must be an optimist indeed if he sees any present signs of German collapse. Certainly if our military leaders cannot fix the time when the Germans, not to mention the Japs, will be defeated, it is presumptuous for any civilian in this country to leave his war job on the theory that he is no longer needed. It will be time to make that personal decision when Germany and Japan surrender.

Amid life's quests there seems but worthy one, to do men good.—Bailey.

RARE

He drew no spark from glory's fame;
He caught no notice from the crowd;
There were but few who knew his name,
But all who did, of him were proud.

Not from the purse his gifts were made,
But from the heart—and they are rare!
For all in trouble and afraid
He always had the time to spare.

His was the first tap at the door,
Though late the hour or near or far.
He always had that minute more
Denied to those who busy are.

And so, though simple seemed his place
And fame had failed to watch him climb,
This was his glory and his grace:
He had what friendship needs—the time!

NUGGETS OF KNOWLEDGE

Although birds-eye maple occurs throughout the range of the species variously known as hard, rock and sugar maple, commercial exploitation of wood with this peculiar grain is restricted chiefly to upper Michigan and Wisconsin and the Adirondack mountains in New York.

A person who is wordly wise, well informed and not easily deceived is said to be "up to snuff." The phrase, which is usually classed as slang or a colloquialism, does not refer to snuff in the sense of powdered tobacco, as one might suppose.

"Up to snuff" is a figure of speech comparing mental alertness with a keen sense of smell. "Snuff" is of Anglo-Saxon origin and is closely related to English "sniff" and Dutch "snuffen," meaning literally to draw air up the nose to smell better and figuratively to smell or to scent. The old phrase "to snuff or sniff danger" means about the same thing as the modern slang phrase "to smell a rat." Accordingly "up to snuff" signifies up to a high standard of alertness, discernment of ability to follow a scent or clue. Powdered tobacco, of course, was called snuff because it was snuffed or sniffed.

Are the Caucasus mountains in Europe or Asia? Europe and Asia, although generally classified as separate continents, are merely vast geographical divisions of the greater land mass known as Eurasia. The Caucasus mountains are on the general boundary between Europe and Asia and between the Caspian and Black seas and they are partly in Asia and partly in Europe. Where no bodies of water separate Europe and Asia the boundary is merely imaginary.

Why are overshoes called artics? "Artic" is derived from Greek "arktos," bear, and was applied to the constellation known as the Great Bear, which revolves around the North Star. Hence the region around the North Pole came to be referred to as the Arctic and that around the South Pole as the Antarctic. Warm, waterproof overshoes were originally called arctics because they were regarded as especially suitable for cold climates. It was at first merely a trade name. "Arctic," correctly pronounced "ARK-tick," is frequently mispronounced as if it were spelled "artic," with the first hard c or k sound omitted.

A baby elephant imbibes milk from its mother with its mouth, not with its trunk. Two teats situated between the forelegs of the female supply the young elephant with nourishment. When the young calf sucks it curls back its trunk. In "Bring 'Em Back Alive" Frank Buck says a baby elephant at first doesn't know what to do with its trunk and has a hard time keeping it out of the way when it sucks the mother. It is a common mistake to suppose that elephants drink through their trunks. The use of the trunk in drinking is confined to taking up water and squirting it into the mouth.

PARLIAMENTARY

Col. Ralston's resignation was received at a cabinet meeting on Nov. 1 and Gen. McNaughton was sworn in on Nov. 2.

Mr. King is understood to have come to the decision that nothing could be gained by any further exchange of statements and the whole question should be decided on the floor of the House.

There he is expected to ask for a vote of confidence and a hot debate may follow. Whether or not the government goes to the country immediately in a general election will depend on how united the Liberal party is behind the administration.

The Liberals have a substantial over-all House majority, with 161 members against 73 for all other parties and Independents. There are 11 vacant seats.

Earlier yesterday, M. J. Coldwell, C.C.F. National leader, asked that parliament be summoned immediately to discuss reinforcements, and John Bracken, National Progressive Conservative leader, said last night that the Dominion Government should "fulfil its duty" by making home defence men available at once to reinforce the Canadian Army overseas.

The Nov. 22 date of the resumed session gave all members time to be in Ottawa for the first sitting at 3 p.m., E.D.T.

Approve Announcement

There have been recurring reports that other ministers might follow Col. Ralston out of the cabinet in support of his policy but last night it was said that all present ministers would remain when the House resumed. The brevity of the cabinet meeting of about one hour last night indicated that they approved the Prime Minister's announcement the House was being called.

No formal ceremonies will mark the resumption of the session which is expected to hear a statement by the Prime Minister on the reinforcement situation soon after the members assemble. Prior to the House sitting private members are expected to express their opinions at a party caucus.

The Nov. 22 sitting will not technically be a special session as the House merely stood adjourned, liable to call at any time. The Jan. 31 date was announced by the Prime Minister in August, but that was the understanding that the members would be called at any time if the war situation or other emergency required it.

The House met in special session in September, 1939 when the members were called from their homes on short notice to approve the Canadian declaration of war on Germany.

640,000 Urban Consumers Likely By End of 1950

Toronto, Nov. 14 —(CP)— Dr. T. H. Hogg, chairman of the Hydro-Electric Power Commission of Ontario, said today that Ontario urban housewives may buy 134,000 electric ranges, irons, toasters, water-heaters, refrigerators and washers each year during the next six years at a retail cost of $10,000,000 annually.

Addressing the annual meeting of the Electric Appliance Dealers Association, Dr. Hogg said the commission hopes to have 640,000 urban domestic electric consumers in 1950 compared with 570,000 in 1943. The commission had an objective of 3,000 kilowatt-hours for each Ontario electric consumer by 1950 and "a large proportion of the anticipated load growth will result from the use of new electrical appliances." Ontario urban domestic consumers now use an average of 2,200 kilowatt-hours apiece each year.

Although a recession in electrical consumption is expected immediately after the war, Dr. Hogg said that "before long the commission will be called on to develop new sources" of power to meet the province's needs.

Ontario's 70,000 hydro-equipped farms — which use an average of nearly 2,000 kilowatt hours annually — could make greater profitable use of additional power than city-dwellers, he said.

EXPOSURE AND ENLARGED TONSILS

Children with enlarged tonsils and /or adenoids who do not require conservative surgical treatment (X-ray treatment, electrocoagulation or tonsillotomy) as described in preceding talks, may still benefit from good hygiene.

Some time ago I told here about the observation made by Dr. Barron of Addison, (not Addingston Sims of Seattle) N. Y., who, examining school children late in fall or in the winter found nearly every child with large tonsils, but hesitated to recommend operation for so many, then later in the spring or early summer re-examined the same children, found only a few still [illegible] enlarged tonsils. The [illegible] examination had been made at the end of a period of rainy weather. The second examination was made after a period of bright sunny weather.

Of course various factors may have had something to do with the enlargement of the onsils and the spontaneous diminution in size. But it is my opinion that the degree of exposure the child enjoys, the amount of ultraviolet the child's skin absorbs from sunshine or skyshine, determines whether the child's tonsils and adenoids will be enlarged or not—the more exposure the less enlargement of T. & A.

It is a familiar everyday observation that children who are most "protected" against exposure coddled wih excessive clothing, kept indoors when they would naturally want to play outdoors, compelled to wear hats, stockings, overcoats, mufflers, chest protectors and other superfluous, burdensome and uncomfortable contrivances of fussbudgets, grannies and quacks, when they would naturally want to throw off such restraints and enjoy a little exposure, more frequently have enlarged tonsils and adenoids than do children who are, as the Grannies say, neglected and thus permitted to enjoy everyday exposure without artificial restriction.

Now, I do not contend that it does any one any good to suffer from cold or even from wet or dampness if that can be conceived to cause any suffering. I urge the healthfulness of ordinary everyday exposure, for child or adult, primarily because that is the natural way to get sunshine vitamin D, a certain daily ration of which is essential for health.

The less bright or direct sunshine or skyshine available, the more cloud, smoke, fog, the shorter the hours of daylight, the more the body is coddled or covered, the greater the individual's need for supplementary vitamin D by mouth—and this applies especially to the child with enlarged tonsils and adenoids.

QUESTIONS & ANSWERS

Once Removed

You said that as long as both parties are healthy in mind and body a marriage of first cousins will not give defective off-spring. Would that apply to the marriage of second cousins once removed?

(M. L.)

Answer—Now, now, let's keep this discussion on a sane level. I said there is no objection to the marriage of cousins if there is no heritable defect or taint in the family. This is as true of the union of any other relatives no matter how nearly or how distantly related. I don't know what "once removed" means and when you get beyond first cousins I'm just confused.

Grating the Teeth

My husband grates his teeth in his sleep. I remember you mentioned it some time ago in an article about tetany.

(Mrs. W. G. S.)

Answer—Gritting or gnashing the teeth in sleep is a common manifestation of tetany (not to be confused with tetanus, lockjaw). Tetany is more commonly recognized when it occurs in infants or young children. Adult tetany usually goes unrecognized, even if the patient comes under medical observation, because the signs or manifestations are not so well pronounced. The therapeutic test (getting relief or improvement from taking the remedy for the condition) has given ample support to the belief that champs in feet and legs, occurring especially in the night, in adults of mature age, are another common manifestation of tetany. Send a stamped envelope bearing your address and ask for (do not use a clipping) the pamphlet "Adult Tetany and Growing Pains".

BRACKEN URGES FEDERAL GOVT. TO FULFIL DUTY

Progressive Conservative Party Leader Issues Statement at Winnipeg

Winnipeg, Nov. 14. (CP)—John Bracken, National Leader of the Progressive Conservative Party, "in the name of the Canadian people and for the protection of our men overseas", called upon the Dominion Government to "fulfil its duty" by making the Home Defence Army available immediately to reinforce the Canadian Army overseas.

In a statement on Monday night, on the "gravest issue now facing this country", and in which he commented upon the declaration Sunday night by the former Defence Minister Col. J. L. Ralston, that the "need for reinforcements overseas was "urgent and immediate", Mr. Bracken said:

"The issue is now clear, are we, or are we not to back our fighting men to the limit by the only certain means available to us, namely to put immediately into effect an order-in-council making the Home Defence Army available for reinforcements overseas".

The statement was issued with the endorsement of the Party's National Committee, now in session in Winnipeg. It said the need for reinforcements was urgent and that they could be found only in Canada, where there was a large army drafted by the present government.

Mr. Bracken said it was "common knowledge" that the Dominion Cabinet was "still divided and in a state of uncertainty". He challenged every member of the government to state publicly where personally he stands in this crisis.

Text of Statement.

Text of the statement:

Since I last made a statement to the Canadian people on the gravest issue now facing this country, Col. Ralston has informed us of the urgent and immediate need of reinforcements to the men overseas.

Col. J. L. Ralston has said:

"In view of the conditions which I found overseas, some of which I have outlined, and after full consideration, I felt that I had no alternative but to recommend that N.R.M.A. personnel be sent overseas as reinforcements.

"I felt that this was necessary to fulfil our pledges to our fighting men.

"My recommendation was not accepted, nor could I get any assurance that the government as a whole considered that the Prime Minister's speeches committed the government to this course".

The issue is now clear, are we, or are we not to back our fighting men to the limit by the only certain means available to us, namely, to put immediately into effect an Order-in-Council making the Home Defence army available for reinforcements overseas.

Need is Urgent.

The need for reinforcements is urgent. They can be found only in Canada. Here we have a large army drafted by the present government.

It is common knowledge that the Cabinet is still divided and in a state of uncertainty. I now challenge every member of the government to state publicly where personally he stands in this crisis.

In the name of the Canadian people and for the protection of the men overseas, after due consideration of the gravity of the situation and with the endorsation of the National Committee of the Progressive Conservative Party now in session in Winnipeg, I call upon the government to fulfil its duty to our men overseas and to carry out the will of the people as expressed in the plebiscite by passing the necessary Order-in-Council and sending the available men in the Home army as reinforcements forthwith.

Bancroft Family Injured When Cars Collide

Peterborough, Nov. 14 — (CP) — Eight members of the Robbins family of Bancroft, Ont., were injured last night when a car in which they were riding struck another automobile and went into the ditch at the Peterborough city limits.

William Robbins and his two children, Hazel and Vernon, were taken to hospital here, while Pte. Saul Robbins and four of his children required first-aid treatment. Driver of the other car, Ernest Rahmel of Peterborough, was not injured.

May Use Lights On Outside Christmas Trees

Toronto, Nov. 14 —(CP)— Snow-laden Christmas trees may twinkle with colored lights outside Canadian homes this Christmas, as they did before wartime lighting restrictions were put into effect, Prices Board officials here said today.

The lights that brighten the Christmas scene outdoors however will mostly be those left-over from former years, because while their manufacture has again been permitted it is not expected that many such lights will appear for sale this season.

Board officials here also said that turkeys should be as plentiful as they were last year.

As for decorations, there is a good supply of Christmas crackers and a fair supply of colored tissue for wrapping. Tinsel and colored balls are scarce. And a few metal toys will be on the market this season.

Russians Drive Into Jaszbereny

Moscow, Nov. 14. (AP)— Russian forces have driven into the important rail city of Jaszbereny, 37 miles east of Budapest, and are engaging the enemy in hand-to-hand fighting, front dispatches said today.

The Germans were reported hurling in numerous new tanks and scores of anti-tank weapons in an attempt to check the Soviet drive to outflank the Hungarian capital. The Germans were offering most determined armored resistance since the big tank clashes in which they were beaten back in the Debrecen area last month.

(The Germans admitted Soviet units had penetrated into Jaszbereny, but asserted the attackers were hurled back.)

Red Army columns striking from the northeast after crossing the Tisza river apparently had made solid contact with the main forces of Marshal Rodion Y. Malinovsky's 2nd Ukrainian Army, and were aiding in drawing the assault line close to Jaszbereny from the east, west and south.

Front dispatches said the Germans resisted strongly, using Panther tanks and flame-throwers in an attempt to wipe out advanced Russian infantry elements.

Pontiff Urges Doctors Uphold Sexual Standards

Rome, Nov. 14. (CP-Reuter)—Pope Pius XII declared yesterday that no power on earth has authority to take human life except in execution of a death sentence against a guilty person. His Holiness was granting an audience to 800 members of Saint Luke's Association of Catholic Medical Practitioners.

"Any act tending directly to destroy an innocent human being's life, whether as an end or as a means towards that end, whether that life is embryonic or full-grown, or nearing its end, is forbidden", he said.

Exhorting doctors to uphold sexual standards and affirming that the primary ruling purpose of sexual energies is the procreation and upbringing of children, which only matrimonial unions ensure, the Pope said "young men under the influence of growing passions, or engaged couples awaiting marriage, often have recourse to a doctor asking for advice and hoping to obtain it along lines contrary to nature and honor.

"All possible arguments of medical, eugenic and social morals will be brought to bear in the hope of inducing a doctor to give advice or aid calculated to assist the satisfaction of natural needs in a manner frustrating the purpose of vital generative forces.

"Only a physician who himself is personally convinced about the Divine purpose will resist these assaults".

SEARCH FOR METEOR FRAGMENTS

North Bay, Nov. 14 (CP)—Attempts were being made today to find fragments of a meteor which was thought to have caused an explosion in the North Bay area early Monday morning. The explosion which startled the countryside for miles around, was preceded by a blinding flash that was seen in Ottawa a few minutes before the blast.

Rural residents in the district have been asked to keep a close watch for particles which may be from the meteorite as well as burn marks which could have been made by the hurtling object which burst into flames as it hit the earth's atmosphere.

WEDDINGS

OSTERLOH—DIAMOND

A very pretty, but quiet wedding was solemnized on Saturday, November 11th., at four o'clock, when Mary Helen, eldest daughter of Mrs. J. H. Diamond and the late Mr. Diamond, was united in marriage to Sergeant Jules A. Osterloh, of Amsterdam, Holland, now serving with the R.C.A.F. The ceremony was performed by the Rev. J. O. Hornsby at the home of the bride, George Street.

The bride chose for the occasion an attractive two-piece ensemble of flight blue shade, accentuated with black accessories and corsage of Talisman roses.

Following the ceremony, a small reception was held. The bride's mother wore an afternoon dress of Alice blue, black accessories and corsage of red roses.

Sgt. and Mrs. Osterloh left on a wedding trip to the east coast. The groom will shortly leave to rejoin The Netherlands Air Force.

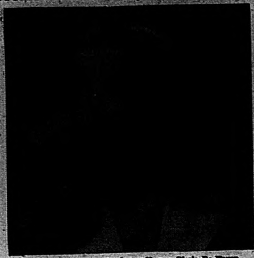
Tremendous Beauty Trifles



A scrupulously clean powder puff, says Gloria De Haven, is a beauty "must".

By HELEN FOLLETT

IF YOU ARE a worker in the cause of pulchritude, want to look your best, take good care of your beauty tools. Conserve the precious items of your good looks kit. Some of them you may not be able to replace for a long time.

We have no patience with the careless girl who uses her manicure scissors for purposes for which they were not intended—prying out tacks, cutting paper, snipping heavy threads. The blades won't track right, and that makes them practically useless. If you have abused yours you can have them repaired and sharpened at any shop that sells barber supplies. Tiny, narrow ones are easily put out of commission. And consider how useful they are when you must remove a hangnail that is driving you mad.

Care of Brush.

Take care of your hair brush. Remember it is not a toilet table ornament; it should be kept out of the way of dust and the best means of doing that is to place it in a box when not in use.

It should be washed frequently—before the shampoo and in between. No sense using a dirty brush on spic and span clean tresses. Use a rich suds and a nail brush. Rinse well. Place the brush bristles downward to dry so the back will not be cracked by moisture.

In 5 and 10 shops you will find cute little comb cleaners. Sudsing just won't get the grease and dirt out from between the fine teeth of a comb. If you can't find these gadgets, pass heavy linen thread back and forth between the teeth.

Powder Pads.

Keep toothbrushes clean. Rinse them well after using. Have two at hand so one will be dry when you need it.

Now we come to our pet peeve—powder pads. A soiled powder pad is often the cause of blackheads, and blackheads are forerunners of pimples. If you just won't take the time to wash the pads, then don't use them at all. Cut up squares of absorbent cotton, keep them in a glass jar, use once and throw away.

One cannot be too fastidious about these small matters. They are tremendous trifles.

Fashion Flashes

A DIFFERENT LOOK is noted in the new fur toppers. Russian broadtail bordered with mink is extremely elegant and smart. The mink edges the standing, Chinese-type collar, continues down the front and around the hem and is used for very wide turn-back cuffs.

HARD TO BEAT for elegance and charm is the simply detailed frock of black crepe with an all-over jet bead design in continuous scroll or arabesque effect. These frocks are generally collarless and have bracelet-length sleeves.

MOST WOMEN like the "more hat" trend when it is not over-done or over-trimmed. A smart sailor with low crown and fairly wide brim is of honey beige velvet trimmed with roses of honey beige, apricot and brown satin. Same model in violet felt with velvet roses in various pink shades.

LATELY we've noticed quite a sprinkling of ermine at first nights and important events. So if your ermine jacket is in storage, it's all right to bring it out again. A very new coat is a casual topper of ermine snugly belted in wide gold kid.

STEP OUT in platorm soles again. A new shoe of black or brown suede has a platform sole edged with matching faille which is also used for a butterfly bow ornament. Sling back style.

ONE SMART GIRL had the best pieces taken from a somewhat worn leopard coat and made into an opulent shoulder-type bag with fur strap and everything. There was enough for a little pillbox hat. Worn with a black or brown coat, the effect is simply swell.

CANADIAN Y·M·C·A WAR SERVICES

The Orange Group of the Red Triangle Hostess Club under the leadership of Miss Margaret Houlihan provided another week of entertainment for service personnel.

Friday night starred Music Appreciation. The program was under the supervision of Miss Margaret Houston. Refreshments were served by the hostesses at the close of the program.

The weekly dance was held in the Belleville Armouries on Saturday evening, with a large crowd in attendance. Winners of the Spot Dance were Wren Mary Wright, R.C.N.V.R., and LAC. Maurice Frigon and the Elimination Dance, Peggy Townsend and Bernard Midwede.

Sunday was Open House for all Service Personnel and many enthusiastic couples enjoyed the various games. The winners for the top points in bowling were—Margaret Aman, Dorothy Bullied and Mary De Genova, Bill Shaver, Doug Brown, Bill Jackson and Peter Leeds. For Bingo, the winners were—Margaret Meeks, Dorothy Poste, Bill Brophy and Fred Buckley. Many stations were well represented on Sunday afternoon and evening—St. Hyacinthe, Que., R.C.N.V.R., Mountain View, Picton, Trenton, 6 R.D., Deseronto, Kingston and Camp Borden.

Sunday night the picture called "The Navy Way" was shown in the gym.

Mrs. Albert McGowan of Marshall Road, extended hospitality to an airman over the weekend.

Charming Tea On 25th Wedding Anniversary

Sunday, November 12th was a day of gay surprises for Mr. and Mrs. Frank Domenico, who were celebrating their twenty-fifth wedding anniversary. In the afternoon, a charmingly arranged tea was held at their home when up to one hundred relatives and friends extended congratulations to the bride and groom of twenty-five years. For the occasion, the tea table was beautifully arranged, dominated by a color scheme of lilac and lemon yellow. It was spread with a Madeira cloth, centred with a silver bowl of yellow 'mums and flanked with tall lilac tapers in silver candelabra. The guests were very graciously received by Mr. and Mrs. Domenico, and were invited to the tea room by Mrs. E. J. Bowers. Mrs. Frank Corrigan poured tea, and the serviteurs were Mrs. Clayton Webb, Mrs. T. Morrell and Miss Edith Harvey. Following the tea, there was a family dinner. In the evening, the festive day was topped off with euchre for approximately forty guests. The highlight of this was the cutting of the three-tiered wedding cake. Mr. and Mrs. Domenico expressed their heartfelt gratitude for the many gifts and cards and the general goodwill they had received from their friends on the memorable occasion.

GOOD MANNERS

By MRS. CORNELIUS BEECKMAN

Announcing An Engagement

Dear Mrs. Beeckman:

My husband and I would like to announce our daughter's engagement on her birthday. Since her fiance may not be able to be here at the time, we are not having a "general" party, but are inviting the members of the family and some relatives to dinner. We are also inviting her fiance's family, but since they live in another state, we do not know if they will be able to come.

1. At the dinner, who should announce the engagement, and how should it be announced?

2. The father of he. fiance is dead. Who should put the ring on her finger....his mother, his brother, or someone in our family.

E. L. S.

1. At an engagement-announcement dinner, the usual plan is for the girl's father to rise and make the announcement by proposing a toast. He rises, lifts his glass (of whatever the beverage may be), and says, "Let's rise and drink a toast to the happiness of Gloria and the fine young man she is going to marry Tom Worthy!" If your daughter's fiance is present at the dinner the father might say, "I want you to drink to the welfare of a young couple whose happiness is very close to the hearts of all of us: Gloria (holding up his glass and looking at her) and Tom (holding up his glass and looking at him)."

2. If your daughter's fiance can be present at the dinner he should put the engagement ring on her finger at some time (in private!) before the dinner. Otherwise your daughter slips the ring on her finger just before she goes in to the dinner. However, if in his absence, the fiancé has especially requested that the ring be put on his fiance's finger by some member of his family as his "representative", his mother would be the logical one to have this romantic privilege.

Serving Dishes

Dear Mrs. Beeckman:

1. Should I use my sterling silver serving dishes with my Spode dinner set, or should I use Spode serving dishes to match the rest of the service?

Also should my salad plates match my crystal, or should they be of Spode to match the dinner plates?

2. Is it proper to use cocktail glasses as sherbet glasses? (I mean the kind with a stem.) L. S.

1. Today there is no rule about this....it depends entirely on the preference of the hostess. Some hostesses are enthusiastic about using dishes that match throughout the service of a meal, while others consider this monotonous and find artistic adventure in varying the service as much as they can with the equipment they have. Sterling silver serving dishes are such a treasure that, if I were you, I would have the joy of using them often. They not only give brilliance to the service, but it's sensible to use silver, for silver used frequently requires no other attention, except at infrequent intervals. Vary this service with your Spode serving-dishes, if you wish, or use both your silver and Spode serving dishes for your buffet meals. Your salad and dessert plates may match your set, or properly may be something quite different from the rest of the service; crystal makes a pleasing variation, and the crystal may or may not match your crystal glasses.

2. Yes, if the bowls of the cocktail glasses are of ample size for this use.

BEAUTY By HELEN JAMESON

Idleness is No Good-Looks Help.

Find a woman with no aims, ambitions, interests, or work to do and you will find a woman whose face is more or less blank. Perhaps she has raised a family; the children have married and she is in her early fifties. The home seemed quiet and lonely, so she has moved into a hotel. Meal time is the only excitement. She can read or go to the movies, but one can't read or movie-go all the time.

She gets seedy. She acquires the settled look. She is bored. Husband comes home to a disgruntled wife. How much better off she would be if she had a small apartment, busied herself with household duties, prepared a delicious dinner for her old man. Anyway, she would feel that she is of some use in this world. She wouldn't have the killing job of killing time.

Work has a hygienic effect upon the human constitution. Employment keeps mind, body, spirit and circulation active. Whether it is work or drudgery depends entirely upon how one looks at one's occupation. When a worker gets mad at her job, let her ask herself: "What if I had nothing to do? What if I dragged through the days?" That, indeed, would be tragedy.

The soft, easy life appeals to some women, but it can't offer any enthusiasms. There aren't any rainbows to chase. Loafing is delightful when it is a reward for work well done and we have earned our holiday. As a steady diet it can't be gainful; it pays no dividends.

Activity is the law of life. Fancy awakening in the morning, wondering what one will do with the long hours until it is time to crawl into bed again! It's better to have a job that kicks one out of bed, starts one going. How any woman can live in a state of idleness when there is so much work to be done right now is something your reporter cannot understand. Why not give a helping hand to some other woman who is working like an old dray horse?

As far as health is concerned, the housewife has advantages over the hotel dweller. By going through the daily chores, she gets a certain amount of exercise, keeps muscles limber. She may tire of answering the doorbell, washing dishes, making bed, cooking, picking up the baby's toys, but she doesn't have to stare at four walls and hate herself.

Women who are always busy are more interesting companions than those who are lazy. They stay young longer because they are highly energized.

Many women of wealth realize the dangers of idleness. They interest themselves in war work, charities, community affairs. They move along with the traffic. They know what's going on. They do not rust or mildew, as does Mrs. Lazy Bones.

Advice to the Lovelorn

Wife in Love With Young Soldier —What Shall Patient Husband Do?

"Dear Miss Fairfax:

"During our married life of five years, my wife has always said and still says that I've been a good, considerate and faithful husband. She claims that our marriage lacked something and in looking for new interests she had made many people unhappy.

"Now she has fallen in love with a young boy of 20 who is in the army. Inasmuch as I love my wife dearly, I thought it would be better to stick by her and see her through this situation. She gave him all her time and attention when he was home on furlough, and when I asked her what the score was, she informed me that if I didn't want to put up with conditions, I could leave.

"Regardless of her being in love with this egotistical boy she admits there are difficult angles—family ties, the objection of his people to her, also religious differences.

"F. B."

Any woman in this wife's state of mind is argument proof. Such an affair will impel a woman to snatch whatever she regards as her happiness and stand the possibilities. The boy is younger than she. He wears a uniform which gives him the assurance he's participating in the world's most gigantic struggle—which indeed he is.

The flattering unction of an older woman's love, particularly a married woman, is enough to make any boy an egoist. If the love this husband bears his wife is strong enough, and he has the patience to wait 'till the boy lover grows tired of the older woman's possessiveness, she will probably be glad to fall back on her husband's fidelity. But it would be a mistake for the husband to feel this gamble is an absolute certainty.

These older women have a way of hanging on as millstones 'round the necks of youthful lovers when they cease to care. As the saying goes, boys often marry to get rid of them. The depth of the love this man feels for his wife must be his guide. One doesn't have to read more deeply than the average newspaper to realize the usual conclusion of such a romance.

Historic instances of successful marital relations between older women and younger men occur, but the women have had vast wealth, genius, or immense social prestige to give their boy lovers.

The Marry Go Round

WHY MARRY A "WOLF"?

What kind of a husband does the Wolf make? Good, bad or indifferent?

This is the most popular question asked on quiz programs at this writing. I have heard it at least three times in the last week—but never once has it been adequately answered. That is because only those women who have been married to a genuine Wolf could give you the answer—and they won't tell. It is too poignant.

It all depends, of course, on whether he is a genuine wolf—or only a sheep in wolf's clothing. There are lots of the latter—attractive men, who think of themselves as "wolves"; but who are destined, some day, to fall in love and discover that they have a one-woman heart. They are not even German police-dogs.

The wolf, as you know, was not always a wolf. In your grandmother's day, he was a "lady-killer", or a "heart-breaker"; in your mother's day he was a "skirt-chaser" or a "sheik"—but always he has been a Cassanova or a Lothario. He changes in name only, never in nature. And he almost never makes a woman happy if she happens to marry him. He was born to be loved, but never to be married.

Marriage, to be successful and happy, must be secure. And your genuine, bona-fide wolf has a loose rivet somewhere in his character, which makes that impossible! He has a wobbly-heart, which won't stay put, however, much he may think he loves or admires a woman. And you can't be happy with anybody who doesn't give you peace of mind and heart.

If marriage is going to be anything but a farce or a smash-up, there are two vital things which it is necessary to be absolutely sure about before you sign on the dotted line. First, you must be certain that what you are getting (or giving) is love, not just a dizzy infatuation. Second, you must be sure that neither of you has a loose rivet in your make-up.

Marriages are almost never "broken up." They just sag in the middle and come apart; either because there are no real ties of love, or because somewhere, either in the character of the man or the girl, there was a loose bolt, a loose gear or a loose rivet.

In nine cases out of ten, when a wolf is divorced for unfaithfulness, he does not marry the partner of his infidelity, because by the time he is at last set free there is a brand new woman in the case! The loose rivet is still doing its bit.

Don't bank your happiness on a man with a "wobbly-heart." But don't mistake every good-looking, attractive man you meet for a "Wolf"—not even when he admits the accusation. Every personable man just loves to be called a "Wolf" — just as every woman loves to be called a "Glamour Girl."

Britain, France Ready to Form Western Bloc

By JOSEPH E. DYNAN
(Associated Press Staff Writer.)

Paris, Nov. 14 (AP)—Britain and France were reported in accord today on the desirability of forming a bloc of western European nations to help keep Germany in check during the coming years of peace.

Responsible quarters said Belgium and Holland may become original signatories to such a regional pact along with Britain and France and that eventually Norway, Sweden and Denmark may come in.

Summarizing the weekend discussions of Prime Minister Churchill and Gen. De Gaulle, a French News Agency expressed the view that "the French and British governments would consider favorably the possibility of concluding such regional accords."

(A dispatch from London said sources there expressed belief that a similar combine would be formed in the east by Russia, Czechoslovakia and Poland and that at their next conference Prime Minister Churchill, President Roosevelt and Premier Stalin may consider whether such alliances can operate within the framework of the proposed future world security organization.

(The Times of London said the idea of a western European bloc would fall directly within the category of "regional arrangements or agencies" for maintenance of peace and security foreseen in the Dumbarton Oaks plan.

("Western Europe, including Britain, is, as American opinion has come increasingly to recognize, an outer bastion of the defence of the western hemisphere," said the Times. "The strengthening of this bastion is a decisive interest of the American nations as well as of the whole British Commonwealth.")

An official quarter in Paris said British and French accord on the desirability of postwar regional security pacts was attended by qualifications that such pacts must be part of the general peace structure and not in opposition eventually to other blocs.

Mr. Churchill and Gen. De Gaulle were reported already agreed on speedy rearmament of the French army to have it ready to share military occupation of Germany with British, Russian and American forces. Armament for the French troops however, was said to be still unsettled. So far they have been largely supplied with American equipment under lend lease.

London sources said France's part in the proposed western bloc would be maintenance of a strong army, that Britain would keep a powerful fleet and air force and that Belgium and Holland would provide air bases near Germany's borders.

Civil Aviation To Be Increased In Post-War Era

By FRANK FLAHERTY
(Canadian Press Staff Writer)

Chicago, Nov. 14 — (CP) — Out of the International Civil Aviation Conference of 54 governments meeting here are coming clear indications of the role the airplane is going to play in carrying passengers, mail and high class freight between countries after the war.

Regardless of whether the conference produces agreement on the creation of an international air authority, a sort of international version of the Canadian Board of Transport Commissioners, the information assembled at the conference makes two things obvious.

1. The world will be girdled with a network of air routes over which fast, long-range planes will carry traffic at progressively lowering rates.

2. There will be no monopoly of air transport in the hands of any particular country or airline company.

Ideas Overlap

Within the conference there are two groups of nations roughly aligned with one another but overlapping to a large extent. One is out to see there is no undue interference with airline operations by any international authority or super-government.

The other is out to see that neither the United States nor any other country by reason of its resources in planes and manufacturing capacity, the advanced state of development of its civil aviation, gets exclusive control of the airlines of the world.

In the first group are the United States, the Latin-American Republics and China. In the second are practically all countries except the United States and some of the Latin-American Republics in which United States airlines have large interests.

U. S. Opposed

The deadlock which leaders of the delegations from Canada, the United Kingdom and the United States are trying to resolve today is only partly related to these groupings. Canada and the United Kingdom are the principal protagonists of an international authority with power to fix rates, allocate routes and regulate frequencies. The United States is opposed to such powers.

Reconstruction Minister Howe, who returned to the conference during the week-end after several days in Ottawa, is in the thick of the meetings.

DEFENCE COUNSEL CRITICAL

Vancouver, Nov. 14. (CP)—Gordon Wismer, counsel for Guiseppe (Joe) Esposito, at the opening of the Supreme Court trial yesterday of his client on a murder charge, accused Vancouver newspapers and the Vancouver Ministerial Association of comment "certainly detrimental to a fair trial for the accused man". Esposito was charged in connection with the shooting of Kevin Thompson at Esposito's home Sept. 20.

MUSKRATS BUILD HIGH

Fort Erie, Nov. 14 — (CP)—Jules Kittner of Erie Beach thinks we're in for a cold winter. His reason? Last year there were two muskrat houses in "Whisky Hollow" Bay of Lake Erie, all of them low-built, indicating a mild winter. This year there are six, built unusually high, and this, Kittner says, indicates a cold winter.

SEE NO EVIDENCE OF AGREEMENT ON CARTEL ISSUE

Currency Panel Hears Aldrich Advocate 'Key Nation Plan on Stabilization'

By THOMAS HAGENBUCH
(Associated Press Staff Writer)

Rye, N.Y., Nov. 14 (AP)—The question of cartels emerged today as possibly the most controversial subject at the International Business Conference with prospects there would be no agreement on the issue by the close of the sessions at the end of the week.

The panel considering cartels resumed its discussions after a wide-open split developed yesterday. The Netherland delegation precipitated the controversy by declaring that cartels are necessary for the expansion of business, bringing from the Indian representatives a bitter denunciation of these agreements among private interests of several countries for the purpose of regulating industry and trade.

One delegate expressed the opinion that the various standpoints were too far apart to be reconciled on any statement of policy by the conference.

U.S. Senate Committee Report.

Injected into the panel discussion was a United States Senate Committee report made public yesterday which recommended the "outlawing of the international cartel system" after the war. Copies were given members of the panel by the American delegation without comment.

The group considering currency relations among nations was ready to take up today the stabilization proposals adopted by the Bretton Woods monetary conference last July. These provide for a world monetary fund to stabilize exchange rates after the war, and for an international bank to provide loans for reconstruction work.

The currency panel yesterday heard Winthrop W. Aldrich, chairman of the Chase National Bank of New York, advocate the "key nation" plan as the best approach to currency stabilization. This plan advocates the stabilization of the two currencies in which the bulk of international trade is conducted—the British pound and the United States dollar—and has been urged by United States bankers as preferable to the proposals evolved at Bretton Woods.

Aldrich's Views.

Mr. Aldrich said the three prerequisites of dollar-pound stabilization were:

1. Elimination of the war debt problem between the United States and Britain, involving cancellation of first Great War debts and a "generous settlement" of Britain's lend-lease obligations.

2. Reduction of trade barriers between the United States and Great Britain, through elimination of tariff restrictions and other export and import controls.

3. Extension of post-war credits to Great Britain by the United States, which "may come to $3,000,000,000."

Once progress has been made in the stabilization of the dollar-pound rate, Mr. Aldrich said, "immediate and simultaneous attention can be given to the stabilization of other currencies."

Advertising Essential In Switch From War

New York, Nov. 14.— Experts testified before the special Congressional Committee on newsprint that expansion of newspaper advertising is essential to the successful post-war conversion of industry to civilian goods.

Only through day to day advertising, declared the expert evidence, can housewives and other consumers learn the kinds and the amounts of saleable articles available, thereby stimulating production and employment.

Government officials and members of the Congressional committee agreed that every effort should be made to bring about immediate relaxation of present restriction.

GUILTY OF TORTURE ROBBERY

Winnipeg, Nov. 14. (CP)—Paul Spuzak, 24-year-old Winnipegger, was convicted yesterday in County Court of the torture robbery of Mike Giszewski, 82, Husavick, Man., district farmer, April 24 last and was sentenced by Judge A. R. Macdonnell to 10 years in penitentiary. The trial lasted two days.

EARLY PUBLICITY

The earliest equivalent of modern newspapers was a series of public announcements called Acta Diurna, issued during the Roman Empire.

RECTAL SORENESS AND PILE TORTURE
QUICKLY RELIEVED

If you are troubled with itching piles or rectal soreness, do not delay treatment and run the risk of letting this condition become chronic. Any itching or soreness or painful passage of stool is nature's warning and proper treatment should be secured at once.

For this purpose get a package of Hemroid from J. S. McKeown or any I.D.A. or other drug store and use as directed. This formula which is used internally is a small, easy to take tablet, will quickly relieve the itching and soreness and aid in healing the sore tender spots. Hem-Roid is pleasant to use, is highly recommended and it seems the height of folly for any one to risk a painful and chronic pile condition when such a fine remedy may be had at such a small cost.

If you try Hem-Roid and are not entirely pleased with the results, your druggist will gladly return your money.

The War Today—
Is Hitler Well Or Incapacitated? Mystery May Influence German People

By DeWITT MacKENZIE
Associated Press War Analyst

The mystery of Hitler's whereabouts is rapidly assuming the proportions of one of history's prime thrillers, and it's likely to have a profound influence on the German people and consequently on the trend of the war, if it develops that the Fuehrer is incapacitated.

Propaganda Minister Goebbels has set all the wheels of his great machine turning to convince Germany and the world at large that the dictator isn't ill, mad or dead but is in "excellent, vigorous health." Still the fact remains that the Nazi chief's people haven't heard from him directly in about four months.

The bomb attempt on his life was July 20. The next day somebody representing himself as Hitler went on the air to say that the plot had failed. Since then there's been a great silence on the part of the Fuehrer, and it seems significant that his captains have been working overtime to provide excuses—and lame ones—why the master hasn't appeared personally. Why should they be so anxious to make a secret of an affair that would be treated openly in any normal country?

I think the answer is clear enough. Hitler has been absolute in his dictatorship for more than a decade. His control has been so complete that all Germany has come to think of government in terms of this one man. His personality has dominated the whole country, and has had a particularly powerful hold on the young generation which has been reared to fanaticism on the pap he provided.

True, within recent months it has been reported that the bloody-minded Himmler, Chief of the Gestapo and the home troops, had got Hitler under his power and was the real ruler of Germany. That could be true. However, if it is true I don't believe the German public knows it.

The people have stuck with the man who tore up the Treaty of Versailles and all but conquered Europe — but my observations in Germany lead me to believe they would not long follow anyone else while their world is crashing about their ears. Without Hitler the government would be close to helpless in the present crisis.

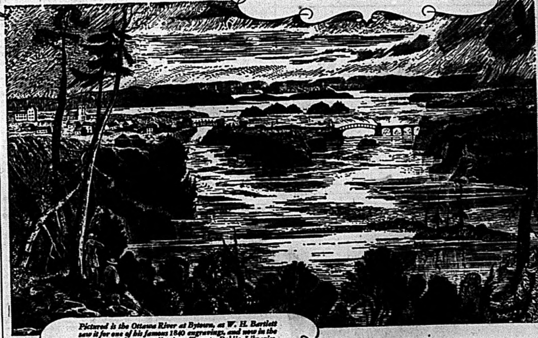
The Beginnings of our Nation



Pictured is the Ottawa River at Bytown, as W. H. Bartlett saw it for one of his famous 1840 engravings, and now in the John Ross Robertson collection, Toronto Public Libraries.

THIS was Bytown in 1840, fourteen years before it became the city of Ottawa, and seventeen years before it was chosen Capital of the Canadas by Queen Victoria. In 1867, when the Dominion from sea to sea was born, Ottawa became the heart and brain of a new young giant amongst nations.

If Bartlett could return in 1944 to do an etching of the present-day scene, what wonders a century would have performed for his amazed eyes! All the greatness of the Twentieth Century would sweep upon his eager pen and he would depict for us a new Canada, a Canada Unlimited, a Canada of which the men and women in Bytown a hundred years ago must have dreamed, as they broke for us the trails of nationhood.

Those who live in the shadows of our Parliament today have a vision, too; a vision that encompasses a century hence, when a Canada Unlimited shall be a leader in world trade and an influence for good amongst the free congregation of world nations living forever in peace and amity one with the other . . . a Canada Unlimited where Science and Art and Brotherhood have combined to make from sea to sea a shining light of hope to dim even the brave faith in our Future we now possess.

Today, because we love our land and want it untarnished for our children and our children's children, we fight a total war on the battlefronts of the world and at home. For many of us, our share in this total War and in the Peace lies in our buying and holding more and more Victory Bonds; more and more War Savings Certificates and Stamps. They are our open sesame to the future of a Canada Unlimited.

Joe Gould, Former Manager Of JimBraddock, Given 3 Years

(By The Canadian Press)

Candidates for the 1944 Niagara Falls entry in the Ontario Hockey Association Junior "B" series were encouraged yesterday with the knowledge they would have the expert coaching services of George Massecar, former New York American forward, for the season. Massecar, coach of Falls Junior Clubs in recent years, had announced his retirement but was prevailed upon by club officials to remain at the helm.

A Calgary report says that Mervyn (Red) Dutton, chairman of directors of the National Hockey League, has returned to active hockey as assistant to Flt. Lt. Tiny Thompson, former Boston Bruins netminder now coaching the R.C.A.F. Mustangs in the Alberta Senior Services Hockey League. Dutton made his first appearance with the club during a workout yesterday.

Jack Doyle, Eire's swinging boxer, lost another "fight" at Dublin yesterday when he was successfully sued for £750 (about $3,375)—alleged advance payment for a Tommy Farr-Doyle bout which did not take place. Winner of the fight was John Patrick Muldoon, boxing promoter. Doyle's defence was that because he was adjudged a bankrupt before an English court Muldoon could not take further proceedings other than in bankruptcy court.

Capt. Joseph Gould, 48-year-old former boxing manager, was sentenged to three years at hard labor, fined $12,000 and dismissed from the United States Army yesterday following his conviction at New York by a general court martial of conspiracy to accept bribes for the award of army contracts. Gould, charged with accepting more than $1,600 in connection with the awarding of contracts worth $1,000,000 to the Cornwall Shipbuilding Company, Inc., also was convicted of seeking to have Stephen Patrick (Tex) Sullivan, a boxing associate, testify falsely in his behalf before the court martial.

The man who once managed ex-heavyweight champion James J. Braddock, was found guilty of four specifications in the charge of violating the 96th Article of War.

Freshmen—although they have proved physically and mentally mature — should be banned from college football competition after the war "for the good of the game", Coach Paul Brown, of Great Lakes, told the Chicago Quarterback Club yesterday. Brown said freshmen were physically capable of Varsity play, but believed the practice eventually would produce many wandering athletes who would prove their football ability ahead of classroom talents.

Joe Louis, world champion heavyweight and army sergeant on furlough, cuffed Jimmy Bell, Washington, 180, around last night in a three-round boxing exhibition at the U.S. capital. Weighing 214 pounds, Louis was slow and markedly fat.

Billy Arnold, Philadelphia middleweight, added Bob Wade of Newark, N.J., to his long list of knockout victims by gaining a technical knockout in the second round at New York last night. It was the 28th kayo victory in 30 fights for the 18-year-old negro.

Fernando (The Mighty) Menichelli, Argentine heavyweight, showed a good overhand right and a stance like that of Chile's Arturo Godoy in outpointing Laurient Bouchard of Montreal, last night, in his United States debut at Newark. Menichelli appeared rusty at the start of the bout, his first ring appearance in a year, but swept through the last half of the 10-round bout to erase the Canadian's early lead. He scored one knockdown, in the last round.

SAMMY ANGOTT TO LEAVE RING BATTLES BEHIND

Former Lightweight Champ Says Broken Hands Force Him to Quit

Washington, Pa., Nov. 14—(AP)—Sammy Angott, former world's lightweight boxing champion, has announced his second retirement — but this time, says the ring-wise little veteran, "I'm going to make it stick."

Angott renounced his title two years ago, then staged a sensational comeback and regained the crown by whipping Luther (Slugger) White in Hollywood in October, 1943. He lost the championship to Juan Zurita in a Hollywood bout last February.

A broken right hand which he suffered in his first bout with Bob Montgomery in 1941 led to both Angott's retirements. The injured member never healed properly, despite a bone-grafting operation and a six-months rest.

Announcing his decision from his home here last night, Angott said: "I made up my mind after the McDaniels fight (the 10-rounder he lost to middleweight Jimmy McDaniels in New York Friday night) that if my hand was not any better I would retire and that's what I'm going to do.

"I'm going to make it stick this time. I'll never fight again and I've notified Charley Jones (his Louisville, Ky., manager) to that effect."

Sammy, who started as an amateur in 1932 and went pro three years later, will be 30 in January. He is married, has two children and owns his own home.

"The fight game has been very good to me," says Sammy. "I have practically everything a person could dream of. My family, my health, money in the bank and some real estate. I see no reason to hurt myself permanently by continuing."

End to End

The normally mild Don Hutson became somewhat annoyed when a Cleveland player guarded him rather roughly last Sunday and gave him a good shove while he was going after one pass . . . The Ram promptly offered to clip Hutson on the chin the next time that happened . . . came another Green Bay pass and Don headed directly for the defender, shouting "Get that clip ready, here I come." . . . Then he neatly sidestepped as his rival got set to swing, went on to the end zone and caught a touchdown pass.

Frankly John Katan, former British Empire heavyweight wrestling champion, didn't procure the moniker "Palermo Panther" without deserving some consideration. While in the wrestling ring Katan actually "stalks" his opponent in a manner that would put some panthers into a second rating and with better than average success. Whether Katan can "stalk" Jerry Monahan, the Irish Bull, or not remains to be seen, but it's better than even betting Katan will match any roughness the former "masked marvel" can dig up. Monahan, who is in the promoting business at Buffalo these days, is taking a night off for the express purpose of coming to the Hume Arena tomorrow night to eliminate Katan once and for all, he vows.

For good measure Promoter Frank Tunney has signed Jean Pusie, the former turbulent N.H.L. defence player, to wrestle Al Dunlop in another meeting of ring ruffians. All of this will be preceded by a guaranteed preliminary.

NEW ATTENDANCE MARKS ALREADY SET IN N.H.L.

36,420 More Fans See First 18 Games This Season Than Last

(By The Canadian Press)

The turnstiles are clicking at their merriest pace in years around the National Hockey League's six-team circuit this season. Attendance at the first 18 games in five cities—Boston Bruins don't make their first home-ice appearance until tonight—is 36,420 greater than for the first 18 contests in five cities a year ago.

The attendance at the 18 games this year totals 235,864, an average of 13,104 a game. The figures for last year were 199,444, for a per game average of 11,080.

Chicago, whose Black Hawks have won only one game in five starts, has enjoyed the greatest attendance boom. The first four home games there drew 69,912 fans, 20,529 more than the 42,383 who watched the first four games last fall.

Detroit is the only city in an attendance slump. The Red Wings, who have won three and lost three games and are third in the league standings, have drawn 46,007 fans, a drop of 1,880 from last season's 47,887.

In Toronto at three games attendance has totalled 41,510 compared with 33,736 a year ago, at New York in three games it is 44,311 compared with 36,681 and at Montreal in four games it is 41,124 compared with 38,757.

SCHEDULES OUT FOR SENIOR AND JUNIOR A SERIES

Only Three Teams Competing in Senior Series, Army Playing Exhibition Games

Toronto, Nov. 14 — (CP)—Secretary W. A. Hewitt of the Ontario Hockey Association today issued a 99-game schedule for the eight-team junior A series and 28-game schedule for the three-team senior group in which a fourth team entered by the Canadian Army plays exhibition games.

The teams entered in the junior A series are Oshawa, St. Michael's College, Marlboros and Young Rangers from Toronto; Hamilton, Galt, Port Colborne and St. Catharines. The schedule opens Saturday, Nov. 18, with Hamilton playing at Galt, Young Rangers at Oshawa and St. Michael's playing Marlboros in an afternoon game in Toronto. Five of the games are four-point affairs.

The junior schedule ends Feb. 24 and play-offs start the week of Feb. 26.

The three teams entered in the senior series are Hamilton Majors, St. Catharines and Toronto Staffords with Toronto Army playing exhibition games which are included in the schedule. The Army club is unable to advance beyond the O.H.A. series because of service restrictions on participation in sport.

The schedule opens in Toronto Monday, Nov. 20, with St. Catharines playing Staffords. Friday, Nov. 24, Staffords play Majors in Hamilton and the Army plays the first of its games in St. Catharines. The schedule closes Feb. 23.

Toronto, Nov. 14 — (CP) — If you want no end of confusion in the football world, just adopt the United States code of rules and then sit back and watch the boys trying to unravel them, suggests Herb (Winnipeg Tribune) Manning. It's one thing to say follow such and such rules, but you have to have someone with a little experience playing under that code to teach others the game . . . However they got by fairly well in Montreal, where American rules were tried successfully in school competition. J. G. Lang, athletic director of Montreal schools, told Manning that his Canadian coaches got all they knew of the American game "out of books." It's really marvellous what you can get out of books, but some practical experience doesn't hurt either, contends the Winnipeg writer.

Northern Uprising?

Ralph Adams of the North Bay Daily Nugget has sounded a call to junior hockey clubs in Northern Ontario and other regions that are consistently raided by the larger junior squads like Oshawa, and those in other large, and well-greenbacked centres, to join forces to protect their hockey property . . . Latest trouble came when Oshawa outbid Timmins for the services of a promising young player. It seems that all Timmins could offer the youth was a job guaranteeing him a "good living," so Oshawa got him.

Incidentally:

Guelph has popped up with another father-son soccer combination, this time father Billy Kerr who started socking the soccer ball in 1919, and son Jack. They play on the same team as the Bill Dunlops, senior and junior . . . This is beginning to look like another family compact . . . Coach Frank Graham has his Frood Open Pit squad out again this winter. The ironmen were eliminated by Quebec Aces in the eastern finals last year . . . Harry (Calgary Albertan) Scott selects Sweeney Schriner as the best modern hockeyist developed in Calgary. Of the older players, it's a toss-up between Tiny Thompson and Dutch Gainor, star goalie and forward, respectively, with the old Boston Bruins . . . Henry Martell, classy western golfer, has held the Edmonton city amateur title ever since 1935. His opponents are beginning to speak darkly of "dictatorship".

CASUAL COMMENT by K.J.C.

One of the club members was telling some friends about some of his experiences when he had been working out East.

"I was in an earthquake, too," he said. "Most extraordinary thing you ever saw. The hotel rocked on its foundations; cups and saucers were flung all over the place...."

At this point the meek-looking little man in the corner suddenly turned pale.

"Great Scott!" he cried. "That reminds me—I've never posted that letter my wife gave me two days ago!"

Football Fumblings.

What's to do about 12-man Interscholastic football in the Bay of Quinte COSSA. group? That's the pertinent question, especially at Albert College, today.

According to the COSSA. program the winner of the Bay of Quinte-Trent Valley districts must be ready to meet the Lake Shore champions on Saturday, Nov. 18th, but as far as the Bay of Quinte conference is concerned they haven't so much as played a single game as yet.

Coach Pepper's Albert College team let it be known they were tossing their lot in with the conventional game when they abandoned the abbreviated six-man schedule a fortnight ago. Now St. Mike's and B.C.I. are very much in the picture, having held practices yesterday afternoon and claim rights to play-offs also. However, when the original six-man junior and senior schedules were first released playing dates were included up to Nov. 27th, which would indicate neither B.C.I. nor St. Mike's contemplated playing the conventional 12-man game this semester.

Coach Les Shiels says he is ready to meet Albert in a sudden death game tomorrow if necessary and have the winner meet the Tweed-Stirling champs., who clash in a second and final game this afternoon at Stirling with Tweed enjoying a nine point lead. A north-south game would have to be played on Friday with the winner meeting the Oshawa-Peterboro Lake Shore champs., who have been playing 12-man football all season on Saturday. It would be nothing short of slaughter. However, if Albert or B.C.I. are insistent little can be done. Already the "Collegians" have the loan of some 14 sets of football equipment from the Trenton R.C.A.F. sports department, which should indicate Coach Shiels isn't going to let Albert in without a struggle.

Maybe a local series would tend to revive the conventional grid game for another season, when the abbreviated six-man series could be left for inter-form competition. As it is Albert has been practising for two weeks and should be given some consideration for their stand in being the first to abandon the bob-tailed game for the real Interscholastic football.

It Just Depends.

Yesterday the Manitoba Amateur Hockey Association announced that all transfers of hockey players under junior age to other branches of the C.A.H.A. would be refused. (That is all but one, we presume.) Then they turn around and grant goalkeeper Jack Gibson, of last year's St. James Canadians a transfer to play with the Oshawa Generals in season. Yes, it all depends where the boy is going. Timmins, Ont., ran into the same difficulties.

When Galt, Hamilton and St. Catharines opened negotiations for western players a warning finger was pointed at them, but not so Oshawa. Just what is it Br'r Geo. "Soup" Campbell and his cohorts have on the hockey ball anyhow?

The original Manitoba principle of "block the exodus of players from the province" is a splendid one, if only put into practice by all. Unless the smaller centres receive some protection along these lines there will be no junior hockey left for the big-moneyed clubs to raid. There was a day when every small hamlet sponsored a junior hockey team, but not today. The answer is simple enough.

Remember When.

"Two-Ton Tony" Galento flattened Harry Thomas at Philadelphia in three rounds six years ago today, a prelude to his losing struggle with Joe Louis the following spring. The New Jersey barman lasted but three rounds with the present heavyweight champ.

Turbulent Jean.

So unruly became Jean Pusie, the French Canadian defenceman, that N.H.L. heads had to suspend him from playing major league hockey even though Les Canadiens' Pusie was a drawing card in and around the N.H.L. circuit. Pusie's turbulent temper got him suspended from every recognized hockey league on the continent, so now we find Mons. Pusie in the rasslin' business and he will make his first appearance in Belleville tomorrow night versus the rough and ready Bunny Dunlop. Which can be the more unorthodox will be interesting to note. This question mark precedes a bout between two other ring ruffians, John Katan and Jerry Monahan, who need no introduction as their ring antics are well known in Belleville grappling circles.

Around the Town.

It's a tennis player at the Johnnie Bawden's....Secretary Don Lee, of the Belleville Men's Softball League, is inviting President Geo. Spooner and Secretary Frank Feaver and other O.A.S.A. notables to the local softball banquet here on Dec. 5th....Seems the Kinsmen N.H.L. draw for Toronto home games at the M.L. Gardens is becoming more popular each week... Mayor Harry Rollins won the ducats for tomorrow night's game, while Sid Fitzgerald was the lucky one for Saturday's Detroit at Leaf game....And all proceeds go to the club's fag fund....Looks as though you can get your pencils sharpened for two elections—municipal and federal.

Schriner, Bodnar Continue to Set Scoring Pace

Montreal, Nov. 14 — (CP) — Sweeney Schriner and Gus Bodnar of Toronto Maple Leafs continue to set the pace in National Hockey League scoring statistics released today, with line-mate Lorne Carr right behind in a third-place tie with Detroit's Syd Howe.

Schriner and Bodnar have amassed 15 points each in seven games so far, while Carr and Howe are tied with 13 each. Toe Blake of Montreal Canadiens and Bill Cowley of Boston Bruins are locked in another tie for the next spot with 11 points each, one more than Detroit's Mud Bruneteau.

Schriner is the top goal-getter in the league to date with nine. Carr, Blake and Jud McAtee of Detroit are bunched with six each, while Bruneteau, Harvey Fraser of Chicago and Maurice Richard of Canadiens are locked with five each. Bodnar's 11 assists give him the edge in that department with two more than Howe. In a three-way tie with seven each are Carr, Cowley and Elmer Lach of Canadiens.

Toronto's Bill Ezinicki continues atop the penalty parade with 17 minutes.

Helps Check Colds Quickly

You can often check a cold quickly if you follow these instructions.

Just as soon as you feel the cold coming on and experience headache, pains in the back or limbs, soreness through the body, take a Paradol tablet, a good big drink of hot lemonade or ginger tea and go to bed.

The Paradol affords almost immediate relief from the pains and aches and helps you to get off to sleep. The dose may be repeated, if necessary, according to the directions. If there is soreness of the throat, gargle with two Paradol tablets dissolved in water. Just try Paradol the next time you have a cold and we believe that you will be well pleased. Paradol does not disappoint.

LESSON NO. 531

By SAM GORDON
The Kibitzer

The partner who can make me sore and cause me misery, will open with a bid of four when he should start with three.

An opening bid of four in a major suit (or five in a minor) shows a long suit and no outside sure tricks. Therefore, it has no interest in a slam.

An opening bid of three in a major suit (or four in a minor) not only guarantees a long-strong suit. It also promises at least one sure trick in another suit.

Such a hand may expect a slam if partner has two sure tricks. Consequently, if partner has two sure tricks, he would suggest a slam. He does so by some bid that acts as a signal.

If responder bids game in that suit, he admits his hand does not contain two sure tricks. Therefore, any other response is a signal that two sure tricks are in that hand.

When partner opens with a three bid or a four bid, you assume that suit will be trump. No matter what responding bid you make to it, you neither deny nor admit support in that suit. You assume that partner's suit is long enough and strong enough to stand alone.

Trifle with this pair of partnership hands:

SOUTH
♠None
♥A K Q 7 6 5 2
♦6 5 4
♣A K 5
NORTH
♠K 6 5 3
♥8 3
♦A K Q
♣8 7 4 3

South opens with three hearts, north responds with three no-trump. That promises two sure tricks and denies having a biddable suit for a takeout.

So, south bids four no-trump, the ace and king asking convention. To which north replies with five spades, the signal for showing one ace and two kings. South goes to six hearts.

If south knew that north had solid diamonds, the bid might have reached seven hearts. With a diamond or club or heart lead, how would you plan to take 13 tricks?

Or would you?

Little Benny's Note Book

I was studying my homework and feeling against it, and I said, Aw G, ma, jimminy crickets, pop, what's a use of me studying all this stuff and then going to school tomorrow and maybe probably not getting called on to answer even one question?

Now that's entirely the wrong attitude, ma said. You're not being given a wonderful free education just so you can tell your teacher an occasional correct answer that she knows perfectly well in the first place for land sakes. You're studying for your own future good so you can gradually store up nolledge and information that will be of priceless advantage in coming years. Nolledge is power, haven't you ever heard that expression? she said, and I said, Sure, ma, but how about the expression, ignorance is bliss?

For Peet sake nobody ever needs to worry over not having enough ignorance, pop said. It's what you know that counts, not what you don't know. The man who knows is the man who can do, he said, and I said, But what you dont know cant hurt you, pop. That's what ma always tells me when I keep on asking her a lot of questions about things I dont know.

Ye gods, how do you suppose mankind ever climbed out of the mud of ignorance and the depths of superstition? pop said. By one person after another; learning something new and passing the nolledge on to others, that's how, he said, and I said, But if everybody always kept on doing that, how would anybody ever have time to mind their own business, and you always claim minding your own business is one of the greatest things you can do, pop.

Studying your lessons is your business right now, and business had better be good pretty quick, pop said.

Which it was, proving it's no use knowing all the good answers as long as you have to be the last one to listen.

CLUB OWNER DIVORCED

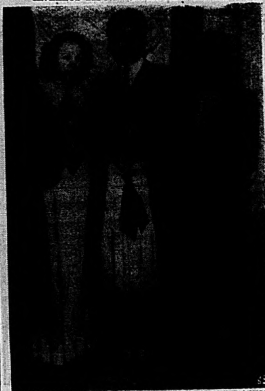
Reno, Nev., Nov. 14 —(AP)— Elise Sparrow Yawkey yesterday divorced Thomas A. Yawkey, millionaire owner of the Boston Red Sox American League baseball team, on a charge of three years' separation.

STAMPS QUITE VALUABLE

New York, Nov. 14 (AP)—If you have a block of eight United States red and blue 24-cent airmail stamps on which the airplane is inverted, it may be worth $27,000 or more. A block of such stamps, owned by the estate of the late Col. E. H. R. Green, son of Hettie Green, was sold for that sum at public auction yesterday.

AT THE BELLE — Captivating Esther Williams who rises to stardom in her third picture, "Bathing Beauty," the new Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer technicolor musical, boasting an ocean of talent, and Harry James and Xavier Cugat and their bands.

ANGELUS TEMPLE HAILS NEW SISTER



Since Sister Aimee Semple McPherson was laid to rest, Rolph McPherson and his wife, Lorna Dee, have become the spiritual leaders of the Angelus Temple. The new "Sister" was hailed at the first Sunday service following the funeral of her mother-in-law. With their two children, Kay, right, and Marlene, Lorna Dee and her husband are shown above.

AT THE CAPITOL — This street battle convinces James Cagney that while Bill Henry may be down, he's definitely not out for Marjorie Lord, whom they both love, has rushed to Bill's aid. The scene is from the exciting dramatic film "Johnny Come Lately," which is the current attraction at the Capitol Theatre. The added comedy with music "Hot Rhythm," stars Dona Drake and Robt. Lowery.

FALA'S FIANCEE AND HER OWNER

The secret is out, now that the election is out of the way and Fala is assured of another four years in the White House. The nation's most famous Scottie is to have a bride and the lucky dog is shown here with her young mistress, Betsy Porter, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Paul Porter of Washington. The name of the bride-to-be is "Rubev" and she is no run of the mill Scottie. She was sent to Betsy by Gen. Eisenhower, under whose bed she was born in Algiers. Her mother is "Telek" the Scottie given to Gen. Eisenhower by Prime Minister Winston Churchill.

Would Force Japs To Make Reparations In Rubber Stocks

St. Catharines, Ont., November 14 —(Special)—"Whatever the Japanese do or do not do in British Malaya with the rubber estates they captured, they should most certainly, at the end of the war in the Pacific, be made to hand over to the Allies a great amount of rubber as part of the reparations agreed upon, for, when the Japanese captured the country, they obtained 50% of the source of the world's rubber supply" stated E. H. Banks, Toronto, Press representative, Canadian Pacific Railway, in an address before the Junior Chamber of Commerce here last night.

"The question asked on all sides," continued Mr. Banks, "is what will be the condition of the estates when they are handed back to their British owners after the allied victory. As very little of a scorched earth policy was practised by the British when the country was overrun by the Japanese, it is probable that the majority of the estates will be found intact and producing rubber. In this connection, however, it must not be forgotten that the Japanese, when they see defeat in sight, may decide to tap the trees to death. This would enable them, if they thought it worthwhile, to get away with about 200,000 tons of rubber".

PREPARATION

The Japanese now have five divisions in this pivotal struggle in the Philippines campaign. At full strength, this would mean 60,000 Japanese troops in the hotly-contested sector of Leyte Island.

Gen. MacArthur reported the steady but slow American drive had broken the enemy's plans for a counter-blow "by compelling the Japanese to premature and piecemeal commitments of his forces for the defence of the main bastion of the Yamashita Line."

While American artillery raked the enemy in the Ormoc squeeze, ground elements seized another elevation, Mount Cabungangan, overlooking the battlefield, in a three-mile advance from Mount Catabaran, where their positions were being consolidated.

Proceeding Slowly

General MacArthur said the bulk of the 24th Division, moving down the tortuous highway toward Ormoc from Carigara Bay, was proceeding slowly "in the face of increasingly strong opposition."

To the east, organized Japanese resistance in the hills flanking Dagami and Patok, in central Leyte valley, was broken by the 96th Division pressing westward.

The simmering campaign in the Palau islands broke into brief activity last week when 200 Japanese troops occupied Ngeregong Islet, 8 miles northwest of American-held Peleliu, in an apparent reconnaissance move, Admiral Nimitz announced at Pearl Harbor yesterday. He said a small U.S. marine patrol was removed without casualties from the islet.

The Japanese landed under cover of a storm, evidently across Denges passage from Eil Malk Island, two miles north of Ngeregong.

An American destroyer and two gunboats blocked Denges Passage, to check possible further landings, and bombarded Ngeregong.

TIRPITZ SUNK

earthquake bombs from the bellies of big-four-engined Lancasters.

The Tirpitz cost the enemy $50,000,000, over five years to build and had never engaged in a sea battle. She was sunk Sunday in less than five minutes.

The Lancasters, led by Wing Cmdr. J. B. Tait and Sqdn. Ldr. A. G. Williams, landed "away from base" — presumably in Russia.

The Tirpitz, one of the most powerful warships in the world, had been wounded and attacked persistently, but the Royal Navy was never able to bring her to battle. She bristled with eight 15-inch guns in two turrets, also had 12 six-inch and 16 four-inch guns, carried four planes, and had a normal crew of 1,600 men.

172 CIVILIANS KILLED

London, Nov. 14 (CP-Reuter)—The Ministry of Home Security announced yesterday that 172 civilians were killed in air raids in the United Kingdom during October. Injured and detained in hospital were listed as 416.

MAY CUT MENINGITIS

Toronto, Nov. 14 — (CP) — Dr. Alan Brown, Physician-in-Chief of the Hospital for Sick Children here, said yesterday he believed penicillin may cut meningitis practically to the vanishing point. He said in an interview that three or four cases treated recovered.

LEAVES FOR HOME

Chungking, Nov. 14 (AP)—Clarence E. Gauss, who recently resigned as United States Ambassador to China, left for home by plane today.

COMET-LIKE BOMBS HIT BRITAIN

For the past several weeks, Prime Minister Churchill has just told the House of Commons, comet-like V-2 rocket bombs have been striking in "widely scattered points" in England. The new weapon is said to pierce the stratosphere about 70-miles high and hit the earth at 1,000 m.p.h., considerably faster than sound travels. Churchill disclosed that some launching bases had been captured when Walcheren Island, off the coast of Holland, was overrun recently. A dispatch in a London paper stated that one base from which the bombs were fired was believed to be at Utrecht, 20 miles north of the present fighting line in the Netherlands, approximately 200 miles from London.

WIFE JOINS UP

Seattle, Nov. 14 (AP)—Capt. James Dondon, Jr., who survived the "march of death" on Bataan and 2 1-3 years in Japanese prison camps, came home to learn that his wife had joined the United States Women's Army Corps. "What's that?" he asked. Captain Dondon soon found out. His wife's a major.

U. S. OFFICER RECAPTURED

New Orleans, Nov. 14 — (AP) — Robert G. Kaslow, former United States Army Air Corps officer who escaped from the Craig Field, Ala., guard house Friday night and fled in an army plane, was apprehended here last night by agents of the Federal Bureau of Investigation.

WANTS MORE AMMUNITION

Washington, Nov. 14 — (AP) — Robert Patterson, United States Undersecretary of War, reported yesterday that Gen. Eisenhower "has an imperative need for much more artillery ammunition than we are producing."

GYPSY BLOOD

By MARGARET NORRIS

CHAPTER EIGHT

Anna lay there in the chill gloom of the morning, thin blankets pulled to her chin and thought of her late lamented job—was she really sorry she had lost it?

She thought of the girls at this moment taking their accustomed places in the ice-box room of the candy factory, to stand on their feet until six. Did she really wish she were back with them, going through the self same motions, week after week, after month, afte ryear until she were old shrivelled as Daise—poor autumnal Daise who always looked as though she had stuck her face in the flour barrel to pull out the ring with her teeth, as they had done at the Halloween party?

Heavens! what luck she'd been fired! But the question was, what to do next? Find another job of its kind? Queue up with the ranks of the jobless to sign on the dotted line where she was born and when and why and where she had worked before? Anna's places of former employment had become so numerous, there was scarcely room to list them all on one application sheet. Usually she extended the periods of employment to gloss over the damaging admission of hired on Wednesday, fired on Thursday.

How Anna hated the whole regime and how she loathed going through it again! If only she could lead the care free lige of the girls of that other world, where Harry Baldwin lived and others of his kind! If she could only go to school, read books, look at pictures and travel—learn how to be a lady and how to ease into that world!

Anna had met girls who were working their way through school since she came to America. There were some at the Girls' Service League who were doing it—then, like an inspiration, came the thought of the kind ladies over there, who were always kind, however much she annoyed them and who had found her many jobs. Once more she would carry her troubles to them. Perhaps they could offer a solution; at least they would find her another job.

Anna leaped from bed. If she hurried, they might give her a bite of breakfast for the deadline was passed for the cold coffee and toast they served at the Club Elizabeth. Anna's healthy young system was craving food.

From the street the world looked less dreary. The sun was shining and the air was crisp; Anna responded to the atmosphere like a collapsed balloon fed by the gas jet.

In the office of the League she inquired for the matron.

"Splendid!" said the matron when she saw her. "I was just telephoning for you. There is someone here to see you. Come upstairs with me."

Anna's keen nose scented trouble. One blow's always followed by two, but she followed meekly, though anxiously. Even so, it was worse than she had feared.

There in dilapidated working clothes, his face more grizzled and dirty than ever his hands beating an uneasy tune on his knees, sat the big Pole, her father.

When Anna and her father saw each other, the hatchet was buried for the moment and each fell upon the other's neck with the emotional abandon of children.

"My baby! My little Anna child!" Her father was calling her pet names in Polish and Anna was sobbing on his shabby, shoulder stroking his unkept beard. To see someone to whom she really belonged after months in a far, strange country—she forgot he was harsh and neglectful and unkind and that she had run away from him.

A moment of affectionate abandon—then simultaneously they remembered their quarrel. His terms of endearment changed to scoldings, his embraces to sharp rebuffs; he was shaking her while she pulled away; they were fighting like two crazy boys.

In the torrent of angry Polish, the matron understood not a word, but the tone was unmistakable and she got the general drift.

"Here! Here—" she cried, trying to be peace maker, her voice well nigh drowned in the din. "That's a fine way for long lost father and a daughter to greet each other." She made futile efforts to separate them but it was like tearing apart two mad dogs and she wondered if she would have to call the police to handle the situation.

Then just as suddenly they broke apart. Anna backed sullenly into the corner and the father sat down on a chair breathing hard, wiping his brow with his sleeve.

Pointing a dirty, gnarled finger at Anna, one baleful eye fixed on the matron, he said in Polish mixed with execrable English.

"She bad girl! She run away!"

"I know it," said the matron, deeply relieved that the affair was to be settled by parlance instead of brute force, even though she did not understand.

"She no mind her father!" His tone was ominous as though preceding some baleful sentence.

Then, weary of the effort of English words, he hurtled back into Polish, flinging invectives at Anna, swift and sharp as a machine gun. But his daughter sat sullen in the corner with not even the satisfaction of a retort.

"What's he saying?" the matron asked Anna.

"He wants to know where is the money I was going to save to help bring mother and the children over from Poland."

"And where is it?" Remember, I warned you."

The girl shrugged eloquent shoulders and made an empty gesture into the air. "Yes where? Lots of money I have to save. Yesterday I lost my job!"

"Again? This is almost chronic, Anna."

"Well, I held this one three months."

"And you want me to find you another one?"

"No! No! I hate them all. I want you to find me a place to live where I can work my way through school. I want to learn something and get ahead—get out of factories!"

"But what would your father think of this plan? What about the money for your mother?"

"Oh, I don't know, I don't know!" wailed Anna, bursting into tears.

Just then the big Pole, suspecting a plot and tired of not being consulted again seized the conversational bit in his mouth and galloped into Polish. Anna leaped from her place in the corner and flung her arms around the matron.

"Don't let him! Oh please don't let him!" she begged.

"Don't let him what?" asked the matron. She must brush up on her Polish.

"He says he will take me away with him, back to that terrible room where I lived when I worked in the fur factory. And I must give him all my money."

"Of course he shan't. Don't be frightened. We'll look after you!"

Using Anna as interpreter and language, the diplomacy of which was lost in the translation, the matron reasoned with the irate Pole. Eventually she made it clear to him if he would leave his daughter with her, she would find her work from which she would save at least a dollar, perhaps two each week, for a fund which should be labelled "Ma and the kids," or its Polish equivalent.

Cattle Supply Taxes Week's Killer Capacity

Toronto, Nov. 14. (CP)—The cattle supply at the Union stockyards now will more than tax killer capacity for the week, officials of the yards reported today. It was estimated 2,500 to 3,000 head of cattle will be unsold at the end of the week. Officials warned that no further shipments should be made by car or truck up to Saturday. Saturday's car loading, it was added, should be restricted to one-half normal volume.

The lamb and sheep supply at the yards is also too heavy and there will be a heavy carry-over at the weekend.

Officials said deliveries of lambs to the yards or local packing plants should be suspended until further notice.

Holstein Bull Brings $15,200

Brantford, Nov. 14 — (CP)—J. J. E. McCague of Alliston, Ont., received $15,200 for an 18-months old Holstein bull, Glenafton Rag Apple Mark, at the Blue Ribbon sale held yesterday at Waukesha, Wis., it is learned here.

This was the top price of the sale and the largest amount paid for a Canadian-bred bull since 1918 when Senator A. C. Hardy of Brockville sold Carnation King Sylvia to Carnation milk farms of Seattle, Wash., for $106,000.

The buyer of "Mark" was Lauxmont Farms, Wrightsville, Pa. Harden Farms, Camden, N.J., paid $15,000 and $10,500 for two sons of the famous Montvic Lochinvar, who was bred at Mount Victoria Farms, Hudson Heights, Que.

Top price for a female yesterday was $9,000 paid by Curtiss Candy Co. to Bancroft Acres Farms, Flint, Mich., for Meadowood Abbekerk Rag Apple who was bought a year ago by Bancroft for $5,100 from J. E. Chandler of Hudson Heights, Que., the top price of the all-Canadian sale at Oakville.

The 67 head sold averaged $2,028 the highest average at a consignment sale on the continent since 1920.

The Holstein bull that sold here for the Canadian record price of $14,150 two years ago — Montvic Renown — is dead, its former owner G. M. Clemons, was informed today by the purchasers, the Curtiss Candy Co., Chicago. The bull died following an operation for removal of a nail from his stomach.

400 Planes Hit Tokyo and Area Says Jap Radio

San Francisco, Nov. 14. (AP)—Waves of American planes hit Manila and nearby airfields yesterday and today, Manila time, doing "slight damage" to warships, installations and shipping, Tokyo radio and the enemy-controlled Manila broadcast station said today.

Four hundred planes blasted the Philippine Capital City, Cavite and Clark Field yesterday and 400 sorties were flown over Manila targets today, said the broadcasts heard by the Federal Communications commission.

The enemy claimed 73 of the raiders were shot down or damaged in the two-day period.

NEWS PHOTOGRAPHER KILLED

Gen. MacArthur's Headquarters, Philippines, Nov. 14—(AP)— (Via Army Radio)— A Japanese sniper's bullet killed Frank Prist, 30, veteran Acme News Picture photographer, during heavy fighting in the Ormoc sector yesterday. Prist was the fourth war correspondent to die in action since the Philippine campaign started and the 13th killed in the Pacific area since the war started.

He was the 44th Allied Correspondent lost since war broke out in 1939.

TORONTO STOCK EXCHANGE

Toronto, Nov. 14 — (CP) — Industrial stocks gained in the early session and other groups were down narrowly on Toronto Exchange today. Turnover was a little heavier than in the previous session at 274,000 shares for the first three hours.

Papers, senior oils and the banks displayed moderate strength and the liquors were unchanged. But for a loss of 1-2 for Hiram Walker to 73 1-2. Canadian Breweries Pfd, selling ex-dividend 85 cents, was down a point to 42. Brazilian weakened 1-2 to 22 1-2.

Three junior golds, Aubelle, Northland and Transcontinental resources were heavy traders on a loss of a cent for Aubelle and a gain of 13 cents for Transcontinental. Other strong golds were Malartic Gold Fields, Madsen, Cochenour Willans and Aunor. Weakness was shown by Wright-Hargreaves, Wasa Lake, Springer-Sturgeon and McKenzie.

Noranda, Smelters, Labrador, Waite-Amulet and Lake Dufault were softer spots in the base metal list.

NEW YORK EXCHANGE

New York, Nov. 14 (AP)—Selling lessened perceptibly in today's stock market and, here and there slight recovery signs appeared, but offerings still were sufficient to keep most leaders in the fractional minus column. Both speculative and investment contingents paid more attention to the reconversion situation on the idea the European conflict may be further along than realized. Dealings slowed near the fourth hour.

Laggards the greater part of the time included U.S. Steel, General Motors, Chrysler, U.S. Rubber, Goodyear, Sears Roebuck, Santa Fe, Southern Pacific, Anaconda, Johns-Manville, Electric Boat and Allied Chemical.

Canadian issues were slightly more active and generally stronger.

LIVESTOCK

Montreal, Nov. 14 (CP)—Prices were steady on the livestock markets today. Receipts: Calves 60; sheep, 325; hogs, 46.

There were 900 head of cattle, consisting chiefly of canners and cutters and a few light steers and heifers of boner quality, held over from yesterday. The market was dull and no sales were reported.

Good vealers were in demand at 12.50-14. Common lights were 7. Grass calves sold mostly at 4-5.50. Lambs brought 12 for good ewes and wethers. Culls were mostly 6 with some sales at 8. Sheep fetched 1.50-4.50.

Hogs were 17.65 for grade A and sows 12.50-12.75 dressed.

TORONTO LIVESTOCK

Toronto, Nov. 14. (CP)—Cattle trade was very dull on the livestock market with only a few hundred head sold up to mid-session today at steady prices. Lamb trade was very dull and steady. Veal calves were steady. Sheep were steady. No price was established for hogs. Unsold from yesterday were 5,700 head of cattle and 2,800 sheep and lambs with capacity tested by the holdover and fresh receipts. The livestock market officials issued a statement cautioning farmers against further shipments of cattle, sheep and lambs.

Receipts today as reported by the Dominion Marketing Service follow: Cattle 1,600, calves 300, hogs 800, sheep and lambs 900.

Prices in the trade included:

Cattle: A few weighty steers $10 to $12, common to medium butcher steers and heifers $8.25 to $10.25, a few butcher cows $7 to $8.75, canners and cutters $5 to $6.75, bulls $8 to $10, fed yearlings $11 to $13.75.

Calves: $14 to $15 for choice with heavy vealers $8 to $13 and grassers $5.50 to $6.

Lambs: Good ewes and wethers $12.50 to $13, bucks $11.50 to $12, culls $7 to $8.

Sheep: $2 to $4.50.

Sweden Says 1,200 Germans Died On the Tirpitz

New York, Nov. 14 —(AP)— The Stockholm Tidningen asserted today that 1,200 Germans died on the battleship Tirpitz Sunday, when British bombs sent it to the bottom of an Arctic Fjord in Norway.

Many of the 800 rescued from the 2,000 in the crew were injured seriously because "the first direct hit compressed the exits and prevented the crew from getting out," the dispatch, distributed by the office of War Information said.

LIFTING OF HONEY RATION PROSPECTS NOT BRIGHT

Calgary, Nov. 14 — (CP)—Prospects for lifting the ration on honey are not bright, in the opinion of the nation's leading producers now attending the annual meeting of the Canadian Beekeepers' Council here. They point out the honey ration could hardly be removed before the sugar supply becomes improved, and they add the sugar shortage now is worse than ever.

500 Disabled Canadians Back

Halifax, Nov. 14 —(CP)— Five hundred disabled Canadian fighting men, most of them veterans of land fighting in France and Italy, arrived back in Canada today aboard the Canadian Hospital ship Lady Nelson, hard on the heels of hundreds of others who landed yesterday from the British Hospital ship Aba.

The new group included men who had fought the Nazis from D-Day in France after landing on the Normandy beaches, others who had battled their way from the Sicilian beachheads right up through Italy and paratroopers who dropped into France even before H-hour.

A number of airmen were aboard, and so were the usual complement of soldiers who had been invalided back because of illness or injuries suffered during training in England.

MANPOWER PREVENTS SIMILAR STEP

London, Nov. 14 — (CP)—Deputy Prime Minister Attlee told the House of Commons today that Britain's manpower problems made it impossible to assign to non-operational duty the last surviving son in a family in which there had been one or more casualties. Such a plan was announced recently in the United States.

CHINESE UNITY SEEN AFTER WAR

Maj. Richard Brown Who Fought in Chinese Red Army Returns to Toronto

Toronto, Nov. 14 (CP)—One of two white men who fought with Gen. Chu Teh's Chinese Communists army, Maj. Richard Brown is back at his home here. Maj. Brown was a confidante of both Gen. Chu Teh and Gen. Chiang Kai-Shek, and acted a liaison officer between the central government at Chungking and Chinese forces in the north.

Disguised as a Chinese peasant he slipped back and forth through Japanese lines with messages. The 46-year-old doctor, who fought in the first Great War as a boy of 18, is an outspoken champion of China.

He said reports of friction between Gen. Chiang Kai-Shek and the Communists are exaggerated. He said he believes there will be unity in China after the war.

"What China wants most is for the outside world to gain an intelligent understanding of the difficulties within China in terms of Chinese history and geography," he said. "Too many capitalistic countries interpret China's action in terms of their gaining or losing money as a result.

"China is coming out of the war as a strong nation and one to be reckoned with. Britain and America cannot solve her problems. They must be solved by the Chinese."

Report Gestapo Arrests Officials 2 German Banks

New York, Nov. 14 —(AP)— The Gestapo has arrested the managing directors of Germany's "two greatest banks," causing a panic in German financial circles "greater than the panic following the bank crash in 1931," the Swedish newspaper Stockholm Tidningen said in an article reported today by the Office of War Information.

The bankers were listed as Dr. Oswald Roesler, managing director of the Deutsche Bank, and Karl Goetz, managing director of the Dresdner Bank.

The newspaper said they were arrested for refusing to accept short-term German treasury notes "thus expressing doubt in a German victory." The story said "people stormed the banks to withdraw their deposits and big industries attempted to cancel their accounts."

BACTERIOLOGIST DIES

Owen Sound, Nov. 14 — (CP) — Dr. Edward W. Hammind, 74, chief bacteriologist with the Borden Co., in Toronto for 36 years, died at his home here last night. He had been retired since 1936. He was born in Cambridge, England.

He was the inventor of a special hydrometer for heavy liquids, a stirrer for dairy work and a special dye for analytical studies. He also wrote a number of papers on milk, tubercle bacilli and cholera.

SHOOTS TWO DEER ON FIRST HUNTING TRIP

To shoot two deer on his first hunting trip to the north woods is the record of Bill Elliott, local service station proprietor. Early in the season Bill and a friend, Charles Reid, trekked to the Highland Grove district for a spot of hunting and was successful in shooting his first deer the first day in the woods. His second deer was brought down yeterday and with the two-man quota filled, the party returned to the city. He claims the elusive buck as being hard to shoot "almost as hard as a bird," he said.

Mess Room Chatter Of Canada's Airmen

By The Canadian Press

With the R. C. A. F. Overseas, Nov. 14—(CP)—There was a time when WO. Clifford Moe of Morrin, Alta., wouldn't practice one-engine flying, but that has all changed.

Moe pilots a twin-engined Beaufighter, a difficult plane to fly on one engine, and most Beaufighter pilots spend a certain amount of their non-operational time flying with first one engine off then the other, so they'll know what to do if they ever have trouble.

But Moe's Beau had an unpredictable port-side engine and, although his flight commander was worried, he would not rehearse this one-engine flying. That is, not until after he went out on a mine-sweeper attack off the French coast.

At the height of the attack, a flak burst caught Moe's aircraft in the starboard engine. The coastal command pilot broke away and flew home, landing at a British base.

"It was a grim trip," he said. "I got in all my one-engine practice at once. When I landed I remembered that the engine put out of commission was my good one and I had come back on the dud engine."

Since then, Moe has practised one-engine flying.

Flt. Lieut. Grant Beacock, Chapleau and Kingston, Ont., of the R. C. A. F. Buffalo coastal command squadron was mentioned in dispatches for a glorious "mistake" that earned him the admiration of all his squadron mates.

Medical officer of the Buffalos, Beacock heard that a Beaufighter crashed in a take-off, with a full load of incendiary and cannon shells and gasoline aboard. Sprinting to his ambulance, he rushed to the field with his emergency satchel in hand.

The "doc" waved back a group of airmen standing nearby and ran straight to the burning aircraft, disregarding its load of explosives due to detonate at any moment. Once at the plane, he saw it was empty and jumped back to a safe distance as the explosions began.

FO. W. K. (Red) McGrath, Bartonville, Ont., navigator, had dragged the unconscious pilot, FO. Johnny Cummings, Ottawa, to safety immediately after the crash. Airmen shouted this information to the M. O. as he ran to the Beau but he didn't hear them.

Later, Beacock felt a little "foolish" but no one else looked upon his deed that way and his gallantry now has been officially recognized. McGrath received the George Medal for what he did.

First Canadian night fighter pilot to score a "kill" while operating from a French base was WO. L. E. Fitchett, Victoria, who blew a Heinkel 111 out of the sky over Eindhoven, Holland . . . another Canadian victory unreported until now, was scored by FO. H. Cush, Calgary Mustang pilot who destroyed an ME 109 near Wesel.

During the air lull over western Europe, pilots of Wing Cmdr. Dall Russel's wing who damaged a German aircraft had to buy drinks all round. Then came the week when Russel's men destroyed 50 enemy planes.

When asked by an intelligence officer after one sortie if any enemy planes were damaged, FO. George Mercer of St. Marys, Ont., queried in all seriousness, "Are you counting those too?"

BRITISH SMASH ACROSS TWO CANALS IN HOLLAND

3 More Vaunted Forts Near Metz Taken by Yanks

Civilian Population of City Ordered Evacuated by Nazis

By WILLIAM FRYE

(Associated Press Staff Writer.)

London, Nov. 15 (AP)—British troops in southeastern Holland have smashed across the Noord and Wessem canals, west of Roermond, and established a firm bridgehead while three more of the vaunted forts guarding Metz 150 miles to the south fell today as United States troops closed to within 1 3-4 miles of the city.

Forts Hubert and Jussy, west of Metz, fell to the United States 95th infantry division which reached a point two miles from Metz. South of Thionville, Fort Illange and its garrison surrendered.

South of Metz, American troops which captured Forts L'Aisne and L'Yser, met stiffening German resistance on the high ridge beyond captured Pouilly. East of this point, other Americans seized Peltre, 2 1-2 miles southeast of Metz.

The German radio said the Americans had opened assaults on two more of the great Metz forts—Driant, which the enemy successfully defended two months ago, and Jeanne D'Arc.

Two German counter-attacks were repulsed by the Americans southeast of Metz—one in the Peltre-Pouilly sector and another in the vicinity of Arriance, where units of the 6th armored division are spearheading attacks beyond the Nied River.

Despite signs that the Germans do not plan a suicide stand in Metz the Berlin radio announced that the civilian population of Metz had been ordered evacuated.

Firm Bridgehead Made.

Doubling the Allied assault on the west front, troops of the British 2nd army struck savagely toward the Maas (Meuse) River east of Nederweert yesterday afternoon. By this morning they had established a firm bridgehead across the Noord and Wessem canals west of Roermond and were expanding the weight of their drive, thinly opposed except for the usual troublesome and extensive minefields.

A field report today said Lt.-Gen. Dempsey's troops had gained 4,000 yards on a three-mile front west of Venlo.

Immediately south of Metz, the Americans who breached the ring of forts—finding them surprisingly unmanned and stripped of their big guns—ran up against a hastily-emplaced line of German 88-mm. guns on the ridge beyond Pouilly, less than two miles south of the city.

Another American column was closing in on Metz from the west, and north of the fortress city—reputedly the strongest citadel in Europe—the two bridgeheads across the Moselle at Koenigsmacher and Uckange were consolidated and expanded.

On the right flank of the U.S. 3rd army's attack, American infantry and armor advancing north of Chateau Salins reached the area of Destrich and Barwonweiler, swinging the left arm of a pincers toward the encirclement of Moerchingen.

Initial Objectives Won.

As the sudden offensive on the British sector of the west front gained momentum, a spokesman at Field Marshal Montgomery's 21st Army group headquarters said all initial objectives had been won, and the enemy had withdrawn from the line of the canals in the Maas bulge.

Meijel, springboard of a savage counter-thrust by the enemy two weeks ago, was found abandoned, and only light resistance met the British attacks, led by flame-throwing tanks, as they crossed the Noord canal near the village of Waatscamp and the Wessen canal, southeast of Weert. The village of Eind was captured.

A 21st army group spokesman said "the Boche is thinned out," and added it was possible the enemy had pulled the bulk of his forces behind the Maas river.

Fresh gains were scored also by Franco-American troops of the 6th army group in the Vosges mountains and foothills north of the Swiss border. Northeast of Baccarat they advanced approximately two miles against light resistance, and east of Bruyeres the town of Granges Sur Vologne and several nearby villages were captured as the enemy was forced back more than a mile.

7th Victory Loan Oversubscribed By $167,637,600

Ottawa, Nov. 15 — (CP) — On the basis of figures received to date Canada's $1,300,000,000 Seventh Victory Loan was oversubscribed by $167,637,600 and reports of further subscriptions are awaited, the War Finance Committee reported today.

Further returns of purchases made during the loan's three-week campaign which ended Saturday brought the cumulative total to $1,467,637,600, the committee reported. Returns were still incomplete and an up-to-date report on subscriptions would be made Saturday.

Sunday in its first report after the campaign closed, the committee reported that on the basis of preliminary figures subscriptions totalled $1,326,129,750 and probably would total about $1,500,000,000 when final figures were received.

The $1,200,000,000 Sixth Victory Loan last spring was oversubscribed $307,576,650.

Of the seventh loan's latest total, $747,628,550 was from the corporate investor group as compared with $751,996,250 in the sixth loan. Sales to individuals amounted to $719,-009,050, representing an increase of about $115,000,000 over the corresponding sixth loan figures.

Officials of the War Finance Committee were watching with interest the trend which was carrying the individual purchase total almost to that of the level of the corporate investor group total.

The number of applications for Seventh Loan bonds stood at 2,996,-221 as compared with 2,760,820 at this time during the sixth loan, an increase of 229,401.

The average purchase by individuals during the recent campaign stood at $240.47 compared with $218.81 at this point of the sixth loan returns.

4,000 Tons Dates Sent to Canada

Vancouver, Nov. 15 (CP)—Following the opening of the eastern Mediterranean by the British navy, 4,000 tons of dates from Iraq will be delivered to Canada during the winter months, Ronald Kenvyn, Prices Board field representative, said last night.

Almonds and filberts from Spain and Portugal may also come to Canada. Shipments of Nigerian peanuts are expected as well as 18,-000 tons of raisins and currants from Australia, he said.

D.N.B. Agency Reports Attempted Landing

London, Nov. 15 — (CP-Reuter)—The German D.N.B. agency reported another "attempted" British landing on the island of Melos at the entrance to the Aegean today.

The Germans said the attack was repelled by the garrison of the island, one of the Cyclades group, after "the enemy landed near Cape Psali, in the southwestern part of the island." The enemy report said the British force was supported by a naval formation "consisting of a heavy cruiser, an aircraft carrier and three destroyers."

Heavy Fighting Will Certainly Last for Good Long Time—Churchill

London, Nov. 15 —(AP)— Prime Minister Churchill, home from a tour of French battlefronts, told the House of Commons today that extremely heavy fighting "will certainly last for a good long time."

His statement was in reply to James Duncan, Conservative, who asked that men over 40 in "static" military stations be released from the Army.

"I need hardly remind you that the static stations are necessary for the prosecution of the war," the Prime Minister replied. "Officers and men over 40 of low medical category who are employed there release officers and men for more active duty. In view of the present shortage of manpower I regret that the present arrangement for indefinite release from the forces cannot be altered."

Insistence by Mr. Duncan that the matter be reviewed in the light of new facts brought the statement from Mr. Churchill:

"The new fact that stares one in the face is that extremely heavy fighting is continuing week by week and will certainly l/t for a good long time."

7,000 DRAFTEES BETWEEN D-DAY, OCT. 31 GO ACTIVE

Minister of Defence Makes Disclosures on Home Defence Army Of 60,000

Ottawa, Nov. 15 —(CP)— An upsurge of recruiting that followed the June 6 invasion of Europe resulted in more than 7,000 draftees volunteering for general service between D-Day and Oct. 31, Gen. McNaughton disclosed in a statement last night.

Gen. McNaughton's statement made these disclosures about the 60,000-man home defence army:

1. Voluntary enlistments from among draftees during the June 6-Oct. 31 period, ranging from a high of 2,975 in June to a low of 850 in October, totalled 7,875 against an intake of 6,200.

2. Of the 31,500 enrolled in 1941, an incomplete year dating from March, 7,500 volunteered for the active army, 4,200 went to other services and 3,300 were discharged, leaving a total of 15,000, of whom 6,200 still are draftees.

3. Quebec's total of 22,800 in the home defence army includes 2,900 enrolled in 1941, more than any other province.

4. Of 101,000 enrolled in 1942, 31,000 volunteered; of 34,000 enrolled in 1943, 6,800 volunteered, and of 15,000 enrolled this year up to Sept. 31, 10,200 volunteered.

5. The draftee total includes 17,800 men who speak English only, 12,100 speaking French only, 14,400 speaking English and French and 15,700 who speak foreign languages and generally are able to speak either English or French as well.

6. Draftees considered suitable for employment as infantry total 42,000, including 16,300 from Quebec, 10,250 from Ontario, 10,000 from the Prairies, 2,850 from British Columbia and 2,600 from the Maritime Provinces.

Monthly Totals Given.

Here are the monthly totals of draftees volunteering from June to October this year, with intake figures in brackets:

June, 2,975 (1,500); July, 1,350 (1,350); August, 1,350 (1,225); September, 1,350 (1,050); October, 850 (1,075).

Tables in Gen. McNaughton's statement also showed that nearly 975,000 men have entered all three services since the outbreak of the war, with the number of draftees still on strength who have failed to "go active" amounting to about seven per cent of that total.

The tables also showed the growing strength of the home defence army. At the end of 1941 it totalled 16,500 men, then 58,500 at the end of 1942, 74,700 in 1944 and 68,500 up to Sept. 30, 1944. At present, 8,500 are on extended leave for various reasons.

Gen. McNaughton's statement, promised when he took over the defence ministry after the resignation of Col. J. L. Ralston, was preliminary to the issuance of weekly figures showing the number of drafted men who volunteer for general service in response to the General's voluntary recruiting stand.

Dr. Frank Sargent, M.O.H., Coroner of Frontenac, Dies Suddenly

Kingston, Nov. 15 — (CP) — Dr. Frank Sargent of Sydenham, Ont., Medical Officer of Health and coroner for Frontenac County, died suddenly in his office last night after suffering a heart attack.

Dr. Sargent practiced at Sydenham since he graduated from Queen's University with his medical degree in 1908. He is survived by his widow and one daughter.

HERE IS THE TRANSATLANTIC SHIP OF THE FUTURE

Here is an exact scale-model of the DC-7 which is to be used by Pan-American World Airways as its post-war transatlantic ship of the air. The new ship dwarfs present-day passenger planes. It has a wing spread greater than the height of a 16-storey building; has 81-ton gross weight and is double the size of the present Boeing clippers now operated by Pan-Am. The huge clipper will carry 108 passengers at speeds better than 300 miles per hour.

100 GENDARMES TAKE INDEPENDENT STATE OF ANDORRA

Action Has No Connection With Orders for Arrest of Count of Paris

Paris, Nov. 15 (AP)—French gendarmes have occupied the autonomous state of Andorra in the Pyrenees, the Foreign Office announced today. A spokesman said the action had no connection with orders for the arrest of the Count of Paris, pretender to the French throne, reported on French soil in nearby Perpignan.

However, the Count may have entered France from Spain by way of Andorra and a hunt for him and his associates logically might extend to the tiny state.

The Foreign Office gave no precise explanation of the occupation, which took place yesterday. Recent border clashes between French troops and Spanish Republican guerillas have raised the possibility of future trouble in the area.

A spokesman said Gen. de Gaulle made the decision as ex officio co-Prince of Andorra and that the action was "a preventive measure" to insure security and maintain order throughout the winter months.

Andorra embraces 191 square miles at the French-Spanish frontier on the south slopes of the mountains. Rich iron mines and valuable forests lie in its cold limits. Most of the few thousand inhabitants are shepherds. Maximum length of the country is 17 miles and maximum width is 18.

The spokesman said "about 100" gendarmes, carrying only normal police equipment, entered Andorra under orders of the Prefect of Perpignan.

He said there was no menace to security from Andorra at present, but he added that roads into the valley from the French side always are blocked by snow from the end of November through the winter, and thus it was considered advisable to have the gendarmes in the valley now as a protection against any future possibilities.

The spokesman cited historical precedents for the act during the Franco-Prussian war in 1870, the First Great War in 1914 and the Spanish Civil War in 1936, and at the outset of the present war in 1939.

The independence of Andorra is traditionally ascribed to Charlemagne. Since 1278 it has been under the joint suzerainty of the French State, which inherited the rights of the Counts of Foix, and the Spanish Bishops of Urgel The judiciary is appointed in equal numbers by the bishops and the French government.

Japanese Broadcast Concerned Over Words

New York, Nov. 15 —(CP)—Tokyo radio said today "it can safely be assumed" that Soviet Russia will not break her neutrality with Japan in the immediate future "to play a belligerent part in the Pacific war."

In a broadcast beamed to the United States, a "special commentary written by Dr. Kosaka Tom La, doctor of law and authority on international relations" manifested continued concern over Marshal Stalin's characterization of Japan last week as an "aggressor nation."

WILL ATTEND SESSION

Quebec, Nov. 15 (CP)—Air Minister Power, who underwent an appendicitis operation here two weeks ago, left hospital today. He is expected to attend the House of Commons session opening Nov. 22.

Churchill Just Wanted Cigar, Brandy and Soda

London, Nov. 15 —(CP Reuter)—The latest Churchill story was told today by Sir Reginald Clarry, M.P., president of the Radio Relay Services Association of Great Britain, at the association's annual luncheon here.

Prime Minister Churchill, said Sir Reginald, was called by the Archangel to a conference also attended by Premier Stalin, President Roosevelt and Hitler. The Archangel was concerned about the state of the world, and asked each of the four the cause of it, and what the aspirations were.

Premier Stalin answered that he was concerned with exterminating Germans. Mr. Roosevelt answered that he wanted to exterminate Japs, while Hitler made his familiar assertion that he wanted to exterminate Communists.

Mr. Churchill, asked for his views, replied: "All I want at the moment is a nice cigar and a brandy and soda, but please attend to these other gentlemen first."

Wounded Man, 21, Spends Birthday With His Family

Toronto, Nov. 15 — (CP) — Pte. R. Ross of Niagara Falls, who lost a leg at Falaise in France, celebrated his 21st birthday today by a reunion with his family. Pte. Ross is one of more than 100 officers and men who arrived in Toronto today after reaching Canada a few days ago on the hospital ship Aba.

A veteran of the last war, and overseas for five years in this, Craftsman Donald Fraser of the R.C.E.M.E., a Scotch-Canadian whose home is in Windsor, has been returned from Italy as a result of arthritis in his legs.

"Anybody would get the same complaint if they were stuck in mudholes up to the waist in good old sunny Italy," he said.

Formerly of Fort Erie and now of Toronto, Sgt. Neil Gow who lost the lower part of his left leg, said he was "ashamed to tell" how he was hit.

"We were watching a show put on by the Canadian Legion at Vaucelles," he said, "when a 500-pound aerial bomb came over, exploding close enough to me to bite. Five chaps were immediately killed and four injured."

Gnr. Jack Todd, 21, of Victoria Harbor, received an injury to his arm in an engagement between Canadian and German tanks near the Falaise Gap. The Nazis from a German Mark-4 poured five shots into the Canadian tank, he said, killing one and injuring three members of the crew.

CAN COLLECT ONLY ONE COUPON

Ottawa, Nov. 15—(CP)—Because of recent cuts in the butter ration, managers of hotels, boarding houses and similar establishments may collect only one butter coupon every two weeks from each guest at his establishment, instead of two butter coupons as formerly required, the Prices Board announced today.

Under the revised regulations, effective immediately, guests may be asked to surrender one sugar coupon, one preserves coupon and one butter coupon every two weeks spent in a hotel, boarding house or similar establishment.

AMERICAN FORCES ON THREE SIDES OF JAP ADVANCE

Threaten to cut the Spear From the Shaft Near Ormoc

General MacArthur's Headquarters, Philippines, Nov. 15 —(AP)—American forces today were on three sides of the Japanese spearhead thrusting north from the port of Ormoc on Leyte Island, and threatened to cut the spear from the shaft.

Infantrymen swung wide to the west of the Japanese front line regiment near Limon, while other units maintained pressure along the line from the north. Dismounted cavalry units closed in from captured Hill 1525 and Mount Catabaran to the east in a nutcracker move.

A communique today declared the move is "threatening the Yamashita line below Limon."

American long-range guns were raking the Japanese supply line twisting up through the mountains from Ormoc, making reinforcement of enemy troops at Limon costly and uncertain.

American infantry gained a mountain crest looking down toward Ormoc, 14 miles to the west, in the vicinity of Alto peak.

The American 7th Division at Damulaan on the west Leyte coast, near the mouth of Ormoc Bay, repulsed a small enemy force attempting to land from barges, Gen. MacArthur reported.

Elements of five Japanese divisions are hemmed in by the Americans, who held high ground on three sides of Limon and along th east side of narrow valley leading south to Ormoc. On the west side of the valley are more high mountains and an abrupt slope to the sea.

DISMISSES ACTION

Toronto, Nov. 15 — (CP) — Mr. Justice J. A. Hope in Ontario Supreme Court yesterday dismissed an action brought by Frank O'Hearn against the City of Toronto. O'Hearn claimed that errors in the city's account system caused a loss of $51,-428,327 to the taxpayers. Mr. Justice Hope described the action as "frivolous and vexatious."

COURT MARTIAL CASES UP

Rome, Nov. 15 — (AP) — Allied headquarters announced today that a captured German order disclosed that court martial cases had increased from 25 to 150 in one month in the enemy's 262nd Infantry Division operating in Italy.

The order, signed by a Maj.-Gen. Greiner, directed officers to impress on the troops that "capital punishment is passed on desertion, looting, cowardice and self-mutilation."

Most or All Canadian Units In Europe, Italy Likely Resting

London, Nov. 15 (CP)—Indications are that most or all the Canadian units in western Europe and in Italy now are out of the line, resting in preparation for new tasks.

Since Polish forces of the 1st Canadian army eliminated the last German pocket south of the Maas (Meuse) River in southwest Holland on Nov. 9, there have been no reports of activity by Lt.-Gen. Crerar's forces. This action was at the southern approaches to the Moerdijk bridges across the Diep.

The last operation in that sector involving Canadian troops was the drive to the Hollandsche Diep at Dinteloord on Nov. 5.

The last report of Canadian fighting in Italy was in an Adriatic front dispatch Nov. 10, which reported the capture of Germans in a patrol skirmish in the area of San Stefano, seven miles south of Ravenna.

Germans Evacuate City of Jaszebereny

Important Centre Communications Bitterly Contested

Enemy Bridgehead South Of Budapest Liquidated

London, Nov. 15 (CP)—German troops have evacuated the important communications centre of Jaszebereny, 35 miles due east of Budapest the Berlin radio said today.

The reported loss of the bitterly-contested city of 30,000 came after the Red army wheeled upon the Hungarian capital from several directions and liquidated a German bridgehead east of the Danube and south of Budapest. Moscow said 30 towns had been overrun.

Marshal Rodion Y. Malinovsky's troops, holding fast to their positions within easy medium artillery range of Budapest on the south, speared north and northwest from Monor, and captured Uri and Peteri in gains of three to five miles.

Seisure of Solt and Egyhaza, 45 miles south of Budapest, erased the enemy bridgeheads on the east bank of the Danube. The Berlin radio said the Russians hurled three infantry divisions against the Nazis, who withdrew to newly-prepared positions on the west bank.

A Moscow dispatch said 1,200 prisoners were taken in the bridgehead battle, and hundreds more of the enemy drowned in an attempt to flee across the river. Approximately 50,000 Germans and Hungarians have been captured since Malinovsky began his drive on Budapest from southern Hungary last month, it was estimated.

Hungary seemed likely to remain the main theatre of action on the eastern front, the Moscow dispatch added, for there was little hint of any attempt in the near future to break the stalemate in Poland or East Prussia.

Breach in Defences Menaces Enemy.

The Russian penetration into the eastern flank defences of Budapest created a growing peril for a German armored force which has been counter-attacking vainly in a triangular pocket north of Szolnok, advices from the front said. Soviet troops were reported hemming in this pocket, based on Jaszbereny, from three sides.

The Russian war bulletin announced the capture of Nagykata, railway town 27 miles east of Budapest and 10 miles south of the rail junction of Jaszbereny. Moscow dispatches said yesterday hand-to-hand fighting was taking place in Jaszbereny.

Heves, 17 miles northeast of Jaszbereny, fell to the Russians, and the entire operation straightened a curving line stretching 80 miles northeast from the vicinity of Budapest to positions south of the big railway junction of Miskolc.

The Soviet communique said the Red army has taken 3,600 prisoners in Hungary between Nov. 10 and 13, bringing the total since Nov. 8 to 7,700.

A broadcast communique from Marshal Tito announced that his Yugoslav Partisans had captured Skoplje, important rail junction in southern Yugoslavia and key to the Vardar Valley route through the Balkans. The announcement said the Germans were pursued out of the town, and that 1,700 were killed and 995 captured.

GIRDLES BACK ON MARKET.

New York, Nov. 15. (AP) — The girdle, hard-hit by the rubber shortage in the early days of the war conversion program, is back on the market with "pre-war two-way stretch, fit and comfort". So says the United States rubber company, in announcing development of a new synthetic rubber thread which it said makes possible resumption of manufacture of "Lastex".

Canucks Released 9 of 29 6-Ton 'Quake' Bombs

London, Nov. 15 (CP Cable) — Canadian bomb-aimers released nine of the 29 "earthquake" bombs used Sunday in the sinking of the German battleship Tirpitz in Norway's Tromsoe fjord, an R.C.A.F. survey showed today.

In addition, nine other Canadians were among the approximately 200 airmen who flew in R.A.F. Lancasters to blast the German navy's last big ship. Another Canadian, Flt. Lt. Johnny Loftus of Toronto, flew as a movie cameraman in an unarmed plane.

Besides the nine Canadian bomb-aimers there were two navigators, 6 gunners and a pilot, Flt. Lt. D. C. Camsell, Winnipeg.

The bomb-aimers were: FOs. Walter Daniel, Rivers, Man., and J. A. Carr, New Westminster, B.C.; POs. M. L. McKay, New Glasgow, N.S., R. G. Allen, Willow Bunch, Sask., J. W. Singer, Toronto, J. Gran (hometown unavailable); Flt. Sgts. G. B. Watts, Toronto, N. A. Fisher, Dauphin, Man., R. G. Flynn, Toronto.

Navigators were. POs. A. Brown, Toronto and J. A. Peterson, Winnipeg.

The gunners were: POs. W. S. Dry, Toronto, R. D. Kerr, Langford Park, Alta.; Flt. Sgts. W. J. Herbert, Sault St. Marie, Ont., A. E. Boon, Schrieber, Ont.; Sgts. E. Cooper, Washago, Ont., R. Stevens, West Vancouver.

DRAMATIC SOCIETY TO STAGE PLAY

The collegiate dramatic society in choosing "Junior Miss" as their annual stage presentation has picked a play well fitted in scope and character with junior characters carrying the burden of the play. "Junior Miss" will probably be compared with the recent "What a Life" with Henry Aldrich, and should prove equally as popular. The play was acclaimed by critics as the hit of the New York winter season and its long run there proved the critics correct.

Sylvia Yondale, a new-comer to the collegiate stage handles the role of 13-year-old "Junior Miss" with the fine charm which will satisfy everyone attending the play's two performances at the collegiate on Thursday and Friday evenings.

SGT. LEO A. CORR NOW PRESUMED DEAD

Missing since January 15th following aerial operations over enemy territory, Sgt. Leo. Augustiva Corr, 36, son of Mrs. Eva Corr, 212½ Coleman Street, is now for official purposes presumed dead according to recent word received by his mother from R.C.A.F. headquarters. Sgt. Corr went overseas approximately one year ago after training as an air gunner.

Born in the city, Sgt. Corr attended Queen Mary Public School and the Belleville Collegiate. He was a member of Christ Church and sang in the choir there and conducted a Sunday School class. At the time of his enlistment into the air force he was working in a Collingwood defence plant. His wife and young daughter reside at Penetanguishine.

The pilot of the ill-fated bombing craft, a Timmins boy, is a prisoner of war in Germany.

ALAN VANDERWATER NOW SQUADRON LEADER

A member of the Royal Air Force since June 1939 when he went overseas, Flight Lieutenant Alan Vanderwater formerly of Trenton, has been promoted to the rank of squadron leader, according to information received by his father in a recent letter. Born at Hamilton, S/L. Vanderwater early in life moved to Trenton with his parents and demonstrating a liking for aviation went to England prior to the war to enlist in the R.A.F.

Now stationed in England, he is a veteran of early war flying and has seen service in the Mediterranean war theatre. While stationed in Italy several months ago he was married to an English girl. He has two sisters, Miss Carolyn Vanderwater, Reg. N., of Picton and Mrs. Robert Smithrim, Prince Edward Island.

E. DAVID RE-ELECTED DIRECTOR OF ASSOC.

Mr. Enos David, proprietor of the David Electric Shop, Front Street, has been re-elected a director of the Electrical Appliance Dealers' Association, it was learned here today. Mr. David received his appointment at the general convention of the Association held in Toronto this week.

Post-war possibilities of what is stated to be the "fastest growing industry in Canada", were discussed at the convention which represented the majority of the electrical equipment merchants in the Dominion.

VETERANS DONATE $25 TO DITTY BAG FUND

Officers and members of the Army and Navy Veterans in Canada, Belleville Branch No. 301 have donated $25 to the Ditty Bag fund of the Belleville branch of the Navy League of Canada. The amount was similar to that given a year ago, and was ratified by the general body of the association after recommendation by the executive.

TWO DOGS STRUCK BY HIT, RUN DRIVERS

Two dogs were struck by hit-and-run motorists on the streets of Belleville yesterday, one of which died as the result of injuries received. On Highland Ave. a mongrel bull terrier was hit and died as the result of a hit-and-run driver. The animal had a collar but no dog tag to indicate ownership. It was removed by the city scavenger.

On Cannifton Road a Fox Terrier was struck by a motor car resulting in a broken leg. This animal had a harness, but no dog tag and was removed to the city dog pound for attention, Thos. Thorne reported today.

CARELESS DRIVING CHARGE IS LAID

Fender damage resulted to two motor cars on Front St. opposite the Capitol Theatre yesterday and ultimately resulted in a charge of careless driving being preferred against Vincent Fobear of Actinolite, police here reported. It is alleged Fobear was proceeding along Front St. and in attempting to pass a line of traffic going in the same direction, his car was in collision with an automobile being driven in the opposite direction by Clayton Chambers, 97 Bridge St. W. Considerable fender damage was found, when police investigated.

PASSENGER CHARGED WITH BREAKING WINDOW ON TRAIN

Following alleged disturbances on an early-morning Canadian National Railways train, during which a railway coach window is said to have been broken, Terrance E. Boyle of Gananoque, was removed from express train No. 19 when it arrived in Belleville early today. Boyle, who C.N.R. police say had been drinking, was placed in custody on a charge of the wilful destruction of railway property. Today at the city police station Boyle denied breaking the coach window, stating members of the armed services were responsible, but had left him alone in the coach smoker where C.N.R. police apprehended him and after removing him from the train here placed him under arrest.

Over 90 Per Cent Of City Taxes Has Been Paid

Said to constitute a record since Belleville became a "big town" city taxes amounting to 90.2 per cent of the grand total were paid by November 4th final instalment payment date for the current year. Arrears are said to be the lowest in the history of the city.

A large percentage of taxes were paid in lump sums when the date of the first instalment fell due early in the year. Availability of ready money is stated to be partly the reason for the large returns received this year by the city tax coffers.

New tax accounting and bookkeeping machines installed some time ago in the city treasurer's office have greatly facilitated the large amount of clerical work involved in the collection of taxes.

MacAuley's Garage At Marysville Entered, Tires Taken

Robbers entered MacAuley's garage in Marysville and stole tires and garage supplies valued at upwards of $500.00, Provincial Police learned here Tuesday. Entrance was made by forcing a rear window following which the back door was opened from the inside as the looted goods were removed from the premises in this manner to a waiting motor vehicle at the rear of the garage. No disturbances indicating a robbery was in progress were heard by the villagers.

Stolen from the garage, operated by Mr. Jack MacAuley, were several new tires, garage accessories such as batteries, tire liners, etc., were included in the loot. Mr. MacAuley's entire stock of cigarettes and tobaccos was also stolen by the robbers. Provincial Constable E. Soubliere responded to the complaint yesterday, and investigated the robbery which it is believed, was committed some time early Monday morning.

Investigate Thefts From Picton RAF Station

Provincial Police here have been called in to assist in the investigation of wholesale pilferings of government property from the Picton RAF station. The thefts were reported to Crown Attorney Wilfred Lane of Picton on Tuesday, who immediately summoned the O.P.P. into service. No arrests were made following the initial investigation of Provincial Constables Chas. Siple and J. E. Soubliere yesterday, although some of the articles originally reported stolen had been returned to the station before civilian police arrived on the scene.

Reported missing were chrome leather-bottom chairs, electric clocks, hip rubber boots and other valuable goods that were to be stored or disposed of as the Picton RAF station is to be closed as an active training centre. Provincial Police returned to the Picton station with Crown Attorney Lane today to further their investigations.

Jamieson Bone Elected President OPO Association

Ex-Mayor Jamieson Bone was elected president of the Ontario Property Owners Association at the annual convention of that organization held at the Royal York Hotel, Toronto, this week. Mr. Bone has been a director of the association since its inception seven years ago.

Other officers elected are Charles E. Purnell, president Real Estate Board, Hamilton, vice president; Directors, John S. Galbraith, M.C., M.E.I.C., Director of Planning, National Housing Act; Harold E. Manning, K.C., Toronto; J. E. McMillah, Toronto; Ex-Mayor Wenige, London; Angus M. Dewar, K.C.,

EX-MAYOR JAMIESON BONE

Toronto; Wm. Hessenhaur, Kitchener; Mayor Gendron, Penetang; Mayor Gar Case, Owen Sound.

Several address by officers and directors as well as guest speakers featured the convention which lasted for two days. Problems discussed were rent control, housing problems of property owners, post-war housing by private enterprise, planning and development.

Among the speakers were Mayor Garfield Case, Gladstone Murray, K.C., formerly connected with the Canadian Broadcasting Corporation and the Hon. George Dunbar, Minister of Municipal Affairs for Ontario.

Over 800 officers, members and guests attended the association banquet which climaxed the convention on Tuesday night.

THIRTY-FIVE IN DOCK

London, Nov. 15 — (CP) — The prisoners' box wasn't big enough to hold prisoners when the heaviest docket in two years faced Magistrate Donald Menzies in city court. 35 persons, 23 men and 12 women, faced a total of 45 charges. The prisoners were handled in two shifts, half of them waiting in the cells until the others were dealt with.

PAPER STILL COMES OUT

Emmett, Idaho, Nov. 15 — (AP)— His hired help is down to one man and editor "Ed" Skinner said in a front page box in his weekly Emmett Index:

"The editor sweeps out, tends the furnace, runs the presses and does a multitude of odd jobs at any time of night or day." The paper still comes out on time.

Good Selection of Toys To Gladden Hearts of Children at Christmastime

Although there possibly is not the wide range available before the war and the metal toys for the most part are conspicuous by their absence, judging by the appearance of local stores the children of Belleville and immediate district will find their stockings satisfactorily filled with playthings on Christmas morning.

With pre-Christmas displays in local department stores featuring toy soldiers and military vehicles of practically every conceivable nature, and with smart dollies and little girls' tea sets to be had, it is quite apparent that regulators of wartime production still remember when Christmas and the annual visit of Santa was a really big event in their lives.

Despite the fact that it is possibly a bit early to predict any definite trend, desires of the youthful male hopefuls seem to be distinctly along military lines with military jeeps and airplanes being in good demand. And this regardless of the fact that such toys for the most part are of wooden construction. Besides the military personnel representative of all the various services, there are toy jeeps, artillery, planes, and battleships to gladden the heart of the son whose foremost thought may be to emulate the father serving on the various fighting fronts. A few metal toys of some kind of alloy material are coming through, also.

Many Novelty Creations.

But besides the toys of distinctly military origin there are also the many novelty creations which invariably find there way onto a Christmas market. These take the form of penny banks modelled as bombs or some other such articles.

And the little girls are not forgotten. Several of the local stores are featuring colorful and delightful modelled miniature kitchen sets fashioned to delight the heart of the very young would-be housekeeper. These sets include all the necessary tables and chairs. Even science has come to bat to assist in making the little girl happy with plastic dishes of many colorful designs being offered.

Judging by early-season displays there seems also to be a plenitude of dolls. Mechanical dolls may be at a premium or absent altogether but there are rosy-cheeked and flaxen-haired creations reminiscent of pre-war years, while the ever-popular rag and sawdust-filled dolls and animal pets are to be had. Miniature kitchen utensils suggestive of the type, which mother uses are on display, while the usual educational building blocks are also to be had.

And so, despite the fact wartime priorities may have forced many of the kiddies pre-war toy creations off the Christmas market, youthful hearts will nevertheless be well satisfied by what Santa leaves under the Chrismas tree on the morning of December 25th.

Vocational Guidance Subject Of Address at Kiwanis Club

Vocational Guidance was the subject of an interesting address delivered to members of the Kiwanis Club at their weekly luncheon at the Quinte Hotel on Tuesday by Norman Smith, Kiwanian and vocational instructor at the Belleville Collegiate and Vocational School. The address was most timely and instructive as it dealt with the rehabilitation program, that is being prepared for the returning veterans and the part that the Kiwanis Club can play in the development of that plan.

The speaker pointed out there might be differences of opinion on his remarks but he proposed to state some of the problems that confront the youth of today and those returning from overseas. The speaker defined vocational guidance "what an individual has collected as a result of impression or training, which enables him to live happily with others and to think a way out of unusual difficulties." Mr. Smith showed that no two boys or girls are the same even though they may look alike and no two veterans are alike in thought even with the same experience as a background.

Determined by Opportunity.

Mr. Smith stated that the more experience he has with boys and girls in their problems and the way they see things the harder it becomes to make decisions concerning them. He explained that all are born long or short in some subject, some being more proficient in spelling than in algebra.

"The success of any genius is determined by the opportunity he has to develop his long characteristics or in other words to work at that which by birth and talent he is best able to do," said the speaker. "I have been teaching for 16 years and the best way I know for a boy to learn to sharpen a drill is to have him sharpen many drills because reading alone will never make him proficient." The speaker stated there were many parents who did not wish their sons or daughters to climb the ladder of success from the bottom but rather they should become what the parents wished instead of allowing the boy or girl make up their own mind. The boy should be guided into the professions which lend themselves to his special characteristics, and he should be given the truth concerning those professions and the choice is his to make. If his parents are unable to pay for his training then organized society should. "Personally," said the speaker, "I would rather have a boy of mine a first class plant superintendent than have him a mediocre physician," said Mr. Smith.

The speaker proposed that the youths who are being taught today will be the leaders of tomorrow, and upon manual work and service hangs the fate one way or another of democracy. Mr. Smith also stated that the youth taking a job for the first time needs the advice of friends or counsellor because he comes into possession of much money in a short time. "If it is true that 75 per cent of all effort in Canada and the United States is based on science to either kill or destroy, and if it is true that 85,000 were trained in our vocational schools for the war effort, and thousands of dollars spent in Belleville, is it too much to ask that the same scientific brains and at least a portion of the money now spent on war and destruction be put to a different use?" asked the speaker.

Asked to Take Part.

The vocational instructor requested that the Kiwanis Club take a most active part in the rehabilitation program that will be launched. He suggested that the basement of the Kiwanis Centre be turned into a "hobby shop" where youths and returned veterans could find supervised ways to do things and that the club would sponsor a public speaking program based on leadership, civic improvement and citizenship.

"In all these things," said the speaker we must have co-operation." In closing Mr. Smith asked "that all do our share to build a program of guidance and rehabilitation which will be based on strict measures of manners and discipline, a program built on the individual differences, compassion and co-operation, a program built on the realism of our times not clothed in the idealism of words, a program built on the principle, the boy and girl must come first, and lastly, a program built by us in Belleville, where all education and guidance not only reaches the head and the hands but also the heart."

View Exhibition.

An exhibition of the art of the Vocational School was exhibited and it was closely scrutinized by members of the club at the conclusion of the address. There were steel hammers, screwdrivers, dies of all kinds, vises and other tools used in a work shop. The work was expertly done, which showed the splendid training the boys and girls are getting at the Vocational School. Mr. W. S. Turner, Principal of the Collegiate and Mr. George Beare, woodwork instructor were present as guests of the club.

Appreciation for the fine talk was given by Norman Edwards and the speaker was introduced by Harold Seldon. Mr. Smith spoke as a citizen of Belleville, a vocational teacher and a Kiwanian and left many thoughts, that will be useful to the committee of Kiwanis.

Bill Navin, the blind pianist played for the community singing led by Harold Carruthers, and also gave a piano novelty, and Harry Trepanier collected the fines after he located the fine box. Miss Ethel Smith delighted with a solo "My Buddy" accompanied by Bill Navin.

Special Services Mark Reopening Of Shannonville United Church

Shannonville — (Special) — Representing the communities of Lonsdale, Melrose and this village, a capacity congregation marked the opening services of Shannonville United Church, vacant for the past several years, here on Sunday.

Services at the white church, where villagers worshipped during the period of closing of the village edifice will be discontinued.

Remodelled under the supervision of a special committee composed of Messrs. MacFarlane, Elliott and Melbourne, assisted by members of the congregation and their ladies, the church now presents an attractive appearance. Pews, the pulpit, railing and other fixtures were transferred from the white church adding to the spirit of unity evident in the gifts of material by members of both congregations.

Among the interior features of the church is a cross which glows intermittently and immediately below a wreath. Pulpit chairs are upholstered in red.

Guest preacher at morning and evening services was the Rev. W. Sterling, a former pastor who spoke on "Power" and "Confession." During the both services, Robert Elmy, Belleville, sang two solos and Mrs. D. Hinchey and Miss Blatherwick were heard in duets.

Also addressing the congregations was the Rev. H. Clark, now retired and living in Deseronto, who was pastor of the charge for nine years. He recalled advising a young North Hastings youth to join the ministry several years ago. The youth, James Henderson, afterwards became one of the prominent secretaries of Home Missions for the Methodist Church in Canada.

Limited Advances Scored.

Still farther south, despite snow and mud and the extensive minefields planted by the Germans, limited advances were scored against stiff opposition in the flooded valley of the Doubs River.

The Allied communique reported that weather "severely restricted air operations" in support of the ground attacks.

Apparently the purpose of the new British drive was to flatten the enemy bulge west of the Maas (Meuse) River and straighten the front between the Dutch city of Nijmegen, and the German city of Aachen, where U. S. 1st Army troops have penetrated the Siegfried line.

Preceded by a 400-gun artillery barrage, the Tommies jumped off at 4 p.m. yesterday and quickly established bridgeheads across two canals near Nederweert, 18 miles west and slightly south of Venlo and 38 miles northwest of Aachen.

Fall Matter of Days

The rest of the British-Canadian front along the line of the Maas and the Hollandsche Diep running west across the Netherlands was quiet.

The fighting around Metz, a city of 84,000 which never has been taken by storm in modern times, appeared to be running toward a swift and unanticipated climax. A front dispatch said the fall of the city appeared to be but a matter of days, if not hours. The Americans had narrowed the escape gap to the east of Metz to some eight miles.

Having fought its way inside the outer fortress south of Metz, the U.S. 5th Infantry Division still has to hurdle Pouilly Ridge—a task said to be proving tougher than the taking of either Fort L'Aishe or Fort L'Yser, both of which were found to be without big guns.

Used as Barracks

The ridge, about 8,000 yards long and some 620 feet high, has forts still in enemy hands at one end and woods at the other. German guns cover its slopes both ways. Heavy fire from enemy 88-mm. batteries was harassing Lt.-Gen. Patton's men early today.

The Germans made little effort to defend Fort L'Aisne or Fort L'Yser. In a front disptach Associated Press war correspondent Kenneth L. Dixon said: "The Germans obviously used these forts of the outer ring only as barracks and even as barns during the siege of Metz and did their fighting from foxholes and slit trenches and modern temporary emplacements."

Allied Supreme Headquarters did not confirm Paris and Algiers broadcasts reporting the capture of Thionville, the heavily-fortified steel centre 16 miles north of Metz.

Obituary

LATE E. M. WESSELS

Wooler, Nov. 15—Many friends were present at the funeral of E. M. "Pat" Wessels, which took place from the family residence, in the village, on Thursday, Nov. 9, at 2.30 in the afternoon. Rev. W. T. R. Delve, the pastor officiated with Rev. F. A. Lawson assisting. During the service, both referred to the deceased's benevolence to those in all walks of life and that he would be greatly missed by everyone.

The floral tributes were many and beautiful, silent reminders of the esteem in which he was held.

Deepest sympathy of neighbors and friends throughout the surrounding community is extended to his wife, the former Lily May Anderson.

Among those attending the funeral from a distance were Mrs. Bert Richards, Mrs. Ethel Forester, and Mr. John Callahan, K.C., all of Toronto.

Floral bearers were W. N. Mitchell, A.B.S.D.V., Messrs. S. Crosier, Herman Anderson and bearers were Messrs. Arthur Hayes, Cecil Goodfellow, Grant Broatch, W. H. Bell, Thrope Jones and Ernie Seeds. Interment was made at Friend's cemetery, Wooler.

LATE MRS. JANE BRADFORD

The funeral of Mrs. Jane Bradford, wife of Mr. James Bradford, took place from the Belleville Burial Company Funeral Home, Campbell Street, on Monday afternoon. The service in the chapel and at Belleville cemetery was conducted by the Rev. J. Grant Sparling, Rector of Christ Church.

The bearers were Messrs. Thomas Johnson, Alex. Mountney, Fred Harper, Thomas Hallam, Asa Lloyd and Charles Hiles.

MRS. HENRIETTA (BARNUM) JACKSON

(Formerly of Belleville)

Mrs. Henrietta Jackson, widow of John S. Jackson and formerly of Belleville and Trenton, died at her home, 618 Merton Street, Toronto, on Tuesday, Nov. 14th., after an illness of six years duration. For the past seven years she made her home in that city.

Mrs. Jackson was born in Prince Edward County and was a daughter of the late Mr. and Mrs. John Barnum. When living in Belleville she was a member of Bridge Street United Church. Old friends here will regret to learn of her death.

Surviving her are one daughter, Rada, at home; two sisters, Mrs. L. Hall, and Mrs. L. McDonald, both of Belleville; one brother, George Barnum, Trenton. Her husband died fifteen years ago.

Resting at the Martin Funeral Home, Church Street; the funeral announcement is made in this issue.

NOMINATE LABOR MEN

Belfast (CP) — The labor party is planning to nominate 25 candidates at the first general election for the Northern Ireland parliament after the war. At present the party has only two representatives in the House.

BIRTH

ANDERSON — In Belleville General Hospital, on November 11 1944, to Mr. and Mrs. John M. Anderson (nee Nalda Drew), Long Island, N.Y., a son (stillborn.)

CARTER — In Belleville General Hospital on November 8, 1944, to Mr. and Mrs. J. D. Carter (nee Marguerite Goodfellow), a daughter, Elizabeth (Betty) Jane.

DEATHS

SHANNON—At Plainfield, suddenly this morning, Mrs. Thomas Shannon, formerly Lucy Meagher.

The funeral will take place Friday morning from her late residence to St. Charles Church, Read. N15.

JACKSON — At 618 Merton Street, Toronto, on Tuesday, November 14th., 1944, Henrietta Barnum, widow of John S. Jackson.

Resting at the Martin Funeral Home, Church Street, Belleville, from where the funeral will be held on Thursday, November 16th., service in the chapel at 2.30 p.m. Interment Glenwood Cemetery, Picton.

CARD OF THANKS

Mrs. C. F. Hiles, 68 Everett St., daughter of the late Mrs. Jane Bradford, desires to convey sincere thanks to her friends for the many acts of kindness and expressions of sympathy extended to her at the time of her mother's death; also for the many beautiful floral tributes and the kind offers of the use of cars at the funeral.

Why Britons' Health Improves

Infant mortality set a new low record in the year 1943, according to the Ministry of Health for the United Kingdom. Other new lows are in maternal and neonatal mortality in childbirths and in death rates for children from one to ten years old.

Infantile death rate has been called "the surest index of the nation's health." This and the other new lows for last year clearly prove an improved condition in the United Kingdom. The report explains, "better nutrition has made a very important contribution to the further improvement in the health of mothers and children which is recorded in 1943."

The figures for 1943 and comparative figures of 1942 and 1938 are as follows:

	1943	1942	1938
Infant mortality per 1,000 live births	49.0	50.6	52.8
Maternal mortality per 1,000 total births	2.30	2.47	2.97
Neonatal mortality (deaths in first month) per 1,000 births	26.3	32.1	28.3
Stillbirths per 1,000 births—total births	30.0	33.0	38.0
Deaths of children from 1 to 5 years old per 1,000 living	3.34	3.42	4.59
Deaths of children from 5 to 10 years old per 1,000 living	1.40	1.50	1.57

Wartime food rationing results prompt this statement in the British report, "The Ministry of Food may be said to have achieved its declared aim of providing sufficient food to keep the population of the whole country fighting fit, while reducing the total consumption of food. The rationing system ensures for the first time in history a properly balanced diet for all sections of the population. The equal distribution ensures the main sources, proteins and fats (meat, butter, margarine and bacon) and in addition protective foods for those who need them most (thus mothers and young children get extra milk and vitamins contained in orange juice and cod liver oil either free or at reduced prices as well as extra supplies of shell eggs.)"

The lessons learned about food during the war will not be lost on the British people. What they have learned is of value to other peoples.

Britain has also gone far in wartime provision for maternity and child welfare services with free clinics. During 1943 542,177 women attended these clinics compared with 513,325 in 1942.

Other features of British health control in the war years have included emergency homes and hostels. There are infant welfare centres. These in 1943 numbered 3,825, and deal with the health of children under five years. In 1943, no fewer than 1,140,366 children attended them. Fully trained nurses as health visitors attended at least once 96 per cent of all the children born, their visits in 1943 totalling 5,180,720. Last year there were over 1,700 day nurseries for young children whose mothers are engaged in war work. Although women with children under fourteen are not directed to war work, many volunteer for full time or part time work if provision is made for the care of the children. Such nurseries are open for 12 to 15 hours and some for 24 hours per day.

Besides under government evacuation some 400 residential nurseries were opened with accommodation for over 13,000 children and for children whose parents are casualties and other "hard cases."

Britain wages a ceaseless war against such diseases as diphtheria, with 56 per cent of all children under 15 immunized. For the second year in succession there has been a decrease in the number of cases of this dread disease. This fact does not stand alone for new records have been set since 1930 in deaths from typhoid fever, pleurisy, appendicitis, epilepsy and many other diseases.

This report is illuminating as it indicates how Britain has been able to maintain in spite of war strain and restrictions a high standard of national health thanks to the wartime nutrition policy and the ability of the British medical services.

What has been achieved by Britain in her war effort with improvement in health as shown by the figures quoted above calls for the highest praise of the sane and determined action which Britain has taken.

The Black-Caps

(New York Times)

The countryman knows that winter is sharpening his knife when the neighborly, hustling, black-capped chickadees begin to appear in the old apple trees behind the barn. There's something heart-warming and appealing about the little fellows as they scramble around the trunks and limbs, poking into the crevices of the weather-frayed bark. They manoeuver with equal ease in any position. They're the miniature acrobats of the winter bird world.

Part of their appeal is due to their unquenchable optimism. It makes little difference to them whether it's a day dominated by November's browns, December's grays, or 10 below zero on a January morning when all the landscape is brittle white. The black-cap takes the weather in stride. His cheery, altoish "Chick-a-dee-dee" heartens the farmer as he comes in from the morning's milking.

During the summer the chickadee and his mate have been busy raising one or two broods hatched from tiny white eggs specked with reddish brown. Their favorite nesting place is a hollow stub, especially an old birch trunk. But now, when winter's poised for his southward trek, the black-caps like to come around the buildings. And when a man's out in the woodlot chopping next season's fuel supply, the chickadees seem to gather round. When the chips are flying and the tangy aroma of fresh-cut wood fills the air, it's good to hear the little fellows chant their throaty theme, "Chick-a-dee-dee — chick-a-dee-dee."

Pigeon Prisoner

(Australian News Letter)

The Australian carrier pigeon service in New Guinea has its own prisoner-of-war—a fine, haughty fellow, who flourishes in captivity and struts like a Samurai.

Described as a blue bar cock, the bird was captured by an Australian pigeon section serving with the Americans on Wakde Island, Geelvink Bay. For days he remained icily aloof, scorning the Australian diet. He demanded rice, and got rice.

Gradually he was weaned on to the Australian balanced ration, and soon his plumage, which was bedraggled and sparse when he was captured, blossomed like the rose.

He has not worked for the Allies yet, and it is unlikely that he will be trusted. When he is gathered to his ancestors, his earthly shell will be handed to a taxidermist and probably will be taken on the strength of the Australian War Museum.

Sandbags Useless

(Manchester Guardian)

Some thrifty people are also wondering what use could be made of sand from the old sandbags that make so dingy a border to our street buildings.

A representative of the Building Industry Council was not encouraging about the prospects of turning our defences into material for rebuilding Britain. The building trade, it is said, must have clean sand. Vegetation has probably developed in the sandbags and their contents might best be used by local authorities for sanding the roads.

Good Fairy Germ Found

Tests of 1,000 humans have shown an alkaline microbe found in stale beer to be a veritable good fairy among germs, Moscow scientists report. The microbe, first discovered in 1915, alkalizes human tissues. It is declared to be a cure for colds, an aid to sinus and asthma sufferers and to have possibilities as a preventive of tooth decay. The germ, called bacillus alkaligenus, is also hailed as an effective antiseptic for use in surgery.

Some intermixture of vain-glorious tempers puts life into business and makes a fit composition in grand enterprises and hazardous undertakings. For men of solid and sober natures have more of the ballast than the sail.—Bacon.

CAREER

Untangle life, we never can,
The yours from mine; the young and old;
For all that fill the mortal span—
The fool, the sage, the weak, the bold,
With love and hate and hope and fear,
Are jumbled into one career.

Life for the brute is food and drink,
And sleep and purpose firmly fixed,
But man is privileged to think;
With countless lives his own is mixed.
He will, as time goes on, become
Of all adventure here, the sum.

Of him the books he reads are part,
And every teacher, first and last,
For all that's of him, mind and heart,
His future, present and his past
Into his gift of years are thrown.
No mortal lives his life alone.

THE ANTIPODES

"Antipodes" is the plural form of a word derived through Latin from Greek "anti," against, and "podos," foot. Literally it means "with the feet opposite."

Any two places or peoples on opposite sides of the globe, so situated that a straight line drawn from one to the other passes through the centre of the earth, are called the antipodes of each other.

Every point on the earth is the antipodes of some other point.

China is popularly supposed to be the antipodes of the United States and there is an old saying that if one were to dig a hole deep enough he would fall into China. This, however, is a misconception, for China and the United States are both in the Northern Hemisphere.

The true antipodes of the United States is a region in the Indian Ocean west of Australia and east of southern Africa, where there are few islands. No part of the North American continent has its antipodes in any land surface.

The antipodes of South America falls in the region of China, the Philippines and Borneo, while the antipodes of Europe and Asia are in the South Pacific.

The antipodes of England is Australia and New Zealand. The approximate antipodes of London is Antipodes Island near New Zealand.

The antipodes of any given point is the farthest point from it on the earth's surface. Antipodes are separated by half the circumference of the earth (180 degrees of longitude), and one must be as far north of the Equator as the other is south, unless they are on the Equator. When it is noonday at one it is midnight at the other.

"Antipodes," while originally plural, is now construed as either plural or singular. "Antipode," the singular form, is now seldom used.

The term is often applied to things diametrically opposite. For instance, "The antipodes of love is hatred."

"Antipodes" is pronounced "an-TIPP-o-deez."

GIRL FERRY PILOT QUALIFIED TO FLY MANYPLANETYPES

Blond Peggy Lennox Was One of the First Two ATA Women Pilots to Land in France

By MARGARET ECKER
Canadian Press War Correspondent

Paris, Nov. 15 —(CP)— The American daughter of a Canadian, who has been writing history in the sky for the past few years, made history again when she was one of the first two Air Transport Auxiliary women pilots to come to France.

First Officer Peggy Lennox, of the blonde curls and glowing cheeks who looks like an artist's conception of a girl pilot, is the daughter of William J. Lennox, once of Belleville, Ont., now living in Florida.

Peggy isn't always the gay, carefree girl she looks. She's a young woman who knew what she wanted and worked hard to get it. Today as a ferry pilot of Spitfires, Mosquitos, Bostons and Mustangs, qualified to fly 52 types of aircraft, with 2,000 flying hours in her log book, she is one of those who proved there is a place for women in the air.

Her war effort, as a member of the British air transport corps, with a rank equivalent to flight-lieutenant, is ferrying planes from factories to air fields, from airfield to airfield, throughout the United Kingdom.

She's done even more than that, and some of the American pilots who fly fighters and bombers over Germany were taught to fly first in the United States by Peggy when she was air instructor at Dallas, Tex., and Rhode Island.

Like all women who fly, or want to fly, the sky road has been bumpy, and for a long time she had to turn her hand to other careers while she struggled toward a job like the one she now does.

Her home town was Chicago but she attended art school in Cleveland. In Cleveland she became an art teacher, but teaching wasn't much in Peggy's line and flying was. With just about the first money she earned, she started taking flying lessons, at $25 an hour.

Flying Expensive

"And once I started to fly, that ruined me for everything else," she said. That was in 1929, however, and when the market crashed there wasn't much money for such expensive hobbies.

Finally she got herself a job with a firm who did aeronautical research, the Smith Company, which first brought out the controllable pitch propellor. Peggy got in flying hours in tests on her company's inventions. She was in Washington doing research on the interior combustible aircraft engine in 1936 when the company went out of business.

The young girl then went to New York. Life was a bit hilly for the next few years. To keep eating Peggy modelled clothes for a Fifth Avenue shop, sold toys in a department store, demonstrated cosmetics, and went to a girls' camp as instructor in riding, tennis and golf, sports she was proficient in. Finally she ended up on Life Magazine, as reader of unsolicited manuscripts.

Her flying interfered with her work and in 1940 she found herself a post as instructor at a flying field at Providence, R. I. She became one of the first women instructors in America. She was turned down as instructor at another field, "because she wouldn't be good for the morale of the cadets," the directors told her.

She taught at Dallas, Tex. before she joined the A. T. A. Since June 1942, she's been in England ferrying fighters and medium bombers, in all kinds of tempermental English weather.

NOT DECEIVING GOV'T.

London, Nov. 15 — (CP)—Richard Law, Undersecretary of State, told the House of Commons today the British Government saw no reason why any country which has not made a contribution to the United Nations' war effort should be represented at any discussion in the peace settlement.

He specifically mentioned Spain in answering a member who asked if Gen. Franco's "belated lip service to the democracies" was deceiving the government.

OBESITY IS MALNUTRITION

There is a common notion that moderate obesity, superfluous flesh, overweight, corpulence or stoutness is an indication of robust health. Probably the notion had its origin in feudal days when the lords had plenty and their vassals barely enough to eat; and from the observation that emaciation, loss of flesh, consumption or wasting occurs in the advanced stages of numerous diseases.

With one notable exception—pulmonary tuberculosis — even 5 per cent excess weight is regarded as unfavorable to health and longevity today. Statistics seem to show that moderate stoutness, up to 5 per cent overweight, is at least not detrimental to persons up to the age of thirty-five years. After the age of thirty-five years, however, any excess flesh is unfavorable to health, efficiency and longevity.

So there you are, folks. Why carry around a handicap of slacker flesh when it isn't required by law?

Most of the slacker flesh lumbering about the earth today is built out of the prodigious amounts of the delectable, cheap, plentiful, easy to eat carbohydrates in our modern, refined, denatured, unbalanced American diet.

Refined white flour and refined white sugar and syrup and molasses yield more than half of the calories in the daily food of the average person in America.

Calories from refined white flour or refined white sugar are just as good as calories from any other food material. An ounce of lean meat yields the same amount of energy, nourishment, calories, strength, refreshment, sustenance, heat or vigor as an ounce of candy, and also the same amount of slacker flesh, overweight or superfluous fat if you don't work or play hard enough to burn it up day by day.

Ouch. I understand. That's what I say every morning when I cautiously open one eye, squint at the clock and realize it is time to start the morning exercises. But I ease into mine gently — rolling somersaults; that makes the succeeding setting-up exercises quite painless.

As Dr. Robert R. Williams, who with Dr. Tom D. Spies first synthesized thiamin (B1) expressed it in the article in Science: "Man commits a crime against nature when he eats the starch from the seed and throws away the mechanism necessary for the metabolism of that starch."

There, I believe, is the explanation of the common tendency to (a) overeat and (b) accumulate superfluous flesh. Here, darnit, comes the deadline, so we'll have to continue this talk tomorrow.

QUESTIONS & ANSWERS

Vinegar Delusion

Friend declares she was once to fat but began drinking vinegar and lost weight. She now has a lovely figure. Is vinegar slenderizing? Is any food especially slimming?
(Dolores H.)

Answer—Neither vinegar nor any food is slenderizing. That is a silly notion. If you are eighteen or over, send stamped envelope bearing your address, ask for pamphlet "How to Lose Weight". Do not send a clipping.

B as Good for Muscles as for Nerves

Is it not an advantage to me, engaged in sedentary occupation, to take vitamin B-complex daily? I am of nervous disposition and I believe they help me quite a lot.
(C. D. J.)

Answer—As I have tried to explain in several current articles, most Americans get insufficient D and B-complex. But vitamin B or B-complex is as beneficial to the muscles (including the eating muscle and the heart muscle) of those whose daily intake of it is deficient, as it is for the nerves. If you will send a stamped envelope bearing your address, and ask for it (a clipping will not suffice) I'll mail you the pamphlet "Young Folks and Old Folks", which explains all this in detail.

Sink Nazi Trawler, Fire Another in Trondheim Fjord

London, Nov. 15 — (CP-Reuter)— British ships of the Home Fleet yesterday entered Trondheim Fjord on the Norwegian coast, and sank one armed trawler and set another on fire, an Admiralty communique reported today.

The ship which was set on fire is believed to have been sunk.

Wildcat planes bombed shore installations at Titran off the entrance to the fjord, during the course of the sweep.

The British ships and planes sustained neither casualties nor damage.

British War Lingo Different to 1914

London, (CP)— Like the R.A.F., the British Army is developing a language of its own, entirely new from the 1914-18 Western Front slang.

Noises made by the enemy when under shell or mortar fire are described by men in the Low Countries as "ticking," a typical British understatement when applied to yells of panic and dismay.

When the Tommies are "stonking" the enemy, it's just another way of saying the Jerry is being battened down with short, sharp artillery concentration.

And fighting men no longer "parley-voo" in Brussels or Paris. The army has a new word for it—"swanning," nowadays applied to subalterns who go on "reccee" parties or wander off to gay places.

City Comptroller Speaks to Rotary Club on Assessment and Taxes

The financial position of the city of Belleville is rated among the best in the province of Ontario, City Comptroller Harold Bateman told the Rotary Club at its weekly luncheon on Monday.

Speaking on assessment in particular and taxes in general, Comptroller Bateman gave the clubmen an informative insight into the work of that once much-maligned city official, the assessor, and of the improvements in taxes over a recent period of years.

He stated that assessment is the basis of municipal revenue structure, and that uniformity is the most important objective in valuation of property for assessment purposes, and that this can be secured by the application of established rules and principles concerning values.

"Buildings and improvements differ from land inasmuch as they are man-made products and are capable of reproduction. Their value must in general bear some relation to the cost of production.

Assessed Value and Sales Value.

"I wonder," he said, "if the assessed value used for taxation purposes is not confused with sale value because sale value is very often determined by how badly the owner wants to sell or the prospective purchaser wishes to buy, or a house may sell below the assessment if it needs redecorating inside, an obsolete furnace replaced, a new roof, and in the case of a frame house a new paint job and when any of these improvements are made, no change in the assessment takes place."

Explaining business assessment, the comptroller stated that, first, this was arrived at by taking the assessment on the property so occupied by the business and secondly, according to the type of business, a percentage must be paid as per statute of the above assessment, namely manufacturing, 60%; wholesale, 75% and retail, 30% etc.

$540,000 City Budget.

Turning to taxes, the speaker stated that the city budget calls for an expenditure of over $540,000 for 1944 an indication of the size of city business. "And here," he added, "I would like to pay tribute to the City Councils of the past few years, for, through their keen business methods and pay-as-you-go policies, the taxpayer has enjoyed a decreased tax rate. One of the reasons why our tax rate is still high is the tremendous tax exemptions allowed by statute, and I believe, Belleville stands 4th highest in percentage of exemptions in the province."

Detailing the benefits to be derived from a moderate tax rate, Comptroller Bateman stated that it will not only encourage people to purchase real estate as an investment but also encourage them to build their own homes which gives employment to all types of labor as well as business for the merchant in supplying the necessary materials. It will also add to total assessment thereby allowing more money to be spent on essential services.

Low Taxes Good Advertising.

"The assessment of Belleville," he said, "has increased over one million dollars in the last few years. Providing the assessment is fair and equalized, I believe a low tax rate is one of the best advertisements any municipality can have."

Belleville adopted the policy a few years ago, he pointed out, of selling city-owned vacant lots at a nominal figure providing a dwelling was erected within one year comparable to the neighborhood. This has not only supplied homes to over 300 citizens, but has relieved the taxpayers of local improvement charges such as sewers, pavements and sidewalks, on these lots.

"Industries will locate here because while industry looks for low taxation, it is also interested in low taxation for employees."

Break Down of Tax Dollar.

Comptroller Bateman in explaining the disposition of each dollar paid in taxation to the city, "broke down" that amount as follows. Education—public, separate and high schools, 31c; Protection—police, fire, safety of buildings, administration of justice, 13c; Highways—roadways, bridges, public lighting and suburban roads, 11c; Social Services—direct unemployment relief, charitable and institutional grants, hospitalization, etc., 07c; Local improvements — city's share-debt charges only, 04c; Health and Sanitation—public health, isolation hospital, street cleaning, collection and disposal of sewage, sewers etc., .05c; General Administration, City Council, assessment, audit, city clerk's, law, treasury, property (general, City Hall and buildings) departments, etc., 04c; Special Services—library, interest, and sundry unclassified debt charges, 03c; Parks—maintenance and debt charges re parks, 02c.

The new tax accounting and book-keeping machine installed in the City Hall is second to none in Ontario, the speaker declared. It has greatly facilitated this work and has proved well worth while.

City Covers 1,800 Acres.

The city, he concluded, covered an area of 1,800 acres with 55 miles of street and 80 miles of concrete sidewalk. On the streets 750 cubic yards of sand and 100 cubic yards of cinders are used besides 30 tons of salt. Snow and ice removal costs usually around $5,000 annually if violent storms do not occur. Approximately $10,000 yearly are spent on city streets.

The speaker was introduced by President Pink Pinkston while club appreciation was expressed by Rotarian Morley Duff. Howard Clarke acted as fine collector and was the first to pay the conventional 25c for a breach of club regulations.

British Cross Montone River On Bologna Road

By LYNN HEINZERLING
(AP War Correspondent)

Rome, Nov. 15 —(AP)— British 8th Army forces have crossed the Montone river more than two miles northwest of Forli on the highway to Bologna, Allied Headquarters announced today.

In the Apennine foothills to the south the Germans made a slight withdrawal. It was believed they would attempt to hold positions along the canalized river Cosina, which the highway crosses just west of the Montone.

The crossing of the Montone represented a widening advance by the 8th Army along the Po Valley toward Faenza, next major city on the highway.

Germans Withdrawing.

Faenza now lay only six miles beyond forward British units.

British troops have occupied the tiny hamlet of Villa Grappa.

The Germans are withdrawing along the highway sector as pressure on both flanks has been intensified and contact has been broken off with the German rearguards on the main route skirting the edge of the Po Valley.

There was rainfall on most of the Italian front and snow thickened the winter blanket on high ground south of Bologna. The situation on the Allied 5th Army front changed little.

Indian troops captured Monte San Bartolo, which gives observation over the road approaching Modigliana, two miles farther northeast.

STIRLING

Pte. S. Armstrong Missing in Action

Stirling, Nov. 15 — Word was received by his wife (nee Elsie Hanna) of West Huntingdon, on Nov. 13th, that Pte. Stephen M. Armstrong was missing since Nov. 3rd.

Pte. Armstrong joined the Army in April 1943 and received his basic training at Brantford and extensive training at Camp Borden. In May of this year he went overseas and there joined the Lincoln and Welland Regiment.

Besides his wife, his foster parents, Mr. and Mrs. Martin Shannick of Bancroft and sister Anne (Mrs. Victor Graham) of Minden, he has two brothers, Jack of the Ajax, Pickering and Alex of the RCAF stationed at Hagersville, Ont.

STIRLING

Remembrance Day Tribute Is Paid

Stirling — Stirling citizens and many from the surrounding district gathered around the Cenotaph, despite the cold morning, on November 11th., to honor the fallen of World War I., and also World War II. Under the supervision of Veteran Fred Houchin, flanked by his comrades of World War I, the service opened with the hymn "O, God Our Help in Ages Past," followed by the Scripture reading, by Rev. David Gray and prayer by Rev. C. C. Brasill. The address was given by Rev. David Gray, and Col. Roscoe Vanderwater read the names of the fallen of World War I and those who have fallen in the present conflict from this district. Mr. Harper Rollins placed a wreath at the base of the Cenotaph from the province of Ontario, and Mrs. J. McConnell placed a wreath for the legion. Two minutes' silence was observed with Veteran Charlie Faires, Sr., lowering the flag. The National Anthem and prayer by the Rev. C. C. Brasill closed the service.

Members of the Hon. J. R. Cooke Chapter of the I.O.D.E., and members of the I.O.D.E. Pack of Girl Guides and the girls of the I.O.D.E. Brownies with Guide Captain Mrs. Cecil Baker attended divine service at St. John's Anglican Church on Sunday morning.

Tirpitz Sinking Is Triumph For Bomb Developer

London, Nov. 15 (CP)—The official German News Agency reported today the battleship Tirpitz was "put out of action in shallow water just off the Norwegian coast" Nov. 12.

The Nazis broke their silence on the Tirpitz at noon, reporting most of the crew of the 41,000-ton ship were saved.

The announcement did not specify the number of men aboard.

Jane's Fighting Ships lists the vessel as normally carrying 1,500 men.

Berlin radio reported earlier "a few German vessels were lost" in an attack Sunday night by an Allied naval and air force on a German convoy off the west coast of Norway. In that broadcast no mention was made of the sinking of the Tirpitz.

Blind Man's Triumph.

New York, Nov. 14 (AP)—The sinking of the Tirpitz by R.A.F. Lancasters using six-ton earthquake bombs is a triumph for a blind man who lost his sight by a German blast in the attacks on London in 1940, the British Information Services said last night.

He is Air Commodore Patrick Huskinson, M.C., director of armament for the Royal Air Force, and he shares with his team of experts the credit for developing the devastating 12,000-pound bomb.

Behind the scenes, the services report said, he and his experts have made a close examination of the results obtained on heavily-armored targets. They followed the bombing of the Scharnhorst and the Gneisenau while they lay in Brest, and they noted that although there was at least one direct hit and many near misses the battleship succeeded in escaping.

They set to work developing the new armor-piercing explosive and streamlined it to have a swift and accurate descent and a strong enough casing to stand the impact without breaking up. While this big bomb was being built the bomb bays of the Lancasters were modified to carry it.

Canadian Airmen Participate.

London, Nov. 14 (CP Cable) — At least a dozen Canadian airmen participated in the R.A.F. Lancaster attack which sank the German battleship Tirpitz on Sunday.

Included among them were FO. Walter Daniel, Rivers, Man., and Flt. Lt. Johnny Loftus, Toronto.

Daniel, bomb-aimer in the lead aircraft, may have been the first to hit the Tirpitz. Loftus flew in another Lancaster as a movie cameraman.

Statement Issued On Composition Of Overseas Army

Ottawa, Nov. 15 —(CP)— Defence headquarters has issued a statement on the disposition of Canadian forces overseas which explains the integration of Allied arms and stresses that despite the policy of interchange, formations were assured of their own reinforcements, supplies and equipment.

The statement added:

"In Canadian units, for example, all the personnel are Canadian and reinforcements are provided by Canadians through Canadian reinforcement depots in the theatres these in turn are backed up by the Canadian reinforcement units in England."

No reason was given for issuance of the statement other than the comment that press reports from Europe and Defence Headquarters announcements had indicated the presence within Canadian formations portions of British, United States and other Allied armies. The same source had stated Canadian forces have served under Allied command.

Issuance of the statement follows the appearance in some Canadian newspapers of stories and cartoons, in which the 1st Canadian Army has been dubbed "Crerar's International brigade" — because of its United Nations complexion. It also follows stories in which the efforts of British, American and other Allied forces with the 1st Army have been recorded.

No Fixed Composition.

The statement said:

"It is perhaps not so well known that the 1st Canadian army commanded by Lt.-Gen. H. D. G. Crerar, has not a fixed composition and the number of corps and of divisions of which it may be composed varies from time to time in relation to the task in hand. When operations call for a concentration of strength the additional strength placed at the disposal of an army commander is drawn from neighboring armies.

"This explains why the 1st Canadian army may have under its command formations from any of our Allied armies and similarly explains why Canadian formations may in turn engage in operations under other than Canadian command."

The statement referred to the Canadian corps in Italy serving with the British 8th Army, commenting that "its place in the Canadian Army in northwest Europe is filled by a similar formation from Allied armies." The corps in Italy and the Canadian corps with the 1st Army "constitute the Canadian Army overseas."

The statement concluded:

"The ability to concentrate and integrate their forces where and when required demonstrates the high degree of training, planning, standardization of weapons and equipment and co-operative organization which has been achieved by the forces of the United Nations."

Plan for Home Leave Explained By Gen. Vokes

By WILLIAM BOSS
(CP War Correspondent)

With the Canadian Corps on the Adriatic, Nov. 15 —(CP)— Details of Canada's announced plan of home leave for long service are being explained to the Dominion's troops here by Maj.-Gen. Vokes, commander of the 1st division, in visits to units at the rate of six a day. The division went overseas in December, 1939.

The tour embraces virtually every unit of both Canadian divisions and corps troops. To the single men, the General's advice is to get married. He tells married men fortunate enough to qualify: "may you who get home breed more Canadians like yourselves—we need them—30 days out to do it."

(Gen. Vokes statement indicated the length of leave for long service men will be 30 days. No announcements on this point has been made at Ottawa.)

The troops are told that leave is on an application basis, five years overseas service is required (service in Sicily and Italy counting double. However, time spent in detention, field punishment and for certain types of hospital attention does not count toward the five-year requirement.

"If it's within our power, 200 will be home for Christmas," he said. "Shipping is the only likely hold-up."

Gen. Vokes explained, however, that officers were not considered eligible for Christmas leave.

"You'll not be taken off the unit strength when you leave and on return you'll go right back to them, not losing either rank or seniority," he says. "The war may be in the dying stages but there is lots of tough fighting for the Canadians in Italy yet. We may be battling in Timbuctoo when you return but you'll go right there to rejoin us and the units."

SOCIAL AND PERSONAL

MARRIAGE NOTICE

HAMILTON—HILL — In Winnipeg, Man., on Nov. 3, 1944, Murray E. Hamilton, of Belleville, R.C.N.V.R., was married to Helen Laurinne, youngest daughter of Mr. and Mrs. R. P. Hill, Davidson, Sask.

ENGAGEMENT NOTICE

Mr. William John Tuepah, Stirling, Ont., wishes to announce the engagement of his daughter, Madeline, to Carman Geen, son of Mrs. Margaret Geen, Thomasburg; the marriage to take place on Saturday, Dec. 2, at St. James' Church at 10 o'clock a.m.

Wren Lois C. Meyers, R.C.N.V.R. is spending a leave with her parents, 137 Charles Street.

Mrs. C. Goodman, Plainfield, underwent a major operation in Belleville General Hospital on Tuesday morning.

Mr. and Mrs. R. A. Backus, 38 West Bridge Street, were recent guests of Mrs. W. Foster and Mrs. P. A. Vandewater, Picton.

On Monday night, Phyllis Twiddy, Noble Grand of Quintena Rebekah Lodge No. 133 and staff motored to Napanee and conferred the degree on a class of seven candidates into Queen of Sheba Rebekah Lodge No. 254. All reported having a lovely time.

A most entertaining evening was spent at the home of Mrs. Wannamaker, Donald Street, recently, the occasion being a miscellaneous shower for the newlyweds, Mr. and Mrs. Gene Rosebush. The playing of bingo, topped off with the serving of refreshments comprised a very enjoyable party. The new bride and groom were the recipients of many lovely gifts for which they expressed their sincere appreciation.

The Sodality of the Children of Mary of St. Michael's Church, sponsored a very successful bridge and euchre party in the auditorium of St. Michael's Academy on Tuesday evening, with very gratifying results realized from the occasion. Convener of the affair was Miss Gladys MacDonald and in charge of the cards was Mr. J. Chapelle. Miss Mary MacMahon was treasurer for the evening. Winners for bridge were ladies: Mrs. Charles Meagher and Mrs. J. Cowan and men: Mr. Charles Meagher and Mr. Frank Barrett. Euchre prize winners were: Mrs. Robert Rogers, Mrs. Peter Feeney, Miss Dorothy Bellis and Mrs. R. Dunlop. Members of the Sodality served refreshments at the conclusion of the party.

WEDDINGS

BABCOCK—MACPHERSON

A pretty wedding was solemnized in Odessa United Church by the Rev. C. W. Hollingsworth on Saturday, November 11, when Mary Banche MacPherson, Reg.N., eldest daughter of the late Mr. and Mrs. J. W. MacPherson, and Grant Bernard, son of Mr. and Mrs. Kenneth Babcock, of Wilton, were united in Holy Matrimony.

The bride was a radiant figure as she entered the church on the arm of her uncle, Mr. Shelley Denyes. She was dressed in a gown of white brocaded satin and finger-tip veil caught to her hair with a coronet of lily-of-the-valley and carrying a semi-cascade of red carnations with fern.

The bride's attendants were her sisters, Miss Clarabelle MacPherson, of Bermuda, as maid of honor wearing a floor length dress of heavenly blue georgette and Miss Joyce MacPherson of Odessa, as bridesmaid, dressed in a floor length gown of dusty rose. They wore matching shoulder-length veils held in place with rosettes of the same material.

The groom was attended by Pte. Donald Jones, of Odessa. The ushers were Mr. Douglas MacPherson, cousin of the bride and Mr. Clarke Babcock, brother of the groom.

During the signing of the register a youthful cousin of the bride, Ronald Elmy, of Belleville, beautifully sang, "Because".

Mrs. R. Cairns, organist of the church, played appropriate music.

Following the ceremony, a reception was held at the home of Mrs. Denyes, aunt of the bride, dressed in pale blue sheer with hat to match. Assisting Mrs. Denyes in the receiving line was Mrs. Kenneth Babcock, mother of the groom, dressed in old gold, trimmed with black sequins.

Among the out-of-town guests were Mr. and Mrs. G. P. Grills, of Bermuda, Mr. and Mrs. Thos. Lochhead, of Montreal, Mrs. M. F. MacPherson, of Fort William and Miss Phoebe Ross, of Toronto.

The groom's gift to the bride, was a Sterling silver brush and comb set and to their attendants suitable gifts were given.

The happy couple amid showers of confetti left on an extended honeymoon in Western Ontario

The bride's bouquet was presented to Mr. and Mrs. Shelley Denyes in honor of their twenty-fifth wedding anniversary.

COLE—TAYLOR

St. George's Chapel, Trenton, was the scene of a quiet but lovely wedding on Saturday, November 11, at 4.30 o'clock, when the Rev. K. F. Blatchford, of Trenton, united in marriage Eleanor Jane, daughter of Mrs. Edward Taylor and the late Mr. Taylor, to Kenneth Randle, son of Mr. and Mrs. Burton Cole, of Trenton.

The bride, who was given in marriage by her brother, Donald Taylor, was charming in a two-piece dress of aquamarine blue, trimmed with gold sequins and accentuated with brown accessories and corsage of Sweetheart roses.

Mrs. Bruce McNeil, cousin of the bride, as her attendant was attired in turquoise blue with brown accessories and corsage of Better Time roses.

Mr. Bruce McNeil acted as best man.

A reception for the immediate families was held at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Bruce McNeil following the ceremony. The guests were received by the bride's mother attired in brown ensemble, accessories in same shade; corsage of baby 'mums. The groom's mother chose a mauve figured dress with black accessories and corsage of mauve baby 'mums.

After the reception, the bride and groom left on a trip to points west.

Will Conduct Evangelistic Campaign Here

ADJT. WM. ROSS

MRS. ROSS

Despite the heavy demands made upon the personnel of The Salvation Army for war work, Commissioner Orames, the Leader of the Army in Canada has detailed Adjt. and Mrs. William Ross to conduct special Evangelistic Missions throughout the country.

Adjt. Ross came to Canada from Scotland some years ago and became a policeman in the city of Regina. Ten years ago he entered the work of the Salvation Army, and has given service at the Toronto Training College, as well as in some Field appointments.

Mrs. Ross is Irish, and has accompanied her husband in his many journeys ranging from coast to coast of Canada since 1941. She is a very efficient soloist, and as such gives constant assistance in the services conducted by the Adjutant.

Adjutant and Mrs. Ross will conduct an Evangelistic Campaign at the Salvation Army Citadel in Belleville beginning Wednesday, November 22nd.

Y.P.U. Studies Lives and Works Of Music Masters

Holloway Street Y.P.U. was held on Monday evening with a good attendance.

The meeting opened with a short practice of two Christmas carols led by Norma Arkils with Lois Harper at the piano.

During the business period, plans were made for the Christmas Church Service of which the Young People's is in charge.

The Christian Culture group, under the convenership of Roselyn Robertson, had an interesting program centred around the theme "Music". Taking part in the Worship Service were Roselyn Robertson, who gave the Call to Worship, Doris Scott, who read the Scripture Lesson and Ray Beattie, who led in prayer.

Ruth Oliphant gave the life of Tschaikowsky, the great Russian composer following which Leola Burkholder delighted all with two piano solos, "Arabic Dance" and "Dance of the Reed Flutes" from Tschaikowsky's "Nutcracker Suite".

The life of Stephen Foster was given by Betty McCoy after which Douglas Warham accompanied by his mother, sang one of Foster's best-loved compositions, "Beautiful Dreamer".

Pat Thurston then told some interesting facts about the life of Irving Berlin.

Olive Reid played two of Berlin's most popular compositions, "White Christmas" and "Always".

Ruth Oliphant put on two musical contests, following which the meeting closed with "Taps".

Fireside Hour.

The first Fireside Hour of the season was held following the church service Sunday evening, at the home of the President, Noreen Frederick.

Norma Arkils led in a sing-song of favorites with Isobel Richardson as pianist.

Harry Denton entertained the Young People with a number of records. An interesting new game was introduced by Doris Howie.

Refreshments and a social period brought the enjoyable evening to a close.

TO SPEAK TO CANADA

Toronto, Nov. 15 (CP)—Admiral Sir Andrew Cunningham, First Sea Lord, will speak to the people of Canada from England Sunday, Nov. 19, it was announced yesterday. The broadcast will be in observance of Navy Sunday and the inauguration of Navy Week. It will be carried at 5 p.m. E.D.T., over the CBC's Trans-Canada network.

Two Union Jacks Are Presented To Ladies' Auxiliary

The Ladies' Auxiliary of the Army and Navy Veterans Unit 49, held its regular meeting on Thursday with a large number of members attending. The Auxiliaries was presented with two large Union Jacks, one from Mrs. J. T. Clark, and one from Mrs. Beech, of Montreal. There were several applications for membership and three new members were initiated. Ways and means of making money for patriotic and benevolent work were discussed and to start off the President, Mrs. Sam Turner donated a beautiful quilt on which tickets are being sold. After the meeting closed, a social hour was spent. A very delicious lunch provided by the Army and Navy Vets Unit 201, was very much enjoyed and appreciated by the ladies.

Evening Auxiliary Holds Meeting

The Evening Auxiliary of the Tabernacle United Church met at the home of Mrs. W. E. Cowles, Donald Street, on Friday evening with a good attendance. Miss Delia Johnston, president, called the meeting to order. A hymn was sung, followed by prayer. During the business period, a very gratifying report was given on the sale of Christmas cards.

The devotional period was in charge of Mrs. C. K. Matthews, the theme being, Consecration of the Kingdom "For Their Sakes"—being in keeping with Remembrance Day program. Miss Rachel Fox read an appropriate poem, after which Mrs. Geo. Stanton closed this period with prayer. Mrs. Wm. Dougherty was in charge of the Study Book "West of the Date Line", indicating on a map points of interest and giving a short history of different places. She was assisted by Mrs. Lockyer, Miss Jessie Smith and Mrs. W. E. Cowles.

Mrs. Lockyer invited the auxiliary to meet at her home for the December meeting.

After the close of the meeting a delicious lunch was served by the hostess and a social half hour was spent.

Women's Activities

JOHNSTOWN W.A.

Mrs. W. Harder opened her home for the November meeting of Johnstown W.A. on Wednesday afternoon of last week with a large attendance of members and guests. Mrs. Wm. Harry presided. Mrs. G. Herrington read the Scripture lesson. The program consisted of a piano solo by Mrs. G. Sticke; readings by Mrs. E. Stickle and Mrs. E. Brooks; violin solo by Mrs. Hendel and vocal solo by Mrs. C. Curtiss. The guest speaker, Mrs. Spafford gave a most interesting talk on Missions, which was very much enjoyed by all. Mrs. F. Meyers held a contest, the winner being Mrs. McKee. A hearty vote of thanks was extended to Mrs. Spafford and the meeting was closed with the National Anthem.

Mrs. Harder served refreshments and a social hour was enjoyed.

BETHANY W.M.S.

The November meeting of Bethany W.M.S. was held on Wednesday at the home of Mrs. C. Embury. The Worship Service was conducted by the President, Mrs. F. Easton, the theme being "Armistice Day".

In the absence of the group leader, Mrs. J. Ritz, took charge of the program. A reading was given by Mrs. V. Hamilton, "Ten Busy Be's". The second chapter in the Study Book was given in a very interesting manner by Mrs. W. Clarke. Mrs. R. Ritz gave a reading "Mrs. Morgan's Quarter". A poem "How Much" was read by Mrs. P. Osland. The meeting closed with singing the Doxology.

Miss Beatrice Jones Speaks at 3 Services

Appreciation was expressed to Mr. Joseph Huff on Sunday evening at Shannonville, for his kindness in making three services in the parish possible by driving Miss Beatrice Jones, of Belleville, to each appointment there. Fine congregations were in attendance both in the morning and in the evening.

For the morning service, Miss Jones spoke from the third chapter of Proverbs, stressing the great exhortation as our hope for today's conflict. For her evening talk, she spoke from the sixteenth chapter of Acts, emphasizing Paul's vision and work at Philippi among the Gentiles. Everyone felt that the hour with one another had been well spent, remembering God said, "Where two or three are gathered together in His name, he would be with us". In the absence of the rector, Rev. Charles Heaven, who was called to Toronto, his work was carried on. Sincere thanks to Mr. and Mrs. Huff were offered.

White's District

White's District. — Mrs. Walter Jones opened her home on Wednesday afternoon, when members of the Women's Association met to work on a quilt.

Members and friends of the Bay of Quinte Women's Institute met at the home of Mrs. W. A. Jeffery on Thursday afternoon. A short meeting was conducted by the President, Mrs. P. Boulton. Miss Masters, guest speaker from Guelph Agricultural College, gave a very interesting and educational address. She spoke briefly on the hospitalization insurance plan which was first tried out with success in Kingston and is now being worked out throughout Ontario in group plans in factories and offices or singly for families. She said that in Rangoon Burma where she spent three years, there really is a housing problem. She thought everyone should have a hobby to be happy. Refreshments were served by the hostess and her assistants.

Mrs. A. Paice is progressing favorably in Belleville General Hospital following an operation on Wednesday.

Col. D. Green is much improved following an attack of influenza. He has been seriously ill and under the doctor's care

Mr. J. Megginson, Mrs. J. Brown and Mr. and Mrs. Leonard Young were Sunday visitors of Mr. and Mrs. J. Daniels of Foxboro.

Mrs. L. Hunt opened her home on Friday evening to commence training the young people for a special "Candlelight" Service.

Mrs. Cecil Jeffery is confined to Belleville General Hospital.

The farmers are still busy ploughing in this district. The dry weather of the past weeks has made the task more difficult. The occasional hum of the threshing machine may still be heard here too.

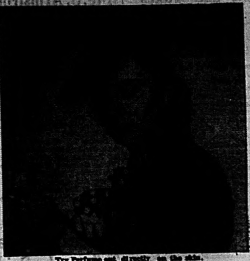
The Correct Way to Buy Perfume to Suit Your Type



Try Perfume out directly on the skin.

By HELEN FOLLETT

WHEN YOU sally forth to buy yourself a new perfume you can expect to do a lot of sniffing and we're not joking. Unless you find an item that exhilarates you and excites you with its sweetness and delicacy, you will be in for a disappointment. Remember, you have to live with it, and so does the family. Don't be a reckless money flinger. Make a happy selection.

Perfume imparts a feeling of romance, like quaint frocks and flowers in your hair. It does something for your soul. It makes you forget things that are better forgotten. It is a morale booster, and no mistake.

Selecting Perfume.

Buy from open containers. Sniff and sniff until you find just what you want to dramatize yourself and the clothes you wear. Clear, spicy odors are suitable for the athletic, outdoor girl. Insidious and exotic perfumes do right by the lady of fashion who puts up a distinguished appearance. Floretted liquids that remind one of an old fashioned garden—jonquil, jasmine, violets— are good bets for the gentle, retiring girl. They'll make her think of moonlight and romance and that won't do her a bit of harm.

Rose scents have made a comeback. Maybe you like them, maybe you don't, but they were Grannie's favorites in her young days. They last and that's in their favor.

Applying Perfume.

Don't be misled by fascinating names or beautiful containers; let the nose, not the eye, decide.

To conserve perfume you should use an atomizer. After your bath and a brisk rubdown, spray arms and shoulders. The warmth of the body will cause the alcoholic content to evaporate; just the flower odors will remain.

Keep perfumes in a cabinet away from the light, preferably where they will be kept cool.

DEPLORES SIGNS APPARENT GROWTH GAMBLING SPIRIT

Ottawa Presbytery of U. C. Attacks 'Phenomenal Increase' in Use of Alcohol

Ottawa, Nov. 15 —(CP)— Resolutions adopted at a meeting yesterday of the Ottawa Presbytery of the United Church of Canada "deplored the apparent growth of the gambling spirit" and said that the "phenomenal increase in the consumption of alcoholic beverages since the war" was tending "to lower moral and spiritual values."

The Presbytery criticized the National Film Board for displaying "disgusting drinking scenes" in some of its pictures and asked the Board delete all drinking scenes from its films or label them some way so that prospective users of the films would know which contained "objectionable" scenes.

(John Grierson, film commissioner of the Film Board, said the only comment he had to make on the Presbytery's resolution was that "the phrase disgusting drinking scenes is in itself an intemperate phrase to describe the scenes in the film." The title of the film referred to was "Ski in the Valley of the Saints.")

While expressing appreciation for the Federal Government's attempts to curtail liquor consumption, the Presbytery expressed concern at "the strength of the liquor movement and the means by which it strives to make the business respectable."

The resolution on gambling drew attention to newspaper reports, quoted the Quebec Racing Association that $576,000 was spent on betting at Connaught Park during the racing season while the pari-mutuel intake on Ontario tracks in 1944 was $22,558,114.

Dr. H. W. Avison said the ministers should follow the lead of the Women's Missionary Societies in discouraging church raffles.

"Until we clear our own skirts, we cannot talk about the race-tracks," said Rev. John MacAskill.

Britain Prepares For War on Japan

Aberdeen, Scotland (CP) — G. M. Garro Jones, parliamentary assistant in the production ministry, has disclosed here that a "large shift to new types of production" is under way in Britain to help seal the doom of Japan.

He mentioned specifically these items: New amphibious and landing craft; lighter weapons; a wider range of new radio equipment; vast quantities of special clothing and medical stores.

One of the major problems was to make equipment that would stand up to the heat and humidity of the tropics.

Speaking of wartime economic sacrifice, Mr. Jones said the British government had rightly declined controversy with its Allies.

"Indeed, the British lion has been so afraid of being thought to growl at his good Allies that he has sometimes purred even when his tail was being pulled hard. It is to be hoped that this delicacy will not add to international misunderstanding."

PRAIRIE HARVESTING NEAR END

Ottawa, Nov. 15 —(CP)— With Prairie harvesting virtually at an end, Arthur MacNamara, Selective Service Director, said today that "arrangements for supplies of workers from various quarters proved reasonably adequate."

The Federal Labor Department today released a letter from agriculture Minister D. G. MacMillan of Alberta to Labor Minister Mitchell expressing general satisfaction with harvest labor arrangments.

AUSTRALIANS ASSUME TASK

New York, Nov. 15 — (CP) — The Australian News and Information Bureau reports that Francis Forde, Deputy Prime Minister of the Commonwealth, announced Monday night that units of the Australian Army have undertaken the task of driving the Japanese from the island territories by-passed in the Allied advance to the Philippines.

Japanese strength in these islands is estimated at 250,000.

UNUSUAL BIRTH

Philadelphia, Nov. 15 —(AP)— Dr. F. Sidney Dunne, noted obstetrician, yesterday disclosed the birth of sisters from two separate wombs at Lying-In Hospital here.

He said it was "pretty unusual" and knew of only one other similar case. A double Caesarean was performed, he said, and added:

"The babies and mother are doing well."

The unusual birth took place Nov. 7, less than a week after quadruplets were born at the same hospital.

Naval Casualties At Schelde Estuary Relatively High

By DOUGLAS AMARON
Canadian Press Staff Writer

London, Nov. 15 —(CP Cable)— The "great success" of the British amphibious operations on Walcheren Island in the Schelde estuary was achieved with "relatively heavy casualties" of 307 naval and commando personnel killed or missing and 482 wounded, A. V. Alexander reported to the House of Commons today.

The first Lord of the Admiralty said the operation, which resulted in final elimination of the Germans from the north side of the Schelde estuary "had to be undertaken under difficult and somewhat unfavorable conditions against a desperate enemy."

Listing losses in the landings at West Kapelle and Vlissingen (Flushing) on Walcheren, he said nine of 25 support craft engaged were sunk and eight damaged, with 172 officers and men from their crews killed and 200 wounded.

Of the 47 other major landing craft engaged, four were sunk and others damaged. Casualties in these craft and in the attack on Vlissingen were 21 officers and men killed or missing, 81 wounded. Royal Marine commandos suffered 114 officers and men killed or missing and 201 wounded.

Mr. Alexander disclosed that in view of the need to clear the Schelde as quickly as posible, Lt.-Gen. Simonds, at that time commanding the 1st Canadian Army when the commander, Lt.-Gen. Crerar, was ill, decided to put in the Vlissingen attack Nov. 1 whether the west Kapelle attack, dependent on the weather, could go in or not.

Because weather forecasts at this time of year are unreliable, Gen. Simonds and the Naval Force commander, Admiral Sir Bertram Ramsay, decided to sail the west Kapelle force from Oostende (Ostende) as planned but to leave to commanders on the spot the decision whether or not to attack.

Weather conditions proved more favorable than expected, Mr. Alexander said, but fog grounded all aircraft. The commander decided, in view of paramount advantages to be obtained by simultaneous assaults on West Kapelle and Vlissingen to go on with the attack.

SUDDEN CALL-OUT FOR MEDICAL EXAMINATIONS

Halifax, Nov. 15 — (CP)—A number of active service army men who have been in Halifax for as long as four or five years, expect to be on their way overseas soon. Yesterday saw a sudden callout for medical examinations, and it is now expected that men who are fit will be sent overseas. The move is apparently in conformity with the government's reinforcement policy.

RESTRICTIONS LIFTED ON FLAVORS

Ottawa, Nov. 15 —(CP)— Soft drink manufacturers now may market soft drinks in any number of flavors, the Prices Board announced today. An order enforced in August, 1943, manufacturers could not make soft drinks in more than six flavors.

Brooklynites Angered by Coward's Comments on Brooklyn Boys in Book

New York, Nov. 15 —(CP)— Noel Coward, British playwright, actor and composer, has stirred up a hornet's nest in the proud and sensitive borough of Brooklyn. Repercussions have extended into the halls of Congress in Washington with the affairs taking on some of the aspects of an international incident.

For Mr. Coward, master of the barbed epigram, obviously did not know what he was doing when he wrote in "Middle East Diary," the story of three months passed last year entertaining soldiers in hospitals in the Mediterranean war theatre, six lines covering his tour of a hospital in Tripoli filled with Allied wounded from Salerno. The passage reads:

"I talked to some tough fighting men from Texas and Arizona; they were magnificent specimens and in great heart. But I was less impressed by some of the mournful little Brooklyn boys lying there in tears amidst the alien corn with nothing worse than a bullet wound in the leg or a fractured arm."

Issue Burning Statement.

That was too much for Brooklyn. The Society for the Prevention of Disparaging Remarks About Brooklyn issued a burning statement which asked, among other things: "What does that guy know about Brooklyn — for about he-men, either?" Yesterday, in City Council, five Brooklyn councilmen demanded that the author's books and plays be banned in New York City.

A resolution — which ultimately was referred to the council's committee on general welfare — was introduced urging all New York booksellers and producers to boycott Mr. Coward's works. Pointing out that the people of Brooklyn "are proud of the accomplishments and heroism of their sons and daughters in the armed forces," it said Mr. Coward had "cast aspersions upon our Brooklyn boys" and that all good Brooklynites "deeply resent this unjustifiable slur."

Slashing Attack.

No legislative action was taken or contemplated in congress, but the 155-page book was seized upon by representative Samuel Dickstein, chairman of the House of Representatives immigration committee, as the subject of a slashing attack against the "venomous pen" of Mr. Coward. He said he telephoned the immigration service and demanded that the next time Mr. Coward "sullies American shores" he be held at Ellis Island.

"I'll meet him there," Mr. Dickstein heatedly told reporters later. "Why, if that guy ever got into Brooklyn, he's be lynched . . . The attack on Brooklyn boys, in the light of their accomplishments on the battlefields, is so stupid and ill-mannered that only Noel Coward—the self-appointed genius of our age—could be guilty of it."

Four Quebec Regiments Guarantee Reinforcements for Overseas Units

Montreal, Nov. 14 — Major-Gen. L. R. LaFleche, Minister of National War Services, in a statement issue here on Monday night, said that he, as a Quebec minister, "has assumed the responsibility of arranging to find the men needed for French-Canadian units now in action."

Formal Offers.

He added that over the weekend he had obtained formal offers from the commanding officers of four Province of Quebec regiments that they would reinforce French-speaking regiments now on the battle-fronts, and he confidently awaited a similar response from another regiment. "There will be others as soon as I have the opportunity to put the matter up to the regiments."

Major-Gen. LaFleche, a native of Sorel, Que., who was himself seriously wounded while serving with the French-speaking Royal 22nd Regiment in the First Great War, and who was decorated with the D.S.O. and French Legion of Honour, said that it was only three weeks ago that he learned, "for the first time," of the reinforcement situation.

Patriotic Duty.

"I was convinced," his statement continued, "that men of Quebec would, if the situation were placed before them with complete frankness, and on the basis of equal privilege for equal sacrifice, make it their patriotic duty to ensure that never would their compatriots overseas be threatened with a shortage of reinforcements. Accordingly, I volunteered to take the affair in hand, and virtually to guarantee the Province of Quebec's answer to the call for more men for French-Canadian regiments.

"My proposal was not taken up.

"A change in the Ministry of National Defence followed, and I was then asked to find the volunteers.

Official Offers.

"I am now in receipt of an official offer from the commanding officer of the Fusiliers Mont-Royal to raise a reinforcing battalion for the 1st Battalion of that regiment, at present in action against the Germans on the Western Front.

"I hold a similar offer from the commanding officer of the Regiment de Maisonneuve, the first regiment in Canada to reach full mobilization after war broke out in 1939.

"The commanding officers of the Regiment de Joliette and of the Regiment de Chateauguay have given me similar assurances.

"I await the offer of reinforcements from a fifth Quebec regiment.

First Appeal to Draftees.

"In each case the home regiment offering a reinforcing battalion will have the privilege of selecting the unit it will reinforce. The first appeal to 'go active' will be made to N.A.M.A. men.

"As I have always been, I am extremely proud of my compatriots, and have every confidence in them.

"I have been very happy to inform the Rt. Hon. W. L. Mackenzie King of these offers. He also in the hour of crisis had faith in his fellow-Canadians."

Russ Commentator Says War Developing Unfavorably for Nips

By DANIEL DE LUCE
(AP Staff Writer)

Moscow, Nov. 15 —(AP)— Col. Ivan Tolchenov, Soviet military authority, said today that the war in the Pacific was developing unfavorably for Japan and recalled to his lecture audience that the Japanese had "attacked and raided the Soviet Union several times."

His listeners included Japanese correspondents and Red army men. (His address came nine days after Premier Marshal Stalin had declared Japan an "aggressive nation." Russia and Japan are at peace under a non-aggression pact.)

"Japan risked fighting two great powers, the United States and Great Britain as a consequence of her longtime policy of expansion," Col. Tolchenov said. "Japan has also attacked and raided the Soviet Union several times. We may recall the Mongolian border action by the Japanese in 1939, when they were strongly rebuffed."

The veteran Red army officer said the Pacific war was passing the first stage of Japan's well-prepared offensive and now was entering the second stage of the Allied counter-offensive. He declared that Japanese sea and air forces were inferior.

"The Japanese fleet has not suffered blows sufficient to paralyze its activity, but its losses will greatly affect its possibilities of resistance," he added. "Important events are ripening under unfavorable circumstances for Japan. Since the American landing in the Philippines, the battles are becoming stiffer."

Tolchenov said "the balance of power has shifted in favor of the Allies."

"American industry turns out 9,000 planes a month while Japanese plants hardly produce more than 1,400 or 1,500 in the same period," he added. "Even given equal losses, the Allied air forces will continue to grow and exceed the Japanese. At present the United States fleet is two or three times stronger than the Japanese fleet."

He noted also the transfer of British warships to the Pacific.

"It is difficult to predict the outcome of the Philippines operations, but the Allies prepared them well and there is reason to believe they will achieve success," he told the rapt audiences. "The Soviet Union, which occupied the main German forces on the Eastern Front, gave the Allies enough time for preparation for the Pacific."

Valley County, Idaho, Without an Attorney

Cascade, Idaho, Nov. 15 —(CP)— Valley County has no attorney because:

1. County Attorney Frank M. Kirby was renominated by the Democrats but died before election day, Nov. 7.

2. The Republicans did not name a candidate.

3. In the election 150 write-in voters favored Republican Tom Feeney of Lewiston.

4. Sixty voted for Democrat Tom Gwilliams of Ommet.

5. Neither is eligible for office because they do not live in Valley County.

Japanese Troops Drive Within 6 Miles of Ishan

Chungking, Nov. 15 —(AP)— Japanese troops drove within six miles of Ishan, important station on the Kwangsi-Kweichow railway 43 miles west of fallen Liuchow, in an advance which might develop into an invasion of the Hinterland Province of Kweichow, the Chinese High Command announced to-night.

Reinforced after a temporary halt, the enemy resumed the advance yesterday, and was converging from the east and south of Hsincheng, on the motor road to Ishan.

Servicemen Slow In Filling Forms For Gratuities

By d'Arcy O'Donnell
Canadian Press Staff Writer

Ottawa, Nov. 15 —(CP)— Fewer than 41,000 applications for War Service gratuities have been received by the Navy, Army and Air Force here since it was announced a month ago that application forms were available, a survey of The Canadian Press showed today.

Approximately 196,000 in the three services were discharged or became casualties prior to Oct. 1, and of the number only 40,700 have applied for the gratuities, provided under legislation passed at the last session of parliament.

Spokesmen for the services said it was the backlog of 155,000 who have not yet applied that was causing worry and it was hoped they or their dependents would file applications promptly. Personnel discharged after that date automatically filled out their gratuity application forms before leaving the service.

Applications Available.

Application forms are available at all naval, military and air force establishments in Canada and at all district and sub-district offices of the former pensions department, now the Department of Veterans' Affairs.

Dependents of men killed on active service need not fill out forms, but need only make application in a letter giving the man's name, rank and regimental number, and the extent to which they were dependent upon him.

Dependents were eligible for gratuities only if they were eligible for dependents' allowances at the date of the member's death or, if not eligible for dependents' allowances, providing they were dependent upon the member at the time and in receipt of assigned pay from him.

The discharged personnel themselves, however, must fill in all the details required in the application forms.

Payments Early in Year

Under the gratuity legislation, active service personnel will receive $7.50 for every 30 days service in the western hemisphere which includes Canada, the West Indies, Newfoundland and South America; $15 for every 30 days service overseas, including the Aleutians, Iceland and Greenland; seven days' pay and allowances for each six months' service overseas, and a re-establishment credit.

Members of the home defence army who served in Kiska are entitled to gratuities covering the period of their service there. Other home defence troops, however, receive no benefits under the legislation.

Nationals of other countries who served in Canadian forces are entitled to the gratuities. Canadians who have been discharged from other Empire forces during the present war may apply, if they now are domiciled and resident in Canada, and were domiciled in Canada at the outbreak of hostilities. Those discharged from the other Empire forces need apply by letter only, giving full particulars of service.

Payment of gratuities is expected to begin early in the new year. For that reason it was advisable for those eligible to file their applications immediately.

"Those eligible should realize that if they file their applications in the middle of December only they cannot expect to receive their cheque the first week in January," a spokesman said. "There is too much administrative work to be done to allow such speedy handling of applications."

Says Himmler Heads Defence While Hitler 'Ill'

Zurich, Nov. 15 (CP-Reuter) — Gestapo Chief Heinrich Himmler has been appointed Commander-in-Chief of the defensive forces of Germany "during Hitler's illness," the Swiss newspaper La Suisse, quoting "a well-informed source," said today.

London, Nov. 15 (AP)—The Nazi party, using the name of long-silent Hitler, clamped a tighter hold on the retreating German army today.

A new decree ordered all German officers and non-commissioned officers who were members of the Nazi party to "educate their men in the Nazi sense," both on duty and off duty. Previously, men were required to leave the party during their periods in the armed service.

The decree was broadcast by the Transocean Propaganda Service.

The London dailies all gave prominent space today to the various Hitler reports.

The Times of London declared there no longer seemed any doubt that Heinrich Himmler was the acting leader of Germany, adding that no one had appeared to challenge extension of his powers.

Curiously, the name of Himmler was conspicuously absent from the new decree that "all soldiers are now permitted to take over a function in the (Nazi) party or its branches."

In addition to Hitler it was signed by Hermann Goering—once No. 2 Nazi but himself so long silent that he, too, is now subject to "ill, mad or dead" rumors. Other signatories were Field Marshal Gen. Wilhelm Keitel and Chief of Chancellory Martin Bormann.

FOUND OWN CLOTHING

St. Petersburg, Fla., Nov. 15 — (AP) — Charlie Granderson sought new lodgings after someone entered his room and stole his clothing. At another lodging house, the proprietor told him: "The man who had this room is in jail for stealing a watch." Charlie moved in and found his stolen clothes hanging in the jailed roomer's closet.

Gone to Get Cigarettes for our Fighting Men!

A cigarette is such a little thing, just a pinch of tobacco and a scrap of paper, but to a fighting man it is complete relaxation, the needed break for tense nerves, a supreme enjoyment.

On the return from "the target for to-night", or after tense moments of life or death, danger and suffering, a cigarette provides a sense of deep satisfaction that nothing else can give.

That's why we, every one of us, should make it an obligation to contribute regularly to the cigarette funds for our fighting men overseas.

Won't you do your part?

LET'S ALL DO MORE TO WIN THE WAR

Sgt. Dick Groom Unanimously Chosen by All Sport Writers On Mythical All-Star Team

Annis Stukus Also First Choice for Position of Quarterback

By FRASER MACDOUGALL
Canadian Press Staff Writer

Toronto, Nov. 15.—(CP)— Sgt. Dick Groom, hard-tackling outside wing of the Hagersville Flying Tigers, didn't collect any headlines for his football scrapbook this season but he is the only player unanimously chosen for a place on the Ontario Armed Services Football League's first all-star team, announced last night.

All eight coaches and sport writers who participated in the selection for The Canadian Press named the 24-year-old Groom, who entered Senior football with the old Hamilton Tigers and played last season with the Dominion champion Hamilton Wildcats, to an outside wing post on the mythical team. Under the system of "weighing" the vote to give equal strength to each league centre he received 24 of a possible 24 points.

Stukus Given 20 Votes

Leading Seaman Annis Stukus, the veteran quarterback of the champion Toronto Navy Bulldogs who play H. M. C. S. Donnaconna in Montreal Saturday for the Canadian Navy championship, ranked next to Groom from the standpoint of unanimity. Leading scorer in the league this season with 44 points, Stukus received 20 of a possible 24 points in the voting. FO. Bobby Coulter of Hagersville was the only other quarterback contender with four points.

Navy and Hagersville each played four men on the all-star team, the number corresponding to the number of games each won in the scheduled season. Camp Borden R. C. A. F. Hurricanes, who won three games, have three all-star players and St. Thomas R. C. A. F. Hornets, who failed to win a game all season, have one.

The team:

Flying wing—Sgt. Doug Pyzer, Camp Borden, half—Ls. Tom Waldon, Navy, half—LAC. Ray (Moon) Mullins, St. Thomas, half (secondary defence)—LAC. Doug Smylie, Hagersville, quarterback — LS. Annis Stukus, Navy, snap—FO. Jake Gaudaur, Camp Borden, inside—LS. Hank McMahon, Navy, inside—Cpl. Fred Lamoureux, Hagersville, middle—Flt. Lt. Mike Ozarko, Camp Borden, middle—FO. Al Langford, Hagersville, outside — Sgt. Dick Groom, Hagersville, outside—LS. Al Upper, Navy.

All But Two Played

All members of the all-star team but two—Mullins and Lamoureux—played last season in the Ontario Rugby Football Union. But Stukus is the only member who was on the O. R. F. U. all-stars last year. Then a member of the Toronto Balmy Beach team, he was the unanimous choice for quarterback.

Pyzer, leading touchdown-getter in the league this season with seven for 35 points, Smylie and Ozarko were all members of the Toronto R. C. A. F. Hurricanes a year ago. Waldon, McMahon and Upper were with the Navy squad last year. Groom and Langford played with Hamilton Wildcats and Gaudaur with Ottawa.

Mullins, whose booting skill accounted for 15 of the 18 points St. Thomas scored during the season, is a former Montreal player. Lamoureux also comes from Montreal and played last season with the Lachine R. C. A. F. team which was eliminated by Hamilton in the Eastern Canada finals.

Two players who were on the O. R. F. U.'s 1943 all-star team failed to make the Services League all-star squad this year — OS. Royal Copeland of Navy and Sgt. Fred Kijek of Camp Borden. Both were mentioned in the voting.

The backfield contains the three leading scorers in the Service League scheduled season — Stukus who scored 44 points, Pyzer with 35 and Smylie with 20.

PUNCHES PUSIE

It is safe in assuming general bedlam will ensue when Al Dunlop and Jean Pusie square off in the semi-final of tonight's collection of ring ruffians at the Hume Arena. Pusie has a continent-wide reputation as being a rough and ready scrapper when he played hockey in both the N.H.L. and minor puck loops. However, Dunlop possesses plenty of the old moxie and backs down from no person, and this should be more noticeable when Pusie hasn't got a hockey stick in his hands to attempt mayhem. Featuring tonight's show is a go between "Irish Jerry" Monahan and John "Fingers" Katan, of which there should be more said after the meeting than before.

REVAMPED BRUINS IN FOURTH PLACE OF NATIONAL LOOP

Boston Defeats Chicago Black Hawks 7-5 in Only Game Played

By ERIC SANDERSON
(Canadian Press Staff Writer)

Art Ross' revamped Boston Bruins, which early this season lacked the zip and scoring punch they were famous for in previous National Hockey League campaigns, may have found the answer to their problems.

At any rate, the Boston club moved into sole possession of fourth place in the N.H.L. Tuesday night by outscoring Paul Thompson's Chicago Black Hawks 7-5 when they opened their 21st home season before 13,300 fans at Boston Gardens.

Although the Bruins scored the first goal of the match, they were forced to come from behind a 3-1 deficit in the second period to take the lead. Each squad netted one in the opening session.

Veteran left-winger Herbie Cain, who last season set a league record of 82 points, and rookie Bill Cupolo each scored twice for Bruins. Bill Jennings, Frankie Mario and Bill Cowley got the others. Cowley also assisted in three goals. Chicago goal-getters were Pete Horeck, with two, Bill Mosienko, Lode Check and Buss Brayshaw.

Black Hawks were sparked by Pete Horeck, who last season notched 34 goals for Cleveland Barons of the American Hockey League. He is replacing Doug Bentley on the line with Clint Smith and Mosienko, two of the club's top scorers in the 1943-44 campaign.

All receipts of the match were turned over to the Disabled War Veterans' Fund of Boston.

HERSHEY BEARS BEAT FLYERS

By The Canadian Press

Eastern division top-flight Hershey Bears trounced western division cellar-dweller St. Louis Flyers 4-1 in the only game scheduled in the American Hockey League last night.

Bill Gooden and Pat Patterson scored for the Bears in the first stanza while O'Neil hit the mark for the Hershey team in the second period.

N. Smith led a St. Louis rally in the third period. He scored the Flyers' lonely point unassisted after almost three-quarters of the period had gone by. The Hershey defence proved too tough for the Flyers to break through with anything else.

With but one second of the game remaining, Forgie took a loose puck in centre ice and drove in for the fourth Hershey tally.

WILL GET HAT FOR 'HAT TRICK'

New York, Nov. 15 —(AP)— The "hat trick" will be worth a hat to amateur hockey players in the United States this season.

Th Amateur Hockey Association of the United States has decided to recognize the traditionally important feat of scoring three goals in one game by awarding a miniature silver derby to each player on an A. H. A. member club who does the trick. Last season approximately 82 "hat tricks" were accomplished in A. H. A. competition.

Sport Roundup

By HUGH FULLERTON, JR.
(Associated Press Sport Writer)

New York, Nov. 15. (AP) —Julian Rice, a Contract bridge teacher and lawyer, has approached what he considers an unfair rule in baseball in a spirit of scientific inquiry and thinks he has the answer.

What's the Percentage?

The unfairness in the foul ball rule, Rice says, is that a batter can hit a couple of screaming liners that barely curve foul and he's charged with two strikes. Then he barely touches one to foul it up onto the screen and it doesn't cost him anything at all.

His Zone Idea.

What Rice prolongs to do about this is to divide foul territory into zones . . . One zone on each side of the present foul lines would be "free foul" territory into which a batter could hit—not bunt —as many fouls as he wanted without penalty—the rest of the area would be the "penalty foul" zone and every foul into it would be ruled a strike, even the third one. . . .The size of these free and penalty foul lines will be decided by experiments—and Rice hopes to stage a few experimental games this Fall.

Strictly Neutral

This corner doesn't fully subscribe to all of Rice's predictions that his plan will change the game for the better, but we'll be the first to howl if baseball men try to ignore it on the grounds their game already is perfect. . .The idea is worth considering—and the hot stoves may need a lot of fuel this winter.

What's Doing in Sport

By The Canadian Press

Jack Adams of the Detroit Red Wings put in a strong endorsement of Mervyn Red Dutton as president of the National Hockey League when he addressed a sports banquet at Welland last night. Adams said that Dutton is such a suitable candidate for the permanent presidency of the N.H.L. that the league "is fortunate to have his services at their disposal." Dutton has been acting president since the death of Frank Calder but recenly he said he would not accept the permanent presidency if it were offered him. Major Conn Smythe, formerly boss of the Toronto Maple Leafs, has also declined the post.

The annual bonspiel of the Kitchener Granite club starting Monday already has 90 entries, assuring the biggest competition in the 11 years of the event. Preliminaries involving 30 foursomes will be held Friday.

Sgt. Joe Louis, world heavyweight champion, knocked out Johnny Davis of Brooklyn with the first punch from his right hand in the first round of an exhibition match last night at Buffalo Auditorium. The blow came at the 53-second mark. Up to then Louis had been worrying Davis with left jabs to the head. There were 7,000 fans present.

Luke (Hot Potato) Hamlin, 39-year-old righthander who won six and lost 12 with Philadelphia Athletics last season, has been traded to Toronto of the International League, Connie Mack announced yesterday.

On the same card with Louis, Cliff Beckett of Sudbury scored a technical knockout over Jerry McGee of New York in three rounds. Beckett weighed 155 1/2, McGee 153 3/4.

The RCAF Bombers beat the Winnipeg Army Grenades 5-4 in the opener of the Manitoba Inter-Services Senior Hockey League at Winnipeg last night. Former N.H.L. players were on both teams. Pte. Mickey McKay with two, Pte. Jim McFadden and Pte. Bob Wiest scored for Army; LAC Paul Platz scored twice for the Airmen with singles by Sgt. Wally Stanowski, Cpl. Alf Pike and LAC. Neil Colville.

Cmd. Jack Dempsey and Artist James Montgomery Flagg were on hand at Dempsey's restaurant in New York last night to unveil a 20-by-six-foot oil painting by Flagg of the scrap between Dempsey and Jess Willard at Toledo on July 4, 1919, when Dempsey won the heavyweight title. Willard wasn't present; he sent a telegram telling Dempsey: "I saw too much of you 25 years ago."

Toronto, Nov. 15 — (CP)—Return of an old, familiar name to the hockey wars in Montreal was forecast with the announcement Leo Dandurand had been named honorary vice-president of the Nationale Hockey Club, which is planning a comeback on its fiftieth birthday, reports Lloyd McGowan in the Montreal Star . . . The Nationales used to be a force to be reckoned with in hockey and lacrosse, and such past greats as Newsy Lalonde, Joe Cattarinich, Didier Pitre and Jack Laviolette wielded the gutted stick with them . . . Nationales have a junior team lined up this winter, and plan to get back into the senior hockey field soon after a lapse of 20 years . . . that will give the French-Canadians from East Montreal a voice in the puck forum.

Oh Yes Kid!

They tell this one about Sweeney Schriner, this season's "rookie of the year." Crossing the International border recently, an immigration officer looked interested when he heard Schriner's name, then brightened: "Oh yes, you're the new rookie doing all that early scoring. Keep it up, and you're a cinch to win the rookie award." Sweeney figures it really would be something to cop the ducat again. He nailed it once, back in 1934-35 with New York Americans.

Mirth Department:

From Elmer (Montreal Herald) Ferguson: "New York Rangers' home games are starting now at 8:30 instead of 8:45 . . . we almost remarked that Rangers were starting to play hockey at 8:30." Well, that's where life begins, isn't it?

Maurice Lavigne, Timmins, Ont., scrapper who has been campaigning in the Maritimes, is being touted by his pals as another Dave Castilloux when he gets more experience. Lavigne dropped a recent one to aging but seemingly ageless Johnny Lifford of Saint John, N.B. . . . London, Nov 15 —(CP)— Providing steeplechasing resumes this winter—and there is a good chance it will—the youngest jockey ever to win the Grand National will resume his riding career after an absence from the turf of six years crammed with adventure—and misadventure.

In those years Bruce Hobbs, six-foot army captain and the tallest jockey in Britain, has:

Been near death with a broken back; served more than four years with the Desert Army and in Italy; been wounded and won the Military Cross.

It was feared that Bruce never would ride again after he fractured his spine in a fall while riding at Cheltenham in 1939. A year earlier, at the age of 17, he piloted the 40-1 outsider Battleship, to victory in the Grand National.

The spine was healed by a miracle operation. Several pieces of bone were grafted to the spine from his leg and Hobbs, son of a famous trainer, was able to watch the next Grand National from the Aintree stands.

Wounded in Italy, he now is recovering in England and has reduced his weight by 28 pounds to 154.

Hugh Trainor, young racing apprentice who was discharged from the army when he lost his right leg in the cross-channel shelling at Dover, will have a chance to ride again.

He applied to a reinstatement committee for permission to rejoin the Manton stables and stated he already had ridden hacks since the loss of his limb.

Trainor joined the Manton stables in July of 1939 and was called up two years ago. He was discharged from the army this year, four months before his apprenticeship would have been completed. He now has an artificial leg.

Trainor told the committee that he "loved" horses and "dearly" wanted his old job back. It was merely a matter of knowing the horse, he said. The Manton stables agreed to give him a month's trial.

Here and There:

The British Boxing Board of Control announced that Joe Curran of Liverpool has earned the right to meet Jackie Paterson of Glasgow, for the World, British and British Empire flyweight titles held by Paterson. The contest now is open for promoters to arrange . . . Walter Hutchinson, publisher and race horse owner, has purchased the famed training establishment at Stockbridge, Hampshire, run by trainer H. S. Perase . . .

Oxford and Cambridge will engage in another wartime boat race next February. Oxford won the last race last February . . W. J. Hoare, 56, rugby football critic who wrote under the name of "Old Stager," died at Cardiff. He attended all international matches for many years and was a member of the staff of the Cardiff Western Mail and the South Wales Echo.

BIG SEVEN

CASUAL COMMENT by K.J.C.

Revenge

The expert golfer was handicapped by the actions of a very slow player in front. The latter possessed a perfect pair of bow legs.

Al through the afternoon the first player found himself hindered at every hole. He managed to control his temper, however, though with dificulty.

Finally, his patience exhausted, he drove clean through the player in front and his ball passed through the widely spread legs.

"Do you call that golf?" stormed the slow player.

"No," answered the other, "but pretty hot croquet, what?"

Here's the Challenge.

One of these fine days the question of O.H.A. hockey will be heard along Front Street and the advisability of Belleville again entering the provincial puck wars. There is no chance of Intermediate hockey being revived in Eastern Ontario for another year or more, but things look much brighter for the district junior O.H.A. set-up.

However, as far as Belleville is concerned something should be done in the matter of preparation for the post war hockey period and here's where the challenge comes in. Belleville boasts of three service clubs, all of which are doing outstanding war work as well as social activities, but if the Rotary, Kinsmen and Kiwanis Clubs are in the field for some good sound community service there is nothing more needed in Belleville than a minor hockey league for the promotion of the game among the teen aged of the city. After all this is something constructive and that is the basis of service club work.

If each of the local service organizations would undertake to sponsor a team then one of the biggest obstacles confronting the successful promotion of minor league hockey would be overcome. Here the city would have reputable organization along with the proper supervision.

Coaching too would enter into the picture, but we believe such former players like Tilly Donihee, Ken Watt, Cy Barriage, Toots Holway and others could be induced to assist in this phase. And that does not take in some of the former N.H.L. players stationed at Mountain View and Trenton who also would jump at the chance to help the kids. If Belleville hopes to keep abreast with the other cities in Ontario in the sponsoring of hockey for the post war period something along the above lines will have to be put in practice and here is the opportunity for service clubs to practice the very essence of their existence—community service.

As for O.H.A. hockey—well, that phase has always looked after itself.

Around the Town.

Steve Graziano, who plays end for the Ottawa Trojans, started his football career at the O.S.D. here ....He also played hockey. Steve was with the Trojans when they beat Queen's University seniors last Saturday..Peterboro Collegiate won the Lake Shore Interscholastic senior grid title by beating Oshawa 4-1, which would indicate these two teams play a strong brand of defensive ball....Belleville Collegiate and Albert College meet in a sudden death 12-man game at Albert campus, this afternoon....It will mark the first conventional football game played here in four years.... Yesterday a lighter, but headier Stirling team, beat Tweed 11 to 1 to win the Trent Valley COSSA group 16 to 15 on the round, proving football isn't all brawn.... Eddie Schrieder and Red Townsend called the game.....Stirling does not intend to enter the COSSA playdowns, but would be willing to meet the local winners for the Bay of Quinte honors, so why all the hustle with sudden death games in Belleville?....The City Ladies' Basketball League is shopping around for a president, as Prexy Don Lee feels one season is enough. ....They met last night with the same four teams interested—Reliance, Alemite, Bell Sargent and Deacons.

Remember When.

Ottawa Roughriders' fifteen year hunt for an Interprovincial Big Four Football Union championship title ended 19 years ago today when the Riders defeated the Hamilton Tigers 8-3 at the Capital City. Ottawa went on to win the Canadian title that year, defeating Winnipeg 24 to 1 in the final game.

An Idea.

'Tis rumored that Jean Pusie, who tackles Bunny Dunlop at wrestling in the Hume arena tonight, plans to challenge Billie Watson's right to the British Empire title if he can topple Al "the bunny" tonight. If the ex-N.H.L. badman is half as turbulent in the wrestling ring as he was along the hockey cushions of the N.H.L. there should be an interesting preliminary for the fans tonight. Following this Promoter Tunney is hauling Jerry Monahan into town for the express purpose of taking John Katan's measure once and for all. However, maybe Katan has other ideas, what?

Don't Want Much?

Back from a long and profitable vacation with Tom Yawkey on the latter's Georgetown, S.C., plantation, Edward G. Barrow, president of the Yankees, at once became busy whipping the 1945 roster into shape.

Barrow had a long conference with Joe McCarthy over the telephone, and announced, "Joe agrees with me. We need pitchers, outfielders, infielders and catchers."

This, of course, was by way of pleasantry. But Ed and Joe are about right, if the Tigers are to be headed off in 1945.

Barrow said Yawkey and he did not regard the Army and Navy Journal idea of sending major league clubs to train in Hawaii, and play for servicemen, as "practicable at this time."

LESSON NO. 532

By SAM GORDON
The Kibitzer

First a player should make sure that his contract is secure. When he knows his bid is safe, he may look out for extra gravy.

You are south as declarer at a six heart contract. Instead of leading the spade ace, west led the diamond jack. When dummy spreads, you can see 12 easy tricks. But look for 13.

You win the first trick in dummy and lead a small spade. Your south hand hops on that with a trump and then takes three top trumps. Dummy wins another diamond and south trumps another spade.

South then leads the two remaining trumps and the club ace. You then have left the K 5 of clubs and a small diamond. Dummy keeps the spade king, the top diamond, and a small club.

To control both black suits, west hangs onto the spade ace and his two highest clubs. All are essential to his side at the moment. What east has left is immaterial.

Now lead your small south diamond and dummy wins with the top diamond. But when you lead that diamond, west is squeezed. No matter what card he plays to that trick it hurts him.

No matter what west lets go of is bad for his side. He may not like it. He may squirm a little. But there is nothing he can do about it. He must play a card of some kind. And it squeezes him.

If he coughs up the spade ace, he lets dummy win a trick with the spade king. If west gives out with the club nine or ten, he lets both your south clubs win the last two tricks.

The important act in this drama was the fact that you led a card of which west had none. And when a squeeze situation develops, the squeezer must make sure he can enter either hand.

If you like what triumph brings, pay much heed to little things.

14 JAP SHIPS SUNK, DAMAGED IN MANILA BAY

Floating Dock Destroyed and 28 Enemy Planes Knocked Out

Pearl Harbor, Nov. 15 —(AP)— An American carrier plane raid on Japanese shipping and facilities in Manila Bay Sunday left 14 ships—including three warships—sunk or damaged, a floating dock destroyed and at least 28 enemy planes destroyed, it was announced last night by Admiral Nimitz. One ship of the American carrier task force was damaged during a Japanese aerial attack.

(Japanese broadcasters said earlier that 800 attacking planes hit the Manila area, and claimed one American battleship was sunk by suicide pilots east of Luzon Island.)

Admiral Nimitz said two destroyers in Manila Bay exploded under the American attack. While these were not listed as sunk in the communique, they could be termed probables. A light cruiser was left badly damaged.

An estimated 11 cargo ships and oilers were either sunk or left aflame, and a floating dock was torpedoed.

RUBBER MADE OF SILICA

New York, Nov. 15. (AP)— A new synthetic rubber, made mainly from sand, and which forms a bouncing putty, was announced here yesterday by the General Electric Company. The rubber is silicone, which means that it comes from silica and that it is made from the same base which produces glass.

Sherbrooke, Que., Nov. 15. (CP)— An all French-speaking jury yesterday after 30-minutes deliberation found Mrs. T. Provencher, 55-year-old Sherbrooke fortune teller, guilty of interfering with army recruiting. The jury recommended her to the mercy of the court. She will be sentenced at the end of the Criminal Assizes term although she still faces 12 other similar charges.

WIFE HELD IN WOUNDING

Charlottetown, Nov. 15 (CP) — Wounded in the left shoulder, William Ryan, 45, staggered from his home last night and died shortly after collapsing on the sidewalk. Police detained his wife, Florence, and held her without charge. Officers said they had information indicating Ryan had been wounded by a knife, and took possession of two bread knives found in his home.

Little Benny's Note Book

Ma came in the living room with a new hat on, and pop said, Hello, I never saw that one before.

That proves it's noticeable at least, ma said. I had it sent home from Hookbinders, William, and I want your honest unvarnished opinion of it, she said, and pop said, Oh well, if you haven't made up your mind yet, this is my chance to come to the rescue.

Well go ahead and tell me, how do you think I look in it, William? ma said, and pop said, You look like a true ghost story of a woman who had a nightmare and dreamed she was wearing that hat and woke up and low and behold the darn thing was actually on her head. You look like somebody trying to be funny and not realizing the joke is over. You look as if a 3 year old birds nest had fallen on your head and you were the only one that didn't know it. So for Peet sake send it back to Hookbinders and let them palm it off on somebody else, he said.

Well I cant quite do that, William, ma said. It seems they're not allowed to take hats back any more on account of some new saniterry code or something. But at least I can put it down to profit and loss and just forget all about it in the back of my closit, she said, and pop said, Yee gods, do you mean to say you intend to pay some fancy price for it and then not even wear it? Apparently you didn't understand what I've been trying to say. I've been trying to tell you that it reminds me of a happy accident. I mean it's like one of those careless brush strokes that sends joy to a real artist's heart even though he got the effect by pure chance, pop said.

Why William how wonderful, ma said. Several of my women friends went into jellis ecstacies over it, but naturally, I wouldn't wear it without your approval, she said.

And she looked at herself in the looking glass like somebody feeling better instead of worse.

CHAPTER NINE

In the end, (the argument lasted for hours) Anna's tears were dried, the father left promising to call again, now that he had found the way, and the matron retired to her office feeling as though she had been flattened by a steam roller.

Anna skipped off in the sunshine, a letter to a new employer in her hand, too happy over her narrow escape to mourn the end of her bright, mad dream that she might exchange factory for school. All happiness is comparative.

Anna's new job was not in a factory. It was in a Fifth Avenue store. She was so excited she scarcely slept a wink the night before she went to work. Fifth Avenue—everyone's ambition. She felt like a darling of the Gods.

Even Greta was properly impressed— and a wee bit jealous, too, for though Greta clerked in a store herself it was in a cheap one on the West side, while Anna's job had class. But Greta consoled herself by the thought that she was a sales lady, while Anna was only a call girl.

Anna was taken on for the Chistmas rush and she didn't care if she was only a "call girl." It was enough to work in such a beautiful place and to look at the wonderful people who surged in and out all day. handsomely dressed and prosperous.

But there wasn't much time to sit and look. The duties of a call girl are to answer to the shrill call of "Girl!" from every man and woman on the floor. One clerk would yell, "Girl!" and she must run as fast as her legs would carry her to get the money— then the length of the store to the cashier's desk for the change—then back to the clerk who had made the sale. Before the round trip was completed someone else was shouting "Girl", which made her day an eight hour relay race with someone always cheering her on.

The employment man said he had hired her because she seemed so quick and willing; but the real reason was, she was so pretty he couldn't keep his eyes from her.

Anna's dress for work was black with white collars and cuffs, a little frock of crepe de chine, the first silk dress she had ever owned, and a cast-off as usual. But Greta had made it over to fit, which gave it the distinction of the first frock Anna had ever worn which bore any relation to her figure. Sometimes in her racings through the store she would catch a glimpse of herself in the mirror and she looked almost the way she had dreamed of looking—which was very gratifying.

Anna's department was millinery, which included, Flowers and Feathers. It was amazing the number of hats people bought. Sometimes one single customer (and not such a fancy lady, at that) would buy three hats in one purchase. Anna was fast discovering that things non-essential in Poland may have their uses in New York—which meant she was getting Americanized.

Anna's co-workers were very different from those in the factory, more refined and much dressier, dolled up as though for a party only to come to their jobs. The men wore a flower in their buttonholes, white collars and polished shoes and the women had shiny, pink manicured nails and seemed to think nothing of silk. They had fashionable figures—thin as a string bean, and Anna wondered if they ever ate.

Anna liked almost all of them except the buyer, who was her pet aversion. Whenever she had a chance to rest, one short moment to cool her heels between the inevitable calls of "Girl", the buyer would saunter forward with her nonchalant air and say, "Girl, run up into the stock room and bring me down these hats,"—handing Anna a list as long as a multiplication table. Then Anna must run up two flights of stairs (there never was room on the elevator and stagger down beneath a pile of hats like the leaning tower of Pisa.

The balance of power in the department was held by an austere demagogue of terrifying dignity whom Anna quickly learned was the floor man. But in spite of his formidable air and his very apparent authority, some girls had the nerve to talk back to him. One day Anna heard a fresh young thing in Flowers and Feathers about out, "Say Mr. Lipstein, when you have time will you sharpen my pencil?"

Anna held her breath for the cataclasm. Was she relieved or disappointed when absolutely nothing happened—except that he sharpened the pencil?

But Anna liked her new job on the whole and resolved that she would keep it if she had to bite her tongue clean off in order to keep her temper. The worst thing she ever did either to the buyer or the floor man was to make a face behind their backs—which sent the other girls into spasms.

The thing that almost precipitated the storm happened one afternoon in the stock room. Anna was carrying the inevitable tower of hats when suddenly out of thin air Mr. Lipstein's bulky form blocked her path.

"I say, kid, you're some good looker," he said chucking her under the chin. "How about giving me a kiss right now?"

No man is a hero to the girl he has tried to kiss (and failed) any more than he is a hero to his valet. So after the little incident in the stock room Anna lost her awe for the floorman.

She was glad that heroic self control had restrained her from slapping his face (her usual treatment of such unwanted advances) for that would have meant losing her job. Instead she had hurled her leaning tower of hats relentlessly on the floor, and fled with the fleetness of Pan from the room, leaving the startled Mr. Lipstein to unbend his stiff person to pick up the hats, or explain how they had got there.

Thus without losing her own dignity, Anna had humiliated him, so when, a half hour later, she saw him majestically pacing the floor back in their own department, her feeling for him was only contempt, as though, Lo how the mighty have fallen!

"Pig!" she said to herself. "But all men are alike—all men that girls like me ever meet" She was thinking of the sailor and the barber and that other boy who had chucked her under the chin.

From that day forth Mr. Lipstein ignored her, except to give her the essential commands. But Anna refused to be cowed by his superior attitude.

"I know something I could tell about you that would make you lose your job" was the retort he read in Anna's snappy black eyes when she ran to obey his sharp orders.

He couldn't possibly fire her in the midst of the Christmas rush, for she was the quickest most willing call girl of all those on the floor.

Perhaps he would wreak his vengeance by dropping her after Christmas. Many of the "extras" would find in their pay envelope a Christmas Eve present, reading, "After this week your services will not be required in the store." But Anna was praying she might escape and be retained for the new year.

One day she confided her fears to Miss John, familiarly known as Johnny, the fresh girl in Flowers and Feathers, who asked the floorman to sharpen her pencil.

"I wish I had the nerve to ask Lipstein if he's going to drop me at Christmas."

"Oh, Lipstein! He can't tell you. For all he knows, the poor fish, he may be fired then himself." From that moment she and Johnny were sworn friends.

Some of the customers in the department were what was known as the "carriage trade." By the sheen of their fur coats, and the gleam of jewels one knew that a uniformed chauffeur waited outside in an imported car. These women purchased lavishly and everyone jumped to serve them. When they did not charge, they paid for their purchases with bills of vast denomination. Often Anna would run to the cashier's desk, two hundred dollars clutched tight in her hand.

It gave Anna great pleasure to study these women, their manners, their faces, their clothes, their hands, whose heaviest work seemed to be to draw their silken purse strings and pluck out fat gold pieces or hundred dollar bills.

One day, the week of Christmas, Anna was racing to the cashier's desk when she chanced to see something at her feet that gleamed in the pale winter sunshine. She picked it off the floor as she ran, as an expert rider leans from the saddle to pick something from the ground on the gallop. Idly she examined it. It was a bracelet of sharp white and blue stones, set in thin metal like silver, joined by links one of which was broken. It had fallen from a customer's arm. But was it from one of their "carriage trade" or was it a worthless trinket?

Somewhere in Anna's haphazard upbringing the seed of honesty had been sown. A thing was hers or it was not. She had never been tempted to steal. She never had seen a rare jewel at close range; paste looked no different from diamonds. Was this thing one of those glittering baubles with which Greta adorned herself, purchased at the ten cent store, or was it really valuable?

Some instinct of precaution (but not of greed) made Anna slip the bracelet in her pocket rather than proclaim her find openly before the crowd. Later she assured herself, she would turn it over to the head of stock or to the Lost and Found Department to reach its owner through legitimate channels. But for the moment there was not time.

Answering the insistent call of "Girl!" Anna ran hurriedly about her duties.

From time to time during the afternoon, Anna stole a glimpse at her newly found treasure. She saw that when she held it up to the light every facet of every jewel caught fire and tossed fire back again with all the colors reflected in the prism. If it was real it was a priceless thing.

But not for a moment did she regard the bracelet as hers. She looked at it with the wonder of the sight-seeing tourist who gazes at the crown jewels in the Tower of London, wondering what would he do with them, were they his. It never occurred to her to keep it—beyond such time as she could restore it to its owner.

Already the owner might be missing it. But the head of stock was rushed to death—so were all of Anna's superiors, including Mr. Lipstein himself, who was the last person, anyway, to whom she would turn in a quandary. Diplomatic relations between them were strained.

Anna herself was busier than the man who has investigated the inside of a bee hive. It was. "Girl" Girl!" "Girl!" faster than she could go, fetching change, running to the stock room, doing everyone's bidding till her young legs ached with racing.

"How many more shopping days before Christmas?" groaned Johnny from Flowers and Feathers. "If I have to tell one more poor fish what flowers goes well with leopards and that cerise will swear with dark-red, I'll shove the whole counter on the floor!"

At this moment it occurred to Anna that she might tell Johnny about the bracelet—show it to her, ask her if it were real and what she ought to do with it. But before she could obey that impulse, some one far away yelled, "Girl!" and she was off at the usual pace.

About half after four someone touched her on the shoulder. Anna turned to discover Greta. She had been given an hour for Christmas shopping and had dropped in to see her roommate.

"Listen, Nan" (Greta called her Nan because it was smarter than Anna) "I got a swell date for you and me. We're going on a party tonight."

"Where?"

"Oh, I dunno. Somewhere to eat and dance. My boy frien' knows another guy who wants me to bring a girl. Want to come?"

"Sure!" said Anna. Her quota of amusements had been low. It had been all work and no play for too long, and she had never been on a real party—one with eating and dancing and things. She often wondered what it would be like.

"Come home then, right after work. Well, so long!"

"Wait a minute, Greta." Anna pulled her out of the busy stream "I want to show you something."

Before Greta's bewildered eyes she flashed the dazzling blue and white bracelet. It gleamed like a thin streak of fairy fire, there in the lights of the store.

Greta's eyes bulged. "Gosh, kid! that's real. Tell me, who's your friend?"

"Silly! It isn't mine at all. I found it right here in the store. Turnin' it in to the Lost and Found as soon as I get a free minute."

"Don't be a fool", said Greta. "Keep it yourself for a while. Then put an ad in the paper and the owner'll give you a fat reward."

"Oh, I couldn't do that, Greta. It might be valuable."

"All the better! Here, I'll keep it for you. I'll take it home with me, right now."

But Anna was far too wise for that. I'll keep it myself" she said. "But maybe I could turn it in tomorrow just as well as today."

"Sure, that's the stuff, and wear it tonight. Gee, it would make some hit!"

"Oh, I'd be afraid to wear it. I'm going to give it to the cashier right now."

"Well, suit yourself" chiruped Greta. "See you later. Come home soon."

Greta was gone and the rush was on.

And now it was almost closing time. Customers were being hastened from the store. Tired sales girls were folding up their stock. They were going down to their lockers.

As Anna walked out into the winter dusk she had a sudden guilty feeling to remember that the bracelet had not been turned in but was still clutched tight in her pocket.

Greta and Anna were to meet the boys in front of the movie on Fourteenth Street. Greta never met her "dates" at the Elizabeth Club if she could avoid it. The Victorian air of the parlor had its effect on the callers, leaving them stiff and awkward as the chairs they were obliged to sit on. Besides, the club matron was grumpy and didn't always approve of one's "boy friends."

The dates had already assembled when the girls came at eight o'clock.

"Hi, Nan, shake hands with Stocky."

Greta was informal in her introductions as she was in everything else. The breezy argot of the travelling salesman was her criterion in etiquette.

Stocky shot forward and gripped Anna's hand with all the enthusiasm of a pugilist. Anna winced with pain but managed a smile imitating Greta's good fellowship. Stocky grinned and tipped his hat briefly, thus disclosing a bushy stock of brick red hair which grew straight up, supporting his hat like a mattress. Anna, wondering if he had broken all the bones in her hand, tried to look him over impartially.

You Women Who Suffer From HOT FLASHES then CHILLY FEELINGS
During 38 to 52 Years of Age!

If you—like so many women between the ages of 38 and 52—suffer from hot flashes, weak, tired, nervous irritable feelings, are a bit blue at times—all due to the functional middle age period peculiar to women—try Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound to relieve such symptoms.

Pinkham's Compound is one of the best known medicines you can buy for this purpose. Here's a product that helps nature and that's a sensible kind to buy! Thousands upon thousands have reported benefits. Follow label directions. Pinkham's Compound is worth trying.

PRIEST IS THEIR CHAPLAIN

This priest of the Greek Orthodox Church is chaplain to a guerilla group. He managed to get around his "parish" on the tough little pony he rides here. This particular group of patriots was credited by the British with preventing the sabotage of water and electrical supply by the Germans when the British began liberation operations.

KONSTANTIN HOFFMAN'S COMMENT

Moscow, Nov. 15 —(AP)—Konstantin Hoffman, political commentator for Red Star, Soviet military organ, asserted today that the recent assignment of Premier Mohamed Saed and his Iranian cabinet demonstrated that "no government conducting a policy hostile to the U.S.S.R. can ever retain power in Iran."

The Saed government was criticized by the Russians for refusing to grant oil concessions to the Soviet Union.

AGREE TO CALL OFF STRIKE

Washington, Nov. 15 (AP)—Prodded by the War Labor Board, officers of the Wright Aircraft Supervision Association agreed today to call off a strike at five New Jersey plants producing B-29 Superfortress engines.

An estimated 2,900 members of the Union are on strike at the Paterson and four other north Jersey plants of the Wright Aeronautical Corp. The action left more than 32,000 workers idle.

SHOWING SECOND BLOOM

Arkona, Nov. 15 — (CP)—Because of continued warm weather, some shrubs and plants in village gardens are showing their second bloom of the year, among them a Forsythia bush owned by Mrs. R. A. Hume, which bloomed profusely last spring.

SPECULATE ON POSSIBILITY OF GREAT ALLIED CONFERENCE

Paris, Nov. 15 —(AP)— Gen. de Gaulle will leave shortly for Moscow on invitation of Premier Stalin, and French officials speculated tonight that President Roosevelt and Prime Minister Churchill and possibly President Chiang Kai-Shek might attend and form a great United Nations conference.

The cabinet announced that Gen. de Gaulle and Foreign Minister George Bidault would leave on an unspecified but imminent date.

17 KILLED IN CRASH

Honolulu, Nov. 15—AP)—Seventeen persons were killed in the crash of a four-engined transport plane 50 miles off Oahu en route from Hawaii to the United States mainland, the army announced last night. Date of the crash was not given.

They included two army officers, seven army men, two navy men and the crew of three officers and three men.

NEW ROBOMB PROBLEM

Folkestone, England — (CP) — There's a new problem for South Coast fishermen; nets ruined by the wreckage of robot bombs. "Nothing can be done about it, but we hope the sand will silt over the wreckage and gradually reduce the damage to nets," one fisherman said.

PUBLIC NOTICE
VOTING ON BY-LAW
Issue of $50,000.00 of Debentures for Establishing Highway.

WHEREAS the Council of the City of Belleville proposes to establish a highway to be known as Riverside Drive commencing on Bridge Street between the Moira River and the intersection of Bridge Street with Front Street and continuing northerly along the east bank of the said River to Lot Number 65 on the West side of Front Street where it shall intersect with Front Street.

AND WHEREAS the Council deems it expedient for the purpose of purchasing the necessary right of way and making certain improvements thereon to borrow the sum of Fifty Thousand ($50,000) Dollars, and that is the amount of the debt intended to be created.

THEREFORE the Council of the Corporation of the City of Belleville hereby enacts as follows:

For the purpose mentioned in the preamble of this By-law there shall be borrowed on the credit of said Corporation the sum of Fifty Thousand ($50,000) Dollars, and debentures shall be issued therefor on the instalment plan in sums of not less than $100. each which shall have coupons attached thereto for the payment of the interest.

The said debentures shall all bear the same date and shall be issued within two years after the date on which this By-law is passed and may bear any date within such two years and shall be payable within ten years from the date when they shall be issued, and shall bear interest at the rate of 3½ per cent per annum, payable half yearly.

During the currency of the debentures there shall be raised in each year on the whole rateable property in the City of Belleville the amount of the instalment of principal and interest payable in that year as follows:

PAYMENT OF PRINCIPAL AND INTEREST

Year	Principal	Interest	Total
First year	$5,000.00	$1,750.00	$6,750.00
Second year	5,000.00	1,575.00	6,575.00
Third year	5,000.00	1,400.00	6,400.00
Fourth year	5,000.00	1,225.00	6,225.00
Fifth year	5,000.00	1,050.00	6,050.00
Sixth year	5,000.00	875.00	5,875.00
Seventh year	5,000.00	700.00	5,700.00
Eighth year	5,000.00	525.00	5,525.00
Ninth year	5,000.00	350.00	5,350.00
Tenth year	5,000.00	175.00	5,175.06
	$50,000.00	$9,625.00	$59,625.00

TAKE NOTICE that the foregoing is a true synopsis of a proposed By-law of the Corporation of the City of Belleville to be submitted to the votes of electors at the same time and at the same places as the annual election for the Municipal Council, and the Deputy Returning Officers appointed to hold the said electors shall take the vote.

AND THAT the 30th. day of November, A.D. 1944, at three o'clock in the afternoon at the Council Chamber, City Hall, in the said Municipality has been fixed for the appointment of persons to attend at the polling places and at the final summing up of the votes by the Clerk.

AND THAT if the assent of the electors is obtained to the said proposed By-law, it will be taken into consideration by the Municipal Council of the said Corporation at a meeting thereof to be held after the expiration of one month from the date of the first publication of this notice, and that such publication was made on the 8th. day of November, 1944.

TAKE NOTICE FURTHER that a tenant who desires to vote on said proposed By-law must deliver to the Clerk not later than the tenth day before the day appointed for taking the vote a Declaration under the Canada Evidence Act that he is a tenant whose lease extends for the time for which the debt or liability is to be created, or in which the money to be raised by the proposed By-law is payable, or for at least eleven gears, and that he has by the lease covenanted to pay all Municipal Taxes in respect to the property for which he is tenant, other than Local Improvement rates.

J. WILFRED HOLMES,
City Clerk.

TORONTO LIVESTOCK

Toronto, Nov. 15 —(CP)— Cattle trade was very dull to mid-session on the livestock market here today with sales too few to establish prices. A few weighty steers were $9.50-$11.75, small lots of butcher heifers $9-$10.50, butcher cows $7-$8.50, no bulls, a few fed yearlings $11-$13.50, stockers $6.50-$9.50.

Veal calves were slow at $14-$15 for choice with common heavies downward to $7.

There were no sales of sheep or lambs.

No price was established for hogs which closed previously at $17.55-$17.65 dressedweight at yards or plants.

Receipts reported by the Dominion Marketing Service were: cattle 700, calves 160, hogs 500, sheep and lambs 800, unsold from yesterday were 5,500 head and 3,700 sheep and lambs.

LIVESTOCK

Montreal, Nov. 15 — (CP)—Prices were steady in trading today on livestock markets. Receipts: calves, 35; sheep, 85; hogs, 325.

Approximately 1,000 cattle were carried over from yesterday. These were made up of cutter and canner cows with a small number of light steers and heifers of boner quality. There were no sales and market officials reported the trade estimated there would be a heavy carry over of common quality cattle this weekend.

Calves sold at 13.50-14 for good vealers. Good lamb ewes and wethers brought 12. Bucks were 11.50 and culls 6-8. Sheep 1.50-4.50.

Hogs 17.65 for grade "A." Sows 12.50-12.75 dressed.

DENIED NEW TRIAL

Pittsfield, Mass., Nov. 15 —(AP) — John F. Noxon, Jr., Pittsfield lawyer convicted of the murder of his mongoloid infant son last summer, was denied a new trial in a decision handed down by Judge Abraham E. Pinanski today.

Noxon was convicted of killing his six-month old son by electricity in the Noxon home in September, 1943.

The father under mandatory sentence of death since last July, filed immediately through his attorneys, another motion for a new trial. A mongoloid is a type of idiot.

3 PRISONERS ARRESTED

Sault Ste. Marie, Ont., Nov. 15 —(CP)—Three German prisoners of war who escaped from a camp at Hawk Junction, 100 miles north of Sault Ste. Marie, were arrested today by city constable Clifford Weeks. The men, members of the German merchant marine, were walking along the main street when Weeks spotted them.

QUISLING OUT?

Resignation of Maj. Vidkum Quisling, hated Nazi puppet premier of Norway, is reported by the French press.

TORONTO STOCKS

Toronto, Nov. 15 —(CP)— Prices were lower this afternoon on Toronto Exchange. Volume was small at 196,000 shares. Golds led the decline.

Giant Yellowknife and Buffalo-Ankerite weakened 10 to 15 cents and declines of 5 cents appeared for Beattie, Powell Rouyn, O'Brien, Chesterville, McKenzie and transcontinental resources. Stronger prices ruled for Cochenour Willans, Sullivan, West Malartic and MacLeod-Cockshutt.

Lake Dufault was the feature of base metals. It climbed to 1.84 for a gain of 24 cents. Noranda and Hudson Bay were up and Labrador lost 6 cents.

Industrials showed little change. Senior oils gained and in papers Abitibi Pfd weakened ½. Steels and foods held steady.

Airwomen Enjoy Music and Pets At Aerial Base

By KATHLEEN REX
(Canadian Press Staff Writer)

A West Caoast RCAF Patrol Base (CP) — Cpl. R. K. Morrison, former newspaperman from Chilliwack, B.C., thinks the recent arrival of a group of airwomen to this remote West Coast station may be responsible for the remarkable interest in good music which airmen here have suddenly developed.

"You know it's amazing how attendance at the weekly music appreciation hour has practically doubled itself since the girls came a month ago," Cpl. Morrison said.

The Chilliwack airman has donoted his valuable collection of records to the station record library. Once a week he lectures on music appreciation to interested airmen and women.

Joy Monica Hollamby, former munitions inspector in a war plant at Hamilton, Ont., and now one of the WOGS (wireless ground operators) up here, plans on being one of the first WD's to join the staff of The Victory, the station's monthly newspaper.

"I've had poetry published in several newspapers in Canada — who knows, maybe I'll get some in The Victory," she said.

This summer LAW. Doreen Drysdale, of Stony Mountain, Man., took a special RCAF instructors' course in leathercraft and plastics. During the long winter evenings ahead she will teach the airmen and WDs how to make everything from pocketbooks to necklaces, leather belts and ash-trays.

Fawn is Popular

Security regulations deem that many a spot is out-of-bounds to airmen and WDs up here, but never to Kuana, a six-months-old fawn which airmen found lost in the bush several weeks ago. Kuana has become such an important personage that she now is pictured on the station crest.

Actually Kuana wasn't the first deer to make her home here. There was another Kuana, whose death several months ago, when she became entangled in a high tension wire, gained Dominion-wide newspaper publicity. Now in a grass-covered grave overlooking the harbor where RCAF seaplanes roar back and forth all day long, Kuana I lies buried. A white picket-fence and tombstone mark the spot and airmen here still pay respect to her memory.

Dogs are the most popular mascots around this post—and there are several of them. The airwomen have their "Laddie," a big collie-police pup.

Official head of the WDs is Wing Officer Tupper, Section Officer Dorothy Gratton-Smith's own eight-weeks-old spaniel which she brought from Victoria. Lately WO. Tupper was confined to barracks because of illness. However she wasn't lonely — at least one or two W.D.'s looked in every day, just to see how "Tupper" was getting along.

SOVIET PRISONERS HOME

Moscow, Nov. 15 — (AP)—A Tass news agency dispatch from Murmansk said today 10,000 former Soviet war prisoners and civilians had arrived in that northern port on two transports from England. The group included children whose parents had been executed by the Germans and women forced into slave labor in enemy factories, Tass said. Presumably they were freed by the Allied armies in the invasion of Western Europe.

Petty Officer R.E. Armstrong Mentioned in Dispatches

Trenton, November 15 — Petty Officer Robert E. Armstrong of the R.C.N., son of Mr. and Mrs. R. M. Armstrong, King St., has been mentioned in dispatches, for his part in the glorious work done recently by H.M.C.S. Haida.

P. O. Armstrong, though still only 23 years of age, has served with the Royal Canadian Navy for more than four years and previous to joining the Haida on her commissioning, he served with H.M.C.S. Skeena.

The Haida, Canadian tribal destroyer, probably has more battle honors than any other in the Royal Canadian Navy. Its men have seen action off the French coast, the English Channel, the northern Russian convoy route and the north Atlantic since their thirteen months of war, aboard this gallant destroyer.

Played Gallant Part

The Haida played a gallant part in the invasion, driving one enemy destroyer ashore in flames and sending a second scurrying for home badly crippled following the sinking of its sister ship Athabaskan, when torpedoed off the coast of Brittany. It shared the destruction of one U-boat and the capture of its crew, destruction of surface vessels and the damaging of six others and the capture of the crews of two small training ships. Most of the Haida's battles against destroyers were fought at night in the stretch between Brest and the Channel Islands.

Starting their part of the invasion just previous to D-Day, only two of the Haida's crew were killed and 2 of there were accidents, while the third was the only man to lose his life through the enemy action. The Haida, however, was said to have suffered plenty of splinter holes in her steel sides.

First Encounter Last Spring

Haida's first encounter with enemy surface warships was last spring, on April 26th, when with the Huron and Athabaskan they sank one destroyer and damaged another. On April 29th the Haida and Athabaskan encountered two enemy destroyers off the Brittany coast and the Athabaskan was sunk by a torpedo fired by one of the fleeing Nazis but the Haida drove the enemy ship ashore in flames and damaged a second. Then it returned to pick up forty survivors from the Athabaskan.

The Haida was also with a convoy escort group bound for Murmansk at the time of the sinking of the Scharnhorst.

Petty Officer Armstrong is one of three sons of Mr. and Mrs. R. M. Armstrong serving in the forces. A brother F/O Donald Armstrong is with the RCAF at an eastern port and a younger brother, Pte. Norman Armstrong is with the Canadian Army, also at an Eastern port.

P. O. Armstrong has just returned to his ship after spending a month's leave at his home here.

20 Cases Heard

Twenty cases came before Magistrate J. L. Lloyd in Trenton Police Court on Tuesday afternoon with County Crown Attorney Lt.-Col. B. C. Donnan prosecuting.

Bruce Cooney was given ten days for assaulting Eugene Genereaux. Cecil Fulford was given a year's suspended sentence for theft of a bicycle and ordered to make restitution and pay $19.25 costs.

Donald Tripp, charged with reckless driving and leaving the scene of an accident, had the two charges against him enlarged for one week in order that he might obtain the service of a solicitor. He was fined $10 and costs for breach of the Liquor Control Act.

Seven others were also fined $10 and costs for breach of the Liquor Control Act.

Two charged with breaches of the L.C.A. had their cases enlarged for one week.

Harold Wheeler paid $10 and costs for careless driving, while C. Fitchett paid $25 and costs on a like charge.

Two were charged $4.50 each for breaches of the Highway Traffic Act.

Two cases of non-support were enlarged for one week.

This woman of Greece, known simply as "Madame Sofia" has a baby daughter. But she didn't let that prevent her taking part in guerilla activities against the Germans occupying her country. She fought with a band of Andartes (Patriots) for 12 months before the Allied Army of Liberation drove the Germans from Greece.

The War Today—

Rumors and Guesses at Riddle Of Hitler and Berchtesgaden

By DEWITT MACKENZIE
Associated Press War Analyst

The mystery of what has happened to Hitler continues to challenge world speculation, not only because it's one of the most intriguing dramas of our day but because his fate is of vast import to all nations.

Hitler alive and in his normal health must remain a menace to mankind, so long as he has his freedom. His death or incapacitation would be a godsend which would, I believe, greatly shorten the war and help the establishment of peace.

Rumor About Bavarian Alps

No wonder there are many rumors and guesses on the riddle of Berchtesgaden. Reports that the Fuehrer is gravely ill, that his abnormal brain finally has snapped and he is mad, that he is dead — all these are received with eager hope outside Germany. Few give a tinker's dam which of these disasters has overtaken him, but want to be sure of it.

I've heard it suggested that the Nazis are feverishly preparing fortifications in the Bavarian Alps for a final stand, and that Adolf is bossing the job. Louis Lochner, long Associated Press Chief of Bureau in Germany, throws out the novel suggestion that the Dictator may use plastic surgery to change his features in preparation for flight to a neutral country.

Asks, Are Germans Hiding Hitler?

Now comes another new and startling thought from Dudley Hilton Taylor, managing editor of the Kentucky New Era, of Hopkinsville, Ky. He asks in an editorial if it isn't possible the Germans are thinking in terms of a Third Great War and are preparing the master hoax of all time—the hiding of Hitler, or the build-up of his supposed death while he is whisked away to a safe hiding place, where he may act as the inspiration of a German underground movement in preparation for another attempt at world conquest.

Mr. Taylor was in a field hospital in France when the First Great War ended. He remembers how the Germans even then were plotting the present conflagration while outwardly they gave the impression of being whipped. He says Hitler preached for years that if you tell a lie big enough, and repeat it a sufficient number of times, the world will believe it.

Watch Sources of Stories

"Let's hope," adds Mr. Taylor, "that a repeated German lie may not be accepted as the truth while the Nazi propagandists laugh at us as they did while we remained divided—nationally and internationally—as the Germans conquered nation after nation.

"The press of the Allied world has a duty in this case — a duty we believe it will discharge. That duty is to keep the closest tab possible on the sources of the stories regarding Hitler, especially all that appears to be German inspired."

READY FOR INVASION

Hastings, England —(CP)— Secret plans for compulsory evacuation of all but 1,000 of Hastings' wartime civilian population of 22,000 have been in existence for nearly four years. Had Britain been invaded, Hastings could have been cleared of civilians within three days.

Canadian Bombardier May Have Been First to Smash Pride of German Navy

By ALLAN NICKLESON
(CP Staff Writer)

London, Nov. 15. (CP Cable)— A young Canadian bombardier, FO. Walter Daniel of Rivers, Man., who flew in the leading R.A.F. Lancaster in Sunday's attack that sank the German battleship Tirpitz in Norway's Tromsoe Fjord, may have been the first to smash the onetime pride of the German navy.

Daniel, who as a member of the raid leader's crew pressed the button that released a 12,000-pound earthquake bomb on the Tirpitz, told a Press Conference his Lancaster was in the first wave of five bombers and that crews following observed two direct hits and two near misses.

The 24-year-old Daniel was the only Canadian among six members of the participating crews who were flown to London for the interviews. It was believed, however, that at least a dozen Canadians participated in the attack, another one being Flt. Lt. Johnny Loftus of Toronto, who flew as a movie cameraman.

Daniel said 29 of the 32 Lancasters on this long-distance raid each dropped one "earthquake" bomb—a total bomb tonnage of approximately 150 tons—from a height of 13,000 feet and the morning was bright and clear.

"We couldn't see much for smoke when we circled to watch after dropping our bombs", Daniel said. "That smoke wasn't from a smokescreen because the Germans didn't send one up but it was from the effect of our bombs".

Warns of Tasks When War Over

London (CP) — Major Gwilyn Lloyde George, minister of fuel and power, in a luncheon speech gave this warning to over-optimists:

"The war is not over yet and it is far better for us to make up our minds that it is not over until it is finished."

"We are about to enter the sixth winter and we all hope it is the last, but do not let us delude ourselves that the period we enter afterwards will be a peaceful and happy one in contrast to this."

"There are tremendous tasks ahead as soon as the war is over."

CIGARET SHORTAGE

London (CP) — A cigaret shortage has led tobacco manufacturers to make a general cut of seven per cent in supplies to wholesalers — a reduction which amounts to as much as 50 per cent in certain lines. Some shops are supplying only regular customers.

ALLIED OFFENSIVE MAKES SMASHING GAINS

U.S. Mystery Army Opens Attack Near Border of Holland

British Punch Out 8-Mile Advance in Past Two Days

London, Nov. 16 —(CP)— The Allied winter offensive smashed forward today as the United States 1st and 9th armies opened heavy attacks in Germany while the British 2nd Army plunged ahead in southeastern Holland and the American 3rd Army tightened its grip on Metz.

The 1st Army, which drove across France from the Cherbourg peninsula and conquered Aachen, went on the offensive at 11 a.m. behind a heavy aerial and artillery bombardment presumably in the Aachen sector.

At 12.45 p.m. the 9th Army attacked in Germany near the Holland border. It was the first announced action in two months for this "mystery" army, which seized Brest. Aerial bombardment preceded the 9th's attack, and continued after it began.

1,200 Bombers in Action.

More than 1,200 United States heavy bombers battered the Duren-Eschweiler arc just in front of the 1st Army's Aachen breach of the Siegfried Line. The tactical assault was on a scale comparable to the carpet bombings which preceded the St. Lo break-through last summer.

From within sight of the Swiss Alps to the sodden marshes of Holland Allied armies hammered the Germans toward their pre-war frontier.

The French 1st Army, latest of the Allied forces to spring into action, plowed forward on a 25-mile front on both sides of the Doubs river to a point within 11 miles of Belfort in the historic gap to the Rhine.

British troops in Holland, punching out a seven-to-eight mile gain in two days, drove to within a mile of the Meuse in the Roermond area and within 38 miles of Dusseldorf on the Rhine.

Sudden Break at Metz

A sudden break north of Metz, old Roman fortress which never has been taken by storm in modern times, brought American 3rd Army troops in their eight-day old offensive to within 1 1/2 miles of the northern outskirts of the city, although the Americans to the southeast and west gave ground slightly, losing one fort and a village.

North of Metz near the Luxembourg border the Americans astride the Maginot Line pushed forward another mile near Ewendorf, only four miles from the German frontier.

South of Metz the American 7th Army took Ste. Pole, 42 miles from Strasbourg, the closest the Allies have yet come to that key crossing of the Rhine.

The 3rd Army southeast of Metz captured Racrange, a mile beyond Morhange where infantrymen were last reported in possession of two-thirds of the town, and clung to high ground in the forest of Bride and Koecking overlooking Dieuze and practically denying that road centre to the Germans.

The Americans were fighting off a series of small counter-attacks. One such counter-attack was just outside Bourgaltroff, at the tip of the wedge between Morhange and Dieuze. Here, American tanks knocked out at least two tanks in a battle and then withdrew into the bridge and Koecking wood.

The German radio said the Americans had captured, all of Morhange as well as four villages north of it.

Advance Rapidly.

In Southeastern Holland, British units advancing rapidly on a 10-mile front reached positions near the Meuse River at Wessem, and a spokesman at Field Marshal Montgomery's headquarters said "There are many signs of a regular enemy withdrawal".

The British assault, launched two days ago, apparently is aimed at Duisburg, industrial centre which has often been the target of R.A.F. and R.C.A.F. heavy bombers. It is situated on the east bank of the Rhine and is connected with Berlin by one of the arrow-straight highways with which the Nazi government covered Germany before the war.

Ned Nordness, Associated Press War Correspondent, reported British troops now control all the approaches to the enemy-held communications hub of Roermond as the "Maas Bulge" disintegrated with signs the enemy would offer little opposition short of the river itself.

Third Assault Begins.

The third assault of the Winter offensive toward the Rhine began suddenly yesterday when Morocca. Algerian and Senegalese troops of the French army, reinforced by F.F.I. units, struck behind an artillery barrage and captured ten towns and villages in a thrust toward Belfort along a 25-mile front on both sides of the Doubs river.

Driving forward through heavy snow, the French forces neared Montebliard, south of Belfort, and at the points of greatest gain last night were only about eleven miles from Belfort itself, a key city guarding the most important pass through the high Vosges to the Rhine Valley.

The resistance from the Germans on the U.S. 7th Army sector of the front was heavier, but the village of Ste. Pole northeast of Baccarat was captured, and the Americans made small gains against enemy troops dug in on commanding heights. The 7th maintained its pressure southeast of Bruyeres also, and the Germans were withdrawing slowly.

Frost, snow and mud hampered ground operations on all sectors of the front, and bad weather also held air operations down.

Germans Running A Two-Phased Propaganda Drive

Bern, Switzerland, Nov. 16 (AP) —German leaders appear to be running a two-phased propaganda campaign in which the Germans at home are told they must continue to fight while a "Christmas peace" drive' is directed toward the outside world.

The German legation bulletin issued in Bern today carried an article headed "Can Europe live deprived of its German heart?" The Swiss newspaper La Suisse in Geneva quoted Italian Fascist diplomats just returned from Germany as reporting that Reich leaders were deep in a campaign for peace by Christmas .

This later report for outside consumption said Adolf Hitler was remaining in the background to permit the way to be cleared for negotiations centring in Lisbon while Henrich Himmler whipped the Germans into a solid front at home.

Meanwhile, Germans at home, according to Swiss correspondents in Berlin, are being told that new weapons will be produced in such number in factories during the winter that they will alter the military situation next spring.

Reports reaching Switzerland asserted that Reichs Marshal Hermann Goering, whom Hitler once designated as his successor, again had been confined to his estate, Karinhall. Goering's picture appeared in German illustrated publications three weeks ago for the first time since the purported assassination attempt on Hitler July 20.

PARCELLED OUT TO PEASANTS

London, Nov. 16 — (CP-Reuter)— The estates of one of the richest men in pre-war Poland, Count Alfred Potocki, have been seized by the Lublin Committee of National Liberation and parcelled out to the peasantry, Polpress, the news organization of the Lublin Poles, reported yesterday.

1,800 KILLED IN ABORTIVE BATTLE OF THE PYRENNES

Republican Exiles Learn Franco Spain Not Ripe for Internal Revolt by Masses

By CHARLES S. FOLTZ
Associated Press Staff Writer

London, Nov. 16 —(AH)— The battle of the Pyrenees is ended now. Some 1,500 Spanish republicans were reported killed by battle or execution while Gen. Franco is believed to have lost at least 300 soldiers.

The figures may be off, but the proportion is about right. Bands of Spanish republicans, crossing the French frontier without orders, had little chance against Franco's trained armies and their civilian support.

Both sides learned much. The republican exiles learned Franco Spain was not ripe for internal revolt by the masses. Franco's followers learned the exiles were not as wild as had been thought.

Hundreds of Spanish Republic maquisards, who raided across the Pyrenees frontier with Tommy-guns they once used to fight the Germans, believed they were providing the spark which would ignite internal revolt.

But even before Franco moved nearly 100,000 troops to the frontier, the frontier populations of both Navarra and Catalonia generally opposed the "liberating" raiders.

The raiding units lacked coordination and supply but held the horseshoe-shaped Aran Valley, in the Pyrenees east of Andorra, for nearly a fortnight before they withdrew before a powerful Spanish army offensive and pressure from Gen. de Gaulle's government in Paris.

Most Spaniards, including most resident republicans, honestly fear any swing of the Spanish political pendulum brought about by violence would bring them communism, anarchism or chaos, all of which they hate almost as much as Fascism.

Prime Minister Denies McNaughton Had Reversed Views

Ottawa, Nov. 16 —(CP)— Prime Minister Mackenzie King, through his secretary, today denied press reports that Defence Minister Ralston had reversed his views on the voluntary enlistment system and so advised Mr. King.

Mr. King's secretary said:

"When asked if the Prime Minister had any comment to make on the press statement that Gen. McNaughton 'cimmitted to the voluntary enlistment plan when he entered the cabinet two weeks ago, according to authoritative sources, has been forced by the hard facts of the army reinforcement position to reverse his policy and has advised Prime Minister King the draftees are needed overseas,' the Prime Minister's principal secretary informed the press that he was authorized by the Prime Minister to say that the statement that Gen. McNaughton had given any such advice was wholly untrue.

"It is the Prime Minister's well-known belief that parliament is the proper place to deliberate upon matters of national concern. In the light of the existing controversy, the decision to reconvene the House is obviously in the public interest."

British M.P.'s Suggest 'Big Three' Meet Next Time in Britain

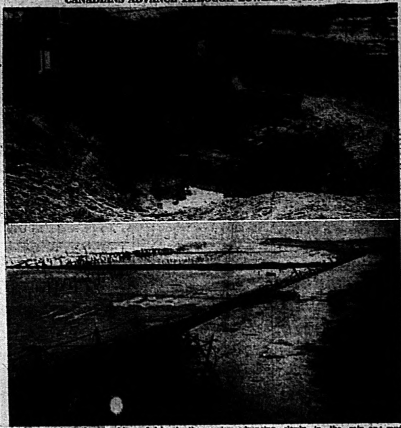
London, Nov. 16 — (CP-Reuter)— Prime Minister Churchill was told in the House of Commons today that he "has certainly done his troubadoring" in connection with meetings of the "Big Three" and the next such gathering should be held in Britain since Mr. Churchill has paid two visits to Moscow and four to North America.

"This point has occurred to me and my colleagues several times," Mr. Churchill replied.

One member asked: "Does the Prime Minister realize that most people in this country feel he has certainly done his troubadoring and they would regard it as a graceful gesture if President Roosevelt and Premier Stalin would agree to come to this country?"

The Prime Minister said: "These matters have to be worked out as best they can. We have to realize we may have views in this country but working with a great number of powerful Allies we have to sometimes recognize that our views have to yield to those of other people."

CANADIANS ADVANCE THROUGH LOWLAND'S MUD



Heavy rains and the smashing of dykes by the retreating Germans near the Belgian-Dutch frontier made both roads and countryside a regular sea of mud, throwing added obstacles in the path of the advancing Canadians. Bottom picture shows a maze of wire and other obstacles that faced Canadians during an important advance through Belgium.—(Canadian Army Overseas Photo.)

BRITAIN TO SEEK EXPORTS WHEN GERMANY DOWNED

Mr. Churchill Says That Restrictions Will be Eased When Possible

London, Nov. 16 —(CP)— Prime Minister Churchill, in his first House of Commons discussion of the growing question of post-war economic competition among the Allies, said today that after the defeat of Germany "we must make exertions to restore our export trade."

He told the House that until Japan is defeated the war must have first call on all Britain's efforts, but added:

"After the defeat of Germany it will be possible and necessary to turn over an increasing part of our resources to civilian production. Then we must make exertions to restore our export trade and re-equip our industry."

He declared the housing shortage in blitz-ravaged sections of Britain must be grappled with as if it were a wartime measure, but the existing system of allocating manpower to the armed forces and industry will be maintained.

Mitigate Rigidity of Control.

"Nevertheless it is intended to mitigate as far as possible the rigidity of the existing controls over labor," said Mr. Churchill.

"Many of the wartime controls over raw materials, industrial capacity, agriculture, food, transport and so forth will likely be as necessary in this period (the war against Japan) as they are today.

"In these fields also relaxations will be possible and will be made whenever circumstances permit and in an orderly manner," he continued.

"Any other course would result in violent disturbances which might lead to inflation, would be harmful

BOMB ZOG'S PALACE

Rome, Nov. 16. (AP)—A Beaufighter squadron of the Balkan Air Force dropped 32 rocket bombs on the Nazi-occupied palace of former King Zog of Albania near Tirana yesterday. It was the second bombing in ten days. Mediterranean Allied Air Force headquarters said yesterday's raid "finished the job".

Aluminum Co. To Lay Off 2,500 Employees Shortly

Ottawa, Nov. 16. (CP) — Arthur MacNamara, director of National Selective Service, said last night that the Aluminum Company of Canada will lay off a large force of men, possibly 2,500, in five plants in Quebec's Arvida district by Dec. 10 and many will be absorbed into the army or essential work.

The lay-off results from lessened demand for aluminum.

Mr. MacNamara said he was not sure whether the lay-offs have started yet but added that Selective Service officers have been at the plant for several days arranging with company officials for the transfer of men from that work to other jobs.

He estimated that 30 per cent of the workers, many of whom had been on deferment because of the essentiality of their jobs, will be called up for military service. Some calls already have gone out, he said.

Many of the employees are former bush workers and will be transferred to the lumbering industry while still others would be placed in other essential war work.

Premier Duplessis, of Quebec, said at Quebec yesterday that 2,500 workers had "just been fired in an extraordinary way" at Arvida. He did not elaborate.

In Montreal, the Aluminum Company said in a statement that deferment of United States government orders has reduced Canadian production by about one-fourth.

Two War Prisoners, Escaped in Summer, Arrested in Toronto

Toronto, Nov. 16. (CP)—Two German prisoners-of-war who escaped from a camp at Gravenhurst last Summer were arrested early today at a house on George Street on the fringe of the downtown section of the city. Police said one has been employed at a war plant and the other at a fertilizer plant.

Frederick Potrick, 24, was arrested shortly after midnight and Hans Eultgem, 29, was arrested about two a.m. Potrick worked in the fertilizer plant and Eultgem in the war plant on McCaul Street.

Both carried National Registration cards in other names.

MURDER CHARGE LAID

Charlottetown, Nov. 16 —(CP)—A murder charge was lodged yesterday against Mrs. Florence Elizabeth McNeill, whose husband died Tuesday after staggering from their home with a knife wound in his back.

AMERICAN VISE CLOSED TIGHTER ONENCIRCLEDJAPS

Enemy Showing No Tendency to Retreat Easily Anywhere

General MacArthur's Headquarters, Philippines, Nov. 16—(AP)—An American vise closed tighter on General Yamashita's encircled Japanese on Leyte today, pressing to within 10 miles of Ormoc on the south, 14 on the east and about the same distance on the north.

Advances by four American divisions were small, but they came all around the Japanese perimeter defending Ormoc, their last base on the island.

In the north, the American 24th Division applied double pressure. On the road from Pinamapoan, the main body of the division lunged against enemy positions near Limon, gateway to the Ormoc corridor. West of the road, another unit of the division swung around through the hills and virtually cut the road behind an estimated 2,000 Japanese troops.

To the east and north, pressure was applied by the 1st Cavalry Division, which overran several enemy strongpoints and seized hilltops as it moved westward through the tangled peaks.

To the south, the 7th Division was disclosed to have advanced four miles to the west coast town of Balogo, 10 miles from Ormoc.

Japan Plans to Fight Decisive Battles of War on Asiatic Mainland

(By SPENCER MOOSA)
(Associated Press Staff Writer.)

Chungking, Nov. 16. (AP)—Japan plans to fight the final, decisive battles of the war on the Asiatic mainland and is steadily reinforcing her substantial strength in South China, Maj.-Gen. A. C. Wedemeyer said in an interview today.

He succeeded Gen. Stilwell Oct. 31 as commander of United States forces in the China theatre and as chief of staff to President Chiang Kai-Shek. He declined to discuss the removal of Gen. Stilwell.

Wedemeyer said he believed the war against Japan would last about a year after Germany was beaten, "but everyone thought the war in Europe would be over this year— and it may run into early next Summer".

He said Japanese strategy originally based on employment of naval and air forces had proved ineffective. The Japanese now have gone from an oceanic to a continental strategy, he said, adding: "The Japanese army is fairly well intact and well trained and equipped".

The General said the United States would continue to support China in the air, bring in whatever supplies possible, maintain efforts in the Pacific to subjugate the Japanese and organize and train Chinese troops to increase their efficiency.

Pour Through Breach 12 Miles From Budapest

Foe Forced To Withdraw Along 100-Mile Front

Moscow, Nov. 16 (AP)—The Red army has cracked the German flank east of Budapest, and is hurling its armored might through a breach within 12 miles of the Hungarian capital, front dispatches said today. A decisive battle for control of the invasion route to Austria appeared imminent.

A sustained pounding by wave after wave of assault forces forced the enemy into a damaging withdrawal from more than 50 towns and villages, including the large railway junction of Jassbereny, target of a four-day attack.

The German withdrawal extended along a 100-mile front from Mende, 12 miles southeast of Budapest, to Korom and other towns 10 miles south of the north Hungarian junction of Miskolc.

The tired and mauled German Panzer units fell back toward the southern base of the Matra mountains and westward to the perimeter defences of Budapest.

One Soviet column, following the Jassbereny-Budapest railway passed well beyond Mende, 12 miles from the capital, and drew the siege line tighter against the virtually doomed city.

Seek Mastery of Vienna Highway.

Other Russian formations of tanks, cavalry and infantry, supported by swarms of attack planes, drove straight north in a continuation of the challenge for mastery of the highway and railway communications leading to Vienna.

The key communication points of Godollo, 15 miles northeast of Budapest, and Hatvan, 30 miles northeast, appeared to be the prize objectives of the northward push. Red army columns were barely a dozen miles from each.

Godollo is on one of the major rail lines running through Budapest to Bratislava and Vienna, while Hatvan is at the entrance of a foothill pass through which another rail line runs into central Slovakia.

The Russian war bulletin said Jassbereny fell after the Russians began to outflank the city on the northeast and the Germans extended themselves to meet the threat. Red Army columns then drove into the city and captured it in fierce street-fighting.

Premier T. C. Douglas Is Taken Ill on Trip

Ottawa, Nov. 16 (CP)—Premier T. C. Douglas of Saskatchewan was taken to the Ottawa Civic Hospital today on his arrival from Regina, but his condition was not considered serious.

David Lewis, National Secretary of the C.C.F., said Mr. Douglas had become ill on the train. Doctors expected he would be all right after a few days rest, said Mr. Lewis.

Mr. Douglas was enroute overseas to attend to some provincial matters there and also to visit Saskatchewan roops. He was no scheduled to have any conferences with Federal officials, said Mr. Lewis.

GOOSE OUT FOR RECORD

Creemore, Ont., Nov. 16 (CP)— A goose owned by Harold Day apparently is out to set a record. Two of Mr. Day's geese laid 35 eggs last spring, hatching out 32 goslings. One of them started laying again in September, so far has laid 26 eggs and is still at it.

Conservatives Condemn 2-Army System in Canada

Winnipeg, Nov. 16 (CP) — The National Council of the Progressive Conservative party concluded yesterday a three-day conference during which, a statement issued last night said, it condemned the present "two-army" system in Canada and endorsed a declaration earlier this week by Party Leader John Bracken that the home defence army should be made available immediately to reinforce the country's army overseas.

The statement said that uppermost in the discussions was the "present national crisis brought about by the government's inability to decide upon a policy that will meet the urgent reinforcements situation."

The committee dealt with matters of organization and policy and will be reconvened in Ottawa or Montreal December 4.

The meeting gave "enthusiastic endorsation" to the efforts of S. E. Stewart of Smiths Falls, Ont., president of the Young Progressive Conservative Association in the organization of Young Progressive Conservative groups.

After a preliminary trip to the different provinces, Mr. Stewart reported to the committee that the young people's organizations were being "strongly reinforced" in every province, and "particularly by the relatives and wives of men overseas."

Gordon Graydon, party house leader, who has been conferring with the committee, left last night for Ottawa to make plans for the session of the House of Commons opening next Wednesday. He was accompanied by Mr. C. P. McTague, national chairman; P. D. McArthur of Howick, Que., president of the Progressive Conservative Association of Canada; George Nowlan of Wolfville, N.S., and J. M. McDonnell, of Toronto, both delegates to the committee meeting.

Mr. Bracken will remain in Manitoba for two or three days and is expected to visit Neepawa, Man., before returning to Ottawa.

City and District News

CARS DAMAGED IN COLLISION

Damage to two motor cars resulted following a collision at the intersection of Pinnacle and Campbell Streets early Wednesday evening. Robert Anderson, 28 Charles Street, was proceeding north on Pinnacle Street when a second automobile, driven by Norman Whytock, Madoc, emerged from Campbell Street to proceed north on Pinnacle Street and was in collision with the northbound vehicle. Fender and bumper damage resulted to both cars but the matter of damages was amicably settled upon the arrival of police for investigation.

LOCAL POLICE WATCH FOR CAR, DRIVER

Police in Belleville and the immediate district were requested to keep a sharp lookout for a soldier, who is alleged to have robbed two airmen and stolen a motor car near Ottawa last night. The soldier is said to have held up two airmen at the point of a gun and after stealing approximately $100 from the two flyers later stole a 1937 Terraplane sedan bearing licence plate number H-4998. The soldier was reported to be headed in a general westerly direction.

ALLEGED CHEQUE ARTIST IN TRENTON

Trenton police are looking for an alleged cheque artist whose modus operandi is rather antiquated, but still effective when it comes to obtaining money under false pretenses. According to Trenton police the man is described as being between 40 and 45 years of age, slim built, dark complexion and stands about five feet 10 inches. He wears ordinary workingman's clothes and upon entering a town makes a bank deposit, usually using a cheque that some time is later found to be worthless also. Armed with a bank passbook the man then proceeds to write cheques with reckless abandon about the town cashing them on the strength of the passbook he is in possession of. Chief Probert today warned Belleville business men to be on the alert for such a person.

EXCAVATION BARRICADE KNOCKED OVER BY CAR

Believed to be the work of a careless motorist, a city barricade was knocked over at the intersection of Foster Ave. and Bridge St. late Wednesday night. The driver failed to stop and replace the barricade that was erected for the purpose of protecting the travelling public against a street excavation. Police were notified of the danger of the open excavation and in turn notified the department of public works to replace it.

YOUNG PEOPLE'S GROUP OF CHRIST CHURCH REFORMED BY RECTOR

Evincing a profound interest in young people's work since his appointment as rector at Christ Church a few weeks ago, Rev. J. Grant Sparling has been successful in reforming the young people of that church into an active local branch the Anglican Young People's Association.

Meeting for reorganization on Wednesday evening following a lapse of several years the young people of Christ Church elected as their president Miss Grace Pepper with Bob Ragsdale as vice president and Bill Clare as secretary treasurer. Organization proceedings comprised the first part of the evening's program, while the balance of teh evening was spent in social enjoyment. Approximately 30 young people attended the initial meeting of the association with a goodly number of young men present.

Members voted to meet every Wednesday evening in the parish hall.

VETERAN OF ITALY FIGHTING HOME

Veterans of the fighting in Italy and France who arrived in Kingston on Nov. 15 aboard a hospital train included Private R. Smith of this city who suffered a compound fracture of the arm. He was admitted to Kingston Military Hospital upon his arrival and after having seen his immediate relatives. He resides at 164 West Moira Street.

Other district casualties arriving on the same ship included Pts. R. K. Armstrong, Millbridge; R. Steenburgh, Picton, D. B. Chapman, Boulter, Ont.; J. P. Jones, Campbellford and A. C. Richards, Millbrook.

REPORT CORRECTED

Due to a correspondent's inadvertent error in the report of the opening services of Shannonville United Church last Sunday, it was erroneously stated that the Rev. W. H. Clarke, Deseronto, "induced a former North Hastings boy, James Henderson to join the ministry several years ago."

Mr. Clarke has informed the Ontario Intelligencer that the then chairman of the Belleville Methodist District, the Rev. H. F. Bland, minister of Bridge Street Church secured Dr. Henderson for the work of the ministry This occurred many years before Mr. Clarke entered the ministry.

Report Attempt Made On Marshal Keitel

New York, Nov. 16 — An attempt was made to assassinate Field Marshal Gen. Wilhelm Keitel during his recent visit to the Hungarian front, the Moscow radio said in a broadcast reported today by the Federal Communications Commission.

The broadcast quoted a report from Geneva that rumors current in Switzerland say Keitel was wounded and returned to Berlin without visiting Budapest as planned.

3 Belleville Boys Aboard Algonquin During Action

Three Belleville boys, "Mac" Elliott, Johnnie Dall and Jack Hickey were aboard the Canadian destroyer Algonquin when the British fleet destroyed nine German vessels off the Lister Fjord south of Egersund, Norway, on Sunday evening last. A tenth Nazi craft was driven ashore. Two British cruisers and four destroyers, including the Algonquin, were included in the raid that attacked an enemy convoy of 11 ships. All our ships arrived back at the home port safely.

Today Mrs. Thos. Dall, 42 North Front Street, mother of Johnnie Dall, stated she had received a letter from her son on Tuesday. "The censor had obliterated the part of the letter, where John made reference to where he was stationed at the time. Of course now we know why this precaution was necessary," explained Mrs. Dall. Another mother, Mrs. W. D. Elliott, stated today she had received a letter from her son "Mac", who stated all three of the Belleville sailor lads were enjoying good health aboard the Algonquin.

POLICE COURT

Airmen Pleads Guilty to Theft

Sergt. Clarence Nash, of the Trenton R.C.A.F. service police, appeared before Magistrate J L. Lloyd here today and pleaded guilty to a charge of stealing merchandise from the Air Force. Nash also pleaded guilty to a charge of the theft of a fog light, the property of P. Vardy, of Trenton. At the request of Crown Attorney B C. Donnan, the accused airman was remanded in custody for sentence.

Nash was arrested by Provincial Police after being found in possession of a large quantity of tools, electrical equipment and other merchandise stolen from the Trenton main station over a period of several months. It was while conducting the search of the accused man's home at Frankford that Constables Siple and Soubliere found the fog light in question.

Case Enlarged

Otherwise in the court, William McMillan, Frankford, appeared on a charge of breaking, entering and theft, namely, the alleged stealing of tires from T. O'Rourke of Glen Miller. At the request of Col. H. J. Smith, Trenton barrister, appearing for the accused, the matter was enlarged for one week and McMillan admitted to bail set at $500.

Given Suspended Sentence

Terrance E. Boyle, Gananoque, pleaded guilty to the wilful damage of C.N.R. property and was given a three months' suspended sentence upon the payment of costs amounting to $19.25. Constable A. H. Kendrick, of the C.N.R., told the court Boyle had broken a window in a railway coach early yesterday morning. Asked if the accused had been drinking Mr. Kendrick replied in the affirmative.

Case Dismissed

A charge of possessing intoxicants not procured on his personal permit was dismissed against James Wring of Roblin. "We find there were no irregularities and I move the dismissal of this charge," commented Mr. Donnan. A charge of assault preferred against Lorne MacDonald, of Corbyville, was also dismissed when His Worship learned a family difference had been settled amicably.

Fined for Speeding

Charges of speeding, preferred under the War Measures Act and bringing pleas of guilty prior to the opening of the court today, saw H. Cranfield, of Kingston, and Paul McNamara, Toronto, pay $17.50 each, which included a fine and costs in each case.

Failed to Get Dog Tags

Several residents of Thurlow Township were arraigned in the court charged with failure to procure their 1944 dog licenses. The usual fine of two dollars and costs was imposed upon all convicted.

Obituary

LATE GEORGE B. EGGLETON

Madoc Jct.—George Brown Eggleton well-known farmer and highly esteemed resident of Rawdon township passed away early Sunday morning at his home, Madoc Junction. He had been in failing health for the past year, and on Friday last was taken seriously ill.

The late Mr. Eggleton was in his sixty-eighth year and was a son of the late David Eggleton and his wife Anne Brown. He had spent his entire life in this community, having been born on the Eggleton homestead, where his grandfather started farming, when he came to Canada in 1836.

In religion Mr. Eggleton was a member of Eggleton United Church, and also a steward on the official board.

Surviving him are his wife, the former Arminta Hough; one sister, Mrs. Fred Faulkner, Holloway, and three brothers, Thomas and Robert of Stirling; Henry of Holmfield, Manitoba.

Five brothers, William, of Semans, Sask.; Walter, of Killarney, Man.; Charles of Holmfield, Man.; Alfred of Vancouver, B.C., and John of Foxboro, Ont., pre-deceased him some years ago.

The funeral which was largely attended was held on Tuesday afternoon, from his late residence to Eggleton Church. His pastor, Mr. Kenneth Stewart conducted the services, bringing a message of comfort to the bereaved ones from the words found in St. John 14th chapter, verse 1. The choir sang by request a favorite hymn "Good Night and Good Morning."

There were many beautiful floral tributes.

The bearers were Messrs. Warren Harlow, Raymond Chambers, Geo. McMullen, Clarence Fitchett, Nathan Wannamaker, Russel Stapley.

Interment was made in Eggleton Church cemetery.

INFANT HUDDLESTON

The infant son of Mr. and Mrs. Edward M. Huddleston, 8 Campbell Street, died in the Belleville General Hospital early this morning. The funeral will take place on Friday afternoon from the Belleville Burial Company Funeral Home, Campbell Street, to Belleville cemetery.

LATE SAMUEL LOSHAW
(Frankford)

Frankford — The funeral of the late Samuel Loshaw of Glen Ross took place from his late residence to Carmel United Church on Tuesday, Nov. 14th at 2:30 o'clock. The services were conducted by the Rev. David Gray of Stirling, Pastor of the church. Interment was made in Stirling Cemetery. The pall bearers were Messrs. Clifford Hubbel, Moses Batchelor, G. N. Conley, Wells Best, John Holmes and A. Fox.

His death occurred after a brief illness in the Belleville General Hospital on Saturday, Nov. 11th. He has resided at Glen Ross for about five years and was employed as Section foreman. He has worked with the C.N.R. for the past 34 years and for 14 years has been a foreman. Before coming to Glen Ross he lived at Highland Grove. Besides his wife he leaves his father, Mr. Geo. Loshaw of Elgin and ten children. Donald who has returned from service overseas, Sgt. John Loshaw M.M. with the Hastings and Prince Edward Regiment in Italy, George, Clarence and Daniel at home, Pearl and Grace of Trenton, Mrs. B. C. Richardson (Ruth) of Toronto and Eleanor and Reta at home. One son Arden predeceased him about two years ago. Also surviving are three brothers, Lucas of Montreal, William of Port Dover and Harold of Elgin and five sisters, Mrs. W. C. Rowswell, Mrs. W. Gray, and Mrs. Henry Smith all of Elgin, Mrs. Hayward Rowswell, Oakland and Mrs. Wm. Doyle of Chaffey's Locks.

The deceased, who was in his 57th year was born at Bedford Mills. He was a member of the United Church.

MRS. LUCY SHANNON
(Tyendinaga)

Mrs. Lucy Shannon, wife of Mr. Thomas Shannon, died suddenly at her home in the 7th. concession of Tyendinaga Township on Wednesday, Nov. 15th.

Born in Tyendinaga Township the late Mrs. Shannon was in her 55th. year and was a daughter of the late Mr. and Mrs. James Meagher. All her life was passed in the district where she was born and in the community she was highly esteemed. Her sudden death has brought much regret to many friends. In religion Mrs. Shannon was a faithful member of St. Charles' Church at Read and in connection with the parish she was a member of the Altar Society and the Catholic Women's League

Surviving her are her husband, Mr. Thomas Shannon; five sons, Vincent, now serving with the Canadian army in Holland; Joseph at home; Harvey, a student at St. Augustine Seminary, Toronto, Raymond and Patrick at home; two daughters, Mary of Kingston and Geraldine of Kitchener; three brothers, Rev. Father Vincent Meagher, parish priest at Stoco; Denis Meagher of Read; William Meagher, Toronto; two sisters, Rev. Mother Geraldine of Troy, N.Y., and Rev. Mother St. James of Glen Falls, N.Y.

The funeral announcement is made in this issue.

WOUNDED FATALLY

Racquette Lake., N. Y., Nov. 16 — (AP)—Leonard Palmetier, of Utica, N. Y., was arraigned last night on a charge of first degree manslaughter in the death of a fellow deer-hunter who state police said was wounded fatally when Palmetier attempted to shoot a beer bottle off his head.

Bo'sun G. Spafford Visits City After Long Service in Merchant Marine

Trim, immaculate in the smart rig of the American Merchant Marine, Bo'sun Gerry Spafford, son of Mr. Gerald Spafford of Kingston and formerly of this city, and Mrs. Spafford is spending a few days on terra firma after three and one half years before the mast on American merchantmen.

Against the dark blue of his "square rig" there gleams the colorful ribbons of Uncle Sam's merchant fleet, combat medals and the Mediterranean zone.

From the ice-strewn, sub-infested waters of the North Atlantic and the Arctic oceans, to the sun-kissed waters of the Mediterranean, the twenty-four-year-old merchant mariner has run the gamut of sea adventure in wartime.

Has Been to Murmansk

He has pushed the bows of his ten-thousand-ton Liberty ships through the ice floes of Murmansk, and also saw them disgorge troops and equipment on the bloody beachhead of Anzio.

He has stood his watch on the decks of the big merchantmen as they ran the gauntlet of deadly Stuka fire, and he has felt the nerve-tingling jolt as the ship careened to the heavy detonations of near-miss bombs.

Shells of enemy batteries have ripped through the superstructure of his ship as it stood offshore at Sicily and St. Maxime, France, landing troops to many beachheads. He has sailed the now peaceful harbor of Taranto, Italy, which he says was scarcely "touched" by the enemy prior to evacuation.

Served on Eight Ships

Gerry has seen service on eight ships since the tang of salt water attracted him in 1941. Starting as an ordinary seaman, his adaptability and initiative soon earned for him promotion and he is now a "bo'sun" in charge of his watch of deck sailors. He has seen sixteen months' service on the ship which he just left and which cannot be named for obvious reasons.

The "Battle of the Atlantic" has definitely been won, according to the merchant mariner, who predicted that "you can go across now in a rowboat." Submarines have been conspicuous by their absence in the "big pond" for some time. And by the same token, he states, the Mediterranean is almost clear of the deadly undersea boats.

Although having seen plenty of nautical action and been under bomb and machine gun fire from attacking aircraft, he has not, as yet, been torpedoed. "But," he smiled, "there is plenty of time for that to happen."

May Continue in Service

The urge of the sea, the surge of rolling decks and the whipping tang of winds of the seven seas is strong in Gerry's blood. He is not quite sure as yet, but there is a strong possibility that the balmy days of peace will see him treading the decks of ocean ships bound for the ports of the seven seas.

Gerry is a brother of Flight Sergeant Marshal Spafford reported missing after enemy operations one year ago, and since presumed dead. The late Flt. Sergt. Spafford was awarded a commission posthumously.

OVER 54,000 JAPS KILLED ON BURMA FRONT

London, Nov. 16 — (CP-Reuter)—More than 54,000 Japanese have been killed in operations on the Burma front, Leopold Amery, Secretary of State for India, announced in the House of Commons today.

Marmora and District

D. B. McGarvey, Former Colorful Figure in Lumber Industry, Dies

Marmora (Special) — The passing of David Belford McGarvey at his home in Marmora Village early on Wednesday removes a familiar figure from the life of this district. He had been in indifferent health for the past three years and some months ago underwent an operation. Stricken with pneumonia recently he failed to rally and passed away as stated.

The late Mr. McGarvey was the son of the late Mr. and Mrs. Matthew James McGarvey and was born in Marmora Township on February 13th., 1862. His parents came to this country from Ireland, his father being the first settler in what later became known as Shanick.

Worked in Lumber Camp.

The early years of David McGarvey were spent in the shanties He worked in turn for the Gilmour, the Rathbun and the Pearce Companies. He contracted for the Rathbun company and was foreman for the Pearce Company. In 1913, while working for the latter company he sustained an injury to his right leg, during a jam which occurred on the drive and although this left him crippled, he got around almost as smartly as those with uninjured limbs. He loved to converse with former workmates and with any who would comprise his audience on his experiences and the stories relating to lumbering in those early days.

Was Expert Log Roller

He was an exxpert at log rolling and it was his pride to relate how on a visit to Michigan when in the prime of his life, he defeated the champion log roller of the United States in a contest. He was one of the best singers of shanty songs this district ever knew. In addition to his fondness for music, he was also a great reader and he enjoyed a good argument.

Enjoyed Hunting

Passing away as he has in the midst of the hunting season, recalls to mind the many hunts he had participated in with other members of the McGarvey family who have always been renowned for their prowess with the gun. He was one of the best marksmen and he had a good repertoire of hunting stories in which the bears as well as the deer were featured.

Following his career as a lumberman he took up carpentry and had worked on the Trent Canal and also for the Deloro Smelting and Refining Company Limited in that capacity for several years.

He was married to Mary Ann Reid, daughter of the late Mr. and Mrs. Daniel Reid, of Marmora Township, who predeceased him on August 23rd., 1923. He was a member of St. Paul's Anglican Church and was a charter member of the now dormant L.T.B. Lodge, No. 177, which he was largely instrumental in organizing.

Five Children Survive

He is survived by five children, all resident in Marmora, namely: Matthew and Hilliard; Mrs. James Nobes (May); Mrs. William Smith (Laura); and Mrs. Alex. Niblett (Estella). He is further survived by one sister, Mrs. Allan McGarvey also of Marmora, and sixteen grandchildren. The funeral will be held on Friday, leaving his late residence for service at St. Paul's Church at 2 p.m., with Rev. J. M. Brownlie officiating. Interment will be made in Marmora Protestant Cemetery.

BLACKSMITH GIVEN "REST" IN COUNTY JAIL

"It will be better than blacksmithing," remarked Roy Sweet, of Bonarlaw, when he was informed he would have to serve ten days in default of the payment of a fine levied in today's police court after he had been convicted of driving a motor vehicle with defective brakes.

Traffic Officer Chas. Siple told Magistrate J. L. Lloyd he had stopped Sweet on Highway No. 14 recently with only one headlight lit. Subsequent investigation revealed the vehicle had no leverage on the emergency brake and very little to the foot brake, the officer said. Sweet said he drove with caution.

His Worship found the accused guilty and levied a fine of ten dollars and costs, or in default of payment ten days in jail. It was following this that Sweet remarked: "It will be better than blacksmithing," which indicated to the court the work of a "smithy" today isn't exactly easy. "He may change his mind," added Crown Attorney B. C. Donnan in reply.

Four Injured In Collision On Hastings Road

Campbellford, Nov. 16 —(CP)— Four persons were injured, one seriously, when two automobiles collided at an intersection on the Hastings road nine miles west of here late yesterday.

Most seriously injured was H. Worthium, 41, of Burlington, Vt., who suffered severe cuts to his face and body and serious injury to his right leg.

W. Harvey, 49, also of Burlington, suffered shock and body bruises; Manson Cathcart, 34, of Peterborough, Ont., severe face head cuts; and John Meinocenger, 66, Hastings County farmer, a broken left hand and bruises.

Police said the accident happened when a car operated by Meincenger went out of control and crashed into the machine driven by Cathcart.

Worthium was taken to hospital at Peterborough, about 25 miles west of the scene of the accident, after treatment by Dr. W. N. Campbell of the village of Hastings.

AMERICAN VISE

Roughly midway between the 7th and 24th divisions, a third infantry unit, the 96th Division, also advanced against Ormoc from the east. The 96th was near Alto Peak on Leyte's backbone and approximately 14 miles from Ormoc.

The Japanese were showing no tendency to retreat easily anywhere. Frontline dispatches described even the smallest American advances as being made over piles of enemy dead.

The communique said American fighters strafed enemy barges and shore targets near Ormoc. Five Japanese planes were downed in ineffective harassing raids.

Invade Mapia Islands.

Leyte, Philippines, Nov. 16 (AP) —American amphibious troops have invaded the Mapia Islands, 145 miles northwest of Biak on the northern New Guinea coast, Gen. MacArthur announced today.

A small force hit the beaches Wednesday under cover of heavy naval bombardment, encountered only slight resistance and immediately began to push inland.

The invasion was made to knock out Japanese coast watchers who operated warning stations reporting the flights of American planes northward. The Mapia islands now wil be converted into a protective outpost and warning station to guard U.S. installations on Biak.

The Mapias, also known as the St. David islands, are a cluster of small islands 900 miles southeast of Leyte.

THREE KILLED

Tamaqua, Pa., Nov. 16 — (AP) — Three men were instantly killed yesterday in an explosion which destroyed the dynamite mixing laboratory of the Atlas Powder Company plat at Reynolds, near here. The origin of the blast has not been determined.

BRITISH OCCUPY KALEMYO

New York, Nov. 16 — East African forces of the British 14th Army in Burma have occupied Kalemyo, Japanese communications base bearing the way to the Chindwin, which lies 16 miles to the east, the BBC said today. CBS recorded the broadcast.

Roslin

Roslin.—The November meeting of the Women's Institute was held on Thursday afternoon at the home of Mrs. Wm. Weir with sixteen ladies present.

The Vice-President, Mrs. H. Chisholm presided, and the meeting was opened in the usual way. The Secretary, Mrs. H. Sills read reports and correspondence and various items of business were discussed. Mrs. Chisholm gave an interesting report of the area convention held recently in Belleville.

Mrs. Fargey was in charge of the program. All joined in singing several songs. Mrs. Fargey gave a talk on the motto for the day, "Why find fault when there are so many better things to find".

Mrs. MacDonald read an article from the Reader's Digest.

Mrs. F. Gray gave the topic for the day "How to add comfort and cheer to our homes in winter with the least expense". All joined in singing the National Anthem, after which Mrs. Fargey conducted a contest. The hostess served lunch assisted by Mrs. F. Meeks and Miss Phyllis Sills.

Relatives here received word last week of the death in Chaumont, New York, on November 4, of Mrs. Annie Burleigh Clapsaddle, wife of Mr. Frank Clapsaddle. Surviving beside her husband are a son, and a daughter, two sisters, Mrs. Richardson of Chaumont, and Mrs. W. Kerr, of Roslin, and one brother, Mr. Albert Burleigh, of Roslin. The funeral service was held on November 7th.

The November meeting of the Women's Association was held on November 7th., at the home of Mrs. Wesley Copeland.

Birth—On Tuesday, November 7, at their home, Roslin, to Mr. and Mrs. Clare Carney, a son.

Miss Velma Chapman spent several days last week with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Charles Chapman.

Miss Phyllis Sills, of Belleville, spent the past week with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. H. Sills.

On Friday evening, friends and neighbors gathered in the hall in honor of Bruce McMasters, who has joined the Armed forces.

During the evening dancing was enjoyed. Later Mr. John Hart called the gathering to order, and Bruce was presented with a wristwatch, for which he expressed his thanks.

A Taxpaying Record

Arrears of taxes for the city of Belleville are reported at the lowest with 90.2 per cent of the 1944 levy paid by the taxpayers by November 4th.

It was not always that so favorable a report could be presented to the people. The whole trend of events today is really an incentive to payment of current taxes. That is one of the lessons which have been learned in war time. Of course it is to be expected that with more money afloat due to the war, with a larger population and the demand for rented houses and accommodation that the arrears will decline. It is a natural course for this to be so and the taxpayers have seen the advantage of payment as far as they themselves are concerned as well as the advantage to the municipal corporation.

Christmas Not So Far Away

In forty days Christmas, the great festival of the Christian world, will have been passed for another year. Time moves swiftly in the autumn especially when the weather is moderate that the holiday season arrives before the people realize it is at hand.

After this week there will be only thirty week days and six Sundays before Christmas. In other words, just five weeks remain to think about and to get to work on plans for this winter festival.

In the five-week period all the plans of preparation for the festival will be carried out. A considerable portion of the preparations in as far as they relate to the Christmas celebration of Canadian service men and women abroad has been laid and gifts are on their way across the seas. But a great deal remains to be done and there is even now evidence of the laying of the plans for the occasion seen in the buying in the local shops.

The Canadian people, men and women, boys and girls, have proven themselves good workers, diligent and anxious to do their work both for the home front cause and abroad where they are represented by so many gallant men. They will not allow plans for the winter festival to interfere with the great task of cleansing the world of the scum of Nazism and Japanese fascism and militarism. Both the planning for Christmas and the work on the war will be done together with the concerted spirit of the whole Canadian people. They will observe Christmas best when they hurl their full weight into the Allied effort and they observe the festival because its principles motivate the world outlook of the United Nations in freedom and security.

Individuals Participate

Canadians have been told that the Seventh Victory Loan has reached $1,467,637,600 for the highest total ever raised by the Canadian people. The results are not yet complete and a new report will be issued Saturday.

One of the outstanding facts of the loan campaign is the revelation that the individual purchase total has been climbing close to the corporate investor group total. That is an impressive situation as it shows the fact that the individual is fully participating in the war effort. Selling the people on the Dominion's best security is not a difficult job in these days. They have seen how well Canada has taken her part on the field of battle, in the war in the skies and on the oceans. The success of the loan and the participation of the people are in step with the moving events all around the world where the United Nations are putting the finishing touches to the destruction of Axis tyranny and aggression.

Total Effort

Prime Minister Churchill took occasion in the British Commons on Tuesday to repeat his opinion that there would be a great deal of hard fighting yet. He told an inquirer in the House that "the new fact that stares one in the face is that extremely heavy fighting is continuing week by week and will certainly last for a good long time."

The opinion of the British leader who has sources of knowledge which are accurate and complete, far beyond the sources of those not in such a position to know, will be accepted by the public as warranted in the light of facts today. He has said again and again that no one can say when the war will end and that the struggle is in the last lap and that the end is in sight. With this knowledge and his assurance of Allied victory Mr. Churchill goes forward as tirelessly as ever in his effort to bring the conclusion as swiftly as possible. The way to assure that is to do as the British Prime Minister does, never tire in the good work of total war effort on which the destiny of the entire world rests.

Hitler planned to put in the chains of Nazism the fate of the globe for a thousand years to come. But the Nazi plan's back is broken and perhaps Hitler's own brain has snapped. The Allied cause is paramount. The United Nations world hopes to see their coming triumph so pronounced that there can be no possibility of the appearance of new tyrants in future for the free nations will see to it that such vipers as Nazism and Fascism will not be allowed to develop. That is why the Nazi viper is biting with such venom today against almost the entire world bent upon the victory that will bring freedom from the possibility of such monstrous developments as Hitlerism and Nazism and Fascism.

New Home For British Commons

(Montreal Herald)

If architectural plans now completed prove acceptable, Britain's new House of Commons building will combine the modern and the historic in a structural blend that might well be interpreted as symbolic of Britain herself.

The traditional dimensions and distinctive architectural features of the old bomb-battered House will be preserved, but seating capacity will be enlarged, ventilation and heating brought up to date, better facilities provided for the press.

Does not that typify the British method of evolution? Does it not symbolize the way in which the state has evolved, maintaining its distinctive "architectural features," but expanding the facilities, installing the latest proven functional equipment?

Faced with the necessity of building a new House of Commons, Britain may, of course, decide to erect a "streamlined" structure, twentieth century in form as well as efficiency.

But the designs now submitted convey a symbolic suggestion that merits consideration, from an artistic viewpoint at least.

Hand Rolling

(Chicago News)

Carpet sweepers are humming in American homes. Dad is spilling tobacco all over the rugs as he struggles to recapture the art of rolling his own cigarets. Before the First World War the great majority of cigaret smokers bought smoking tobacco and papers, not ready-made cigarets.

Few women smoked at all, and the stigma of dudishness lingered on the manufactured fag. Great big he-men who could roll cigarets cowboy fashion with one hand, while seated on a jumping or galloping horse, were the envy of their fellow citizens.

Invariably those lads used the brown wheatstraw papers, badge of the West and the old Essanay Studios, which turned out Westerns in North Edgewater.

Will the Second World War undo the work of the First World War and restore the self-rolled fag? It would be wonderful if the cigaret problem were that easy. But to roll one's own, one must have something to roll. Back of labor shortages, price difficulties and increased demand lies the primary cause of cigaret scarcity—not enough tobacco.

Demand has jumped by 50 per cent during the war. This came after several years of acreage and crop control under the policies initiated by Henry A. Wallace as Secretary of Agriculture.

The best portion of a good man's life is his little, nameless, unremembered acts of kindness and of love.—Wordsworth.

There is small chance of truth at the goal where there is not a childlike humility at the starting post.—Coleridge.

EULOGY

Hearken, when the race is run,
What is said of all they've done:
"They were gentle, kind and true.
Good they tried their best to do."

Not one word of gathered gold,
Assets wisely bought and sold;
Always this while tears are wept:
"Faith in God and man they kept."

Silent rather than allude
To the dead as sharp and shrewd.
Never this with earth's last clod:
"Money was their only god."

Hear the minister at last
Speak of them whose souls have passed:
"All their lives they tried," says he,
"Fit for Heaven this day to be!"

NUGGETS OF KNOWLEDGE

Washington Irving's "A History of New York," published under the pseudonym "Diedrich Knickerbocker," is said to be the "first great book of comic literature written by an American." This humorous satire on old Dutch culture and life is still good reading.

Christopher Columbus had to postpone his first voyage across the Atlantic for years because of the want of funds. Yet the total cost of the expedition, consisting of three small ships and ninety men victualled for a year's voyage, was the equivalent of only about $16,500 in modern money.

"Plus-fours" is the name of short, loose-fitting trousers widely worn by golfers and sportsmen. This style of trousers originated in the British army and was later adopted for civilian wear. The trousers were called "plus-fours" because four inches was added to the inside seam of each leg of the ordinary knickerbockers. Plus-fours are merely knickerbockers with several inches hangover at the knees.

It is often erroneously stated that English golfers found ordinary knickerbockers slightly too short for comfort and that designers of men's apparel therefore devised plus-fours especially for golfers. But the Brigade of Guards and other units in the British army were wearing plus-fours long before the style was adopted by golf players and sportsmen.

Does air have weight? Surely, air is a substance and all substances have weight. Air, however, is very light. A column of air an inch square extended from sea level upward as far as the atmosphere goes weighs only about 15 pounds. This is called atmospheric pressure.

Galileo first proved that air has weight by weighing a glass globe, then forcing air into it and weighing it again. He correctly ascribed the extra air to the added air. An automobile tire pumped up would weigh more than a flat tire, but the difference would be too slight to detect with ordinary scales. Since water vapor is lighter than most of the other gases in the atmosphere, moist air weighs less than dry air.

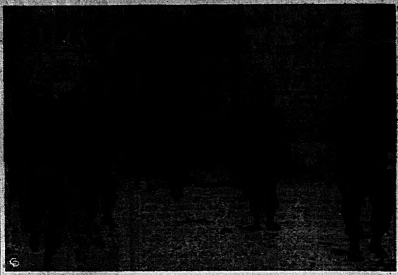
ALLIES FLUSH NAZIS FROM FLUSHING, HOLLAND



British Tommies march through narrow streets of Flushing, Holland, keeping a sharp lookout for German snipers during the operations to drive the Germans from Walcheren Island. One of the bloodiest engagements of the European war was fought on this island which commanded the approaches to Antwerp until enemy batteries there were destroyed.

Two Nude Women Slain by Fiend In Hotel Rooms

Los Angeles, Nov. 16 (AP) — A husky 31-year-old waiter was held incommunicado today after confessing, police said, one of the most fiendish crimes on record here—the mutilation-slaying of two nude women in separate downtown hotels.

Drinking wine at a nearby bar, Otto Steve Wilson was handcuffed last night by a patrolman shortly after the suspect's description had been broadcast.

The first victim was Virgie Lee Griffin, 25, wife of a truck driver. A hotel maid found her lying disemboweled in a closet. The torso had been slit from neck to abdomen, the right leg severed at the hip and knee, the right shoulder hacked through. Bits of flesh, cut from other parts of the body, littered the blood-soaked carpet. A butcher knife with a nine-inch blade lay nearby. Razor blades were scattered on the floor.

Police Detective Lieut. R. F. McGarry quoted Wilson as saying he killed her "because she wanted more money".

Detective Lieut. Harry Hansen called it "the most fiendish crime in my 19 years of experience here. It is worse than the Winnie Ruth Judd case".

Mrs. Judd is serving a life sentence for slaying Mrs Agnes Le Roi and Hedvig Samuelson, her roommate in Phoenix, Ariz., and sending the dismembered bodies in a trunk to Los Angeles in 1931.

As a screaming hotel maid set off an intensive city-wide police search yesterday, the second victim was dying in another hostelry a few blocks away.

Slashed Through Body.

She was Mrs. Lillian Johnson, about 38, wife of a Merchant seaman now reported in the South Pacific. Found stretched on a bed, she had been slashed from the breasts to the pelvic region.

Lieut. McGarry said Wilson related he hit her, then slashed her with a razor "for some reason—just pure cussedness, I guess".

Both the operator of the first hotel and a bellboy at the second had identified Wilson as the companion, first of Mrs. Griffith and later of Mrs. Johnson, in registering at the two hotels.

Wilson was booked on suspicion of murder. At first he sullenly maintained his innocence despite bloodstains on his hands and shoes. In his pocket, police said they found a razor. They discovered scratches on his neck as though made by a woman's fingernails in a frantic death struggle.

Then crime technicians began combing the six-foot, blonde-haired suspect's mustache for blood particles and Wilson, disclosing he had worked as a pharmacist and had studied chemistry, exclaimed:

"That's it! You'll find that when you mix those particles with a certain amount of water that the hemoglobin of the blood can be determined and compared".

STRONG INDUSTRY NEEDED

Toronto, Nov. 16 — (CP) — W. J. McDonough, managing director of Central Aircraft, London, Ont., said last night that Canada's aircraft industry will be forced to release "at least 100,000 employees" at the end of the war, and government and industry must plan for a strong aircraft industry to help develop Canada's resources in post-war years.

AWARDED M. C.

Kingston, Nov. 16 — (CP)—Capt. A. B. Smith, son of Mr. and Mrs. C. Smith of Kingston and who returned here yesterday aboard a hospital train, did not know he had been awarded the Military Cross for gallantry in action until notified by his sister Gwyn, a member of the R.C.A.F.'s Women's Division, at Halifax pier.

So far as known Sir Walter Raleigh never set foot on any territory now under the American flag.

More words are written every day at the present time about Shakespeare than were written during his entire lifetime.

Address Dr. William Brady, care of this Newspaper.)

OVEREATING AND MALNUTRITION

Continuing yesterday's talk (Obesity is Malnutrition) here are some scientific observations for everybody who carries superfluous flesh to consider:

1. Obesity in malnutrition.

2. More than half of the calories in the average American diet are from refined carbohydrate—starch or sugar.

3. More than half of the calories in the diet of Americans 100 years ago were from carbohydrate, but not refined carbohydrate. People in those days ate whole wheat flour—wheat ground in the old stone grist mill, with nothing removed. They ate brown sugar and molasses from which nothing was removed in refining.

4. So, as Dr. Norman Jolliffe expressed it:

"It seems, therefore, that a 55 percent fraction of the calories in the American diet of 1840 containing a minimum of 600 international units of vitamin B, has been replaced in the contemporaneous American diet by a like fraction containing only about 30 international units."

5. Although our great-grand-parents didn't know it they got their vitamins in their bread, sugar and molasses.

6. As Dr. Robert R. Williams expressed it: "Man commits a crime against nature when he eats the starch from the seed" (that's what refined white flour is, mainly) "and throws away the mechanism for the metabolism of that starch." The vitamin B-complex, in which wheat is rich, particularly the wheat germ and the bran and outer coat of the kernel — which is thrown away when namby-pamby white flour is made from wheat— is indispensable for normal utilization of carbohydrate, especially thiamin (B1), and probably other entities or factors of the natural B-complex.

7. If you eat plain wheat, whole wheat from which nothing is removed or disarded, you get your vitamins, all right. Likewise if you eat real old-fashion crude brown sugar or old-fashioned molasses (if you can find such unpopular groceries) you will get not only good amounts of vitamin B-complex but also more of the calcium which refined food fails to provide.

8. Individuals who are overweight and too fond of starches and sugars are usually pleased to find that when they increase their vitamin intake they presently find that their appetite, hunger or craving for starch or sugar is satisfied with considerably less carbohydrate than they have habitually consumed. This is so because the increased vitamin intake insures better metabolism, oxidation, utilization of the food so they burn it up instead of storing it as fat.

9. For years I have been trying to teach people that vitamin B1 is "poor man's insulin"—meaning that it promotes utilization of carbohydrate (as insulin does) for the production of energy.

QUESTIONS & ANSWERS

Sour Stomach

No matter how little food or what kind of food I eat I have sour stomach, gas, heartburn. (B.P.)

Answer—Would not a proper medical examination be a good investment? Foolish to monkey with diet and palliatives if the cause of the sour stomach, gas and heartburn happens to be duodenal ulcer, gallstones, intemperance in use of tobacco or alcohol....But send stamped envelope bearing your address and inclose ten cents for booklet "So You Have Indigestion."

Shopping

Kindly send me the name of one or two physicians in——— who are skilled in treatment of hernia and varicose veins by injection—besides Dr.——— whom you recommended previously. (Mrs. M. J. R.)

Answer—The doctor I recommended is the only one there now that I can recommend for such treatment. So many good doctors are in the military service that my lists are only tentative now.

Deoderant

At what age may a girl begin using an underarm dedorant? My daughter is nine, and she needs something, as just soap and water are not sufficient. (Mrs. L .W.)

Answer—At any age.

Whitehall Notebook

By DOUGLAS AMARON

London, Nov. 16 (CP)—C. U. Peat is one of parliament's best-dressed men so it was a tribute to the tailors turning out civilian clothes for discharged soldiers that when he turned up in the House of Commons in a "discharge suit" his appearance won praise from both sides of the House.

Parliament was discussing these clothes and Evelyn Walkden, a Labor member, said "if any Cabinet Minister is looking for a new tailor I would recommend him to the army outfitting department" where civvy suits are issued.

The clothing the army is providing for discharged soldiers is winning wide praise. Quality of suits is good and soldiers have ten patterns to choose from with eleven sizes and three sub-divisions of sizes. Only three of the first 150 men who received them had to return for second fittings.

The London Daily Express, in an editorial addressed to Conservatives, urged that they make Empire free trade a plank in their platform for the next general election.

Imperial preference, the Express said, "is the bond of economic well-being which unites the members of the British Commonwealth materially as well as spiritually in a brotherhood which may in no wise be weakened".

The Express is one of Canadian-born Lord Beaverbrook's publications.

Alfred Duff Cooper, British Ambassador to France, has decided not to contest his parliamentary seat (St. George's, Westminster) at the next election.

Miss Megan Lloyd George added to her laurels in opening the first Welsh Day debate in the Commons. She spoke with the fire of her famous father and many veteran members of the House remarked that they were struck by certain inherited resemblances of tone and style. Most M.P.'s present echoed in English the Welsh "Da Iawn"—Well Done—of Sir William Jenkins when she sat down.

Returned Airman Not Surprised Tirpitz at Bottom of Tromso Fjord

Niagara Falls, Ont., Nov. 16 (CP) —Flt. Lt. Roy E. Woods, of Niagara Falls, bombing leader of the Royal Air Force Dambusting Squadron and trainer of bomb aimers for raids on the German battleship, Tirpitz, said today that "I'm not surprised that the Tirpitz is lying at the bottom of Tromso Fjord now".

Woods, who recently returned to Canada, told of the raid on the Tirpitz in September when the battleship was moored in Alten Fjord and a plane piloted by Wing Cmdr. J. B. Tait, D.S.O. and two bars, D.F.C., scored the first hit on the vessel with an "earthquake" bomb.

"That raid was in September and we pioneered the way for the two attacks that followed. We flew a round trip of about 2,800 miles all the way to Archangel in Russia, where we refueled and waited for the weather to break. Then we stacked back to Britain and attacked the Tirpitz in its hiding place in Norway.

"I could see the Tirpitz clearly as we came in over our target. We caught the Jerries completely by surprise and they didn't have time to throw up a smoke screen. I saw the bomb leave Wing Cmdr. Tait's plane ahead and land solidly on the Tirpitz. There was a bright red flash and then the Tirpitz was hidden from view. I got one more glimpse of the German warship through the smoke and it seemed to be down either by the bow or the stern.

On First Raid.

"The bomb-aimer in Wing Cmdr. Tait's plane on that first raid was F.O. Walter Daniels, of Rivers, Man., the same bombardier who was with him on the raid when they sank the Tirpitz in Tromso Fjord. He was 'tops', the best bomb-aimer in the whole squadron and Wing Cmdr. Tait always had him as bombardier. A close second to Daniels was F.O. William Rupert, of Toronto, son of Mrs. Ivan Walker, of Queenston, Ont. He now is missing but was considered in the top three bomb-aimers of the Dambuster Squadron. F.O. Findlay, of Toronto, was the third".

Woods had little to say of his own experiences, although he admitted when questioned that during his fourteen months as a bomb-aiming instructor, both Daniels and Rupert came under his tutelage.

Bombs Most Destructive.

"I'm not surprised that the Tirpitz is lying at the bottom of Tromso Fjord now. I knew that the air force would finish her with the powerful 'earthquake' bomb. Even though the battleship was considered one of the most powerfully-built battleships in the world, it could not withstand those earthquake bombs. They are terrific—the most destructive bomb ever invented and can penetrate anything. They are designed to penetrate and then explode".

Woods said that in his opinion Wing Cmdr. Tait "deserved the V.C. for the Tirpitz job".

The Niagara Falls airman, son of Mr. and Mrs. George M. Woods, flew on 65 operational flights. He won the D.F.C. for exceptional devotion to duty. He now expects to be posted as an instructor in Canada.

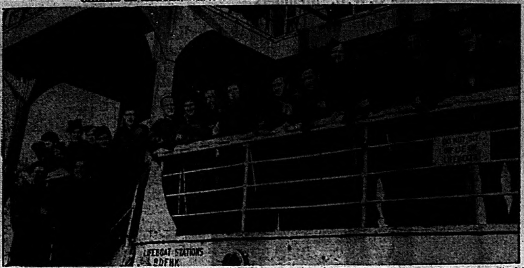
CHEERS AS RETURNING WOUNDED SEE CANADA'S SHORES AGAIN



Joyful at being home at last, casualties of the summer's bitter battles on two great European fronts crammed the decks and lined the stairways of the Canadian hospital ship Lady Nelson as they waited to be disembarked at Halifax. Every province in the Dominion is represented in this group of "repats" who thrust out their thumbs and fingers in cheery victory salutes.—(Canadian Army Photo.)

Soviet Union Has No Intention Of Interfering in Domestic Affairs of Other Nations

Official Statement Lists Six Fundamental Principles of Russian Foreign Policy

Washington, Nov. 16 (AP) — An official Russian statement said today that the Soviet Union has no intention of intervening in domestic affairs of other states. It listed as a cardinal point of Moscow's policy the "co-existence of two systems," presumably communism and capitalism.

The statement appeared in an article by Col. A. Galin in the Soviet Embassy information bulletin.

Asserting that the bloc of freedom-loving states is growing strong and stronger, the statement described references to "the Communist peril," as a "trump card of Goebbels' propaganda."

Galin listed what he termed six fundamental principles of Russian foreign policy. The principles:

1. Peaceful relations with all states, irrespective of their political systems.

2. Economic and political co-operation with all states on the basis of sovereign equality and independence of the contracting parties and the co-existence of two systems.

3. Alliances with any state with the purpose of protecting both partners from acts of aggression.

4. Categorical renunciation of imperialist expansion at the cost of other nations.

5. Non-intervention in the internal affairs of other states.

6. Strengthening of the coalition of freedom-loving nations in the fight against Fascist aggressors.

Nevertheless, Galin wrote, Russia means to remain firm on the question of disputed land in eastern Poland now occupied by the Red army.

HOME LEAVE PLAN IS INAUGURATED

From 400 to 500 Canadian Soldiers Overseas to be in Canada Before Christmas 30-DAY LEAVE

By ROSS MUNRO
Canadian Press War Correspondent

With the 1st Canadian Army, Nov. 16 (CP Cable)—Between 400 and 500 Canadian soldiers from the overseas army will be in Canada on leave before Christmas as the new policy of home leave is inaugurated, it was learned today.

Officers and men who are to go home in this first group are being selected now from troops serving on this western front, in Italy and in the United Kingdom.

They will have 30 clear days in Canada and it is believed this will mean 30 days at their homes with travelling times even in Canada, not including in the leave period.

Qualifications for this new leave boon are five years' overseas service. Service in the Mediterranean or on the western front, however, counts double time. After leave, officers and men will return to duty in the normal reinforcement stream and provisions are being made so they won't lose rank.

The War Today— Anglo-French Cordiality Called Great Political Development

By DEWITT MACKENZIE
(Associated Press War Analyst)

If we are going to keep up with the rapid changes in the international kaleidoscope we mustn't miss the far-reaching implications of the great Anglo-French cordiality growing out of the visit of Prime Minister Churchill and Foreign Secretary Eden to Gen. De Gaulle in Paris.

This is one of the outstanding political developments of the war. It's something which will mount in importance, for we are witnessing—or so I believe—the early manoeuvring of the Great Powers for post-war influence in a Europe which is on the verge of a new epoch.

Russia's Future.

We start from the premise that Russia bids fair to emerge as the dominant power not only of Europe but of Asia—that is, of the whole eastern hemisphere. In short the Soviet Union is cutting across the beat of John Bull who long has been the undisputed policeman of Europe and points east.

The Paris conference is widely regarded as aiming at the formation of a bloc of western European nations—Britain, France, Belgium, Holland and maybe others—to guard against German aggression.

Seen as Prologue.

There's no doubt that the formation of a bloc is contemplated, and one of its aims would be to keep an eye on Germany. Economic affairs also may be expected to play an important part. However, I believe that's only the prologue.

Britain may believe she will have to give up a lot of former influence—but doesn't propose to be pushed out altogether. Efforts are being made to consolidate Western Europe in the British sphere of influence.

The question of realigning the spheres of influence in Eastern Europe presumably formed an important item in recent conversations between Mr. Churchill and Premier Stalin. There will be other talks—and probably some shrewd horse trading—for even the control of the Mediterranean may now be in question after generations of domination by Britain.

Smuts' Forecast.

It all sounds like a melodramatic fiction plot but it's far from that. A year ago Field Marshal Jan Christian Smuts, premier of the Union of South Africa and an outstanding figure of the British Commonwealth, forecast possibilities in a blunt speech in London.

He asserted that at the end of hostilities in which "three of the five great powers in Europe will have disappeared"—meaning France, Italy and Germany—Russia will be "mistress of the continent".

He urged that Britain work intimately with the small democracies in Western Europe, to equalize the partnership. Since that remarkable speech—which Premier Smuts himself said might contain "explosive" ideas—France has had a wonderful re-birth. She's being accorded her former place as a great power and Britain apparently intends to help her substantiate this position.

Pictures Lead To Arrest of 2 Escaped Germans

Toronto, Nov. 16 —(CP)— Publication of their pictures yesterday in Toronto evening newspapers led to the arrest early today of two German prisoners of war who escaped last summer from a work camp in Southern Ontario. One had been working in an electrical plant doing war work and the other in a fertilizer plant, police said.

Royal Canadian Mounted Police arrested the pair—Friedrich Petrick, 24, and Hans Eultgem, 29, in a rooming house on George Street on the fringe of the city's downtown section. Petrick was arrested just after midnight and Eultgem about two a.m. after a tip from persons who saw the pictures.

They escaped with two other prisoners—Walter Manhardt and Helmut Hack—in breaks July 25 and Aug. 8. Manhardt is still at large. Hack was arrested in Vancouver yesterday.

Both Carry Certificates.

Both men carrying forged national registration certificates were able to obtain employment here under assumed names, police said. Eultgem used the alias of Charles P. Miller and Petrick was known as Alfred Jussen. Petrick worked in the fertilizer plant. Eultgem, an hydraulic press operator, had been employed in a downtown plant. His Selective Service application said he was born in Switzerland. Both men refused to say how long they had lived in Toronto.

Mrs. John Morris, in whose home the men lived, said in an interview that a mysterious, dark-haired woman wearing "considerable jewelry and diamonds" came to the rooming house.

"She said she knew I didn't allow visitors but she wanted to give them a message. She told me to tell them to come to a room in a hotel and that it was urgent that she see them. I gave them the message when they came home from work."

Police said they were investigating whether the woman is connected with the hiding of German prisoners in Toronto.

"The first pay night, Miller (Eultgem) was angry," Mrs. Morris related. "He said: 'There's too much tax off the pay here'."

She added that although both always had plenty of money, during weekends "they sat in their house all day and only ate bread and water."

WEDDINGS

HAGERMAN—RUDKIN

A pretty wedding was solemnized in Queen Street United Church, Fort Erie, on Saturday, November 4, at 12.30 p.m., when Lorraine Vivian, daughter of Mrs. Irene Rudkin became the bride of John Donald Hagerman, son of Mr. and Mrs. J. W. Hagerman, of Belleville. The ceremony was performed by Reverend H. S. Fiddes.

The bride looked charming in a blue and white street-length gown with brown and white accessories, and a corsage of red roses.

The bride's attendant, her sister, June Rudkin, wore a gray pin stripe suit with white and grey accessories and corsage of red roses.

The best man was Michael Dubrwich.

Following the ceremony, a going-away party was held at the home of Mrs. Eric Cheffins while a reception was given at the groom's parents' residence in Belleville. Following a honeymoon spent in Belleville and Toronto, the couple will reside in Fort Erie.

MILLIGAN—QUINCEY

Christ Church, Belleville, was the scene of a quiet but pretty wedding on Tuesday, Nov. 14, at eight o'clock in the evening, when Rev. J. G. Sparling united in marriage Dorothy Patricia, daughter of the late Mr. and Mrs. Albert Quincey, of Belleville, to John Alexander, son of the late Mr. and Mrs. Alexander Milligan, of Glasgow, Scotland.

The bride looked very lovely wearing a dress of teal blue with matching accessories and a corsage of yellow and bronze roses.

Olive Grant, friend of the bride, was her only attendant and wore American Beauty crepe with black accessories, and corsage of red roses.

Jimmy Armstrong, friend of the groom, was best man.

Mr. Walter Aselstine gave the bride in marriage.

A small reception was held at the bride's home for the immediate friends.

Amid showers of good wishes the happy couple left for Montreal, Que., the bride travelling in a dress of hunter's green crepe and black accessories. On their return they will reside in Belleville.

T.O.G. CLUB

The Holloway Street T.O.G. Club was held on Tuesday evening at the home of Miss Dorothy Craighead, 38 Catherine Street.

The meeting opened with Marion Dorsee presiding. Roll Call and discussion period followed. The meeting was then turned over to Ruth Ireland who was in charge of the worship service, the theme being "Happiness". Jean Smith read Scripture and the Scripture comment was by Ruth Ireland. Hymns were sung. A reading was given by Mrs. Hopkin. Ruth Ireland closed worship service with prayer. The girls spent the evening making scrapbooks for children's missions. A delicious lunch was served by the hostess. The meeting closed with the benediction.

C.W.L. Members Told of Need For Knitters

In St. Michael's High School last Monday evening, the regular monthly meeting of the Catholic Women's League was held with the president, Mrs. S. B. Upper presiding. After the usual opening exercises, reports were received from the members of the executive. Mrs. McIntyre, war services convener, reported that one hundred Christmas boxes had been sent to servicemen. It was decided to give a donation to the local Navy League for ditty bags, also to send a quantity of canned goods, candy, etc. Mrs. Bulger gave an encouraging report of the amount of sewing done by the members who were coming to the Red Cross room in large numbers recently. The need for knitters, however, is urgent and wool can be obtained from Mrs. Bulger every Thursday at the Red Cross headquarters on Campbell St. A letter was read from the Diocesan president urging us to strive for one hundred percent membership of the women of the parish. Mrs. Upper and Mrs. F. Fitzpatrick were named as conveners to take charge of a banquet for the Knights of Columbus and their out-of-town guests later this month. Mrs. C. Frawley and Mrs. H. Barrett, conveners of the tea held on Nov. 7th in the K. of C. clubrooms, were congratulated by the President on the success of this event and appreciation was expressed to all members who helped or contributed in any way to this affair. The local V.O.N. society was granted its usual donation. Members who wished to take part in the marathon bridge were urged to send in their names at once to Mrs. E. Logan. Those interested in euchre will be glad to know that these weekly parties will begin soon.

After the business part of the meeting, our chaplain, the Rt. Rev. Monsignor Nicholson, addressed the members, encouraging them as always with his words of wisdom and advice. He made special mention of the importance of all members of the League being subscribers to our diocesan paper, "The Canadian Register."

Following the singing of the National Anthem, played by Mrs. H. Barrett, the meeting adjourned.

Pre-Nuptial Parties Held in Honor Of Miss Hilda Moorcroft

Miss Hilda Moorcroft, popular bride-elect of the month, has been honored on several occasions at pre-nuptial parties arranged by her friends and working associates. Mrs. R. A. Lennox and Miss Elsie Rose were co-hostesses at a delightful pyrex shower at the home of Mrs. Lennox, George Street. It took the form of a treasure hunt with a complete pyrex set as loot. The sixteen guests spent the evening making a bride's book, after which a delicious lunch was served by the hostesses. Mrs. James Cathcart poured tea for the occasion. Miss Kay Moorcroft and Miss Marjorie McBurney feted Hilda at a cup and saucer shower, when twenty of the bride-to-be's friends assembled to extend their best wishes. A varied assortment of games afforded everyone a great deal of fun, followed by dainty refreshments which "topped off" a most entertaining party. Hilda was the recipient of many lovely cups and saucers, for which she expressed her warmest appreciation. Hilda's office associates of the Belleville Sargent Company surprised her with an impromptu party one afternoon, when they presented her with a handsome table lamp. Mr. H. Ryan, on behalf of the employees of the entire plant, made the presentation to her of a silver tea service. The groom-to-be, James Cathcart, is a former employee of this particular company, having left it to join the R.C.A.F. The bride elect's trousseau tea was held on Wednesday in her apartment at Belle Villa and was a most charming affair. Fifty guests were present who were received by Hilda. The trousseau and wedding gifts were shown by Miss Kay Moorcroft. Presiding at the tea table was Miss Marjorie McBurney.

Presentation Made To Remington Couple

Remington. — On November 7, a large number of neighbors and friends gathered at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Ernest Moore, of Remington, in the form of a surprise party to bid farewell to them before they left for their new home in Madoc village. During the evening, the gathering was called to order by Mr. Delos Fox and two addresses were read by Miss Grace Irwin and Mrs. Maurice Reynolds.

The former was signed on behalf of the Remington and Cooper communities by Delos Fox, Fred Holmes, Allan McCoy and Jas. Hayton. The latter address was signed on behalf of Cooper and Remington Women's Institute.

Mr. and Mrs. Moore were presented with an electric table lamp and a parlor table by the community. The Women's Institute presented Mrs. Moore with two lovely pictures.

Mr. and Mrs. Moore responded in the usual manner thanking all for their gifts and inviting everyone to visit them in their new home. Refreshments were served by the ladies of the community.

Post-War Memorials Discussed by Queen Alexandra H. & S. Club

The regular monthly meeting of the Queen Alexandra Home and School Association was held in the school auditorium on Tuesday evening with the president, Mrs. H. Trusdale, in the chair.

After the business portion of the meeting had been concluded Mrs. Trusdale introduced to the members the president of the newly-formed Home and School Association from Queen Mary School and several of its members and hoped that they would enjoy their evening with them.

Principal Anderson was then called upon to announce the musical part of the program which was put on by the children of the school under the capable direction of Miss Phyllis May. The program was as follows:

O Valiant Heart, pupils of Miss McPherson and Miss Young; O Canada, (2 parts), pupils of Miss Young; Reaper's Song, (2 parts), pupils of Miss Lockhart; Evening, (3 parts), pupils of the Eighth Grade.

Mrs. H. O. Trusdale thanked Miss May, the pupils and teachers for the fine program on which they had spent so much time.

The president then reported briefly on the Regional Conference which was held in Napanee in October with nine members from the club in attendance. Two of the members, Mrs. Wishart and Mrs. Morden spoke briefly at the conference.

Miss Sheffield's room won the attendance prize for this month.

Living Memorials.

The theme of the meeting was "Citizenship," and Mrs. Finkle was in charge of this part of the proceedings and very capably and graciously spoke on the subject that is of vital interest to every one at this time, "Living Memorials."

Mrs. Finkle said in part "Perhaps it has taken a war to show us just how lucky we are to have been born in Canada—a free country. Hundreds of years ago Great Britain, of which we are an important part, became free and it is this gift which she has given to the world. We have never had to fight for freedom but we have and are now fighting now to retain it. Mrs. Finkle went on to say that the H. and S. members should be good citizens as well as good parents and now that civic elections are near it is the duty of each and every one to go to the polls and cast votes wisely and well so that the council elected to govern the affairs of the city will be comprised of the best and most capable men."

After every war it has been the custom for every town and city to honor its dead by erecting a monument to their memory.

Mrs. Harry Rolling read an editorial from one of Canada's leading newspapers which dealt with the new idea of erecting Living Memorials such as parks, community centres complete with facilities for dancing and sports of all kinds and thus contribute to the health and culture of the city and yet at the same time be a fitting tribute to those who fought and died so that the world would be a better place for man to live.

Already many cities in Canada have formed their citizenship committees and definitely decided what form their war memorial will take."

Mr. Carl Read then told the members the post-war plans of the city of Peterborough, Mr. John Deacon told of the plans of the city of Kingston, and Mr. Hamilton of a park all ready established in Owen Sound which might well be a pattern for a memorial in some town or city.

Peterborough hopes to have a community centre, while Kingston favors the idea of a memorial park.

Mrs. George Wishart gave the results of a nation-wide poll on this subject of Living Memorials. Nine out of ten people across Canada are in favor of a useful memorial. Polls conducted in Great Britain and Australia show the people to be of the same mind.

Members were invited to express their opinions on this important subject and several of those present voiced their thoughts on the matter.

In conclusion Mrs. Finkle said "Whatever is planned, it will indeed be a Living Memorial to the boys who have given their lives that freedom may live."

Mrs. Trusdale then voiced her appreciation and that of the members for the splendid way in which Mrs. Finkle and those assisting her presented their subject.

A social time was enjoyed by the members at the close of the meeting and refreshments were served.

SAFE AND WELL

Campbellford, Nov. 16 — (CP) — J. H. McArthur of Campbellford said last night he had learned through letters from Vancouver and Sacramento, Calif., radio listeners that his son, Rfmn. Fred A. McArthur, 25, taken prisoner by the Japanese at Hong Kong three years ago, was "safe and well."

Annual Formal Deacon Brothers Spinsters' Dance

Navy, Army and Air Force personnel and civilians were well represented at the gala Deacon Brothers' Annual Spinsters' dance at the Trianon Ballroom, on Wednesday evening. The girls, all decked out in their long gowns in colorful hues dancing with their escorts wearing the navy blue, the army khaki and the air force blue, presented a delightful scene. The Commodores Orchestra, featured band for the occasion, "gave out" with popular musical numbers in soft and swing tempo.

The Deacon Dee Bee Workers' Agency was responsible for the dance, and the entertainment committee under the direction of Miss Margaret Meeks had arranged it. It was a splendid success with a crowd of music and dance lovers numbering close to two hundred couples jamming the dance hall for the affair.

Mr. Bill VanTassel acted as master of ceremonies for the program, and conducted several prize dances which were enthusiastically received. Winners of the spot dances were Arlie Gilbert and Tony Manganelle; Doreen Cunningham and Fred Buckley and Mr. and Mrs. Fry. Betty Sharland and Carl Shibanshy won the elimination dance number.

Hats, horns and streamers were given out at midnight which added considerably to the gay and festive atmosphere of the party.

St. Andrew's Bazaar In Yuletide Finery Is Successful Event

Yuletide decorations of red, white and green comprised the dominating color scheme for the St. Andrew's Bazaar in the Sunday School Hall of the church on Wednesday afternoon. The traditional Christmas finery added to the gaiety of the atmosphere, and formed a perfect setting for a most successful afternoon. The treasurer reported highly gratifying results realized from the occasion.

The guests were received by Mrs. J. G. Hornsby and Mrs. J. Wilson, president of the St. Andrew's Guild.

Convener of the entire affair was Mrs. D. Fleming, and the conveners of the tea table were Mrs. V. Douglas and Mrs. J. B. Boyce.

The tea table was spread with an ivory lace cloth, centred with a crystal bowl of Winter White baby 'mums and flanked with tall red tapers in crystal candelabra. It was presided over by Mrs. L. L. Moore, Mrs. A. McGee, Mrs. D. A. Marshall and Mrs. A. Gillin. Several members of the Guild acted as serviteurs.

Convening the apron booth was Mrs. Bruce Beavis; the home-cooking, Mrs. W. Mantle; the children's wear, Mrs. J. Goodfellow; potted plants, Miss Jessie Hay; novelties, Mrs. K. S. Hill; fish pond, Mrs. A. L. Hill.

Responsible for the lovely decorations were Mrs. G. Wallbridge and Mrs. J. Goodfellow.

Treasurers for the afternoon were Mrs. J. F. Hill and Miss Hazel Beaumont.

CARMEL Y.P.U.

The regular meeting of the Carmel Y.P.U. was held on November eighth with Mr. Earle Dafoe leading in the worship service.

Douglas Ross read the Scripture and Rev. Mr. Trumpour led in prayer.

After the business was discussed, a hymn "He Leadeth Me", was sung. Mr. Dafoe gave a talk on Leadership Training, followed by a service for installation of officers led by Rev. Mr. Trumpour.

Following the hymn "O, Jesus I Have Promised", the Mispah benediction was repeated.

Byron Brownson had charge of the games.

RAWDON

Miscellaneous Shower Is Given Mr., Mrs. J. Bailey

Rawdon.—Mount Pleasant church hall was the scene of a happy gathering Thursday evening, when over one hundred and fifty guests gathered from Mount Pleasant community and Wellman's district with a number of relatives in attendance to honor Mr. and Mrs. James Bailey with a miscellaneous shower.

Rev. T. P. Townsend was master of ceremonies and led in several numbers of community singing with Mrs. Carleton Potts at the piano.

Mrs. Percy MacMullen gave a reading "Betty at the Baseball Game". The Summers family contributed two musical numbers on piano, guitar and harmonica.

Mrs. Burton Morton gave "The Wife Hunting Deacon".

Master Gordon Reid contributed a piano solo.

Mrs. Ira David gave a reading "Mother Tells Her Story".

Miss Lois Weaver rendered a musical selection.

The honored couple were given seats at the front and Miss Muriel Sine read the address which was signed by the friends and neighbors at Mount Pleasant, Annie Thrasher, Muriel Sine, Irene Potts and Edna Hubble.

James and Helen both graciously replied thanking their friends for all their kindness. They then proceeded to unwrap the large array of gifts which included china, glass, granite and several gifts of money. "For they are Jolly Good Fellows" closed a happy evening and all wished the newlyweds much happiness.

Personals.

Friends at Mount Pleasant were very sorry to hear of the death of Mrs. George Leach, of Dryden, formerly, Miss Minnie McMullen of Anson.

IS THAT PALE YOUNG GIRL YOUR DAUGHTER?

Parents should not ignore the depressed moods, the listless, tired air, the pallor, headaches, fickle appetite—the crying spells—so many daughters exhibit during those years when they are passing into womanhood.

If her health at this stage is not maintained by a sufficiency of good rich blood, all kinds of weaknesses may arise to make her later life unhappy.

So should you notice any of these disturbing signs in your daughter, lose no time. Get some Dr. Williams Pink Pills at your druggist. They are wonderfully effective in helping to build up iron-impoverished blood and have helped to transform thousands and thousands of sickly, pale daughters suffering from simple anemia into happy active girls full of vitality and high spirits, hungry for meals, glad to help with the housework, attractive to others. Right now simple anemia may be undermining the strength and resistance your daughter needs so badly. Don't wait — get Dr. Williams Pink Pills today.

WORK OF "V-1," NOW "V-2'S" IN ACTION

Here is a scene from the British Ministry of Information film "V-1," "the robot bomb" which is pointed up in today's news by the revelation by Prime Minister Churchill that the Germans have been hurling giant explosive-laden rockets, their touted V-2 bombs, through the stratosphere against England for the past few weeks. In this picture civil defence workers extricate V-1 victims from the wreckage of a house hit by a robot bomb.

THOMASBURG

Presentation Made By Neighbors

Thomasburg — About one hundred friends and neighbors of this community gathered at the Oddfellows' Hall on Thursday evening to honor one more of the young men who has donned the khaki in the person of Pte. Russell Wood, who is enjoying leave with his wife and two children. Pte. Wood is well known in this vicinity having been employed for a number of years here. The Rev. Bernard Heywood, pastor of the United Church, was chosen to act as chairman and led in several rounds of community singing before inviting the honored guest to the platform. He also called Mr. Edward Richardson and Mr. Ernest Morton to the platform. Edward read an appropriate address expressing the good wishes of all present for a speedy victory and God's blessing. Mr. Ernest Morton presented Russell with a wristwatch for which he expressed his sincere thanks in a few well-chosen words. All joined in singing "For He's a Jolly Good Fellow". Refreshments were served and a social time spent after which dancing was enjoyed.

Doubly Useful

WHEN you open a can of Irradiated Carnation Milk, what you pour out is a double-concentrated milk for use in recipes calling for cream, and for creaming coffee, fruits and cereals.

For milk recipes, just take half Carnation and half water. There you have whole milk consistency and full food value. Grand for drinking, too... chilled nicely, of course.

Carnation is just whole milk with part of the natural water taken out. Sterilized so that it keeps indefinitely unopened... homogenized for creamy smoothness and Irradiated for extra "sunshine" vitamin D. Write for free illustrated cook book. Carnation Co. Ltd., Toronto, Ontario.

BIG LAKE TONNAGE

Cleveland, Nov. 16. (AP)—Great Lakes movement of war commodities to Nov. 1 soared to a total of 146,540,964 net tons—over 7,500,000 tons more than at any similar period in history—the Lake Carriers' Association announced today.

The Association also reported 48,090,901 tons of coal were delivered to the first of the final month of shipping.

"Represented in these totals is an assurance of an all-time record movement of coal", said L. C. Sabin, Vice President, "plus the greatest volume in grain shipments since 1928".

Sabin said a total of 457,229,308 bushels were delivered to date with the figure likely to surpass the half billion market for the season.

Sidney Township To Remember Boys Serving Overseas

Fighting "over there" are approximately 250 of the youth of Sidney Township.

These young men and women, the greater majority of whom were engaged in one of the Dominion's most important industries, agriculture, reckoned not the cost. They heeded the call of Empire and today are in the uniform of the Navy, Army and Air Force.

Behind them, at home, is a sturdy group of Canadians. Sidney Township residents are in this war to its victorious finish, and are sparing no efforts to hasten the victory. This has been exemplified many times in the generous response of these "good neighbors" to the appeals of urban organizations whether they be patriotic or otherwise. Sidney Township dollars have swelled many a city fund for humanitarian causes.

Over there, Sidney Township lads and lassies are doing their bit. Over here, the home folks are solidly behind them. They have spent their dollars unstintingly. In Victory Loan, Red Cross and other appeals, the people of Sidney have ranked high.

To Be Remembered

Now they are doing a thing that is closest to their hearts. The boys and girls of their township communities are to be remembered, in a way that is a little more than cigarettes and food parcels. Each member of the armed forces hailing from one of Hastings County's banner township is going to receive a lasting memento from the folks back home.

On Saturday, November 18, the Sidney Township Patriotic Association, headed by Mr. W. E. Tummon, will launch an appeal for funds through the medium of a Tag Day. The Committee in charge is composed of M. C. Burgess, Mrs. Clarence Holmes and Mrs. Fred Wilson. Assisting them, besides others, will be other members of the executive, Vice President Col. Roscoe Vanderwater and Treasurer Fred C[illegible]. Mrs. Holmes is secretary of the Association. Headquarters for the day will be installed in the Riggs Garage, Pinnacle Street.

To Hold Tag Day

Urban residents would do well to remember what these people of Sidney have done for them in the past. There is an old adage: "One good turn deserves another" but this is scarcely applicable as the people of this city, long enjoying a reputation of generously contributing to a worthy cause, will not, it is felt, let their rural neighbors "down".

So, remember, Saturday is Sidney Day. Keep up that good neighbor spirit and buy a tag for the gallant lads of the neighboring township who are fighting and dying, even as are the sons of Belleville, so that we shall always have the privilege of being able to buy tags.

British Capture Petrignone West Of Montone River

Rome, Nov. 16 —(AP)— British 8th Army forces have captured Petrignone, a village approximately two miles west of the Montone River south of the Rimini-Bologna highway and six miles southeast of Faenza, Allied headquarters announced today.

Farther west, Polish units of the 8th Army improved their positions north of the Florence-Forli road. The entire highway now is in Allied hands.

No important changes were recorded anywhere along the Allied 5th Army front, although patrols were active on all sectors.

The 8th Army has pushed to the Montone on a wide front west of Forli and north of the strategic route on the southern border of the Po Valley, the announcement said.

Adverse weather caused cancellation of most air activity yesterday, but fighter-bombers hit a few targets in the Italian battle area while a small number of heavy bombers attacked objectives in Southern Austria and Yugoslavia. The M. A. A. F. flew about 350 sorties, from which six planes were missing.

PLANE FAILS TO RETURN

Charlottetown, Nov. 16 — (CP)— An airplane with four men aboard failed to return yesterday after a routing flight from No. 2 Air Navigation School here, the R.C.A.F. announced last night.

Pulp and Paper Industry Seen Best Trade Asset

Montreal, Nov. 16 (CP)—In her pulp and paper industry Canada has her "best and readiest asset for world trade in the period following the war," Charles Vining, President of the Newsprint Association of Canada said in an address here today to the Advertising and Sales Executive Club.

"In its export of newsprint paper, Canada's pulp and paper industry deals with about three-fourths of the newspaper publishers of the United States and in some 40 other countries throughout the world," he said. "What these publishers think about Canada is shaped, in many cases, by their day-to-day acquaintance and experience with Canadian newsprint producers.

"By its conduct and through its reputation, this industry is thus an active participant in Canada's relations with other countries.

"Pulp and paper stands first in employment in Canada and first in total wages, just as it stands first in export value. At least half a million Canadians obtain direct livelihood through the industry. Export revenue amounted to $253,000,000 in 1942, compared with wheat income of $122,000,000 and gold income of $184,000,000."

N.Z. Newspapers Of Monday Reach Montreal Wed. Morning

Montreal, November 16 —(CP)— Newspapers which went on sale in Wellington, New Zealand Monday were being distributed in Montreal at breakfast time today. Servicemen and civilians who were in the Antipodes Monday morning were set down in Ottawa and Washington before noon today.

Air passengers from Australia, after breakfast in Montreal, were on their way over the North Atlantic to Britain, where they are due to arrive soon after midnight.

Troop mail and official letters posted in Australia up to last Sunday, were being delivered in Ottawa, Montreal and Washington this afternoon, and a ton of troop-mail from Australia will be delivered to servicemen and women in Britain tomorrow.

23,500-Mile Journey.

Such were the results of the conclusion today of the first round-flight trip of the new Pacific air service of the Royal Air Force Transport Command. The famous Liberator Commando arrived here after a journey of 23,500 miles, completed in four days, 16 hours and 10 minutes flying time.

The flight inaugurated a Canada-Australia service which will operate several times weekly in each direction and will have connections at Montreal for Great Britain and Cairo.

The regular route is the longest single air route in the world.

On the way back on the opening trip, Air Commodore Griffith Powell, C.B.E., senior air staff officer of the R.A.F.T.C. set a record for the more than 10,000 miles from Wellington to Montreal for a journey of this distance—48 hours and 44 minutes, or an average of better than 200 miles an hour.

When the famous Liberator left Fiji and Canton, it was springtime. She hit summer over the equator, but from Honolulu onwards it was autumn, gradually merging into the early winter of Canada.

The Commando carried 20 passengers and a maximum load of urgent war freight.

Increased Rates For Use of Music In Broadcasts Asked

Ottawa, Nov. 16 —(CP)— Increased rates for the use of copyright music by radio stations is asked by the Canadian Performing Rights Society in a schedule filed with State Secretary McLarty and published in the Canada Gazette.

Broadcast Music Incorporated, Canada, Ltd., in its schedule expresses readiness to stand by the 1944 rates, but says if there is to be a change it applies for one quarter of the total amount paid by radio stations. The American Performing Rights Society, which first entered the Canadian field last year, asked for increased rates.

Radio stations and other interested parties have until Dec. 9 to file objections. Hearings will then be arranged by the Copyright Board.

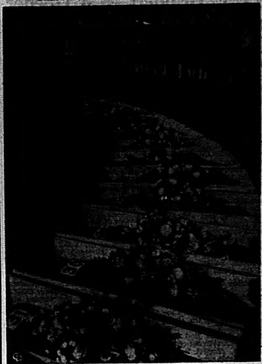
The Canadian Performing Rights Society asks for a total of $247,926 from radio stations, which amounts to 14 cents a licensed receiving set. This compares with $138,310 authorized last year on the basis of eight cents a set.

WILL ASK SERVICEMEN NOT TO ASK FOR MATCHES

Ottawa, Nov. 16 — (CP)—As part of the campaign to discourage the sending of matches in mail to forces overseas, notices are being inserted in army newspapers overseas advising servicemen not to ask for matches, Defence Headquarters said today.

The notices say that several mail fires have already destroyed large quantities of overseas letters and parcels and describe steps being taken to prosecute senders who include matches in their overseas parcels.

MASS BURIAL FOR CLEVELAND DEAD



Sixty-one nameless dead of the East Ohio Gas Company fire in Cleveland, O., were buried side-by-side in one great circular grave while 2,000 or more mourners stood around in silence . Services for the dead were conducted by leaders of the Catholic, Protestant and Jewish faiths.

White Paper on Labor Allocations.

Mr. Churchill disclosed a government white paper on the subject of manpower allocations would be published today.

Mr. Churchill agreed that he "endorsed the spirit of the remarks" of Nova Scotia-born Capt. Peter Macdonald, Conservative, who said there was considerable feeling in regard to export restrictions and asked the Prime Minister to see that something was done to relax them and so give an opportunity for personal contacts abroad.

Home Secretary Morrison said in reply to a question that exit permits for business trips to Belgium were not being granted because the country was still a military zone.

MONSTROUS CRIMES

New York, Nov. 16 — (CP)—Moscow broadcast a summary last night of "monstrous crimes perpetrated by the Germans in Soviet Latvia" during the Nazis' occupation of the little Baltic state. Many thousands of inhabitants of Riga, the Latvian capital, were said to have been killed — by shooting, burnings, drowning or other means.

THE fight against V.D. is a family affair . . .

A laughing couple, dodging showers of rice . . . fireside . . . garden . . . chubby babies . . .

These are scenes we know and like, because they're part of our lives . . . because they spell happiness . . . contentment.

But we know that these things don't "just happen." They have to be worked for, lived for. Protected, too, because of ever-present dangers which may spoil them.

Venereal Disease is a spoiler. In a cold, relentless way it can kill infants, rob the home of its breadwinner, cripple, destroy. These are not mere possibilities. THEY HAPPEN . . . RIGHT HERE IN CANADA!

But, these things should never happen. They can be prevented.

Young men and women can safeguard their future happiness together by making sure before marriage that V.D. will not blight their plans. A medical examination, including a blood test for syphilis, is a protection no couple can afford to pass up.

The expectant mother, too, may know for sure that her baby will be all she dreamed of. Syphilis in the expectant mother rarely shows outward signs, and it is no respecter of persons. An early check-up by her doctor, including a blood test, is a most essential, yet simple, first step in protecting her baby's health.

Nor must the breadwinner neglect his part. The security of the home depends upon his ability to work regularly and efficiently. Unsuspected syphilis, striking in middle life, may make the head of the home unable to provide for his family. It is wise to KNOW FOR SURE in time. Industrial medical examinations should include a routine confidential blood test.

A blood test should not be looked upon as something unusual. It should be regarded for what it is . . . . a normal safeguard of health, security and happiness.

B.C.I. Gridders Win Opener Beating Albert College 6 to 0 in Tough Struggle

Doug Legate Races 35 Yards for Game's Only Touchdown; Move to Quinte Semi-Final

Playing their season's first game of conventional football coach Les Shiels' Belleville Collegiate Institute gridders downed Albert College 6 to 0 in the latter's campus to earn the right to advance to the semi-finals of the senior Bay of Quinte COSSA conference rugby football championship yesterday.

The game's only score came late in the second half when halfback Doug Legate skirted left end, pivotted twice and galloped 35 yards for the game's only major try, that quarterback Bill Spafford promptly converted by firing a forward pass into Johnny Rollins' open arms behind the Albert line.

Unfavorable Weather.

A sprinkle of fans braved a sharp piercing east wind driven rain, which did much to cramp the style of play shown by the students of both squads. The side wind added difficulties in the first half, that ended without even the resemblance of a score, fumbles featured the game. The side wind also hampered any direct aerial attacks attempted, which was clearly demonstrated in the first half when each squad elected to try but two short flat passes to complete but one each.

Coach Pepper's Albert twelve, who were headed throughout by Avidichuk, used the American "T" formation offensive attack, that was non-productive of large gains as the Church Street "Collegians" repeatedly broke through to smear the homesters behind their own line.

Four Colts.

On the other hand Coach Shiels' "Four Colts"—Lyall, Dodson, Legate and Rollins attempted strong extended lateral passing under the skilful direction of Bill Spafford. Even early in the game the B.C.I. showed more willingness to move out into a wide open offensive gain when Rollins pitched to Lyall for a 20 yard gain, that went for little as Lyall dropped the oval when hit hard going through the Albert line on a first down. Albert fumbles also proved costly, much more than the less-experienced collegians.

It was following an exchange of punts that B.C.I. moved the ball from the mid-field stripe early in the last quarter when Dodson and Spafford combined to turn the trick. When least expected Doug Legate was handed the ball on an extended left end run and while in high gear pivotted sharply around the only two Albert defencemen, romped home to a 35 yard touchdown that was good on the convert and the only score of the game.

Former Student.

One of the spectators of the game was Jerry Spafford, now in the Canadian Merchant Marine, brother of two of the B.C.I. players yesterday. Jerry is a former field day champion at B.C.I. and home on leave.

In winning yesterday the B.C.I. now meet St. Michael's Academy seniors in the Bay of Quinte COSSA semi-finals with the winners ultimately meeting Stirling High School in the conference finals. Neither of the local secondary schools will elect to play-off in the Ontario Interscholastic playdowns this year.

The lineups:

Belleville C.I.: Rollins, Flying wing; Dodson, right half; Legate, centre half; Lyall, left half; W. Spafford, quarter; Carefoot, centre; Marcus, right inside; Miles, left inside; Fradette, right middle; Denton, left middle; McCarthy, right end; Freeman, left end; Alternates, Rose, Diamond, Leale, L. Spafford, Locke, Strachan, Shore, and Wood.

Katan Pins Monahan In Surprise Fall

Fact "Irish Jerry" is Favorite No Doubt Confused Former Mask

Maybe it was the fact he suddenly became the fans' favorite that confused "Irish Jerry" Monahan when he lost to John Katan last night. After all the former Masked Marvel isn't exactly used to being subjected to the wild enthusiasm of favorable comment.

However, Monahan didn't lose before he had appeased the wrath of the patrons at the Hume Arena last night by tearing Referee Bert Maxwell's shirt from his back with the latter putting on what resembled a strip tease in the dying moments.

No doubt Monahan was encouraged by the verbal and physical antics of the patrons, who called upon him to annihilate their hated ring enemy—'Palermo John' Katan. This was well taken as Monahan won the initial round with a series of back-breaker holds that left "Fingers John" hors de combat in a free-for-all affair that saw little wrestling but aplenty of unorthodox grappling throughout.

Dunlop Helps

Katan evened matters in the middle stanza, but it wasn't before Monahan had proved the aggressor and looked to be well on the way to victory with additional back-breakers, when suddenly from the sidelines Al Dunlop, a punk prelim and self-appointed advisor to Katan, raced to the ringside and pulled Monahan's feet from underneath him to give Katan, the opportunist, just that as Palermo John fell upon the prostrate "Irish Jerry" for a fall. In the meantime Referee Maxwell had been floored by the irritated Monahan and upon rising declared Katan the winner and all even. The climax and winning came suddenly in the final round after Monahan had torn Maxwell's shirt off and left him exposed. Quick, like a panther, Katan jumped to the offensive, applied a double reverse leglock that saw Monahan's shoulders pinned and defeated.

"Tunney brought his policeman here to beat me this week. Last week two other wrestlers jumped into the ring when I had Watson beaten. Now I want Watson alone in the ring without a referee or bring in some unbiased official," screamed Katan after beating Monahan last night.

Steals the Show

The semi-final go between Al Dunlop and Tom Collins went 30 minutes to a draw after Collins had hanged and strangled the villainous "Bunny" and left him pleading for mercy on the mat, no doubt wishing he was at home alongside the comforts of a fireside. Dunlop tried his complete repertoire of villainous attacks, but Collins beat 'em off with precision to have the Toronto pudgy man hanging on at the bell.

Mike Dimitre, Montreal, had little difficulty in beating Bill Stack of Toronto in the opener.

Hamilton Wildcats and Balmy Beach Each Contribute Five Members to O.R.F.U. All-Stars

Arnie McWatters and Jack Fraser of Ottawa Included

By FRASER MacDOUGALL
Canadian Press Staff Writer

Toronto, Nov. 16 — (CP) — The deciding game in Toronto Saturday in the Ontario Rugby Football Union's championship play-off will be virtually an all-star contest. The opposing teams — Hamilton Wildcats and Toronto Balmy Beach — each placed five players on the Union's all-star team, announced today.

Two veteran players with Ottawa Trojans — quarterback Arnie McWatters and inside wing George Fraser — crashed the Hamilton-Beach barrier to make places on the team, selected for The Canadian Press by eight coaches and sport writers in the three union cities. The Toronto Indians, who lost all six of their leagues games, are not represented on the team.

McWatters, one-time Sarnia Imperials star, and Hamilton's great halfback, Joe Krol, were the only two players to get unanimous support. Each obtained 24 of a possible 24 points in the voting, "weighted" to give equal voting strength to each Union city.

The team

Flying wing—Sam Sward, Balmy Beach; half—Joe Krol, Hamilton; half—Ross (Red) McKelvey, Balmy Beach; half (secondary defence) — Paul Peterson, Hamilton; quarterback — Arnie McWatters, Ottawa; snap—Dean Griffing, Balmy Beach; inside — Eddie Remegis, Hamilton; inside — George Fraser, Ottawa; middle — Harry Sonshine, Balmy Beach; middle—Abe Zvonkin, Hamilton; outside—Jimmy Fumio, Hamilton; outside—Leo Deadey, Balmy Beach.

Sward, Krol, Remegis, Fraser and Sonshine were all members of the O.R.F.U. all-star team last year. Griffing is making his first appearance on an all-star team in the east. Long a prominent figure in western gridiron circles, he moved to Toronto from Regina this fall. Only member of the 1943 O. R. F. U. all-stars still in the Union who failed to make a place was Jimmy Simpson, Hamilton's 35-year-old outside wing.

Well-balanced Lineup

An all-round backfielder who has figured in all-star selections for years, Sward was the leading choice for both flying wing and defensive half but he took the former position because his support there was more emphatic. McKelvey, who has played brilliant football with Beaches since he returned from Auburn College in Georgia because of selective service regulations, was a strong choice as the halfback mate for Krol. The hard-hitting Peterson, who comes from Kitchener, took the defensive half position by a narrow margin.

The selectors chose a well-balanced lineup with great scoring punch. Eight of its 12 members scored 132 points during the scheduled season, compared with a total of 300 points tallied by all four teams. Krol is the top point-getter with 49. Sward had 22; Fraser, place-kicking artist, was the high-scoring lineman in the Union with 15; McWatters had 14, McKelvey 12, Deadey 10 and Remegis and Sonshine five apiece.

Krol, Sward and McWatters are the best punters in the Union. All three are capable forward-pass throwers. The line is strong defensively and the outsides, Fumio and Deadey, are deadly tacklers. Deadey is an outstanding pass receiver.

Other players mentioned in the voting included: Ace Powell of Ottawa, Jim Cummings of Indians, and Tommy Daley of Ottawa for backfield positions; Len Staughton of Balmy Beach, Bill Zock of Balmy Beach, Susie Turner of Balmy Beach, Bill O'Brera of Hamilton, Leo Seguin of Ottawa, Eric Chipper of Ottawa, Gord Downward of Balmy Beach, Bert Haigh of Ottawa, Al. Leach of Ottawa and Jimmy Simpson of Hamilton for line and outside wing positions.

Clem McCarthy
Ace Reporter on Gillette's Cavalcade of Sports — says:

"A TRIP through the Gillette factory showed me why I always get clean, quick shaves with Blue Gillette Blades. I saw steel hardened in automatically-controlled electric furnaces ... saw the blades sharpened in grinding machines weighing several tons—yet so precise that they are adjustable to 1/10,000 of an inch. So my advice to any man who wants to enjoy shaving is to use Blue Gillette Blades."

Horse Sense Bridge

LESSON NO. 333

By SAM GORDON
The Kibitzer

A good rule in bridge is always in season because it is backed by wisdom and reason. Not always at first are motives apparent. But digging may prove what theory doesn't.

Take an opening bid of two in a suit. It says: "Partner, I have enough to make a game all by myself; or practically so. Help me keep the bidding open until we reach a game."

The question is often asked: "If a two-bidder knows he has a game, why does he not bid it at once? Why force his partner to make bids when such partner may not have anything?"

One reason is that an immediate game bid shows a hand that does not expect to make a game. It is a bid that expects to be defeated. It orders partner to shut up.

In that case, their pair may not reach a slam that could be made easily. Or their pair may not play that deal in their best trump suit. Or they should be in no-trump instead of a suit.

Usually an opening two-bidder has more than one biddable suit. Often he has three biddable suits. Not too seldom he has good support for some suit that partner has length in.

So, suppose the opener starts with an immediate game bid instead of two in a suit. His pair is likely to end in the worst of two suits. Or in the suit least favorably divided.

From any angle you look at it, an opening game bid is undesirable when an opening of two in a suit is present. And the same is true when an opening of three in a suit is available.

Look pleasant at a hand like this:

♠A K Q 5 3
♥A K Q 5 3
♦7
♣7 2

Your correct opening with that hand is two spades. Don't open with four spades or four hearts merely to save partner from bidding. You do not yet know which suit is best for trumps in the end.

Of course, with some dumb partner who refuses to co-operate, you may have to use drastic measures. But if you have to stand for that, you probably look at it across the breakfast table, too.

The partnership part of bridge is what makes it so interesting.

DETROIT WINGS STOP TORONTO WITH 8-4 WIN

Bodnar-Schriner-Carr Line Held Pointless by Backchecking

Toronto, Nov. 16 (CP)—Coach Jack Adams of the Detroit Red Wings seems to have hit upon the formula for victory over the Toronto Maple Leafs in the National Hockey League. The Wings defeated the Leafs 8-4 last night for the second time this season.

Leafs still hold the league leadership but now they only have a two-point margin over the Canadiens.

Adams' victory recipe seems to consist of tying up the Bodnar-Schriner-Carr line which carried the Leafs to their previous six wins. They failed to get a scoring point Sunday night in Detroit and they were muzzled again last night by consistent backchecking.

Bill (Flash) Hollett was the sparkplug of the Detroit attack last night. The big defenceman scored two unassisted goals and his defensive play was of a high order. Rookie Steve Wochy was the top Detroit point-getter, however, with one goal and two assists. Other goals were tallied by Brunsteau, Jud McAtee, Carl Liscombe, Harold Jackson and Don Grosso. Howe, Murray Armstrong and Grosso had an assist apiece.

Ted (Teeter) Kennedy, the 18-year-old native of Port Colborne, Ont., was the chief Toronto offensive threat. He scored two goals in 30 seconds of the third period and assisted on another by Bob Davidson. Bill Ezinicki collected three assists. Nick Metz got the other Toronto goal, assisted by Mel Hill.

HULL VOLANTS BEAT OTTAWA

Ottawa, Nov. 16 —(CP)— Cliff Maundrell tipped home a goal 17 seconds before the end of regulation play to bring Hull Volants a 5-4 decision over Ottawa Commandos in a Quebec Senior Hockey League tussle here last night.

The goal carried Bob Guertin's puckmen to their initial triumph in the Q.S.H.L. starts but they blew a three-goal lead before making the grade.

A pair of tallies by Joffre Seguin and another by Maurice Bastien sent Hull away with a 3-0 edge in the opening period. They yielded one counter to Commandos in the middle session, Emile Dagenais scoring, then saw their margin wiped out in the closing frame.

Overtime appeared a certainty until Rod Lorrain started the winning play, rifling the disc to Tremblay, one of the three new players appearing with Volants, who passed to Maundrell for the goal.

Johnny Muretich sparked the Commando third-period bid. Jake Dunlap opened the scoring in this period, then Edgar Mentzel put Hull up again before Muretich helped Marcel Thuot set the stage for a goal by Billy Thompson and scored himself.

BEQUEATHED BODY

Los Angeles, Nov. 16 —(AP)— A wealthy woman who died from a strange malady bequeathed her body to science to study the disease—and left a doctor $250,000 to implement his studies, it was disclosed in the will of Miss Edith Clawson, filed for probate yesterday. Dr. E. F. F. Copp of the Scripps Metabolic Clinic in La Jolla was named the chief beneficiary. He had treated her for several years for a glandular disorder.

EARLY ON THE JOB

By the second week of invasion a Canadian Spitfire wing was operating a full-fledged airfield in Normandy.

BUFFALO BISONS DEFEAT HORNETS

Pittsburgh Hornets suffered their fourth straight set back last night at Buffalo when the Bisons, paced by blonde Doug Lewis, scored a 5-3 victory over the American Hockey League western division leaders. The victory for Buffalo forced a two-team deadlock atop the eastern division of the league, both Buffalo and Hershey Bears having 13 points.

Lewis, back in hockey after a year in the Royal Canadian Navy, scored once in the second period and twice in the third. George Pargeter and Eddie Emerton scored the other Buffalo goals while Bob Walton counted twice for Pittsburgh with Max Kaminsky scoring the third counter. Haldetson provided three assists for Buffalo.

HOCKEY PLAYER PRISONER OF WAR

Calgary, Nov. 16 —(CP)— Bobby Carse, 26-year-old Edmonton-born hockey player, is a prisoner of war in Germany, according to information received in a letter from England. He had previously been reported missing.

Carse played part of the 1939 season with Rhode Island Reds of Providence and later performed with Kansas City and Chicago Black Hawks. He played left wing with the Currie Army Club a year ago, and also held down left field for the Army Club in the Foothills baseball league.

AT THE CAPITOL — Redskins and Renegades have Charles Starrett in a bad spot in this scene from Columbia's rousing new western, "Riding West," now on the screen of the Capitol Theatre. The added hit "Two Senoritas from Chicago," stars Joan Davis and Jinx Falkenburg.

What's Doing in Sport

By The Canadian Press

Eddie Brunsteau, left winger of Quebec Aces of the Quebec Senior Hockey League, is on his way to Detroit and Jack Adams' Red Wings. Eddie, 26, is a brother of Modere (Mud) Bruneteau, veteran Detroit winger. He is the fifth member of the Aces, Allan Cup holders, to be called to N. H. L. ranks this season. Ludo Check is with Chicago Black Hawks, Nils Tremblay with Montreal Canadiens and Gino Rossini and Armand Gaudreault with Boston Bruins.

The Hippodrome de Las Americas, Mexico City Race Track, announced yesterday that it will establish the "international special," open to horses from Britain, the United States, Mexico, Argentina and Chile after the war.

New York's 1944 racing season, which ended yesterday with the conclusion of an extra nine-day victory meeting for war relief, saw a total of $410,230,402 pass through the pari-mutuel machines over a span of 189 racing days, an average of $2,170,531.22 a day. Attendance and breakage, both subject to an official checkup later came to 4,496,788 and $3,230,294 respectively.

When Detroit Red Wings scored three goals in 26 seconds in the third period of their National Hockey League game against Maple Leafs at Toronto last night, they came within four seconds of equalling a league record established by Montreal Maroons against New York Rangers March 15, 1932, when Dave Trottier, Hooley Smith and Babe Siebert scored a goal apiece in 24 seconds during the last minute of play. Maroons won that game 4-3. Detroit won last night 8-4.

Joe Bretto, former Chicago Black Hawks defenceman purchased Tuesday by Cleveland Barons of the American Hockey League, reported for the Barons' practice yesterday and then suddenly left the locker room to entrain for his home in Hibbing, Minn. President Al Sutphin of the Barons called Bretto's exit "a complete surprise." Coach Fred (Bun) Cook said after talking with Bretto that the defenceman apparently decided if he couldn't remain in the N. H. L. this season he wouldn't play at all.

Sport Roundup

(By HUGH FULLERTON, JR.)
(Associated Press Sport Writer)

New York, Nov. 16. (AP)—After trimmings by Navy an Army, Ed McKeever still thinks his Notre Dame team could play Ohio State on about even terms.

Today's Guest Star.

Lynn C. Doyle, Philadelphia Evening Bulletin: "The Penn team still has a chance to survive against Army if the coach will swallow his pride and trade all the V-12's and V-7's (Army and Navy College students) to the Nazis for one of those V-2 gadgets."

Headline Headliner.

Headline in New York paper: "Loh, Eli quarterback, is down with mumps". . . . Laid Loh, no doubt.

Sports Before Your Eyes.

Shorty McWilliams, Mississippi State's freshman star, has a kid brother, Billy, playing for Meridan, Miss., High. He's only 15 and weighs 140 but he's already a good passer and runner. . . The Western Association Baseball Club owners are none too hopeful about resuming operations in 1945 because they don't think there'l be gas for bus travel. But they expect to be all set with an eight-club league for '46. . . . Johnny Bulla has played golf with Bobby Jones thirty times in recent weeks when his airline piloting took him to Atlanta and Johnny has lost only once.

AT THE McCARTHY — Starred in Paramount's Technicolor film "Bahama Passage," now at the McCarthy Theatre, are lovely Madeleine Carroll and Stirling Hayden. The second hit features Al Pearce in "Here Comes Elmer."

GYPSY BLOOD

By MARGARET NORRIS

CHAPTER TEN

He was rightfully named, that was certain. He was built like a block of cement, his squareness accentuated by his shortness for he was barely as tall as herself—one of nature's noblemen, cut off six inches too soon. Otherwise the welter weight championship might have hung in the balance of his mighty fists. But the flaming red hair was compensating; it forced one to notice him. It was as though Nature, in atonement for her penurious gift in his longitudinal measurement, had crowned him with a fiery halo which, unruly as a bit of brush hedge, increased his stature a good two inches and kept the eye focussing upward.

Anna, acustomed to the dapper elegance of Fifth Avenue clerks and floormen suffered a slight disappointment. But one cannot expect too much in what is called a "blind date." She was lucky to have any partner at all.

Greta's man, Ed, she had met before. Ed was a typical shiek with natty clothes and patent leather hair—almost fragile, he looked, besides Stocky.

So now that they were all acquainted, old friends if one might judge by the familiar way Stocky took her arm to rush her across the street.

"We ain't wastin' no time on a movie 'cause I got a car parked over here, see."

The car was rather battered and war worn, a two seater that had seen better days it was the first one in which Anna had ever ridden and to her it was a limousine. She forgot that Stocky, as a cavalier, left something to be desired. Her spirits and hopes for the party rose like mercury in the sun.

They rattled northward and eastward over the Queensborough bridge, the car trembling from hood to bumper as Stocky stepped on the gas. He defied the hazards of traffic with the calm assurance of one who knows he himself can stop a truck—why worry about anything else? Anna saw stars (and also stripes) as they made everyone else eat their dust.

"Where are we now?" she found breath to ask.

"Long Island, Kid," said her driver.

Long Island! Oh, the swank of that word! It suggested sloping terraces with beautiful ladies feeding swans and drinking tea with handsome gentlemen all dressed like picture books. But what Anna saw looked no different from Twelfth Street near the docks. Perhaps the beautiful part was still to come. Anyway motoring was exciting.

Stocky made the journey even more hazardous by removing one hand from the steering wheel to grip Anna's, possessively. She tried to pull hers away but Stocky's grip was reminiscent of his hand-shake. It was some time since a man had held her hand but the sensation was distinctly unpleasant.

He squeezed her wrist where the bracelet was.

"Ouch!" said Anna. "Keep your hands on the wheel!"

Feeling the bracelet, Stocky pulled her wrist toward the light. "Some jools you got there, kid."

Anna grew suddenly self conscious, wishing she had left the bracelet at home. He slipped his arm around her waist but she wriggled neatly away.

"Aw, don't get sore, kid; be a sport."

So there they went, clattering along at break neck speed with only one hand on the wheel—With a grand flourish Stocky whirled the car around and brought it to a clattering stand still. It choked and died in a death rattle.

"Wake up, youse two back there!"

He opened the rear door and Greta emerged, trig and fresh as a mannequin, her eyes lit up by the langorous look she always wore when with men. Then Stocky helped out Anna who breathed a sigh of relief that thus far at least they were safe.

The house they were facing was like all the others in the block, dingy grey stone with few lights. Stocky started leading the way down a flight of mysterious basement steps. The atmosphere was spooky; it made Anna cringe.

"Where are we going?" she asked.

"Oh, just to a little trick place I know where good sports can get a drink."

Stocky's red hair was the pass word through the carefully barred door. Inside it was scarcely brighter for the room was candle-lit, with couples seated at little tables here and there throughout the gloom. Their host led them to one of these tables, square with a red checked cloth—not quite as immaculate as it might have been, even by candle light.

"White rock" said Stocky to the waiter, with a wink at Ed and the girls as though to order white rock were the wickedest thing in the world.

Just then the orchestra, heretofore unseen, struck up a lively tune. Stocky grabbed Anna by the elbows, lifted her off her feet and begun gyrating about the room with Anna tucked under one arm.

There was little rhythm to Stocky's dancing and it was Anna's very first whirl in any terpsichorean rites. She had no idea what her feet were doing but, whatever it was, it bore no relation to the movements of Stocky's feet. But he pulled her around, now this way, now that, leaving her breathless by his speed and the sheer violence of his embrace. He made her feel like a feather—a feather with feet of clay that interfered painfully with the feet of everyone else on the floor. Especially with Stocky's feet.

"Some dancer, kid!" he shouted above the tumult of the music and the crowd, for the floor was now filled with dancers, whirling madly as themselves.

"Look out, you're exceeding the speed limit!"

It was Greta and Ed who spoke. They were sailing by, light as two leaves in the breeze, in perfect unison. How many hours of sheer agony must she spend to learn to dance like that?

Anna was rather relieved when the music stopped. Dancing was exciting but devastating. Her knees were shaking but her eyes were bright when she joined the others at the table, where now stood white rock, a bowl of cracked ice and four tall empty glasses.

From an ample pocket of his ample clothes Stocky extracted a flask. Glasses were filled and clinked on high.

"Here's to her!" said Anna's new partner.

She, too, it semed, was expected to drink. It was smart to drink in America but to her, a child of the old world, it carried a different meaning. She thought of her father and the big drunken Pole who used to come to their tenement room. She tried to swallow a mouthful but choked and grew red in the face.

"Baby!" said Greta scornfully.

Stocky patted her affectionately on the back. "Sure she's a baby. My baby!" He pinched her bare arm where the bracelet gleamed. It was an arm to show off a jewel, softly rounded and not dead white like the arms of most little shop girls in New York, but a golden tan, still stained by the kiss of far away suns of Poland.

"Just look at the jools my baby wears!"

Anna wished she could hide the bracelet. Why had she worn it to a dive like this? What if anything should happen? Why hadn't she turned it in at the store.

The clinking of glasses continued and each time the music struck up Stocky tossed her a little higher in the whirling maelstrom of the dance. His face grew so red it matched his hair and his talk grew incoherent. The other dancers were equally boisterous, kissing each other in the middle of the dance, shouting and stamping and singing. Anna had quite enough for one night. And Stocky must drive them home—Stocky who already was wavering uncertainly on his feet!

Had "Nerves"! Couldn't Sleep

Tells How Syntona Helped Her

Says She Felt Definitely Better After First Bottle, Wouldn't Be Without it Now; Condition Followed Long Period of Stomach Suffering, Constipation, Headaches and Dizzy Spells.

Nervousness and sleeplessness are among the most distressing symptoms of a rundown condition of the system. The causes are often so elusive that it is difficult to get any one to understand that there is any real cause for complaint. To make matters worse, the sufferer must often listen to much useless advice from others who were never really sick in their whole lives, while some will even suggest that the condition is just imagination. But those who have experienced this condition know that it is very real indeed. Syntona has proved highly beneficial in many such cases. Here, for example, is the experience of Mrs. Thomas McKay, 28 Mayflower Ave., Hamilton, as reported recently:

"For years I suffered with stomach trouble, biliousness and constipation and then my nerves got so bad I couldn't sleep. Gas from my stomach crowded into my chest and caused palpitation and shortness of breath. After meals, sour liquids would rise from my stomach and give me a burning feeling in my throat and chest. When walking around, dizzy spells came over me, spots floated before my eyes and I would usually end up with a splitting headache.

"But I wasn't taking Syntona long before I could tell it was helping my stomach and soon I got so I could digest hearty meals without all that gas, acidity and indigestion. Then my nerves became relaxed so I could get a good night's sleep. I arise mornings now feeling fully rested, whereas I used to feel fatigued and depressed right from the beginning of each day. I am free of dizzy spells and headaches, my complexion has improved and I feel more healthy and happy in every way."

Go to DOLAN THE DRUGGIST, Belleville, and find out how Syntona can help you, too.

32,000 Aircraft Workers Return

Patterson, N.J., Nov. 16 (AP) — Wright Aeronautical Corporation employees streamed back to work today to make B-29 Superfortress engines as a union of 1,900 supervisors, bowing to a United States War Labor Board order, ended a strike which had made 32,000 idle and stopped production at the company's five plants in this area for three days.

Normal output was expected to be reached some time today.

The strike ended when the W.L.B. promised the Wright Aircraft Supervision Association speedy consideration of the members' claimed grievances on conditions they call off the walkout.

German Prepares Nazis For Fall of Metz; Sees Winter Show-Down

London, Nov. 16 — (AP) — A German radio commentator, Martin Hallensleben, predicted today this winter would bring a "show-down" in the European war.

He also began preparing the home-front for the fall of Metz.

"The Metz area is by no means a key German position of the German west defences, even if a break-through here would have serious consequences," he said.

Hallensleben said that there were "certain indications that both the air war and the sea war will see new surprising developments this winter." He did not elaborate.

WIFE INFORMED HUSBAND MISSING

Brantford, Nov. 16 —(CP)— Flt.-Sgt. Kenneth (Ebby) Edmison, R.C.A.F., former hockey and baseball star with Brantford teams, is reported missing his wife was informed today. R.C.A.F. officials informed Mrs. Edmison that German sources report her husband as killed in action Oct. 9.

He enlisted in the R.C.A.F. in June, 1943, and went overseas in March of this year.

TORONTO STOCK EXCHANGE

Toronto, Nov. 16 — (CP) — A moderate index gain was registered by the industrials and the mining groups and western oils were lower on Toronto exchange at noon today. Volume was comparatively small at 235,000 shares for the first three hours.

McKenzie Red Lake dipped to 1.55 on the news that the last quarter dividend would be passed and other soft spots in the gold list were Buffalo-Ankerite, Frobisher, Giant Yellowknife, Cochenour Willans, East Malartic, Preston and Aunaque.

Noranda and Smelters were down 1/4 to 1/2 and Lake Dufault weakened 12 cents and then recovered most of the decline. Steep Rock at 2.64 was down a cent.

The stronger industrial groups included the liquors, senior oils, foods and utilities. Hiram Walker gained a point and Hunt's added a point. Aluminium weakened 3 points to 92.

TORONTO LIVESTOCK

Toronto, Nov. 16 —(CP)— Cattle trade was slow on the livestock market here up to mid-session today. A few weighty steers were steady at $9.50-$11.75, common to medium steers steady $8-$10 and butcher cows steady $7.50-$8.75.

A few heavy calves sold steady at $7-$11.

Lambs were steady on a few sales at $12.50-$13 good ewes and wethers and $11.50-$12 bucks with culls mostly $7.

Sheep were steady at $1.50-$4.

Hogs were steady at Grade A dressed $17.85 with sows $13 dressed.

Receipts reported by the Dominion Marketing Service were: Cattle 160, calves 10, hogs 150, sheep and lambs 130. Unsold from yesterday were 4,800 head of cattle and 4,300 sheep and lambs.

HOGS

Toronto, Nov. 16 —(CP)— Prices were unchanged at bacon-hog markets reporting early today. Dressedweight, Grade A, delivered, Hamilton and London $17.50; Stratford, to farmers 17.40, to truckers $17.55; Barrie and Hull $17.40.

Malcolm MacDonald 'May Be Recalled'

London, Nov. 16 — (CP Cable) — The Daily Sketch, in an article by its political correspondent published today, said there is a possibility that Malcolm MacDonald, United Kingdom High Commissioner to Canada, "May be recalled" as a result of his recent speech referring to the political situation in Britain.

The story said the speech "is viewed in higher circles in London as cutting across a long-standing tradition," adding:

"Even when the High Commissioner is a Member of Parliament he is not expected to give expression to purely political points of view."

The Glasgow Herald carried an interview this week with Mr. MacDonald's election agent in which the agent said the High Commissioner has "intimated" to the executive of the National Labor Party his decision to resign his Ottawa post at the end of the year.

In his recent speech, Mr. MacDonald, National Labor member of the House of Commons for Ross and Cromarty, predicted that Foreign Secretary Eden "most likely" would be the next British Prime Minister, and that Herbert Morrison, Home Secretary Minister, or Ernest Bevin, Labor Minister, would be Prime Minister if the Labor party won the next election.

Three Appearing Found Not Guilty

Four Tyendinaga Township youths including a juvenile appeared in County Police Court before Magistrate J. L. Lloyd today charged with using insulting language against George Maracle of Shannonville. Of the quartette, three were found not guilty while a fourth, George Baptiste, admitted making insulting statements and was fined $10.25, including costs. Those to have the charge dismissed were John Baptiste, Tom Green and a 15-year-old Tyendinaga Reserve lad. Mr. Maracle, who preferred the charges personally, conducted the prosecution of the case.

Norman Hurry of Toronto, was arraigned on two charges of violations to the Wartime Prices Board namely of being in possession of gasoline coupons that were not properly marked and were also loose. Hurry was assessed ten dollars and costs on each of the two counts. Charles A. Payne K.C., appeared for the accused, while E. O. Butler acted as special Board prosecutor.

Wounded Arrive In Toronto

Toronto, Nov. 16. (CP)—A group of more than 100 officers and men arrived in Toronto today from the Hospital Ship Lady Nelson.

A description of their reception on the Normandy Beaches on D-Day proved too much for Rfmn. Frank Phelps, of Oshawa, who said the hail of mortar and machine gun fire was "pretty hot". He was blown up by a mortar bomb while attacking an airfield in France with the Queen's Own Regiment.

A German bomb blew a ladder from under Sgmn. Malcolm Rowat, 26, of Elmvale, serving in France with the lines of Communication Corps of Signals.

Democratic House Has 53 Majority

Washington, Nov. 16 —(AP)— A Democratic House of Representatives plurality of 53 members over Republicans was shown today in a complete unofficial roster compiled from the Nov. 7 election in the United States.

The lineup in the new House convening Jan. 3 (barring the possibility that late soldier vote counts may switch some districts) will be:

Democrats 243; Republicans 190; Progressive 1; American Labor 1.

This compares with the margin of two the Democrats held over Republicans when they went into the election.

CARDINAL VILLENEUVE RETURNING BY BERMUDA

Montreal, Nov. 16 — (CP) — Cardinal Villeneuve, Archbishop of Quebec, now travelling by air to Canada from England, is taking a route by way of the Azores and Bermuda. He is expected to reach Bermuda tonight.

Cardinal Villeneuve has visited the Vatican and Canadian troops overseas.

BERLIN RADIO ANNOUNCES BULGAR-JAP BREAK

London, Nov. 16 — (CP) — The Berlin radio announced today a break in diplomatic relations between Bulgaria and Japan. It said the Japanese minister in Sofia left with his staff for Istanbul.

Alta. Beet Crop To Yield 55,000 Tons of Sugar

Lethbridge, Alta., Nov. 16 (CP)—Southern Alberta is pouring about 1,000,000 pounds of sweetness daily into the sugar bowls of Canadians as processing of the most valuable crop of sugar beets ever grown in the province continues on a round-the-clock basis at both the Raymond and Picture Butte factories.

Each plant is processing about 1,500 tons of beets daily and the factory campaigns are expected to extend well into January. Both factories started operations late in September, shortly after harvesting of beets started.

Harvesting of the crop of 335,000 tons of beets from 29,000 acres was completed early this month and practically all beets now have been delivered for processing, sugar extraction from the crop is expected to approach 110,000,000 pounds.

Beets now going through the processing plants are averaging 18 per cent in sugar content and general feeling is that growers will receive in the neighborhood of $11.50 a ton for their 1944 beets.

NO POLITICAL SIGNIFICANCE

Madrid, Nov. 16 (AP)—A Spanish government spokesman said today the occupation of Andorra by French gendarmes was "a simple police measure, with absolutely no political significance."

Finds Lost Lighter On German Prisoner

Peterboro, Nov. 16 (CP) — It's a small world to Tpr. Ross Baker of nearby Norwood, who is serving with a tank unit in Belgium.

His cigarette lighter was lost or stolen in England in June. Engraved with his name, number and tank crest, it was discovered when he was searching a group of German prisoners captured in Belgium. It is believed the German had taken the lighter from a Canadian prisoner.

PICTON

Dayton Wark To Head Kinsmen For Coming Year

Picton, Nov. 15 — When late returns from the Victory Loan drive in Prince Edward County were tabulated yesterday, it was found that a total of $1,368,700 had been subscribed by all divisions. The overall objective was $1,180,000. Subscriptions in the sixth loan amounted to $1,270,250. Applications in this loan numbered 4,142, there being 101 more civilian applications than in the last loan.

In the last two loans, Prince Edward County people have subscribed for $2,119,300 in bonds, and as well the armed services took $494,650. This is considered an outstanding record for a purely agricultural district.

Kinsmen Elect Officers

At a meeting of the Kinsmen Club Tuesday night, Dayton Wark was elected president for the coming year, by acclamation. He succeeds William A. Branscombe. T.J. Bourke was re-elected secretary and Chas. Lewis, treasurer. Directors will be elected later. It was announced that Flight Lieut. J. Bennett, RAF, a charter member, who is returning to England, has donated a trophy to be presented annually to the member considered most valuable to the club.

Hear General Anderson

Laymen of Prince Edward County, Belleville and Adolphustown parishes of the Anglican Church, held their annual meeting in Picton, Tuesday night, 80 attending. Brig. General W. B. Anderson, Kingston, urged that laymen get behind their church and assist in improving attendance, and giving support to the Sunday Schools. Officers elected were: Hon. President J. A. Maher, Picton; President, Arthur W. Simpson, Belleville; R. D. Leavitt, Wellington, vice president; Lorne Vaughan, Belleville, secretary. Delegates moved to attend the Diocesan Council of Laymen in Kingston on Saturday are A. W. Simpson, Major J. Medhurst and George Ross, Picton. A musical program was given and refreshments served.

Legion Has Banquet

The annual Remembrance day banquet was held at the Legion hall Tuesday night with members of Post 78 entertaining the Ladies Auxiliary and friends. The men were responsible for the entire event. WO. Ed. Bateson ably presided. Miss Ruby Lockyer was at the piano for a singsong, S. G. Lockyer gave cornet solos, FO. James Scott vocal solos, while several guests were called on for remarks. Sq. Leader Maguire and FO. Scott expressed appreciation of the hospitality shown members of the RAF during their stay in Picton.

To Appear on Radio

Oscar A. Burley is to be guest on the radio program, Ontario Panorama, originating in Toronto Thursday night. He will be interviewed concerning his work as 'Santa Claus.' Though 82 years of age, he is still hale and hearty and daily is at his workshop. He had turned out a great number of children's toys, which find ready sale when those from regular channels are not available. He has also manufactured many other articles, all from wood. He has filled several contracts for Toronto firms.

SIX ALLIED ARMIES GAIN ON 400-MILE FRONT

2,000,000 Men Locked in Battle For Great Stakes

13,000 Tons Explosives Used To Open Passageway

By WILLIAM FRYE, AP STAFF WRITER

London, Nov. 17 —(AP)— Six Allied armied battered out gains along 400 miles of muddy front today in a massive test of German staying power.

Perhaps 2,000,000 men were engaged in both sides in what may be the last great battle of the war in Western Europe. Prime Minister Churchill has announced that between 2,000,000 and 3,000,000 Allied troops were in Europe two months ago. The Germans were believed to have 500,000 men in the battle line.

12-Mile Advance

The British 2nd Army in Holland capped a 12-mile advance in three days by capturing Wessem, on the Meuse south of Roermond in Holland, and Buggenum, three miles north of Roermond. The British troops virtually reached the Meuse on a seven-mile front in this sector facing the German border from three to seven miles farther east.

Highlighting the ever-present danger of a fresh offensive sweep around the Germans' northern flank, Allied patrols slipped across the lower Meuse between 'S-Hertogenbosch and Moerdijk. German artillery reacted violently.

Pursued by British units mounted in "Kangeroos" — armored vehicles converted into troop carriers — the Germans fell back so rapidly in the flat, canal-broken country near Roermond that the Tommies lost contact.

The Germans were reported withdrawing to their defence lines east of the Meuse River.

Wedge Deepened

Meanwhile on the British right flank, the United States 1st and 9th Armies, fighting shoulder to shoulder in sectors from 31 to 28 miles from Cologne on the Rhine, deepened their wedge in the Siegfried line by one to two miles and advanced to within seven miles of Julich, a communications centre on the Cologne plane.

The 1st and 9th were supported in their jump-off attack yesterday by the greatest air fleet ever to go into a single action in direct aid of ground forces.

Nearly 6,000 bombers and fighters blasted at the gateway to the Rhine with 13,000 tons of explosives for 5 hours yesterday and infantrymen captured hundreds of Germans stunned by the onslaught.

Dozen Towns Captured.

A field dispatch from the 9th army sector said possibly a dozen German towns were captured yesterday in the first day of its attack near Geilenkirchen, while the 1st army surged eastward from Aachen in gains that averaged up to two miles in the initial thrust.

The bombs and guns of nearly 6,000 Allied planes, plus a thundering artillery barrage, began the assault which massed the force of two entire armies on a front nearly 15 miles wide.

Fighting on German soil, and aimed at the heart of Germany's industrial Rhineland with Cologne only 35 miles away, the two armies apparently caught the enemy off balance while German divisions were preparing an attack on the 1st army at Aachen.

While the tank-led troops of the 1st army pushed their breach of the Siegfried Line deeper, the 9th rolled forward through four towns all east of Geilenkirchen, and representing advances of about a mile.

Last Ditch Defence.

In Lorraine, where the U.S. 3rd army was closing in on Metz and moving toward the Saar Basin, German prisoners disclosed that the enemy was getting set for a last-ditch defence of Metz, with the Gestapo training guns on the garrison to prevent evacuation.

American troops already were fighting their way into the suburbs of Metz, by-passing some of its guardian forts. The 9th division, pressing from the north, was within 1 1-2 miles of the city but still across the Moselle River.

Many observers took the onslaught to mean that the great Allied winter offensive, which the Germans had sought to balk by blocking and destroying vital supply ports, was at last under way.

A dispatch from Allied Supreme Headquarters said scant reserves available to enemy generals are believed insufficient to back up the long western front—from the marshlands of Holland to the snow-covered approaches of the Vosges mountains—against Allied attacks in so many sectors.

Highlights Of AirTrainingPlan Announcement

Ottawa, Nov. 17 (CP)—Here are highlights from Air Minister Power's Air Training Plan announcment:-

1. The United Nations are amply supplied with air crew.
2. The United Kingdom no longer requires air crew from the R.C.A.F.
3. Australia and New Zealand have ample reserves of aircrew for the future.
4. Canada has ample supply of aircrew for squadrons overseas and for squadrons in the western hemisphere and has filled all commitments to supply air crew to the R.A.F.
5. Canadians still in training will be placed in air crew reserve.
6. All B.C.A.T.P. establishments will be closed by March 31, 1945, except for operational training units which will be retained for Canadian purposes.
7 A shadow training organization will be kept in being for emergency of unfavorable developments.
8. Extent, character and composition of the post-war R.C.A.F. will not be defined for at least a year.
9. Stations surplus to B.C.A.T.P. will be used for storage or surplus equipment or transferred to the war assets corporation for disposal.
10. The R.C.A.F.'s present strength is 205,300.
11. The overseas strength is 70,000 all ranks.
12. The home war establishment, district from the Commonwealth plan, stretches from the Aleutians to Iceland with the number of squadrons equalling those overseas. Some must be maintained.
13. All northwest staging route stations, now controlled and maintained by the R.C.A.F., may be of vital importance in the war against Japan.
14. The peak of training in the B.C.A.T.P. utilized 101,418 personnel which must be dractically curtailed, including married and single personnel of the R.C.A.F. (women's division).

Finland Names New Premier

Stockholm, Nov. 17 (AP)—J. K. Paasikivi was named Prime Minister of Finland today in a shakeup of the cabinet.

A veteran peace envoy and former (1918) Premier who participated in negotiations which led to the Moscow-Helsinki armistice, Paasikivi succeeds Erhu Castren as President Baron Carl Gustaf Mannerheim's first minister.

(The Finnish radio announced Nov. 11 that Paasikivi had accepted the offer of the position. The Castren regime had been criticized by Soviet organs for its handling of the Russian-Finnish armistice problems).

Ten new ministers were named in the 18-man cabinet, including one Communist, Y. Leino. He was appointed to the assistant communications post. C. J. A. Enckell remains Foreign Minister.

BECOMES SUPPLY MINISTER OF NAPANEE CHURCH

Napanee, Nov. 17 —(CP)— Former chaplain of the R. C. A. F., Rev. P. D Cameron has been engaged as supply minister for Trinity United Church, Napanee, for an indefinite period during the convalescence of the Pastor, Rev. G. M. Chidley, who was stricken with a heart attack last August. Mr. Cameron had Baptist charges in the London, Ont., area prior to the outbreak of war but has now joined the United Church. His wife and two children are living in Lindsay at present.

RUSSIANS PIERCE DEFENCE LINE AROUNDBUDAPEST

Capture Rail Station Of Gyomro and Also Threaten Junctions Of Godollo, Hatvan

London, Nov. 17 (CP)—Russian troops have pierced the main German defence line 10 miles east of Budapest, capturing the rail station of Gyomro, and in a pivot northeast of the besieged capital today threatened the key railway junctions of Godollo and Hatvan.

Far to the northeast other units of Marshal Rodiony, Malinovsky's 2nd Ukraine army struck to within five miles of Miskolc, Hungary's fifth city, which now is exposed to Red army artillery fire.

Battling along the roads leading around Budapest to Austria, the Russians yesterday crossed the Budapest-Miskolc railway at Vamosgyork in a 12-mile advance from Jaszbereny and were moving toward Hatvan, Moscow announced last night. Hatvan is a junction of the Budapest Miskolc line and terminal of the railway running north into central Slovakia, 38 miles beyond.

The threat to Godollo, less than 10 miles northeast of Budapest, developed when powerful Soviet tank and infantry forces swept through Dany, less than 11 miles southeast. Godollo governs road and rail routes to Vienna and central Slovakia.

Threatened with Entrapment.

The capture of Vamosgyork, where several trains and ammunition stores were seized, also threatened the entrapment of German and Hungarian forces still clinging to the central section of the Budapest-Miskolc trunk line

In the frontal assault east of Budapest, the Gyomro rail station was captured in a bitterly-contested three-mile advance. Gyomro village, a mile to the south and described by Berlin as the southeastern anchor of the Axis defence arc around Budapest, was under violent attack, Berlin reported.

Special Session Of Parliament May Last 10 Days

By R. K. CARNEGIE
(Canadian Press Staff Writer)

Ottawa, Nov. 17 — (CP)—Ministerial circles today expressed the view the House of Commons, which reassembles next Wednesday, will require 10 days to decide whether it will support the government's decision to continue the voluntary system of providing reinforcements for overseas.

Two developments emphasized the government has no intention of forsaking the voluntary system.

Prime Minister Mackenzie King, in a statement issued on his behalf, denied as "wholly untrue" press reports that Defence Minister McNaughton had reversed his former stand and now had advised Mr. King that the home defence army should be sent overseas.

Gen. McNaughton followed this up with an interview in which he said that after talking matters over with officers commanding 13 military districts, he was more than ever convinced "the continuation of the voluntary system will provide the reinforcements."

The cabinet held a 3 /2-hour meeting yesterday and at its conclusion officials said no statement was expected.

Meanwhile, cabinet ministers who agree with Mr. King's stand continued to express the view that the government would be prepared to hold secret sittings and give the members all the information available on the reinforcement situation.

If the debates showed any important section of the Liberal party in the House was opposed to the government's stand, Mr. King is expected to demand a vote of confidence.

Should the party be fairly well united behind him, Mr. King might decide a vote was unnecessary and then it would be up to opposition groups to move a non-confidence resolution if they wished a recorded vote.

CANUCKS LOOK OVER BEETLE

GERMANS BLOW BANKS OF FIUMI UNITI CANAL

Flood Waters Sweeping Over Terrain South of Ravenna

Rome, Nov. 17 (CP)—German forces in the Adriatic coastal sector of Italy have blown up the banks of the Fiumi Uniti canal and caused further flood-waters to sweep over terrain south of Ravenna, today's Allied communique said.

British 8th Army troops again improved their forward position to the north and west of fallen Forli. Farther west Polish units of the 8th have taken the village of Converselle, northwest of Castrocaro, and come into contact with strong enemy positions on Monte Castellaccio.

British troops yesterday were reported within five miles of Faenza in the region of San Martino Di Vallafranca, north of the Bologna-Rimini road, while to the south they captured the town of Petrignone.

Occupy Road Junction.

British and Indian troops of the Allied 5th army occupied Modigliana, important road junction nine miles south of the Bologna-Rimini highway town of Faenza, in the wake of a surprise German withdrawal after a week-long vigorous defence.

Several previous Allied assaults on the town had been thrown back by desperately-fighting Germans.

When British and Indian troops moved in yesterday they found the Germans had left the town thoroughly mined and booby-trapped.

Six miles north of captured Forli, 8th army units, moving cautiously toward the Montone river, cleared Coccolia and reached a point within 2,000 yards of San Pancrazio.

Other troops pushed about 2 1-2 miles west of Forli against comparatively light resistance from German rearguards.

Nazis May Launch Robombs Against American Cities

London, Nov. 17 (CP)—Reports the Germans have been fitting up submarines with launching devices capable of directing flying bombs against North American cities have been current in London and Stockholm for the last 24 hours.

Walter Farr, London Daily Mail correspondent in Stockholm, "broke" the story, but the same report was current in London many hours before it could be published. Farr said both surface and underwater vessels were being fitted along the Norwegian coast as robot bomb launchers. The London report mentioned only submarines.

Farr said he was informed that both the U-boat and surface craft were fitted to fire robot bombs from their decks "against such targets as New York, Philadelphia or towns farther inland in America."

American Troops Within Small Arms Range of Ormoc Road

By C. YATES McDANIEL
(AP War Correspondent)

MacArthur's Headquarters, Philippines, Nov. 17. (AP)—Stubbornly defended Limon, key to the Ormoc Road, was within grasp of United States troops today as they took virtual control of dominating Break-Neck Ridge.

Fred Hampson, Associated Press war correspondent, reported American units coming down the slopes of Break-Neck Ridge from the west had advanced to within 1,000 yards of the Mormoc Valley village.

Other American units on the east were held up by Japanese strongly entrenched in ravines and gullies.

Another 24th Division force is behind the Japanese on the Ormoc Road, 2 1-2 miles south of Limon, but has not been able to cut the road entirely because of heavy Japanese concentrations on a hillside commanding the highway. The Japanese have not been able to use the road either, because the Americans are keeping it under continual mortar and machine gun fire

With American long-range artillery, hammering the 26-mile corridor which remains to the Japanese, and American air fighters ranging the skies overhead, enemy dead mounted steadily. Rains were slowing the action.

A Japanese sniper bullet wounded Brig.-Gen. Claudius M. Easley, assistant commander of the 96th Division.

Gen. MacArthur announced complete occupation of tiny Pegun Island in the Mapia group just northwest of New Guinea, thus eliminating Japanese aerial watchers able to observe operations on the American bombing route to the Philippines. Bras Island, also in the Mapia group, is being mopped up, MacArthur said.

American fighter planes, bombing and strafing the Ormoc Japanese supply area, sank 30 barges.

Elements of the 24th U. S. Infantry Division were holding the front of the Limon salient, and closing in west and south of the Japanese spearhead. Elements of the 1st Cavalry (dismounted) were closing in from the east.

Other American units consolidated positions from Mount Minoro to Mount Mamban, along the crest of the range looking down on the Ormoc road from the east.

Admiral Nimitz, revising previous figures upward, announced at Pearl Harbor that 3rd Fleet carrier planes sank a cruiser, four destroyers and 11 cargo vessels and oil tankers in their Nov. 12 raid on Manila.

RIGHT KIND OF BAIT

Eureka, Calif., Nov. 17 —(AP)— Mrs. Dorothy Hill used her entire assortment of expensive flies but failed to catch any trout. So she pulled a strand of bright red hair from the head of her fishing companion, Miss Lynette Delatour, and tied it to a fly. She landed two trout, 8½ and 10½ pounds.

CHURCHILL CALLS UPON JEWRY TO CRUSHSTERNGANG

Warns Continuance Of Its Activities Would Menace Future Of Zionism in Palestine

London, Nov. 17 — (CP) — Prime Minister Churchill called upon the Jews of Palestine today to cast out and crush the Terrorist Stern gang and warned that continuance of its activities would menace the future of Zionism.

Denouncing the recent assassination in Cairo of Lord Moyne, British resident minister for the Middle East, as a "shameful crime which has shocked the world," the Prime Minister told the House of Commons:

"It has affected none more strongly than those like myself who in the past have been the consistent friends of the Jews and constant architects of their future.

"If our dreams for Zionism are to end in the smoke of the assassin's pistol and our labors for its future produce only a new set of gangsters worthy of Nazi Germany, many like myself will have to reconsider the position we have maintained so consistently and so long in the past."

Saying that the primary responsibility rested with the Palestine authorities, Mr. Churchill said the executive of the Jewish agency already had called upon the community to drive out the members of "this destructive band, to deprive them of all refuge and shelter and to resist their threats and to eradicate their terrorist organization."

"We must wait for those words to be translated into deeds," he said. "Every man, woman and child of the Jewish community must do his or her best to bring this terrorism to an end."

Weather Forecast

Lake Superior: Moderate winds; partly cloudy and moderately cold today and Saturday; probably a few scattered snowflurries.

Kenora and Rainy River: Partly cloudy and cool today and Saturday.

Manitoba: Fair today and Saturday with slightly higher temperature.

40,000 OBTAIN LAND IN POLISH DISTRIBUTION

London, Nov. 17 —(CP)— The Moscow radio announces that 88 per cent. of the land "designated" for distribution among the peasants in liberated Poland had been handed out. "By the beginning of November more than 40,000 peasants and agricultural workers had obtained land," Moscow said.

Greatest Air Fleet Ever in Action Blasts Gateway to Rhine Before Drive

By HENRY B. JAMESON
Associated Press Staff Writer

London, Nov. 17 — (AP) — More than 3,500 planes, the greatest air fleet ever to go into a single action in direct support of an army, blasted the gateway to the Rhine for 5 hours yesterday in air-earth shaking curtain raiser to Gen. Eisenhower's new winter offensive.

German westwall troops and defences in front of three Allied armies were bombarded with more than 13,000 tons of bombs and field dispatches reported that before nightfall hundreds of stupefied prisoners had been taken.

While the weather was not altogether favorable, the bombing was described as more effective and better concentrated in places than at either Caen or St. Lo where similar "carpet bombing" attacks touched off spectacular land offensives.

Approximately 2,400 heavy bombers, in two separate mass attacks, laid more than 11,000 tons of fragmentary and anti-personnel bombs into an L-shaped area 15 miles long and 10 miles deep northeast of Aachen.

More oil was poured on the fire by hundreds of medium and fighter bombers that buzzed in and out over the battlelines.

Together they hammered a huge arc around the Geilenkirchen sector, plastering at least 12 German towns, miles of highways along which enemy troops were dug in, dozens of gun positions and numerous communications facilities.

Carpeted Areas

Most of the bombers dropped 260-pound fragmentation bombs in order not to crater the ground and impede the advance of troops.

An armada of 1,200 American Flying Fortresses and Liberators carpeted areas around the towns of Eschweiler — important junction of the Aachen-Cologne highway—and Duren.

A short time later 1,150 R.A.F. and R.C.A.F. Lancasters and Halifaxes pounded Duren, Julich and Heinsburg for more than an hour. Canadian airmen concentrated on Julich, a heavily fortified town halfway between Cologne and Aachen. Heinsburg is a few miles north of Eschweiler, directly in the path of the advancing armies.

Some of the escorting fighters also strafed enemy transport in the Frankfort and Giessen regions, destroying 20 locomotives, 92 railway cars and three trucks.

The massive attacks went unchallenged by the luftwaffe.

Of all the American 8th and 9th Air Force planes participating five heavy bombers and 12 fighters were reported missing.

R.A.F. and R.C.A.F. losses had not been announced at noon today, probably due to the fact some planes damaged by flak landed at bases on the continent.

U. S. 15th Air Force bombers from Italy, which gave an assist to the western drive yesterday with an attack on railway yards at Munich, were reported over the lower Danube region again today.

Active Personnel Of R.C.A.F. Will Be Cut Says Power

Last Air Crew Graduate Has Been Sent Overseas

By JACK BRAYLEY
(Canadian Press Staff Writer)

Ottawa, Nov. 17 — (CP) — No extension of the big Commonwealth Air Training Plan after its March 31 expiration date, its succession by a "shadow" scheme of small dimensions and partial demobilization of the R.C.A.F., were announced today by Air Minister Power.

His announcement came after a report last week that the last air crew graduate had gone overseas and that men now in the training scheme would complete their courses and join those just graduated in a civilian reserve. The report—borne out by today's announcement—predicted the end of the plan March 31 and the cut in active personnel.

Previously, Maj. Power had announced discharge of 4,200 air crew men waiting to start training, amalgamation of training commands, a cut in the air council and the closing down of many stations and landing fields.

Today's nine-page announcement contained no hint as to what the Air Force plans to contribute to Pacific operations, although a statement in regard to requirement estimates says that "provisions had to be made for personnel in the Japanese war." Another section of the statement referred to the Northwest staging route and said it "may yet be of vital importance in the next phase of the war."

In connection with Pacific plans, Air Vice-Marshal L. F. Stevenson is home from the East Asia theatre with a report on needs and conditions and planners are going ahead with preparations for the switch of effort which will follow the end of the war with Germany. It has been estimated that 15 of the R.C.A.F.'s 45 overseas squadrons will take part against Japan.

Decide in Year

As for a permanent post-war R.C.A.F., its composition — depending on Canada's participation in post-war world security — won't be decided "for at least a year."

The need for the drastic curtailment program is explained by huge surplus of aircrew built up by a plan that was gauged on higher casualties than were actually suffered and the unpredictable course of the war.

While not mentioned specifically, it is assumed Canadians in the R.A.F. are included in the program.

The aims and objects of the plan, Maj. Power said, were to "provide the personnel to secure and maintain air superiority and air supremacy in every theatre of war. This purpose has been accomplished."

Here, briefly, is the picture:—

1. Britain no longer requires aircrew from the plan and, in fact, has cancelled sailings of trained personnel waiting at embarkation depots. It has been reported that the last aircrew personnel went overseas four weeks ago.
2. Australia and New Zealand — partners in the plan — have stopped sending trainees to Canada. Their men in the training scheme will eventually go to Pacific operations.
3. All recent and future aircrew graduates — estimated to number 10,000 — who have not received operational training will be given a month's notice, released from active service and transferred to a civilian reserve.
4. The reserve will be liable for re-call during hostilities for refresher training and will be entitled to mustering-out benefits on release.
5. The graduating civilian reserve will be accorded non-commissioned or commission rank depending on their merit.
6. Training plan instructors will supply the small flow of aircrew needed to keep operational training units active as the plan's schools close up behind them.

Charges Germans Blasted to Death 135 in Town Hall

Heusden, The Netherlands, Nov. 17 — (AP) — The Burgomaster of this medieval town charged today that the Germans had deliberately blasted to death 135 women and children in the Heusden town hall. He called it the most fiendish atrocity committed in Holland. (A preliminary report of the deaths was issued last week by the official Netherlands news agency).

"It was terrible, terrible," he said. "The Germans pretend to be helping our people find shelter from British artillery shells and then they themselves set off dynamite which killed 135 of the 200 people in the basement of the town hall."

City and District News

LOAD OF FURNITURE STREWN ALONG ROAD

An entire load of furniture was strewn along Highway No. 2 some three miles west of Belleville on Thursday when a moving van, driven by Chas. Luptin, of Hamilton, overturned into a ditch. Luptin informed Traffic Officer Chas. Siple the lighting system of the truck failed to function with the result his moving van went off the beaten highway in the darkness and turned over into the ditch. Although there was no noticeable damage to the moving van, the doors flew open with the result the load of furniture was strewn along the highway ditch. Even a piano found its way in the ditch. It took practically all day to right the transport and return the load, which was en route from Hamilton to Ottawa.

B.S.A. MOTORCYCLE STOLEN IN OSHAWA

Something new in the annals of stealing transportation was reported by Oshawa police last night when it was announced that a B.S.A. motorcycle had been stolen in that city. Last seen the motor bike was seen being driven in an easterly direction. The bike carried Ontario licence plate number 824MC.

TWO STIRLING BOYS WOUNDED IN ACTION

Two Stirling soldiers, one fighting in Italy and the other on the Western Front, have been wounded in action, according to information received this week by their parents.

Pte. Carl Phillips, son of Mr. and Mrs. Morley Phillips, has been severely wounded in Italy and is now listed as dangerously ill. Pte. Phillips enlisted with the 47th Anti-Aircraft Battery and went overseas in September, 1941. For the past year he has been in the Mediterranean area.

The other Stirling soldier reported wounded is Cpl. Collidge C. Cooper, son of Mr. and Mrs. S. Cooper who late in October received an ankle wound while fighting in Belgium. He is now in hospital in England. Enlisting in 1941 he went overseas four months ago and served on the Western Front with the Lincoln and Welland Regiment. His wife resides in Kingston, while a brother, Pte. L. J. Cooper of the Cameron Highlanders, returned home from overseas early in October.

RADIATOR CAP TAKEN FROM PARKED CAR

Alderman H. G. Woodley parked his automobile in the vicinity of the City Hall, while attending a special committee meeting of the city council last night. When he concluded his night's labors as councilman, Alderman Woodley went to his parked auto only to find the radiator cap of the vehicle had been stolen in his absence.

'HERRING ARE RUNNIN'

"The herring are runnin' ". That is the cry of local fishermen who are taking advantage of the annual spawning forays of lake herring in nearby waters.

The fish taken thus far, states Marshall Gerow, who derives his living via the commercial fishing route, have been of exceptionally good size and quality. He took over 500 pounds in his first haul this week.

Other fishermen, he said, have taken in hauls of well over 1,000 pounds. The run will last approximately from five to six days.

The white fish have left the spawning grounds for their winter quarters deep in Lake Ontario. Small catches of from ten to twenty-five pounds were taken this week at the end of the run. Prices for whitefish were 30-35 cents and herring 17 cents the pound.

FO. 'TIP' TUMMON TRANSFERS TO PHOTOGRAPHIC UNIT

After meeting with success as a "train buster" while a member of an intruder squadron interrupting enemy communications in France and the Lowlands, Flying Officer "Tip" Tummon, son of Mr. and Mrs. W. E. Tummon of Foxboro, has now transferred to a photographic unit, according to a recent letter received by his parents. While acting as a train buster he was credited with wrecking a number of enemy locomotives as result of quick intruder thrusts over enemy-occupied territory. Now stationed on the continent he has been transferred to a Spitfire squadron doing photographic work over and behind enemy lines.

'GOING UP' RITE FOR EIGHT CUBS

With colorful ceremony eight Cubs of the 4th Belleville Pack were the centre of a "going-up" ceremony as they were graduated to the 4th Belleville Scout Troop at the Belleville Collegiate gymnasium on Wednesday night. The Kiwanis Club, sponsors of scouting in the city was represented by members of the Boys' and Girls' Work Committee under convener Mark Vanner. At the close of the evening's program there was a lunch for the cubs who had newly become scouts.

"The Enchanted Echo" Collection of Poems By Trenton Airman

(Review by Florence Carver)

Alfred W. Purdy, son of Mrs. Purdy, Front Street, Trenton, has recently published a collection of poems which he has called "The Enchanted Echo."

The young poet, who is 25 years of age, enlisted in the R.C.A.F., Trenton, in September, 1939, and is now stationed in Vancouver. His wife, the former Miss E. Parkhurst, whom he married seven years ago, is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. J. A. Parkhurst, 265 Ann Street.

Alfred Purdy has shown an interest in literary pursuits since childhood and his latest publication shows marked ability and quite exceptional quality of style.

His ideas are refreshing and show a fine discernment for the lovely things that make up our world. In reading his poems, we are aware of man's nobility in modern attire. We see simple every-day things clothed in beauty. One might call them poems of appreciation. They are not emotional, but deeply philosophical and often merry.

Anyone inclined to believe that we live in an age of "jive"—that our young people are incapable of taking life seriously, would do well to read this collection, and do honor to a young patriot with a soul for loveliness.

West Coast reviewers have received the volume with approval and Alfred Purdy's poems have appeared in the Vancouver Sun, Poetry Magazine and the Canadian Poetry Magazine as well as having had radio airing.

It is expected the book will be on sale at local bookstores in the near future.

Obituary

ARTHUR THOMAS GRANGER

The funeral of the late Arthur Thomas Granger, Warham Street, took place from the Belleville Burial Company Funeral Home, Campbell Street, on Thursday afternoon with service in the chapel and committal at Belleville cemetery being conducted by Rev. J. G. Sparling, Rector of Christ Church. The funeral was largely attended, there also being many beautiful floral tributes.

The bearers were John Hall, William Steward, Frank Parsons, Harry Brown, Fred Sprung and Reginald Reddick.

INFANT HUDDLESTON

The funeral of the infant son of Mr. and Mrs. Ed. M. Huddleston, 8 Campbell Street, took place from the Belleville Burial Company Funeral Home on Thursday afternoon with Dr. E. W. Stapleford, acting minister at Bridge Street United Church, conducting the service. Interment was made in Belleville cemetery.

Late MRS. HENRIETTA JACKSON

The funeral of Mrs. Henrietta (Barnum) Jackson, late residence, Toronto, and widow of John S. Jackson, took place Thursday afternoon from the Martin Funeral Home, Church Street. The service in the chapel and at Glenwood Cemetery, Picton, was conducted by the Rev. W. R. Merrick of Selby, formerly of Cannifton. During the service in the chapel a vocal duet was rendered by Mrs. S. P. Hagerman and Mrs. James Cordes with organ accompaniment by Prof. E. Wheatley.

The bearers were Messrs. Fred Mowbray, Delbert Mowbray, Jae Mowbray, Roy MacDonald, Finley Elmy and Edgar Oliver.

JOHN WILBUR JOHNSON
(Rawdon)

Rawdon, Nov. 17 — (Special) — John Wilbur Johnson died at his home in the 3rd. concession of Rawdon Township early this morning after an illness of about three months' duration.

The late Mr. Johnson, who was in his 85th. year, was born in Haldimand Township, Northumberland County and was a son of the late Mr. and Mrs. Daniel Johnson. For sixty years he lived in Rawdon Township and during his active years he was engaged in farming. In the affairs of the township he took much interest and served well as a councillor and for twenty-five years he filled in a capable manner the office of secretary-treasurer of Williams School No. 4. In religion he was a member of Mount Pleasant United Church and was well esteemed in the community. Fraternally he was a member of Wellman's Loyal Orange Lodge and the Royal Black Knights.

Surviving him are his wife, the former Margaret Merrick; one daughter, Mrs. J. T. Weaver, Belleville; three sons, Wilbur Johnson, constable on the Belleville Police Force; Elwood Johnson and Harold Johnson, both of Rawdon Township; thirteen grandchildren and two great grandchildren. Wallace MacDonald, Western Canada; Ernest MacDonald, Norwood and Mrs. James Honeywell of Castleton, were members of the late Mr. Johnson's household for a considerable time during their early years.

The funeral announcement is made in this issue.

Major C. Dafoe, Formerly of Madoc, Had Part in Yugoslav Campaign

The big air transport roared through the dimming Yugoslavian twilight. Below in the dark hills, lurking Nazis lay, waiting for they knew not what. Friendly Partisans, heroes of many a Tito foray lay in hiding in the rocky serrated land of their forebears. Across the blue Adriatic lay the forces of Freedom. Behind and around Marshal Tito's gallant forces Hitler's "supermen" were poised waiting to strike quickly, deadly at the first sign of movement.

The door of the big plane opened. A dark figure leaped into the closing darkness. Then another and another. Smaller figures followed the billowing mushrooms of the parachutes down to earth. The spreading splotches of white were quickly gathered as the figures leaped to their feet. The darkness engulfed them.

And thus Major Colin Dafoe, formerly of Madoc, husband of Dr. Charlotte Dafoe, assistant to Dr. George H. Stobie here for the past three years, and a nephew of the late Dr. Roy Allan Dafoe of quintuplet fame, landed in Yugoslavia to erect the first Allied hospital for Marshal Tito and his fighting Partisans.

Alone in Darkness

With Major Dafoe went a medical orderly and a wireless operator. Essential hospital equipment and drugs were dropped with them.

Alone with his two assistants Major Dafoe stood in the dangerous darkness. In the black silence that surrounded them were friend and enemy. They sought the friendly surroundings of a clump of bushes.

In the days that followed, Major Dafoe's work proved to be of an extremely hazardous nature. Guerilla warfare is vastly different to that of major armies battling over a mapped terrain. Danger lurked in every bush. Every house was a potential machine-gun emplacement. Every tree could hold a "superman" sniper.

Under the most difficult conditions, Major Dafoe with the assistance of Tito's men, gathered the material for a hospital. Canisters of nails were ordered by air. But serious delay was caused by the nail containers being dropped into enemy territory.

In Constant Danger

Attending the wounded and sick of Tito's army was the least of the worries of Major Dafoe and his staff which with the exception of the medical orderly and wireless operator was entirely Yugoslavian. They were in constant danger of attack by the Germans. On several occasions they have had to "run for it" when almost surrounded by the Huns. Wounded and sick were hurried away to a new hospital site by mule, stretcher and by hand. Some were carried on the backs of hospital workers. Then the hospital was set up in another area which would probably be attacked within the next few days.

Marshal Tito has commended the splendid work of the Canadian major and his little band and has described it as magnificent under the worst conceivable conditions in which doctors could work.

Major Dafoe is now taking a well-earned respite from his arduous duties in the more peaceful areas of Italy.

Father Lives in Madoc

He is a son of Mr. Frank Dafoe of Madoc, and is a graduate of Queen's University. He was taking a post-graduate course in Britain when war broke out. He joined the British Army and twice crossed the desert with Montgomery's gallant 8th Army, before going to Italy and Yugoslavia.

A brother, Captain R. F. Dafoe, who served with the Hastings and Prince Edward Regiment was wounded in Italy.

Dr. Charlotte Dafoe, the wife of the gallant medico, is well known in medical circles here.

Five Military Personnel Return Home From European War Theatres

Five military personnel from Belleville and district, all of whom have seen action in the Mediterranean war theatre, and one Nursing Sister, have returned to Canada aboard the hospital ship Lady Nelson and are now either at military hospital in Kingston or have proceeded to their various homes.

Among the group was Pte. Jack Dracup, one of three fighting sons of Mr. and Mrs. S. W. Dracup, 36 Bettes Street, who was injured in a truck accident during a two-month rest period in Italy after fighting with Canadians to break the Hitler Line.

"Just my luck," he said, "after going through some really tough fighting I get hurt in an accident."

Two of Pte. Dracup's brothers are still overseas. They are Sgt. Harold S. Dracup who won the Military Medal for "a daring act of leadership" at Moro River, and Pte. Ray Dracup who is driving in Italy with the R.C.A.S.C. Jack and Harold went overseas with the Hastings and Prince Edward Regiment in 1939. Harold, who was wounded by a sniper's bullet is reported fully recovered and ready to return to action.

Pte. Jack Dracup returned to his home in Belleville Thursday afternoon, as did Pte. S. W. Connolly of Yarker.

Another district soldier to return to Canada aboard the Lady Nelson was Pte. P. Palmateer of Ormsby who went through the Sicilian campaign without injury. He suffered a compound fracture of the right arm during an artillery mopping up operation 10 miles north of the Gothic Line in Italy. His sister Jean, a member of the C.W.A.C., was on hand to greet her brother at Kingston Military Hospital when he was admitted.

Two other district men to return were Gnr. H. J. Gray of Marmora who was injured in a transport accident during a rest period following action on the Hitler Line, and Pte. F. C. Claus of Deseronto who suffered shrapnel wounds in the left side while advancing on the Hitler Line.

A Belleville girl, Nursing Sister E. N. Lazier, 24 Hillcrest Ave., also returned to Canada and arrived back in the city Thursday evening. She has been overseas for three years and arrived in Italy exactly one year ago to serve with the R.C.A.M.C. Just prior to D-Day she was returned to England but was not posted for duty in France.

Now home on furlough she stated she would like to go back overseas, but expects instead to be posted to a Canadian hospital.

Former Medical Man From City Had Unusual Experience in France

The war lasted roughly a little over two months for Captain Colin Brebner, one of the first paratroop medical man to flutter down through Normandy skies on D-Day.

But the captain, former assistant to Dr. G. H. Stobie, and known in this city crowded a lot of adventure in that period of time.

For instance, he had an excellent bird's eye view of the Normandy terrain from a vantage point forty-feet high in a tree. He had landed there in his parachute and incidentally suffered a severe pelvic injury in so doing.

He hung suspended by the silk of his chute all night, and his judgment of distance was not as good as it might have been. He figured the distance to the ground was roughly 20 feet, but when he was forced to drop to the ground in the dim light of the dawn, he discovered it to be twice that distance. In the fall he suffered a severe dislocation of both bones of the wrist.

A few hours later he established contact with a number of medical paratroopers. They travelled all day in an effort to reach the main body and the next morning reached a French hospital in Caen.

Captured by Germans.

Here Captain Brebner remained until July 1. Then Germans armor raced through the town followed by infantry. The hospital staff and patients were captured and transferred to Rennes in Brittany.

After travelling three days they reached their destination where they remained until a month later when the victorious Yanks, surging through in the first phases of the now memorable march across France, liberated the prisoners.

Captain Brebner was sent to a British hospital behind the allied lines and on August 12 was evacuated by hospital plane to England. He recently arrived back in Canada and is now stationed at Stanley Barracks, Toronto. Mrs. Brebner resides at Kirkland Lake, Ont.

The paratroop medico is a graduate of the University of Toronto and for two years prior to enlistment was associated with Dr. Stobie in a professional capacity. He joined the Canadian Paratroop Regiment as a medical officer and received his paratroop training at Fort Benning, Georgia. He is one of the few Canadian medical officers to wear the wing of the paratrooper on his breast.

Captain Brebner's mother was the late Miss Helen Rous, daughter of the late Mr. and Mrs. Fred Rous who formerly lived in Belleville.

He expects to get in some post-graduate work at the Toronto General Hospital or the Sick Children's Hospital during his sojourn in the army.

Lt.-Col. T. Y. Wills Named Magistrate For City, District

Lt.-Col. Thos. Y. Wills, well known in legal, municipal and military circles in Belleville, was today inducted as magistrate for the Province of Ontario to preside in the Hastings and Prince Edward County area. The appointment of Magistrate Wills was made through order-in-council of the Ontario Government recently and today he assumed his judicial post in the Belleville Police Court, when he preside jointly with Magistrate J. L. Lloyd, who has been presiding over the district police courts since the death of the late Magistrate E. J. Butler.

Magistrate Wills recently returned from overseas where he served for four years as commanding officer of a Canadian artillery unit. He originally went overseas as commanding officer of the 34th Battery R. C. A., a unit he headed in England until it was reverted to an anti-tank battery. He was returned home and assumed his post in civilian life only recently and was immediately offered the position as magistrate for the province. He is the son of Mrs. J. F. Wills and late Judge J. F. Wills of this city and practised law here prior to his enlistment in 1939. He also served on the city council from 1934 to 1938 and for the greater part of tenure of office he was chairman of finance. He also contested the mayoralty seat in 1938.

Educated Here.

Magistrate Wills was educated in Belleville schools and after graduating from the old Belleville High School attended the Royal Military College at Kingston, where he first became interested in a military career. After graduating at Kingston he attended Osgoode Hall in Toronto and following in the footsteps of his late father, was called to the bar to later practise law in Belleville. In peacetime he was associated with the 34th Battery R. C. A. to become commanding officer in 1939. He is now on the reserve strength of the Canadian Artillery.

"Lt.-Col. Wills is no stranger in Belleville. He has been appointed magistrate for the Province of Ontario and it is my privilege to welcome him into this court today. I am sure he will receive the support of those working with him and there is no doubt his sound judgment will feature all decisions necessary," stated Magistrate J. L. Lloyd at the opening of the court today.

This afternoon the new court official was introduced to the Trenton police court. This morning both Crown Attorney B. C. Donnan and Deputy Chief Harman added their greetings.

POLICE COURT

Only minor cases were listed for trial in city police court here today when Magistrates J. L. Lloyd and T. Y. Wills presided, the latter making his initial appearance after recently being named magistrate for this district.

Found Guilty

Mrs. Rowena Steeves and her 16-year-old son James Steeves, of Boston and who have been held in custody on nominal charges of vagrancy, pleaded guilty today and were given ten days to date from the time of their arrest. "You are at liberty to go now, having already served ten days, while on remand. However, we are not anxious of your company here in Belleville," remarked Crown Attorney B. C. Donnan, suggesting the pair leave the city.

Fine Accepted

Vincent Fobear, Tweed, pleaded guilty to a charge of careless driving prior to the opening of the court and his fine of five dollars and costs was accepted by the court.

Suspend Sentence

A minor pleaded guilty to a charge of assault and was given a suspended sentence. Inspector T. D. Ruston, of the Children's Aid Society, tendered to have a child made a ward of the society, all of which found papers in order and the request granted.

FORCE DRAW GAME

Valleyfield, Que., Nov. 17. (CP)—Shawinigan Falls Cataracts came from behind last night to force a 4-4 overtime draw with Valleyfield Beaves in an Interprovincial Hockey League game here. The result left Shawinigan and Valleyfield tied for second place in the loop, one point behind Cornwall Cookies.

Connolly and Vinet accounted for the four Valleyfield goals, all of which came in the first period, Luplen, Tremblay, Despelteau and Lajoie scored for the Cataracts.

WOULD HELP REPAY

Toronto, Nov. 17 — (CP) — Premier J. Walter Jones of Prince Edward Island said in addressing members of the Maritime Provinces Association Wednesday that the family allowances bill would enable cities like Toronto to repay the country in some measure for rearing and educating people for cities.

Sidney Township To Remember Boys Serving Overseas

Fighting "over there" are approximately 200 of the youth of Sidney Township.

These young men and women, the greater majority of whom were engaged in one of the Dominion's most important industries, agriculture, reckoned not the cost. They heeded the call of Empire and today are in the uniform of the Navy, Army and Air Force.

Behind them, at home, is a study group of Canadians. Sidney Township residents are in this war to its victorious finish, and are sparing no efforts to hasten the victory. This has been exemplified many times in the generous response of these "good neighbors" to the appeals of urban organizations whether they be patriotic or otherwise. Sidney Township dollars have swelled many a city fund for humanitarian causes.

Over there, Sidney Township lads and lassies are doing their bit. Over here, the home folks are solidly behind them. They have spent their dollars unstintingly. In Victory Loan, Red Cross and other appeals, the people of Sidney have ranked high.

To Be Remembered.

Now they are doing a thing that is closest to their hearts. The boys and girls of their township communities are to be remembered, in a way that is a little more than cigarettes and food parcels. Each member of the armed forces hailing from one of Hastings County's banner township is going to receive a lasting memento from the folks back home.

On Saturday, November 18, the Sidney Township Patriotic Association, headed by Mr. W. E. Tummon, will launch an appeal for funds through the medium of a Tag Day. The Committee in charge is composed of M. C. Burgess, Mrs. Clarence Holmes and Mrs. Fred Wilson. Assisting them, besides others, will be other members of the executive, Vice President Col. Roscoe Vanderwater and Treasurer Fred Campbell. Mrs. Holmes is secretary of the Association. Headquarters for the day will be installed in the Riggs Garage, Pinnacle Street.

To Hold Tag Day.

Urban residents would do well to remember what these people of Sidney have done for them in the past. There is an old adage: "One good turn deserves another" but this is scarcely applicable as the people of this city, long enjoying a reputation of generously contributing to a worthy cause, will not, it is felt, let their rural neighbors "down."

So, remember, Saturday is Sidney Day. Keep up that good neighbor spirit and buy a tag for the gallant lads of the neighboring township who are fighting and dying, even as are the sons of Belleville, so that we shall always have the privilege of being able to buy tags.

PRICE SET ON PICTURES OF HITLER

New York, Nov. 17 —(AP)— A Berlin dispatch in the Swedish newspaper Tidningen declared that under a new decree pictures of Hitler "may not be sold for less than 45 Reichsmark ($11 pre-war rate)."

The dispatch reported today to the Office of War Information, said the measure was taken since offers to sell Hitler pictures "have been particularly numerous during recent weeks."

Brigadier Lane Killed in Action

With the 1st Canadian Army, Nov. 17 —(CP Cable)— Brig. J. N. Lane, D. S. O., of Edmonton and Halifax, chief artillery officer of a Canadian Division on the Western Front, was killed recently when his jeep ran over a German mine.

The brigadier had taken a side road en route to one of his units when the jeep hit the mine. Brig. Lane was buried at the gate leading into division headquarters and the divisional commander, brigadiers and representatives of the Canadian Corps and Army headquarters attended the funeral service.

Brig. Lane, a permanent force soldier, commanded the 1st Field Regiment of the Royal Canadian Horse Artillery in Sicily and Italy, where he won the D. S. O. He returned to England from the Mediterranean theatre last march to become chief artillery officer of this division.

CAN'T USE ANY MORE

Des Moines, Ia., Nov. 17 —(AP)— A 69-year-old woman who has been receiving a monthly old age assistance grant of $17 has written the State Board of Social Welfare that she doesn't need any additional money. After the Board had advised her that her grant had been increased to $19, she wrote: "I don't want it because I don't need it. I just couldn't use any more money."

British Subs. Spearhead of Fleet For Japanese War

By WILLIAM BROWN
(Reuter Staff Writer)

London, Nov. 17. (CP-Reuter)— British submarines, which—in less than week—have reported the sinking of 69 Japanese ships, are the spearhead of the mighty fleet which Prime Minister Churchill and A. V. Alexander, First Lord of the Admiralty, have recently declared will take part in vast operations in the Far East.

Problem of supplying troops in Burma is Japan's "Achilles Heel", and the Japanese, facing British submarine veterans of Mediterranean warfare cannot feel happy about the future of their convoy lanes.

The greatest difficulty the submarines have had to contend with in this tropical battle zone is the intense heat which has to be endured even with the most modern air conditioning in a submarine submerged for a long period. This, however, is being scientifically overcome.

More Will Be Heard.

Much more will be heard of British submarine activities in Far Eastern waters during the coming months.

Admiral Alfred Saalwaechter, naval spokesman of the German Trans-Ocean News Agency, while carefully avoiding a categorical admission that the Tirpitz is a total loss, last night admitted that the ship would be "out of action" long enough to permit British battleships in the North Sea to be sent to the Pacific.

In a comment headed "for the sake of Japan" he wrote:

"Now, for the time being, Germany no longer has a battleship which is capable of tying down similar British ships in the north and the European theatre.

Britain Will Bring 6,000 Fighting Men Home Monthly for Visit

London, Nov. 17 (CP)—Prime Minister Churchill told the House of Commons today approximately 6,000 fighting men would be brought home each month for visits of about four weeks. The plan does not include those on Europe's western front. Mr. Churchill said this campaign "has not reached a point where we can withdraw anyone from the front even for a short leave period."

The action appeared to be the Prime Minister's response to pressure in parliament and in the press for reduction in the present period of overseas service in the army.

He declared that even the leave plan would be subject to war needs and could be suspended on the discretion of the commander-in-chief in each area.

Mr. Churchill promised the problem would be reviewed again after Germany's defeat.

Boake Carter, Commentator, Dies Suddenly

Hollywood, Nov. 17 —(AP)—Boake Carter, 46-year-old radio commentator, whose frequently provocative programs won him thousands of friends and opponents, died suddenly last night.

He appeared to be in good health but complained of feeling ill after his daily program for mutual broadcasting system yesterday. Taken to a doctor's office, he suffered a stroke and died shortly after he was admitted to hospital.

Dr. Elmer Belt, the examining physician, said he has asked that a coroner's inquest be held.

Boake Carter's radio signature, "cheerio," was familiar in almost every North American household.

He was born in the British consulate at South Baku, Russia, of Irish-English parents, came to the United States in 1920, and for a time served as city editor of the Philadelphia Daily News.

He began his career on the airwaves in Philadelphia but kept his job as a rewrite man on his newspaper until he became a full-time news commentator.

In 1924 he married Beatrice Olive Richter, assistant society editor of the Philadelphia bulletin. They had two children but were divorced in 1941 and he married Paula Nicoll, a traffic manager for mutual broadcasting system.

He gained recognition for his broadcasts of the Lindbergh kidnapping case from Hopewell, N. J., and the Philco Radio and Television Corp. became his sponsor over a national hook-up. Later he was sponsored by general foods and then he became a free-lance.

Carter served in the Royal Flying Corps in the First Great War. He had been European correspondent of the London Daily Mail.

He embraced the "Biblical Hebrew Faith" in 1942.

Tax Position Of Co-Operatives To Be Investigated

Ottawa, Nov. 17 —(CP)— Two commissions have been appointed to inquire into the tax position of co-operative enterprises and the taxation of annuities and similar kinds of payment.

The commissions, formation of which was announced last night by Finance Minister Ilsley, will report later to the government on any modification of the tax burden thought necessary.

The Co-operative Enterprises Commission will be headed by Mr. Justice Errol McDougall of Montreal, Justice of the Quebec Court of King's Bench, and will investigate the present position of co-operatives, and that of their competitors, under the Income War Tax Act and the Excess Profits Tax.

With William C. Ives, retired chief justice of the trial division of the Alberta Supreme Court, as chairman, the Annuities Commission will inquire into taxation of annuities, annual or periodic payments received under provision of any contract, will or trust and payments arising from pensions, superannuation, insurance, endowment or other savings contract.

It will also look into the burden of the combined effect of income tax and succession duty arising in the case of the death of a shareholder owning a substantial proportion of the shares of a private or closely-held corporation which has accumulated an earned surplus.

Germans Resent Nazi Rule Report

Bern, Nov. 17 (AP)—Stories of resentment in Germany against Nazi rule reached Switzerland today, but they indicated the ruthless hand of the Gestapo was capable of snuffing out any efforts of popular movements.

Industry was at a standstill in some areas, partly because of lack of coal and partly because the Nazi authorities were no longer able to compel workers to remain at their jobs during air alarms, these reports said.

The Basler Arbeiter Zeitung said this was especially true in smashed Cologne, where 10 people were publicly hanged one day and 11 another because they dared openly to question "why should millions of Germans die for Nazi leaders?"

Trouble is brewing elsewhere in Germany, the paper reported. At Halle in Westphalia, the Nazi authorities have established barricades around the town and have isolated it from the rest of Germany.

Indications that high feelings were increasing among students cropped up as the Arbeiter reported Nazi officials are preparing to begin the treason trial at Berlin for "persons" who participated in student demonstrations in Munich last year.

The newspaper quoted travellers from Germany as reporting that Hitler had submitted to a throat operation during the last week of October and has been unable to speak. They said his condition was so serious that Himmler read Hitler's proclamation Sunday possibly to prepare the German people for a graver announcement.

Anti-Nazi Surgeon Reported Called Upon To Attend Hitler

London, Nov. 17 —(CP)— The Moscow radio joined in the speculation over Hitler's retirement from public activities with a statement today that a famous surgeon, a psychiatrist and neuropathologist were attending him at Berchtesgaden.

The surgeon was identified as Professor Sauerbruch, who has long been called an anti-Nazi and would normally be called to attend the Fuehrer only in the event of an operation requiring the highest available skill.

Cardinal Villeneuve Returns to Canada

Montreal, Nov. 17 —(CP)— Cardinal Villeneuve, Roman Catholic Archbishop of Quebec, returned to Canada today after a two-month overseas tour during which he visited the Pope in Rome and Canadian troops in Italy, France, Belgium and Britain.

The Cardinal arrived by plane after flying from Britain via the Azores and Bermuda.

Aboard the same plane were Baron de Silvercruy's, Belgian minister to Canada, and Rt. Hon. Malcolm Macdonald, British High Commissioner at Ottawa, as well as Air Commodore J. E. A. Charest, Senior Roman Catholic Chaplain to the R. C. A. F.

In a broadcast over the B. B. C. before he left England, the Cardinal pledged French-speaking Canada's "goodwill and friendship" toward the people of Britain, and said he had assured the King that his Roman Catholic and French-speaking subjects in Canada "will continue in the future, as history amply proves they have done in the past, to revere, honor and serve him as loyal subjects."

Captured Hun Says Metz Being Prepared For Last Ditch Fight

With the U.S. 3rd Army, Nov. 17. (AP)—A captured German said today his commander at Metz was preparing the fortress city for a last ditch battle and Gestapo guns were preventing its evacuation.

Tank traps are being dug and the streets are strung with wire and blocked with barriers, the prisoner reported, indicating the possibility of another bloody stand similar to that by the garrison at Brest.

If the Metz commander can compel all-out resistance the fight for the city, with its formidable defences, could be prolonged for weeks. This would make necessary the wrecking of the city to attain its capture.

Chinese Cut Last Jap Escape Route

Kandy, Ceylon, Nov. 17. (CP-Reuter)—Chinese troops have cut the last Japanese escape route southwards from the stronghold and river port of Bhamo, last remaining obstacle to the re-opening of the China-India land route.

Some Chinese units have reached the Irrawaddy in an advance to the southwest. Others operating further south advances two miles and a third Chinese force threw out patrols in three directions.

East of Kalemyo, captured Japanese base guarding the approaches to the Chindwin River, a main route to Mandalay, troops of the 5th Indian Division have pushed on to Taungu, on the west back of the Myitha River.

GERMAN GENERAL REPORTED DEAD OF WOUNDS

Allied Supreme Headquarters, Paris, Nov. 17 (CP-Reuter)—Prisoners taken by the United States 7th army said today that Brig.-Gen. Von Kirkbach, commander of a German battle group, had died of wounds received during the fighting at Epinal in the Vosges region of France.

Gen. Von Kirkbach was the 133rd German general to have been killed or captured since D-Day.

King Is Shown 'Plot' of Invasion

Portsmouth, England, Nov. 17 —(CP-Reuter)—In a room 100 feet underground, the King yesterday saw the "plot" of the Allied invasion of Western Europe as it was at 4:30 a. m. D-Day, June 6.

The King stood in the plotting room of Combined Headquarters in the Portsmouth command where the whole of the naval side of the invasion was planned and directed.

With Commodore G. Bellars, Chief of Staff to the Commander-in-Chief of Portsmouth, Admiral Sir James Little, the King walked down the 153 steps leading to the air-conditioned, steel-lined underground headquarters.

Eight Wrens and a member of the W.A.A.F. sat around the plotting table at their telephones, as on D-Day. On the table was a large-scale map of the English and French coasts and the Channel, criss-crossed with yellow and red lines and other markings, indicating the convoy routes and the passage of ships on D-Day.

Colored cardboard squares with code names and numbers showed the positions of the landing craft and their escorts. In front of each Wren were the names of the stations to which their telephones were connected.

From this room, the King was told, more than 5,000 signals were sent out on D-Day, and more than 450 servicewomen, some of them only 18 years old, were on duty night and day.

Liberation Coming to Norway

It seems a long time since the Germans in 1940 swept into Norway and began their attempt at domination of that country. In the interim the loyal Norwegian folg who could not get out of the country to serve in the Allied forces in the armies, fleets and air forces of the Allied Nations, carried on, they did not submit, they sabotaged the enemy's works, resisted and kept their patriotism paramount. What the Norwegians have done abroad on land, sea and in the air will make when written one of the proudest pages in the history of this Viking people whose deeds through the ages have shown them to be lovers of liberty. Norwegian merchant ships have plied the seas and have served nobly the Allied cause, a service which the world of free men will forever honor. These descendants of Vikings served so well that many of them lost their lives for the Allied cause.

At the same time as this heroic people was resisting the Nazi Germans in Norway and in battle abroad, events have moved swiftly. In the full measure of time the enemy has been beaten back to the Reich after his wild rampage across Europe and now Norwegian commando fighters have landed in Norway to link themselves with the Russians in north Norway in the Arctic area and there serve their country. Their day has dawned. It is the mark of the hand of justice in human history that the aggressor, the tyrant at last has to yield. So it is with the German aggressors. Those who invaded Norway in the hectic days of Hitler's spread over Western and Northern Europe have tried to enslave the people by tyranny and oppression and cruelties untold, find themselves in a part of the world where their outlook is dark. Everywhere else the Huns have been forced to pull back as best they could their occupation troops. Typically Germanic, the Germans in their withdrawal from the north have set the torch to the countryside, scorching the earth and, robbing and destroying Norwegian houses and farms. Typical too is their effort to herd the Norse folk down towards Germany.

Yet the day of the frustrated Hun is near it end. Any associates of his in the Quisling crowd have nothing but dread and terror for their days are marked on the calendar. Norwegians are coming back with their laws and legal administration and these are the matters that a Quisling dreads.

So Hitler's spawn must yield. Norway will be freed. Justice will be done and Norway will return to her course of free life in honor and justice.

She has fought a fight which places her among the great peoples. Mammoth Germany with her millions could not dominate the spirit of this small country and this frugal and peace-loving people. Through years of occupation the Norse could see the glimmer and the gleam of freedom and it comes at last. The night of oppression nears an end and the morning light will break upon Norway restored.

Norway will be enjoying peace and her way of life when the Nazis are gone, and German Nazi principles are ground to dust.

To Britain has come the great honor of serving as one of the chief bases from which have come the liberators who are freeing the world from the German thrall. How strong the ties will be that will bind Norway among the freed nations to the island of the sea, freedom's isle, Britain, time will show. That the world of United Nations will be bound by their deeds and trials of the past years is certain, this cannot be gainsaid.

Those free men of Norway who would be free have been vindicated in their great faith and fortitude.

As a Place of Meeting

British M.P.'s have suggested that the people of Britain would take it as a graceful gesture if President Roosevelt and Marshal Stalin would come to Britain for the next one of those great meetings of the "Big Three," the other of the trio being of course the British Prime Minister himself who was recently referred to as a wandering minstrel, moving from court to court for these great gatherings. The Allied leaders' conferences have been held in America, in North Africa, in Asia at Teheran, and Mr. Churchill has twice been in Moscow. Britons would like to entertain during one of the conferences the great leaders from the United States and Russia, the great Allies, with the Prime Minister of Britain as the host.

It can readily be guessed that Mr. Churchill would welcome such an occasion as to entertain the great Russian and American leaders in the citadel of freedom. Britain's noble history of democratic growth and her age-old love of freedom and particularly the key position, as the bastion of liberty Britain has occupied in the struggle, the rock and fortress on which Hitler's hopes and air legions dashed themselves in vain as early as 1940 and the station from which have poured those grand Allied assaults by air against the Nazi war machine and from which the June 6th invasion of the Continent sprang upon Hitler in the west of Europe are some of the appeals of the sea-girt land to the other Allied leaders.

Perhaps one of these meetings of world importance may be held in Britain, the land of free men and of hospitality. Mr. Churchill said that the thought of such a meeting had occurred to him and his colleagues but that sometimes in working with so many powerful Allies, "our views have to yield to those of other people."

Still the British people will hope that such a gathering will take place.

Primitive Tools in Guam

(Quebec Chronicle-Telegraph)

As showing the wide diversity of agricultural practices in the world, the farmers of the now historic Island of Guam in the Pacific still carry on their work with primitive tools. The two principal tools are a long-bladed knife, known as a machete, and the "fosino"—a small hand-forged tool which is used as a shuffle hoe on a long handle. It is also used for clearing the land for planting, in preparing the seed bed, and in cultivating the crop by the occasional removal of weeds, with a simultaneous stirring of the surface soil. It also has a variety of other farm uses.

In the rice fields, one-handled, iron breaking plows are used and a favorite cultivator is a locally made harrow with wooden spikes, which is employed after the field has been plowed and flooded in preparation for setting out the rice seedlings. The plow and the harrow are drawn by a carabao, the native name for a water buffalo.

Originally a native of India, the buffalo was domesticated and is now found in most eastern countries.

Weather Forecasters

(Chatham Daily News)

The present is a favorable time for weather forecasters to say their little piece. Just recently one sage expressed the opinion that as strawberries and raspberries were gathered in some districts in October the winter would surely be an open one. Another has noticed that the squirrels have been unusually busy in storing away nuts, and that can be taken as a sure-fire sign of a very cold winter. The chief meteorologist of the New York Weather Bureau says a hard winter is ahead. Last winter was fairly mild, and a cold winter is sure to follow this year, he says. Another savant comes out of hiding to say that a mild October is an infallible sign of a mild winter. Now, there you are! Four predictions. Look them over and take your choice, or else dig up the family almanac and see what it has to say. At any rate, if you're like us, it is getting cold enough that it's best to address the coal man as "Sir."

Vain-glorious men are the scorn of the wise, the admiration of fools, the idols of parasites and the slaves of their own vaunts.—Bacon.

G. I. JOE

He's the youngster that you knew,
Racing up and down the street,
Tousled hair and freckled, too;
One you daily used to meet,
One who raced the summer through,
Bare of head and bare of feet.

He is several millions strong.
From the city, town and plain.
Now you'll find him in a throng
Braving tropic heat and rain,
Driving jeeps and tanks along
Many a muddy German lane.

He has gone the world around,
North and south and east and west.
He has burrowed in the ground
On the islands Japs infest;
On the streets of Rome he's found,
And of Paris and of Brest.

Oh, we knew him, you and I,
In the not so long ago;
Saw him often passing by,
And his family we know;
Now, the brave, stout-hearted guy
We have christened G.I. Joe.

ELEPHANT GESTATION PERIOD

How long after mating do elephants produce their young?

Exact knowledge on this subject is not available. Estimates of the period of gestation in elephants range all the way from eighteen to twenty-two months.

Webster's International Dictionary says it is nearly two years. Dr. William M. Mann, director of the National Zoological Park, says the gestation period in elephants is "about nineteen months, although there are more or less authentic records of twenty-one months." According to Raymond L. Ditmars, curator of mammals at the New York Zoological Park, the period of gestation in the Indian elephant is 641 days, which is considerably more than twenty-one months.

There is no positive evidence to support the belief held by the natives of India and Burma that the gestation period is longer for a male calf than for a female. Frank Buck may have been merely reflecting this native belief when he wrote in "Fang and Claw": "Of all the animals I know, the elephant is the only one in which the period of gestation varies between male and female. A healthy girl elephant is born in nineteen months, while a male doesn't see the light of jungle day for twenty to twenty-one months."

The scarcity of records on this subject is accounted for by two facts. Elephants are very secretive in their breeding habits, and in no country is this species of animal domesticated in the strict sense of the term.

The elephants used as beasts of burden in southeastern Asia are maintained under conditions as similar as possible to those of wild animals, and the supply is recruited either by captures from wild herds or by animals born in a semi-wild state. As a rule Indian elephants are tractable, especially if captured young, and they are easily trained for service or show. African elephants are very rarely born in captivity and seldom are tractable.

Indian elephants are not bred in confinement because the process of rearing them from birth to the adult age is slow and expensive and because wild adults captured in the jungle usually soon become gentle and cheerful workers.

Some to be Released.

7. Aircrew instructors, who because of age—over 35 for squadron leaders and over 32 for flight lieutenants and under—and a medical category that cannot be employed overseas, will be released.

8. Aircrew completing an operational tour have a choice of demobilizing or taking over administrative work to replace non-flying personnel. If they don't succeed as administrators and can't be employed on flying duties, they will be released. However, they are not precluded from joining a post-war R.C.A.F.

9. Non-flying officers may apply for demobilization when repatriates are available to take their places.

10. Ground crew personnel will be released on a priority basis with top rating going to the man repatriated from overseas service down to the lowest rating for a man who has under two years of service. This demobilization will be carried out on a monthly quota basis.

11. Coupled with ground crew priority demobilization is a repatriation plan for personnel with at least three years overseas service.

12. Married women's division personnel will be released when replacements are found and, except in restricted trades, any W.D. personnel may retire to civilian life on application.

13. Civilian Training Plan employees will be released as establishments close.

14. Closed establishments will be used for storage in some cases and in other cases will be turned over to the Government War Assets Corporation for disposal.

15. Retained establishments will be kept with skeleton staffs and with airdromes under care and maintenance ready to operate at full strength on short notice.

16. A number of squadrons will be maintained to patrol Canadian coasts.

Maj. Power's announcement brought up to date statistics of the big plan that caused President Roosevelt to dub Canada "The Airdrome of Democracy."

Overseas Strength 70,000.

When the plan ends March 31 it will have graduated 224,296 trained personnel. Canada's share of this trainee total is made up of 70,819 aircrew and 93,173 groundcrew. The total strength of the R.C.A.F.—made up of aircrew, groundcrew, administration and other personnel—reached a peak of 215,173 at an unspecified date and is at present down to 205,300 compared to its war-outbreak strength of only 3,048. Present overseas strength is estimated at 70,000.

When the training plan was in full production it was operated by a staff of 101,418, made up of 69,753 Canadians and 31,665 from other Empire countries.

Speaking of the end of the plan, Maj. Power declared:

"This does not necessarily mean that all air training in Canada will come to an end (on March 31.) The Canadian government has informed the Air Ministry that it will be willing to continue training R.A.F. and Allied Nations personnel should it be found desirable to do so. In any event, a shadow training scheme of small dimensions will be retained in a high state of readiness. In addition, certain operational training units will be kept mainly for Canadian purposes."

He explained that the present air-crew production in Canada was the result of plans made and requirements outlined two years ago. "To have avoided the present situation which, in point of fact, is a healthy and satisfactory one—the Air Ministry would have had to forecast the course of the war at a time when the invasion of Europe was still only on paper."

PERSONAL HEALTH TALKS

By WILLIAM BRADY, M.D.

GRITTING THE TEETH IN SLEEP

Dead and buried, I hope, are nearly all of the old Saireygamps, including the vehement Auntie Binnell—I still get warm behind the ears when I recall how Auntie Binnell disposed of me once and for all. It was the day after the very first appendicitis operation in our neck of the woods, done (I suppose one might fairly say performed in that particular instance) by the doughty Dr. A. L. B.——, about the only one in the community who was qualified to do major surgery anyway, upon a patient who had been treated with ice-bags over the southwest section. Auntie Binnell made the rounds with the news that when "that butcher" cut the poor little girl open they found her "insides frozen solid." Speaking as a sophomore medical student I said that was absurd—that no amount of cold on the surface could lower the temperature of any internal organ or tissue appreciably in any circumstance, as long as the patient lived. Auntie Binnell paused only long enough to give me a withering look. "You'll know more when you grow up" she remarked and went on with her tirade against "that butcher." At any rate the operation was a success.

I say I hope all the old witches are dead. It was more than I could stand to hear now from one of them that gritting the teeth in sleep is a symptom of "worms," especially if the child looks "white around the gills" and seems a little feverish and has a peculiar heavy sweet breath and a coated tongue and maybe a little nausea or stomach upset. It is truly sad to think of all the unhappy children who have been plied with sickening, unnecessary and sometimes dangerous "worm medicine" or some such flimsy pretext.

Of course any youngster may harbor worms, round worms or pinworms, and children who really have worms are not more likely to have the symptoms mentioned or other illnesses or upsets than are children who do not harbor worms. In fact there is only one way an honest doctor can tell whether a child or any one else has worms and that is by seeing the worms themselves or by finding their eggs by microscopic examination.

In a few instances worms, either round worms or pinworms, do actually cause some illness—but if so, it is strictly a problem for the attending physician to handle, certainly it is never wise, safe or justifiable for any one other than the physician to give the child any remedy or treatment purporting to be good for "worms."

Well, we haven't said much about gritting the teeth in sleep — we'll talk about it another day. The kids come first here.

QUESTIONS & ANSWERS

Carbon Dioxide

Please tell me if working around carbon dioxide gas has any ill effect on health or whether there is any danger to life. (R.W.)

Answer—None if there is plenty of fresh air to breathe. In an atmosphere of pure or nearly pure carbon dioxide suffocation would occur within a minute. It is mainly the heavy concentration of carbon dioxide in the bottoms of silos, in sewer manholes, in pits or wells, that causes collapse of persons who enter such places without first testing the atmosphere by trying whether a candle or match will survive in it; if there is not enough oxygen present to support combustion there is not enough to support life.

Old Women

I am 38 years old and have been recently married. When I tell my friends I hope and pray for a baby they say it would be too dangerous at my age. (E.H.M.)

Answer—Break away from the old women, cultivate friends of your own age. This is my honest, studied opinion: If you can roll a string of somersaults on the floor and come up smiling and ready to roll some more, you're in prime condition for maternity. At forty any girl who has taken care of her health and not neglected physical education should be at the very peak of fitness for motherhood.

Men Are Men

I agree with you about taking Negro blood as well as the blood of the White donor, but is there any possibility of it showing up later on, if a white person received a transfusion of Negro blood? (O.E.)

Answer—None. No scientist can distinguish the blood of a Negro from the blood of a member of any other race, because there is no difference.

Appeal Made For More Red Cross Workers

Stressing the urgent necessity of more workers for the vital job of supplying comforts for the ever growing demand of the armed services both at home and overseas, the Canadian Red Cross issues the following appeal to the women of Ontario.

"Workers of all kinds are needed. More comforts for the Services are required than ever before in our history. For the first time since the outbreak of war, we have a whole Canadian army in the field, and the winter will be very long, very cold and very wet....Our Navy grows constantly and needs more and more warm woolens if it is to accomplish its tremendous task.... Our Airforce fliers at great heights where the cold is intense at all times of the year. Surely you who have always responded before so magnificently, will not fail our men in the Services in this their most critical winter.

"This appeal is sent to you at this time as the reports on the progress of quotas for nine months of this year are causing us, here at National Headquarters, very grave concern. It is evident that great numbers of our workers are still insisting on making the articles they most like to make. This is proved by the fact that helmets and sleeveless sweaters have been overshipped, whereas, to quote just one instance:—of the 55,000 long-sleeved khaki sweaters asked for, only about 12,000 have been shipped to date.

"We urge you to go to your nearest Red Cross Branch. Take whatever work is most needed, and do it as quickly as possible. It is your own personal responsibility—You are the Red Cross. You are the only ones who can do it. The need is very real and very urgent. This is the home stretch, the last long mile ....What is remembered afterwards is not with what high enthusiasm we began the job, but how we finished it. We must not, and we cannot fail."

Women's Activities

TABERNACLE W.M.S.

The monthly meeting of the Tabernacle W.M.S. was held in the Ladies' Parlor on Tuesday afternoon with a good attendance. After the singing of the opening hymn, Mrs. Izzard read a paper on "Remembrance". The reports from the different secretaries were given. A report from the W.M.S. rally held in Foxboro was given by Miss Myrtle Johns. The worship service was conducted by the President, Mrs. Frosts. The theme chosen was Galilee. Mrs. Ashley led in prayer. A vocal solo was rendered "The Stranger of Galilee", by Mrs. Cornell. The meeting was closed by al repeating the Mizpah benediction.

ASKED TO GIVE UP ARMS

London, Nov. 17 —(AP)— In the midst of a government crisis, Belgium's Premier Hubert Pierlot, in a country-wide broadcast over the Brussels radio, last night called upon members of the country's resistance movements to disband and join the regular army and surrender their arms by next Saturday "or be prosecuted with the full favor of the law."

Collegiate Actors in Annual Play Draw Rounds of Applause By Excellence of Performance

"Junior Miss" by Jerome Chodorow and Joseph Fields, a popular play of stage and radio, was greeted with enthusiastic bursts of applause by a large Belleville audience in the Collegiate Auditorium on Thursday evening, when the Belleville Collegiate Institute and Vocational School presented it for its annual school play. The first night of the play realized highly pleasing proceeds, which will be in aid of the B.C.I.V.S. Junior Red Cross Society. Between acts, the Collegiate Band, under the direction of Mr. George Maybee, contributed to the evening's program with several rousing band numbers.

"Junior Miss", a three-act comedy, centres around the life of an average American family, the Graves', and particularly around Judy Graves, the thirteen-year-old daughter who regards herself at that "woman of the world" stage. The joys, trials and tribulations of the Graves family, spiced with Judy's continual scheming with her friend Fluffy Adams to right the wrongs and settle the family difficulties, all add up to a fine entertaining evening for young and old.

The Plot.

All the scenes take place in the Graves' apartment. The Graves family is composed of the father, Harry Graves, the mother, Grace Graves, and their two daughters, Lois and Judy Graves. J. B. Curtis is Harry Graves' employer in a law firm, and the highlighting feature of the story centres around J. B. Curtis' daughter, Ellen Curtis. She works in the law firm with her father, who is very strict with her, who does not wish that she have any friends but that she stay with him all her life. Ellen is very unhappy, and one particular night when she and her father are visiting Mr. and Mrs. Graves, Judy happens to walk into the living room when Harry Graves is consoling Ellen. Judy, after seeing so many movies, dreams up a sweet romance between her father and Ellen, and immediately sets to work to see how she can right this "terrible thing that has happened in her own household". The same night, Willis Reynolds, Mrs. Graves' brother, who has been away for ten years, returns to the home of his sister, and Judy immediately becomes very fond of him. Uncle Willis is a financially broken man so he is urged to stay with the Graves until he locates himself.

Judy arranges a meeting for her uncle to meet Ellen Curtis hoping to begin a new romance. It all proves successful when Uncle Willis and Ellen fall in love with each other.

The Meeting.

On one particular day, New Year's to be exact, Mr. Curtis fully unaware of the entire setup, comes to see Harry Graves and offer him partnership in the law firm, the one thing for which Mr. Graves has been working a long time. Judy succeeds in getting him alone, and tells him about Ellen and her uncle, hoping that Mr. Curtis will give her uncle a job in his office. Mr. Curtis is enraged, at which moment his daughter Ellen and Uncle Willis appear and tell him that they were just married. A heated argument follows which ends up with Harry Graves being fired from the law firm. The following evening, however, Mr. Curtis comes to the apartment looking for his daughter Ellen, but who with her husband Willis, refuses to come out to see her father but instead hides in another part of the house. Her father meanwhile decided to wait in the living room for his daughter's return. All this time, Judy is getting ready to go to a dance with Haskell Cummings, Jr., and when Joe, the doorman downstairs, phones the apartment to say that Haskell Cummings is on his way up, Mr. Curtis answers the phone and takes the message. He believes it is Haskell Cummings, Sr., from whom Mr. Curtis has been trying to get an account. Mr. Curtis immediately believes that Harry Graves is planning on obtaining the account from Haskell Cummings with the intention of setting up a law firm of his own.

He therefore makes a compromise with Harry Graves, and asks him to become his partner in the law firm along with Uncle Willis. When Haskell Cummings finally appears the whole family, along with Ellen and Uncle Willis appears and "gets a great kick" out of the fact that Mr. Curtis thought it was Haskell Cummings Sr., coming up to the apartment instead of just his son. However, everything rights itself, and all ends well with everyone.

All members of the cast proved themselves excellent amateur actors, each one portraying his or her character to perfection.

Parts Well Played.

There was Judy Graves, played by Sylvia Youdale, a very lovable, average American girl of thirteen bubbling over with enthusiasm with everything around her; the father, Harry Graves, enacted by Donald Beavis, a very conscientious father, at times given to fits of temper and who appears as if he has so many burdens on his shoulders but just does not know how to go about solving them; the mother, Grace Graves, portrayed by Ruth Blatherwick, a good mother to her children and a good wife to her husband; Lois Graves Judy's big sister, played by Lois Wishart, a trifle proud, inclined to be snobbish, just at the stage when she is continually reprimanding her young sister in an attempt to reform her, and who is also at the particular age when "men are her biggest problem"; Fluffy Adams, played by Vera Findall, the impetuous, frivolous and boisterous girl friend of Judy's but very likeable even so; J. B. Curtis, portrayed by Stuart Wood, suave and egotistical, who loves his daughter too much to want to part with her; Ellen Curtis, enacted by Margaret Williams, a quiet and unassuming girl, who for a long time allows her father to run her life; Hilda, the Graves' maid, played by Ruth Palmer, a trifle sarcastic and "bossy", but at the same time endeavoring to be so efficient; Willis Reynolds, the role taken by George Manjuris, a somewhat bashful, quiet and retiring individual; Barlow Adams, Fluffy's brother, played by Bob Stebbings; Joe, the doorman, enacted by Wally Muir and the Western Union boy portrayed by Jack Campbell, all taking well their small roles, which added color to the story.

Then there were the men in Lois' life: Campbell Cameron as Merrill Feuerback; Gordon Watkin as Sterling Brown; Bud Cavanagh as Albert Kunody; Percy Marcus as Tommy Arbuckle; Doug Legate as Charles, and Don Boyle as Henry. Jim Watson took the part of Haskell Cummings Jr. They all richly deserve praise for their fine individual characterizations.

"Behind the Scenes".

The play was under the direction of Miss N. P. Merry and Kaye Martin. Behind the scenes there was the stage manager, Carlyle McKay; the stage crew, Don Freeman, Charles Staples, Gord Williamson, Tom Leslie, Allan McKenna, Norman Meyers, Orville Reynolds, and Don Boyle; make-up, Miss Joan Maraskas, adviser, assisted by Barbara Bews, Helen McLean, Mary Lou Pigden and Marion Bertrim; art crew, Barbara Evans, Edna Moore, Molly Camp, Margaret Taylor and Jane Maclean; sound effects, Don Leslie; house manager and advertising, Peter Laskaris; business management, Eric Toms.

Plainfield U.C. Observes 75th Anniversary

Plainfield. — Anniversary services in Plainfield United Church on Sunday, Nov. 12, were well attended by people from the other appointments of the pastoral charge as well as by the Plainfield members of the congregation. Also a goodly number of visitors from outside points were in attendance.

The thank-offering amounted to $448 in cash. Other gifts brought the total up to over $490.

Seventy-five years ago the church was built, the ground being given by the Mott family who pioneered and cleared the property now known as the Harrison farm on a portion of which the church stands. William Henry Garrison, son of pioneer Edward Garrison, was the contractor and a man by the name of Kaiser did the brick and stone work.

And so this year, 1944, is the seventy-fifth—the Diamond Jubilee—anniversary of the building of the church.

This Fall the church has been redecorated and painted, the work being done by Mr. Stillman Gay and Mr. Arthur Hall at a cost of $380. The Young Women's Class of the Sunday School presented the congregation with a beautiful silk flag and standard which was suitably dedicated to the memory of the boys serving in the war. The Y.P.U. had the pulpit chairs refinished and freshly upholstered. Also new matting has been laid down in the aisles. A very beautiful basket of flowers was placed on the altar table by Mrs. Bernice Moore in memory of her father and mother.

The Rev. M. O. Price of Actinolite was the preacher at both services and gave two splendid addresses of a very practical nature. The choir, that rendered two anthems in the morning and three at night, was ably assisted by Mr. Ernest Tummon, of Foxboro.

The trustees and officials desire to thank those who so generously came forth with their offerings which will more than meet all costs of redecorating and painting.

Arvida, Que., Nov. 17 (CP) — Selective Service officials here already have started the task of finding new jobs for the thousands of workers who will be laid off shortly from the five plants of Aluminum Company of Canada Limited in the Saguenay River district, it was learned here last night.

Increase Foreseen In Canned Goods

W.P.T.B. Promises More Tinned Fruits, Vegetables For Canadian Households

So long as the Canadian housewife is able to wield her old reliable can-opener, there will be no need for anyone in this country to go hungry during Canada's sixth war winter.

For, while canned fruits are still on the rationed lists of the Wartime Prices and Trade Board, there will be considerably more of them on store shelves than there were last winter.

There will also be more canned vegetables available than last winter, with the exception of beets, pumpkin and squash, and as usual no ration coupons will be required for their purchase.

And not only will there be more fruits and vegetables for sale, but they will continue to be sold at (and very often under) ceiling prices, for the Prices Board has taken steps to assure that the price of those canned goods will not rise to inflationary heights.

Housewives who searched vainly from store to store last winter looking for canned peaches will rejoice to learn that the pack of peaches in 1944 was increased by 274 per cent over the pack of 1943, or, in pounds, there were 23,000,000 pounds packed this year as compared with 6,142,000 last year.

There was an increase of 183 per cent in the loganberry pack; 127 in the pack of apricots; 76 per cent in raspberries; 63 per cent in cherries, and good increase in pears.

The increase in the vegetable pack has not been so outstanding, although there was a 60 per cent increase in the canned tomato juice pack; 43 per cent more output in corn; 33 per cent more peas canned; and 21 per cent more beans.

At the same time there was a 100 per cent decrease in the field of canned strawberries, for none was canned this year, the fruit being requisitioned for the making of jam. There was also a decrease in the pack of rhubarb, blackberries and blueberries, due to the fact that this production was increased tremendously last year owing to the shortage of other fruits, such as peaches.

There was a decrease in the pack of pumpkin and squash to the point of 16 per cent, and in spinach to the tune of 14 per cent, this year as compared with last.

The overall picture in Canadian foods is good with 1944 estimates of potato acreage showing an increase in many provinces, promising ample volume this year, and the supply situation with regard to onions is equally favorable.

Armed forces requirements of canned fruits are similar to those of last year, and, as in 1943, canners are required to hold in reserve specified percentages of their stocks ranging from 15 to 25 per cent, but nevertheless, the amounts made available for the public will be gratifying.

The armed forces needs of canned vegetables are not expected to exceed last year's, so the quantity for civilian consumption will be substantially greater, due to increased packs.

The supply of canned soups is also expected to be good, estimates showing a 14 per cent increase over 1943, and there should also be an abundance of baby foods, for processors are allowed to pack up to 300 per cent of their 1941 output as compared with 134 per cent last year.

Estimated production of marmalade is 44 per cent lower than last year, though the figure does not indicate a shortage as stocks are high, and the quantity of jam and jelly available to civilians is expected to be about the same as last year.

GRECO FACES TEST

New York, Nov. 17. (CP)—Montreal's Johnny Greco faces one of his biggest tests tonight. He'll enter a New York ring for the first time as a welterweight to face Bobby Ruffin in a scheduled 10-round bout which Promoter Mike Jacobs says will draw 15,000 to Madison Square Garden. Both Greco and Ruffin little more than a year ago were outstanding contenders for the lightweight championship of the world.

SCHRINER LINE HELD SCORELESS IN BOTH GAMES

Detroit Red Wings Took Advice of Their Manager, Jack Adams

(By ERIC SANDERSON)
(Canadian Press Staff Writer)

Jack Adams' Detroit Red Wings may not have discovered a way to beat all the teams in the National Hockey League but it seems apparent they have at least hit upon a formula for victory over Toronto Maple Leafs.

The Wings, with four wins and three losses to their credit, took the advice of their boss to "stop the Carr-Schriner-Bodnar line and you'll stop the whole Toronto team". In doing just that, Detroit became the first team to defeat the Leafs in the 1944-45 campaign.

Last Sunday they stopped Toronto's winning streak at six games when they registered a 4-3 victory on home ice and on Wednesday chalked up an 4-4 win at Toronto.

In both games, the Redshirts held scoreless Dave (Sweeney) Schriner, 31-year-old veteran from Calgary, who returned to the N.H.L. after a year's absence in the Canadian Navy, Lorne Carr, also of Calgary, and Gus Bodnar of Fort William, last year's winner of the rookie of the year award.

In all previous games the "dynamite" line of the Leafs had paved the way to victory and Schriner had scored at least one goal in each game to take over top spot in the individual point-getting race.

The Detroit Club doesn't boast of an all-powerful line such as the Carr-Schriner-Bodnar combination, but Adams has worked several newcomers in with his veterans who are proving hard to stop.

Among the top snipers is Jerome (Jud) McAtee of Stratford, Ont., who scored 34 goals for Cleveland Barons of the American Hockey League last season and at present is 10th among N.H.L. point getters. He is playing on a line with Murray Armstrong, formerly with Toronto and the now-defunct Brooklyn Americans, and Joe Carveth, another product of the A.H.L.

Rookies Ted Lindsay of Kirkland Lake, Ont., and Steve Wochy of Fort William, also are going strong on lines with veteran members of the club.

15,000 EXPECTED TO WITNESS GAME AT TORONTO SAT.

Hamilton Wildcats Play Balmy Beach With Nine-Point Lead

Toronto, Nov. 17 — (CP) — If advance demand for tickets is any indication, more than 15,000 football fans will be in Toronto's Varsity Stadium tomorrow to see the deciding game of the Ontario Rugby Football Union championship play-offs between Hamilton Wildcats and Toronto Balmy Beach.

Boasting a nine-point lead on the round in the two-game points-to-count series, the Wildcats are heavy favorites to at least win the round although Beach team is looked on as a better than even money bet to win the game.

With triple threat Joe Krol and middle wing Abe Zvonkin slated to take the field, the Wildcats not only are confident they can win the round but that they can take the game as well. Both players were absent — Krol because of influenza and Zvonkin because of a wrestling injury — when Wildcats won the first game of the series 13-4 in Hamilton last Saturday.

Inside wing George Mountain, who suffered a finger injury at his work Wednesday, is the only doubtful Hamilton starter.

Beaches will be at full strength and coach Alex Ponton said that "before we're through out there Saturday the Wildcats will know they've been in a game."

Ponton said he wouldn't go so far as to make any glowing predictions about Beaches winning the Saturday contest by a wide enough margin to take the Union title "but I'm sure our fellows won't make the same mistakes we did last Saturday in the first game of the series when our own misplays beat us."

The wave of criticism, both in the papers and from their supporters, which followed last Saturday's game has simply served to strengthen the Beach determination to win.

The time the Toronto team has spent this week in perfecting its running and passing plays leads football observers to the conclusion that they plan a wide-open game of football in an effort to overhaul the Wildcats.

Victory for the Hamilton team would give them their second successive Union title and their third in four years. They won in 1941 and 1943, taking the Dominion title last year as well.

PROVIDENCE REDS TAKE 4-3 WIN

By The Canadian Press

Manager Yank Boyd slipped into the battle at Providence last night to help Reds make a 4-3 lead thru the third period of an American Hockey League game with Indianapolis Capitals but the two points collected did not alter the standings in the eastern division of the league other than to lift the Reds within three games of the deadlocked Buffalo Bisons and Hershey Bears.

Courteau of Reds and Thomson of Caps traded goals in the first period and Pete Leswick lifted Indianapolis into the lead early in the second period. Bellemare tied the count and goals by Rollie Forget and Jack Lavoie sent the Reds ahead. Hewson added a third for the Capitals before the period ended.

The teams remain idle tonight but in week-end encounters Pittsburgh Hornets visit Cleveland Barons and Indianapolis meets Hershey Saturday, while on Sunday, Indianapolis will play at Buffalo and Hershey at

BOMBER BEAU AND HIS BELLE

An 8th Army Air Force bomber navigator, Lieut. Nathan B. Abramowitz, of Brooklyn, N.Y., is shown taking an archery lesson from his pretty wife on the beach at Atlantic City. The Lieutenant is at this A.A.F. centre for examinations and interviews before being re-assigned to the air forces. Archery is one of the many sports the A.A.F. combat veterans can indulge in, at the resort while waiting new assignments.

Toronto, Nov. 16—(CP)—A minor tempest of protest was stirred up by Al Ritchie when he said the football teams of today might be just as good in some ways as the best of the past, but they didn't have the savvy when it came to inside and smart plays. The foxy Regina coach listed some of the current "deficiencies" in clever play as: fake lateral passes, forward pass defence, tackling the proper way, defence against tackling by proper pivoting and swivelling, the good old straight arm, kicking to open field and breaking fast with the ball . . . He told that to Dave (Regina Leader-Post) Dryburgh, then Herb Manning reproduces it in his Winnipeg Tribune column, and was swamped by angry protests from football enthusiasts in the 'Peg who argued by the thousands of words that teams of recent vintage have paid exceedingly good attention to all those points, and others . . . These arguments pop up in every sport from time to time, but this promises to be a good one.

Feminine Emancipation Section:

Now that the American Canoe Association has lifted the ban on women entering paddling competitions, Bobby (Toronto Globe and Mail) Rosenfeld foresees the day soon when inter-club competition is which is under the jurisdiction of put on the sport map in Canada, the A.C.A. Cut those ripples, girls!

Demon Statistician Wanted:

The Quebec Senior Hockey League, rolling merrily on its way, chalked up nearly 150 scoring points in the first five games of gala goal-getting. Bill (Ottawa Journal) Westwick predicts the league probably will be looking for a new score-keeper before long if that keeps up. Either that, or more adding machines will be needed.

Incidentally:

The recent U. S. elections may have an indirect bearing on the revival of wrestling on the west coast. Carl Robertson of the Vancouver News-Herald notes that Arthur Langlie, Republican representative in Washington State, long a bitter opponent of wrestling in Seattle, has been defeated by the Democratic candidate. Wrestling was banned in Seattle after a wrestler was killed, and that had an adverse effect on the sport in Vancouver. Now the promoters are hoping the new Congressman will bring down a new ruling . . . George Ritchie, former starry defenceman with Oshawa Generals, has been medically discharged from the army and is trying out with Toronto Staffords, senior entry. He spent four years in khaki, and was a captain when discharged.

Toronto, Nov. 17 — (CP) — Get Oshawa department: When the news came out that the Manitoba Amateur Hockey Association was keeping all junior players at home, but one Jackie Gibson had escaped to Oshawa Generals, there was some gnashing of teeth among Oshawa's rivals . . . Commented Al (Brantford Expositor) Rose: "Santa Claus paid a pre-season visit to Oshawa."

Son Going Astray:

Instead of following in the footsteps of his noted dad, Dick Irvin junior is pursuing a "journalistic" career as sports editor of his high school paper in Regina. Dick senior plans to move the family east to better pigeon-raising grounds in the Niagara peninsula, so Bill Gayson in the Niagara Falls Evening Review suggests the youngster some day might be writing sports for one of the dailies in the area. Wonder if he would pan pop?

It's a Tough Fight:

English rugger followers on the west coast are struggling to keep the game alive despite an acute player shortage caused by that man Hitler. Things have been so bad, they have been using only 9 men a team instead of the regulation 40 minute halves played in McKecknie Cup finals for the British Columbia title, and the 35 minutes usually played in other games.

Despite all that, the game is more solidly established than ever, reports Herb Munro in the Vancouver News-Herald. That's true especially among the youngsters, with Vancouver sporting a four-team league, while there are 12 high school teams, compared with only four in 1935.

The future of the game looks safe enough.

Incidentally:

Scollard Hall, a boys' college in North Bay, Ont., is up in arms. The boys wanted to tackle St. Michael's of Toronto in a north-south football play-off, after trimming all opposition from neighboring northern Ontario centres, but they couldn't promote a meeting. The Scollardites vow they will try again next year . . . the N.H.L. presidential race may be open again now that Jim Norris of Detroit Red Wings has come out in favor of Red Dutton. Norris figures Dutton could do things for the game if the league let him have a free hand to put his progressive plans in effect . . .

Sport Roundup

By HUGH FULLERTON, JR.
(Associated Press Sports Writer)

New York, Nov. 17 —(AP)— From a bomber squadron in France, Cpl. Doug Gary reports: "The World Series was thicker than snow in the Rockies here. Everybody pulled for the Browns and when they won one the camp went wild and they all stayed up to listen to the remaining games (they started at 7:30 our time) . . . Several Frenchmen asked me about the outcome of the World Series." . . . Vivian Morrow of Utica, N.Y., broke a finger on her right hand playing softball but that doesn't keep her from bowling in three different leagues. She merely switched to left-handed bowling. . . . Last word on the Army-Notre Dame game (from Scout Jack Lavelle): "They couldn't hit me; I was up in the upper stands."

Another Good Plan.

Military authorities in Bermuda have been trying to drum up an Army - Navy series (not just one game) during January, but when Coach Joe Maniaci of the Bainbridge Naval Training Centre was invited to contribute himself and eight players to the Navy squad, the word went back that Joe could not be spared from his duties in the Provost Marshal's division for a month nor could the players get away for so long without replacements. . . . It would be swell for Bermuda's servicemen but tough on Bainbridge.

RUMORED LANDIS MAY RETIRE AS COMMISSIONER

League Officials Meet to Take Procedure in Event He Does Resign

Chicago, Nov. 17 (AP)—Rumors that baseball Commissioner Kenesaw M. Landis was ready to retire were rife today as a group of Major League officials met to consider the big league agreement which, among other things, provides for procedure to be taken in event of a vacancy in the office.

For the past several months there have been unconfirmed reports in baseball circles that Judge Landis, who assumed baseball's highest office when the present Major League pact was signed Jan. 12, 1921, was not to be a candidate for re-election when the agreement expires Jan. 12, 1946. The rumors have increased since his recent illness which has confined him to hospital for the last six weeks.

William Harridge, American League President, in announcing today's meeting, said only the officials will "give consideration to the Major League agreement which perpetuates the office of baseball commissioner." He added that the recommendations of the joint committee will be submitted for consideration at the annual Major League meeting here next month.

The Major League pact, as now in force, provides for the procedure to be followed in event of the resignation or death of Judge Landis during his term, or the expiration of his term.

Other parts of the agreement cover the respective playing territories of the majors, player limits, uniform contracts, waiver prices, and other phases of the game.

Post-War Planning Committee's Report Proposes Higher Wages for Players; Not Well Received by Commentators

By ALLAN NICKELSON
(Canadian Press Staff Writer)

London, Nov. 17. (CP)—Re-organization of big-time football after the war with professional players on a part-time basis, yet with increased wages, is the outstanding point of the report of the Football League Post-War Planning Committee which has been circulated to clubs throughout England and Wales.

The proposal for peaceful professional wages suggested that maximum wages be increased by £1 ($4.50) to £9 in the playing season £7 a week in the Summer season. The committee added that it was "most desirable" that every league player be engaged or trained in some additional form of employment.

The authoritative weekly, "The Sporting Life", said that "judged as a whole it is a most disappointing document". The report was published after the Replanning Committee, consisting of nine Management Committee members and six club representatives, met variously from October, 1943, to July, 1944.

Writing in the London Daily Sketch as to the players proposal, L. V. Manning asked "what is to stop the rich club finding an extravagantly paid job for a wanted player if by a miracle the work-and-play plan goes through?"

If the European war ends between May and the end of September the committee proposes to institute Victory League and Cup competitions as soon as possible. If hostilities have not ceased by October, 1945, the existing wartime competitions will be continued and victory competitions started the following season.

Back to Old System.

Under the Victory League competitions there would be a return of the league to its pre-war system of four divisions— first, second, etc., with the same clubs taking part. Under wartime conditions various divisions were abolished and the clubs divided into League North, League South and League West, according to their geographical location. This has helped solve the transport problem in that it slashed distance of travel.

During a transitional period of undetermined duration after the war the clubs would not have the promotion and relegation system of pre-war whereby a First Division club which was a "week sister" could be dropped into the Second Division, with a strong Second Division team moving up in its place.

Guest players in that transition period would be limited to six by any club for any game, this number to gradually be reduced until "guests" eventually are eliminated. The suggested maximum match fee would be £4 for a club's own player and £2 for a guest.

The "guest" system was born of wartime to allow clubs to fill depleted ranks with players of other teams who might be stationed with the armed forces in the vicinity of the depleted club. Therefore, a player belonging to Birmingham, for instance, might find himself playing for Hartlepool against his own club because he happened to be stationed in Hartlepool district and Hartlepool needed a player or so to fill out their roster for the match.

The committee proposal not to set a limit to transfer fees is expected to arouse controversy at the annual meeting, but the clause stating that no transfer will be registered until the fee has been paid may mean the end of five-figure deals.

CASUAL COMMENT
by K.J.C.

One Sunday morning, just before service, a note was handed up to the Rev. Henry Ward Beecher. Opening it, the famous clergyman discovered that it contained the simple word: "Fool."

Mr. Beecher arose, described the communication to his congregation, and added with becoming seriousness, "I have known many an instance of a man writing a letter and forgetting to sign his name, but this is the only instance I have ever known of a man signing his name and forgetting to write the letter."

Star Studded Teams.

All across Canada they are boasting of the great service hockey teams set up from coast to coast. Winnipeg has Wally Stanowski, Alfie Pike, Mel Colville et al. There is a galaxy of former professionals in Edmonton, while Ottawa of course vies with London, Camp Borden or Kingston.

However, when it comes to named players the Quinte R.C.A.F. service hockey league doesn't have to take a back seat to any of the service loops across the Dominion. Recently FO. Jimmie McCaa and FO. Jess Fitton, sports officers at Mountain View and Trenton main station respectively, concluded arrangements to operate the Quinte service hockey league at the Hume arena again this winter with four teams in the fold. They will play each Monday and Wednesday night with teams entered from the Mountain View School of Gunnery, Trenton main station, No. 6 Repair Depot and either the Kingston R.C.A.F. or Deseronto airport as a fourth entry. For the past two seasons the Quinte service loop has been productive of some strong hockey, a fact well proven when Mountain View advanced to the No. 1 Training Command finals both years, winning one command championship.

FO. Jess Fitton, formerly of Toronto, is now chief sports officer at Trenton and naturally was quite elated when FO. Johnny McCready former Toronto Maple Leaf centre-ice star, was recently posted here as an instructor. McCready will fit in nicely for a complete line made up of Mike Dzurla, former New Haven snipester, and Paul Raymond, ex-Les Canadien smoothie and ranking scorer with Trenton last year. Padre Mlaki will again coach the Trenton sextette, that has several ranking amateurs and minor league pucksters to help their No. 1 line.

Over at Mountain View Don Gallinger, former Boston Bruin star, reported for training last week and will line up with the 1943-44 league champions. Last year the "Bombers" had Johnny McCreavy, also with Boston the previous season and a tower of strength to the Bombers' offensive play. No doubt the perennial Dan Cowley, brother of Boston Bill Cowley, will again bolster the Mountain View defence and captain the team, while the whereabouts of goalie Claude Bourke, another Les Canadien star of former years has not been announced, but it's safe betting FO. McCaa will have a sound net-minder if Bourke has been posted away from the local bombing station. This synopsis is a bare outline of the former big leaguers known to be available for hockey in the Quinte loop. However, with talk of the No. 1 Training Command headquarters being transferred to Trenton there may be changes made before the New Year. (But for the good of hockey here!)

Around the Town.

Les Shiels' B.C.I. senior football squad went, saw and conquered Albert College in their first senior Inter scholastic game of the season. . . Doug Legate's 35 yard run for a touchdown was the only major score, as the players on both squads found it difficult to carry the pigskin. . . . Yes, they do hit 'em harder in the men's game, fellas. . . . However, the general concensus of opinion among the Collegiate players was that the game possesses much more than the bob-tailed six-man variety and another year will see a stronger B.C.I. squad out and early enough to compete in the COSSA playdowns. . . . As it is the Collegiate will meet St. Mike's next Tuesday in a sudden death game with the winner then clashing with Stirling High for the Bay of Quinte senior interscholastic football title.

Remember When.

"Tiger" Flowers, former world's middleweight boxing champion, died in New York 14 years ago yesterday following a minor operation for the removal of a growth over his left eye. The only negro to hold the middleweight title, Flowers reached the pinnacle of his career in Feb. 1926, with a 15-round decision over Harry Greb. He later lost the crown to Mickey Walker.

Then Bobby Jones, king of the amateur golfers, abdicated his throne 14 years ago today. Then 28 years old and winner of 13 national titles, including four "majors" in 1930, the Georgian quit the amateur ranks to make a series of motion pictures on golf. He joined the United States army at the outbreak of the present war. The State of Georgia also gave sport Ty Cobb of baseball fame.

LESSON NO. 534

By SAM GORDON

The Kibitzer

Emit a cackle at Jeering Jackal who scorns the rules like dirt. For, late or sooner, he pulls a bloomer that makes him lose his shirt.

Many a rule-hater favors only two kinds of openings; one bids and four bids. With a hand that looks as if it should try for game, he starts with four. With any other, he starts with one.

As his partner, you are always guessing. Is his strength all in one suit or spread over his whole hand? Will your responses be taken as weakness or encouragement?

Thus, your pair fails to reach many makable games and slams. Or many unmakable games are bid. Or too often your contracts end in the wrong suit or in no-trump instead of your best suit.

Take a hand like this:

♠ A K Q 8 7 5 2
♥ A Q 6
♦ 9 6
♣ 5

If such a partner opens that hand with one spade, you don't know he has so many tricks or such a strong suit. Because a one bid shows a minimum of five tricks and a suit that may be barely biddable.

If he opens with four spades, you don't know he has such good outside strength in case you have slam help. Because such a four bid is supposed to deny having an outside sure trick.

Suppose he has warned you: "My four bids say I want to try for a game in this suit. It may or may not have outside strength." Then you don't know when to pass or invite a slam.

Suppose he has warned you: "My four bids are always strong in suit and outside of my suit." Then, he never has a chance to show you a hand with a good long suit and no outside strength.

That's why we use a three bid for length and strength; a four bid for length only. To tell partner exactly what to expect. And so, the correct opening with this hand is three spades.

When bidding is clear, there's nothing to fear.

Mountain View

Mountain View—Congratulations to Mr. and Mrs. Willet Barber (nee Dora Lewis) who were married on Wednesday afternoon at Bridge Street United Church, Belleville.

Miss Laura Way spent the weekend at the home of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. James Way of Bowerman's.

Fiery, Itching Toes and Feet

Here is a clean, stainless antiseptic oil that will do more to help you get rid of your trouble than anything you've ever used.

Its action is so powerfully penetrating that the itching is quickly stopped; and in a short time you are rid of that bothersome, fiery itching. The same is true of Barber's Itch, Salt Rheum, Eczema—other irritating unsightly skin troubles.

You can obtain Moone's Emerald Oil in the original bottle at any modern drug store. It is safe to use—and failure in any of the ailments noted above is rare indeed.

HMCS DONACONNA READY FOR TEST AGAINST TORONTO

Will Team Up With H.M.C.S. St. Hyacinthe to Present Smart Club

Montreal, Nov. 17 — (CP) — The Combines of H.M.C.S. Donacona and H.M.C.S. St. Hyacinthe, champions of the Quebec Rugby Football Union, will field a strong team Saturday against H.M.C.S. York of Toronto in the Canadian Navy Football championship final. Players from many parts of Eastern Canada are in the lineup and coach Glen Brown has whipped together a smart club.

Whether the Montreal sailors will have sufficient weight to turn back the Toronto tars remains to be seen, but they already have captured the Eastern Canadian Navy championship as a result of their victory over Halifax Navy.

The Combines have suffered one defeat at the hands of an Ontario team this year — they lost 3-1 to University of Western Ontario—but they draw some satisfaction that their Toronto opponents in Saturday's contest lost 21-14 to the same team.

Brown, who once starred with the Montreal Big Four club and Ohio State, along with Steve Levantis, former Queen's University and Toronto Argos star, and Pat Santucci who was with the champion Hamilton Wildcats last year, are the mainstays of the line which has a number of newcomers, including John Crincich as snap, Mickey McCall at middle, and Don Webb and George Bainbridge as insides. Jack Wedley, another Argos star, holds down one of the end berths.

Al Hurley who helped Western win the Intercollegiate title in 1939 is at quarter and Dutch Davey, star of last year's Halifax Navy team, handles the kicking and plunging. Bucko McLeod and Roy Kirbyson complete the first string.

What's Doing in Sport

(By The Canadian Press)

Danny Webb, Montreal negro featherweight, outpointed Tommy McGlinchey, Clydebank fighter, in an eight-round match at Glasgow last night. Webb weighed 127 pounds and McGlinchey 127 1-2.

A 1945 schedule of 126 games, with the opening contests slated for May 1, was adopted yesterday at Buffalo by Pony Baseball League officials. They also elected William J. Schumacher, Buffalo, owner of the Lockport Club, as Vice President to succeed Fred Herring of the Hornell Club.

Triple-threat Joe Krol, who has been ill for the last ten days with a severe attack of influenza, will probably see action in some part of tomorrow's deciding game of the Ontario Rugby Football Union Championship play-off between Hamilton Wildcats and Toronto Balmy Beach, it was announced at Hamilton last night. Krol, who led the O.R.F.U. in scoring this season and was the mainstay of the Hamilton team, was back at his accustomed place in the backfield during last night's practice.

The opening guns in the Belleville "Y" Girls' Basketball League were fired last night when a twin bill was played with the "White Streaks" edging the Black Shirts 25 to 23, while the Red Devils beat the Blue Flashes 20 to 17. Both games were productive of strong defensive basketball, as the final scores indicate.

When Ruth Oliphant got her directions mixed and dribbled the length of the floor to score in her own basket it ultimately proved the two points difference between the Black Shirts (23) and the White Streaks (25) game. At that Miss Oliphant was the principal scorer with the losers getting eight points while D. Dobbs shot six. The scoring for the winners was quite even with G. Bennett, Ev Allison and B. LaParde each getting six points. The White Streaks led 16 to 7 at the halfway mark.

In the nightcap the Red Devils scored ten points in each half to beat the Blue Streaks 20 to 17. Helen Garrow with eight and Nina Lepore and Peg Ronsky with six each paced the winners. Betty Gilbert and Marion Salisbury headed the Blue Streaks in the scoring column. Ed Shortt refereed both games. Doubleheaders are played each Thursday night at the "Y".

TED REEVE WOUNDED

Toronto, Nov. 17 — (CP) — The Toronto Telegram says today in a dispatch from W. T. Cranfield, its London correspondent, that Gnr. Ted Reeve, widely-known Canadian sport columnist, is in hospital in England recovering from a broken elbow received in Belgium. There was no explanation of how Reeve, who went overseas with Major Conny Smythe and his Sportsman's Battery, received his injury.

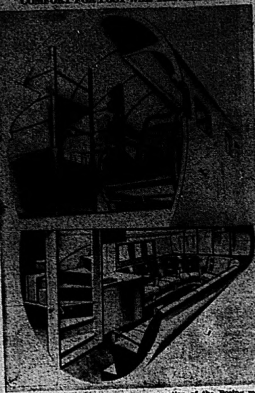
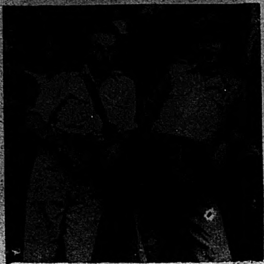
COMFORT FOR POST-WAR TRAVELLERS



This artist's cutaway sketch of a cross-section of the Boeing model 377 post-war transport, gives you an idea of the luxurious appointments of this great stratocruiser designed for post-war travel. It illustrates the two-deck feature of the plane. The upper deck of this model is used for day passenger seats, convertible into berths, while the lower rear cabin is a combination observation, dining and cocktail lounge. Ship will sleep 36 or seat 72 passengers.

WORKED WITH GUERILLAS FOR 2 YEARS



A "now it can be told" story was revealed recently, when Ensign Edwin J. Beattie, U.S.N.R., 21, Lapeer, Michigan, left, brought 2nd Lieut. Joseph F. St. John, right, 24, Philadelphia, back to U. S. lines at Leyte, the Philippines. When Beattie 'chuted to earth from his damaged navy FM-2 fighter plane, he landed near a guerilla village where he found St. John, an army signal corps officer who had been working with Filipino guerillas against the Japs for two years on Leyte and Mindanao Islands. This is the first picture to be made of St. John since the story was revealed and he rejoined U. S. forces.

GYPSY BLOOD

By MARGARET NORRIS

CHAPTER 11

"Let's get out of here," she said to Greta. But Greta's eyes were suspiciously bright. "Don't be a wet blanket," was her only reply.

It was long after midnight when Anna, by dint of her entire strength, marshalled her forces for departure and got everyone in the car. Stocky was swaying at the wheel. Ed was no more able to control it. Greta had passed into oblivion the moment she fell on the cushions. Anna propped up Stocky as best she could with one hand of her own on the wheel. She who had never before been in a car, was going to help steer them home.

Even at this grim, bleak hour traffic was by no means clear. The road was full of tricky, shifting lights rising unexpectedly from nowhere, whirring by, perilously close. Ed was shouting, "Step on it, Stocky," in a maudlin sort of way. But Stocky didn't need this advice. He was stepping on it a-plenty. Anna's heart smashed against her ribs as they teetered around the corners.

She prayed that they might be on the right road. Stocky was too sleepy to notice. They should be almost home by this time. It seemed they had been riding for hours.

Then out of the darkness a blinding light. Stocky swerved from his course to miss it. Anna pulled on the wheel with her might and main—if Stocky would only help more! It happened all in a flash—a hideous roar, a screech of brakes applied too late—a moment of exquisite agony—then blessed oblivion.

Anna opened her eyes. It was daylight and the sun was streaming through the window of a room filled with narrow white beds, in one of which she lay.

She tried to sit up—but a sharp twinge of pain made her quite content to lie still and glimpse what she could by just moving her head. Everywhere she looked lay a woman, pallid as the sheets themselves, very still, eyes closed as though they were dead. Was she herself dead, too?

The woman in the next bed turned and opened her eyes with a feeble greeting to Anna. Anna smiled back. No, she was not dead, and this must be a hospital. But what was she doing here, and why?

Out of the dim maze of her consciousness she gathered a few tangled threads. The swaying road, the blinding lights, the crash—no, she remembered. There must have been an accident. And she had not been killed!

But what about Greta and Stocky and Ed? Were they in the same room? She would sit up to see better. But again that warning twinge!

Convinced of the fact of her own existence Anna began to wonder how near dead she was. She could move her head and roll her eyes, and—yes, she could wriggle her toes. She could even kick a little, though she felt none too energetic; as for her arms—the right one was quite sound but the left—what had happened to it? It lay at her side like a great stone post, quite lifeless, no feeling whatever. The only thing to prove it was an arm, not just a dead weight at her shoulder, were the tips of four little fingers escaping below the bandage.

Anna was thankful enough to be this much alive, but she could be very much happier if she knew that Greta and Stocky and Ed were at least no deader than she was.

A nurse in uniform entered the room, came over and smiled down upon her.

"How do you feel this morning?"

"Kind o'—funny. Am I going to die?"

"Of course not. What makes you ask that question?"

"I thought people came to the hospital to die."

"You funny child, they come here to get well."

"But how did I get here, and why?"

"You were in an accident last night. You broke your arm and got bruised; nothing else."

a cripple?"

"You'll soon be right as rain. You should be out before Christmas."

"But Greta and the boys? Where are they?"

"I don't know. I have only this ward."

"Oh, dear, I hope they weren't killed."

"See here, little girl, if you want to get well you must lie still and not talk." The nurse tip toed away to the other patients, leaving Anna feeling very forlorn. She tried to enumerate her blessings but began to weep instead, first softly, into her pillow, then louder until her sobs shook the bed and disturbed the whole room. Then just as suddenly she fell asleep.

"Nan, Oh, Nan! Please look at me!"

The voice seemed to come from a-far! Was she only dreaming she heard it? Then it came again. "Nan! wake up, Nan!" There was only one person in the world called her Nan. She opened her eyes. There stood Greta—a very subdued little Greta, ten years older than yesterday, her once bright cheeks as white as chalk, her bright eyes tear stained and ringed with dark.

"Oh, Nan!"

Greta was on her knees by the bed, covering Anna's face with kisses. "They told me you were in the hospital but I thought they said it to deceive me. I was so afraid you were dead, too."

Little Benny's Note Book

Pop was smoking the 2nd half of his first cigar and ma was reading her new lyberry book, and she looked at the last page, saying, Well, Dick marries Izzabel in the end, so goodness knows what becomes of Clawdia. Well, that's quite a surprise, ma said.

It seems you can have your surprise and eat it too as far as books are concerned, pop said. For Peet sake if you're sattisfied to read books hind end foremost, how is it you refuse to see a movie if somebody tells you the plot in advance? he said, and ma said, The 2 cases are entirely different and I can explain why.

I wish you would, pop said. It would clear up one of the big mysteries of my life and enable me to put my mind on more constructive matters, he said, and ma said, Well, when I read a book I feel I am in control of the situation, and if I choose to peek at the way it ends it's a matter between myself and my own conscience. Furthermore if I dont happen to enjoy the book as much as I expected, I feel at least I've put something over on the author by having unearthed his little secret from the very first. Is that clear so far? she said.

So far so good, pop said, and ma said, Well now at a movie where I'm unable to get up and leave without forfitting the price of admission, I feel I'm at the mercy of the picture instead of the other way around in the case of a book that I've probably merely borrowed or got from the lyberry. Isn't that plain enough? she said, and pop said, Well, I believe I see a vague ray of light, I mean the thing seems to make a small amount of sense if I stop thinking.

Oh, you're just trying to win an argument that you know you've already lost, ma said.

And she went back to the first part of the book and pop got behind the sporting page claiming it was a woman's world.

TORONTO STOCKS

Toronto, Nov. 17 —(CP)— The base metal stocks posted a small gain at noon today and the other groups were slightly lower, especially the golds and industrials. Volume was small at 223,000 shares for the first three hours.

Wasa Lake came into the spot light and traded heavily on a gain of 8 cents to 1.16 and Beattie held a gain of 10 cents on good volume. McKenzie sold down to 1.50, off 9 and other weak golds were Dome, Pickle Crow, O'Brien, Cochenour Willans and Aubelle.

Steep Rock was off 3 cents to 2.61, Nickel lost ¼ and Hudson Bay and Nornada were stronger.

Prices were a bit heavy in the industrial section for the senior oils and utilities. Liquor and food stocks showed little change and in the construction group small fractions were added by Dominion Tar and Canadian Dredge. Western oils held steady on the whole. Pacific refineries gained a cent or two.

EXCELLENT CROP YEAR IN ONTARIO

October Report Says All Crops Average Normal or Above

Toronto, Nov. 17 —(CP)— The Ontario Department of Agriculture in its October crop report issued today said this has been an excellent crop year throughout the province with all crops averaging normal or above. Weather had been ideal for completion of harvesting and there had been little loss through rain or frost.

Lack of moisture, however, had interfered with fall ploughing, particularly on heavy soils, but it was expected an increased number of tractors would permit a normal acreage to be turned over before the freeze-up.

The general condition of fall wheat, winter barley and rye was excellent. New seedings looked promising but were reported as below average in Prince Edward, Kent, Glengarry and Renfrew counties.

The alsike crop for seed production was almost a complete failure in 1944, but yields of red clover and alfalfa seed were considered fairly satisfactory.

Winter Feeding.

Much of the carry-over of hay for the past two years will be required this year for winter feeding as a result of a shortage of roughage, the report said.

There was an excellent demand for hay from the United States and several carloads had been exported recently.

Total grain harvested this year was estimated at 159,230,000 bushels compared with 88,829,200 bushels in 1943. Total hay crops and corn fodder at 10,067,900 tons compared with last year's figures of 11,017,000. Potatoes were 8,506,000 cwt. as against 7,552,000 cwt. a year ago.

FATAL TO MANY

Appendicitis proves fatal to more than 13,000 people in the United States every year.

WALL STREET

New York, Nov. 17 — (AP) — A few stocks managed to take on a further mild recovery tinge in today's market but leaders generally exhibited scant rising tendencies. Most customers were reluctant to extend commitments because of the usual week-end caution. Dealings were slack and fractional irregularity prevailed near the fourth hour.

Ahead at intervals were Goodrich, Montgomery Ward, Du Pont, United Aircraft, Johns-Manville, Kennecott and Union Carbide. Backward were U. S. Steel, Bethlehem, General Motors, Boeing, Sperry, American Telephone, and Eastman Kodak. Canadian issues were steady posting fractional gains.

HOGS

Toronto, Nov. 17—(CP)—Prices were unchanged at bacon-hog markets reporting early today. Dressedweight, Grade A, delivered, Hamilton and London $17.50, Barrie and Hull $17.40, Stratford, to farmers $17.40, to truckers $17.55.

Janitor Confesses To Slaying Of Two Women

Los Angeles, Nov. 17. (AP)—A woman will be questioned by police today in an effort to determine if Otto Steve Wilson, 31-year-old janitor, was attempting to lure her to the same death which he has stated in a signed confession was the previous fate at his hands of two other women—slaying and mutilation.

Wilson was chatting at a bar with the third woman Wednesday when a patrolman handcuffed and arrested him shortly after the two other bodies were discovered in separate hotels.

Capt. Thad Brown, head of the Police Homicide Bureau, said Wilson, discharged navy pharmacist's mate, told him he "didn't know what I might have done to her". Her name was not disclosed.

Wilson's confession, said the authorities, disclosed that he choked 26-year-old Virgie Lee Griffin to death Tuesday evening and stayed up all night drinking whisky and mutilating her body with a nine-inch knife. He said he went to see a horror movie starring Boris Karloff the next day then picked up 38-year-old Lillian Jackson in a bar, took her to a hotel room and mutilated her.

Wilson, in his confession, said that after he had strangled and cut Mrs. Griffin "a kind of a craze had gotten hold of me". "I don't know just how to explain it", he added. "I sort of got a thrill everytime I thought about the murder. All those people in the show were sitting around me and not one of them knew I had killed a person.

"After I got out of the show that sort of kill lust came over me again. I went to a bar and met Mrs. Lillian Johnson and took her to another hotel. We didn't have any trouble at all. I hit her with my fist. Then I cut her up with a razor blade, washed and left."

The bodies were found in separate hotels Wednesday afternoon and within two hours Wilson was arrested by a patrolman following a broadcast description.

The District Attorney's office has announced that the County Grand Jury will be asked to indict Wilson for first degree murder Tuesday, shortly after inquests are held Tuesday morning. He is being held incommunicado.

Detective Lieutenant L. J. Hurst said Wilson maintained he had not been involved in the slaying of any other women.

Embargo Lifted On Shipments Of Livestock

Toronto, Nov. 17 (CP)—F. C. Fletcher, President of the Union Stockyards, today announced lifting of the embargo on livestock shipments to the yards. He said livestock loaded Saturday for shipment by rail and Monday for truck shipment would be accepted. The embargo has been in effect since Wednesday.

Mr. Fletcher issued the following statement:

"Heavy receipts of cattle and lambs during the week have necessitated an embargo against further arrivals. The situation will improve by the weekend so that shipments by rail, loading on Saturday and by truck, on Monday, will be accepted at the yards.

Want Only Best Grades.

"It is, however, important to warn shippers that only the best grades of cattle are wanted. The supply now on hand, all grades of cows, low grade butchers, boners and bulls, will not be cleared until Nov. 25 and there will be no immediate sales of these classes. Shippers are warned to retain those classes of animals until further notice."

Statistics released today showed that 625,904 head of all classes of livestock have been offered for sale at the stockyards since Jan. 1, compared with 565,554 in the corresponding 1943 period. When the regular week's trading ended yesterday, the embargo was in effect on all classes of livestock except hogs. It applied to the yards and local packing plants and resulted from the overloaded condition of the yards.

The increase was heaviest in cattle, sheep and lambs. All grades of cattle offered totalled 228,069 head compared with 211,572 and sheep and lambs 144,425 compared with 110,029. Calves totalled 95,950 compared with 89,286 and hogs 157,460 compared with 144,426.

When regular market sessions ended 3,400 head of cattle and 1,800 sheep and lambs remained unsold. Market officials reported little prospect of any clearance of this oversupply during the weekend.

MOIRA

Memorial Bible, Communion Table Are Presented

Moira—At the Anniversary Services of Moira United Church large congregations at both morning and evening services were happy to welcome a former minister, Reverend G. R. McQuade of Tweed. His earnest prayer that God might bless those who have gone out from this congregation, wherever they may be, was echoed by all. His sermons with texts "Who is the Image of God" and "Be Still and Know that I am God" were heard with the deepest attention. At the morning service Mrs. Earl Morrow of Stirling presented to the church a fine communion table and Bible in memory of her father and mother, Mr. and Mrs. Samuel Salisbury who during their lifetime were respected members of the community. Mr. Blake Ketcheson on behalf of the church thanked Mrs. Morrow for her generous gift.

The choir sang "The Awakening Chorus" and in the evening, "The Lord of Galilee." At the morning service Miss I. Archdekin sang "The Dream of Paradise". In the evening Mrs. Donald Holbert sang "The Church by the Side of the Road".

BURRS

Communion Table Is Dedicated At Anniversary

Burrs—Sunday, November 12 witnessed the 75th anniversary of Melville Church. Ideal autumn weather favored and many availed themselves of the opportunity of attending. At the morning service, the pastor Rev. P. Tiller and the guest speaker, a former pastor Rev. R. A. McRae jointly conducted the service. Special interest was attached to this service as a beautiful communion table made by the gifted hands of Mr. Albert Carley was unveiled by two nephews, Mr. Raymond Norton and Mr. Charles Kinnear of the late Stewart Kinnear and to whose memory it was dedicated. Rev. P. Tiller delivered a brief dedicatory address and Rev. Mr. McRae offered the dedication prayer. At the conclusion of the dedication Mrs. Garfield French sang very fittingly, "Only Remembered By What You Have Done," with Mrs. George Valleau at the organ. Other choral numbers included an anthem by the choir and a duet by Miss W. Judge an Mrs. George Valleau. Houseplants, beautiful chrysanthemums and bouquets of bittersweet were tastefully arranged throughout the church. In everyway, it was a service of beauty. Rev. Mr. McRae also spoke at the evening service. Rev. Mr. Tiller officiated at a christening service at Mount Pleasant in the evening.

Memorial Service

A memorial service was held in Ameliasburg United Church on Sunday afternoon for Pte. Russell Soble who lost his life in Belgium early in October. The pastor Rev. Mr. Adamson presided at the service with Rev. Lorne Burr delivering the address. The flowers placed about the altar in tribute to his memory were many and beautiful. Mrs. Lorne Burr sang "No Night There," with Mrs. Ashton Sills as accompanist.

W. A. Meeting

Mrs. C. Fulford was hostess at her home on Thursday afternoon for the November W. A. meeting. Guests at the meeting included Mrs. Rosa Anderson, Mrs. Stanley Brooks, Mrs. Charles Brooks, and Miss Reita Brason. An invitation to Victoria Church on Wednesday afternoon was accepted. It was decided to buy a temporary transformer for the Church in order to have the use of the lights sooner. The penny boxes were collected with over $16. being realized. The travelling shirt was also received with over $7. being attached to it. The December meeting will be at the home of Mrs. Murney Parks and Mrs. Don Parks.

Red Cross Meets

The Red Cross meeting was held at Allisonville Hall on Tuesday with about twelve ladies present. A quilt was finished and another one started. $1.50 collection was taken. It was decided to start the social evenings, commencing this week with Mrs. C. Maxwell and Mrs. R. Ferguson as convener. Over $100 was cleared for the Red Cross in this way during last winter's months.

KEEP THESE WHEELS TURNING...
AN APPEAL TO SHIPPERS AND RECEIVERS OF FREIGHT

Canadian Railways are now moving more cars per day than during any period since the start of the war.

To feed the population of liberated areas, Canada has undertaken to provide a large quantity of wheat and flour, which must be moved to the eastern seaboard before the close of lake navigation; in addition, large quantities of munitions and war supplies, as well as current commercial shipments, will have to be transported. As very few cars have been constructed during the war years, it is necessary that we make our present equipment perform the service.

To help us fulfill Canada's obligations, the Railways request that shippers and receivers of carload freight, load and unload their cars as rapidly as possible.

OPEN DRIVE ON NORTH SAAR

Patrols Surge Into Germany, Troops Storm Into Metz

Six Allied Armies Driving Forward on 400-Mile Front

By WILLIAM FRYE, AP STAFF WRITER

London, Nov. 18 —(AP)— U. S. 3rd Army infantry and armor unleashed a sudden drive on a 15-mile front toward the northern Saar today, sent patrols surging into Germany and troops storming into the fortress of Metz from both north and south.

The 3rd Army operation highlighted an advance in which six Allied armies were thrusting forward toward the Rhine all along the 400-mile Western Front.

Lt.-Gen. Patton's infantry crossed the Moselle bridge into Metz from the north during the night, while other patrols from the south also penetrated the city, where the Germans have been preparing a stiff defence in the streets and the thick stone walls of the houses.

Stab Across Border.

Mechanized cavalry patrols stabbed across the German border near Perl, at the corner of the Luxembourg, French, and German borders.

Other 3rd Army units developed a thrust 15 miles to the southeast toward the Saar border, and armor newly thrown into the offensive rolled forward four miles to near Bouzonville, 20 miles northwest of Saarbrucken, chief industrial centre of the German valley.

Slightly to the north other armored fingers stabbed near Filstroff in a three mile advance to a point two miles from the German border and nine miles west of Saarlouis.

Elements of another mechanized cavalry group entered Merschweiler, a mile south of the German border, on the flank of the thrust into Germany.

The punch into Germany was the second time the 3rd Army entered enemy territory. Patrols crossed from Luxembourg several weeks ago, but there have been no recent reports of their activity.

The present thrust, front line dispatches said, carried over the boundary a quarter of a mile and halfway to Perl.

Two of Series

These operations were two of a series of advances scored by Gen. Eisenhower's six Allied armies driving toward the Rhine along the 400-mile western front.

At the northern end of the Allied line the British 2nd Army in its sweep through the Maas river bulge in southeastern Holland established another bridgehead across the Zig Canal, advanced its previous crossing and captured Beringen, 2 1/2 miles southeast of Meijel. British units rapidly were developing a threat to the Dutch border city and communications hub of Venlo, nine miles to the east.

Farther south Tommies mopped up remaining pockets of enemy troops and completed their firm hold on the Maas front facing Roermond, like Venlo a gateway city to Germany.

On the 12-mile wide front east and northeast of Aachen the Germans were unable to check the momentum of the massive drive by the U.S. 1st and 9th Armies toward Cologne and the industrial Ruhr.

First Army units, slamming through a breach east of Stolberg, were reported to have driven through stubborn resistance to within 25 miles of the Rhine, but official secrecy blanked detailed information from that front.

Slash at Belfort Gap

In the shadow of the Swiss Alps French Colonials punched well into the 15-mile wide Belfort Gap and were within five miles of its narrowest part at Belfort.

On the extreme southern end of the Allied line tanks of the French 1st Army smashing into Belfort Gap overran the fortified town of Montbeliard and took Hericourt, five miles from the city of Belfort, in gains of three to four miles on a 12-mile front, Belfort now was within range of artillery.

North of the French the U.S. 7th Army lunged forward in a general assault which gained two to three miles all along a 30-mile front pointed at Strasbourg on the Rhine. The 7th Army closed in on Blamont, Badonviller and St. Die. Blamont is 40 miles due west of Strasbourg.

The six Allied armies, swelled to a fighting force of 1,250,000 men with a similar number in reserve, were attacking German lines believed held by fewer than 500,000 troops.

Put Up Stiff Fight.

The Germans were putting up their stiffest fight against the U. S. 1st and 9th armies slugging their way for the third day toward the Roer River, the first natural barrier before the Rhine.

Fighter-bombers, supporting the ground operations on all sectors of the front, bombed and strafed the enemy from Duren in the Aachen area to Colmar and Mulhouse in the south, hitting fortified towns, guns positions, strong points and other defence positions, as well as front-line troops, rail transportation targets and supply dumps.

Although the exact extent of the main drive for the Rhineland, the twin assaults of the 1st and 9th armies east and northeast of Aachen, still was shoulded in official secrecy, front-line dispaches told of the capture of Gressenich yesterday by the 1st army, while the 9th, seizing four towns the first day, also took more than 1,000 prisoners before its drive was 24 hours old.

The spectacular advance in the mountains in the south gave the Allies control of the Blamont Plateau and a possible entry into the Strasbourg plain.

Retreat in Disorder.

The Germans were reported retreating in disorder toward Delle after being blasted out of Montbeliard, 8½ miles to the west of Belfort in heavy fighting.

In its drive extending along a front from north of Luneville to south of Bruyeres, the U. S. 7th Army captured Remoncourt, Domevre, Ancerviller, St. Maurice, Thiaville, Taintrux, Chevry and La Nole. Domevre is two miles southwest of Blamont.

A front dispatch said the Nazis continued their scorched-earth policy, burning le Paire, Hurbache, St. Marguerite, Saulcy sur Meurthe and St. Leonard as they withdrew before the advancing Americans.

U. S. 1st Army troops seized Gressenich, eight miles east of Aachen, andheld two-thirds of Stolberg, five miles east of Aachen.

(The American broadcasting station in Europe said last night in a broadcast heard by the Blue Network, that 1st Army troops had cleared Stolberg and advanced five miles beyond the town.)

ORMOC PERIMETER STI'L HELD BY YANKEE TROOPS

Road Block Thrown Across Ormoc Road A Mile South of Limon Village

General MacArthur's Headquarters, Philippines, Nov. 18 — (AP) — Japanese attempts at counter-attack and reinforcement failed today all around the Ormoc perimeter on Leyte Island.

On the north, east and south, American troops broke up the enemy's desperate moves without losing a foot of ground. In some cases they advanced slowly in the face of the Japanese efforts.

The most important of these advances was the completion of an envelopment movement by units south of Limon, four miles from Pinamopoan. They threw a road block across the Ormoc highway a mile south of Limon. Japanese supply columns moving north along the road toward bloody Limon village were destroyed.

In the Mount Minoro and Badian areas east of the Ormoc road, other units were reported to have repulsed several suicidal counter-attacks. Terrain in this area is extremely rugged, but artillery brought to bear on the hilltop positions aided the painful American advance.

Another enemy attack was repulsed in the area south of Mormoc on the coastal road. This fight surged around the village of Tabgas, 11 miles south of Ormoc. In the air, the Japanese made more desperation moves. Some 30 enemy aircraft risked American anti-aircraft and fighter patrols to swoop over the Dulag area, on the east coast. American fighters shot down 15, and anti-aircraft gunners destroyed 3 others.

American planes attacked small craft off the west coast of Leyte and bombed shore positions south of Ormoc, in the sector from which counter-attacks have been coming.

Weather continued to hamper both aerial and land activities. Heavy rains bogged supply roads and interfered with aircraft.

Jet-Propelled Messerschmitts Used By Nazis for Recce Work Over Lines

By ALLAN NICKLESON
(Canadian Press Staff Writer)

London, Nov. 18 — Jet-propelled Messerschmitt Swallows, streaking at about 600 miles an hour high over the Allied lines in Holland, keep the Germans better informed as to Allied troop movements and concentrations than at any time long before D-Day.

Photographic reconnaissance is the most important function of these twin-engined "squirts." But they also make some nuisance raids in which, jet shut off, they dive silently to aim 500-pound bombs at airfields and other targets.

It is only recently that these jet planes came into existence to give the enemy a picture long denied him. Before D-Day Allied fighters destroyed all but a few of the FW190 and ME109 "Recce" planes — not jet-propelled — that ventured over the English Channel in an attempt to photograph invasion points in England. They met the same fate later over Normandy.

Air Vice-Marshal Harry Broadhurst, commanding a fighter group in the Second Tactical Air Force, admits it would be serious "if the Hun could bring enough 'jets' into service to play havoc with our front-line airfields and communications."

But he was quick to add during an interview that there are "a few points that should be considered to keep the matter in its proper perspective."

"First, the enemy may not get a chance to build or operate 'jets' in the number he hopes and needs. He may not use them properly even if he does get them.

"We know that the morale and training of his fighter pilots are at a low ebb. Formations of 50 FW190's and ME109's often run away from five or six Tempests or Spitfires.

"By careful tactical planning and the superior morale of our pilots our present fighters can and do provide the Swallow with formidable opposition.

"Even if we had insufficient jet-planes of our own to engage the German 'jets' in air combat, we could get at them by bombing their air bases and sending our ordinary fighters to wait for them as they returned to their special airfields.

"We are already successfully carrying out a new form of intruder work.

"Tempests have pounced on unsuspecting Swallows as they went in to land. Thoroughly frightened, the Huns hared off at tremendous speed to land perhaps at smaller airfields, where they had to be dismantled and taken to their own bases by road, because of their long take-off.

"Lastly," Broadhurst concluded, "German Swallows dive-bombing our airfields, troops and other targets, would have to run the gauntlet of masses of anti-aircraft fire."

The Record Is Maintained

TO THE CITIZENS OF THE COUNTY OF HASTINGS

Again the citizens of the County of Hastings enthusiastically accepted the challenge and subscribed an amount unprecedented in any previous loan, resulting in the largest borrowing undertaking in the history of our County.

The fine response you have made must be a great source of encouragement to our fighting forces. You have proven to them that you are giving them the wholehearted support they deserve for their magnificent deeds.

As Chairman of the Seventh Victory Loan, I desire to pay tribute and express my heartfelt thanks and appreciation to all those associated with me and who contributed so much to the success of the loan and to the citizens of the entire County of Hastings for their generous response.

7TH LOAN SETS ALL-TIME RECORD AT$1,500,079,600

Total of 3,179,700 Applications Received From Individuals

Ottawa, Nov. 18 — (CP) — The National War Finance Committee today announced subscriptions in Canada's Seventh Victory Loan campaign have reached an all-time high of $1,500,079,600.

The new total for the recent campaign, which had a minimum objective of $1,300,000,000 is $112,000,000 more than was reported at the corresponding period of the sixth loan.

Purchases by individuals now stand at $750,076,950 representing an increase of $120,000,000, over the total at the same date in the sixth loan. The payroll savings canvass accounted for $223,000,000 and general canvass produced $527,000,000. Purchases by large buyers, including corporations now stand at $750,002,650.

Returns show that more individuals purchased in this loan than ever before. To date 3,179,700 applications have been received, an increase of 233,762 over the Sixth Victory Loan.

One of the outstanding features of the loan is the participation by the armed forces with figures now standing at $56,282,050 of which some $16,000,000 is from overseas. The Navy's total now stands at 61,971 applications for $6,629,050, or 138 per cent of their objective with the Wrens leading with 265 per cent. Naval divisions command have reached 248 and Newfoundland command 162.

M. D. 3 Scores 99

The Army has announced a total of $28,752,500 from 275,962 applications or 137 per cent of their objective. The Army competition in Canada is the closest of the past two years with Military District 5, Quebec City, with 201 per cent nosing out Military District 4, Montreal, with 200 per cent, Petawawa camp and Camp Borden are close behind. Military District 3, Kingston, Ont., scored the highest percentage of personnel participation with 99.

In a very close race between the three armed services, Air Force is now in the lead with 139 per cent of their objective closely followed by Navy with 138 and Army with 137. The Air Force total now stands at $20,890,500 with 151,247 applications. Air Force headquarters in Ottawa is the leading division in that service with 182 per cent of their objective.

From incomplete returns in the inter-city campaign, New Waterford, N.S., is in the lead with 195 per cent of their objective, Dartmouth reports 184.

The Canadian National System employees have purchased $13,733,550, an increase of more than $4,500,000 over the sixth loan. The Canadian Pacific Railway employees purchased $10,166,250 against their objective of $8,500,000.

In addition to new cash purchases of $1,500,000,000 conversions of called and matured bonds into new Seventh Victory Bonds now amount to $144,719,700.

FIERCE FIGHTING

London, Nov. 18 (CP)—The Free Yugoslav radio said today that fierce fighting is raging in Tirana, capital of Albania, with liberation army units holding the town hall, the radio station and the prison. German troops still hold the barracks on the Sikuba river and King Zog's palace, the broadcast said.

MONTE FORTINO CAPTURED BY POLISH TROOPS

Important Communications Centre on Bologna-Rimini Highway

Rome, Nov. 18 (AP)—Monte Fortino, five miles south of Faenza, has been captured by Polish troops in the British 8th army drive on that important communications centre on the Bologna-Rimini road, Allied headquarters announced today.

Allied troops took the town yesterday in a 1,000-yard advance against the bitterest German resistance and then threw back two heavy counter-attacks.

Elsewhere today's communique said, there was active patrolling along the Italian front "without any substantial changes in our forward positions."

Other 8th army troops pushed to within four miles of Faenza, encountering stiff opposition.

British infantry and tanks moving northwest of the village of Villagrappa were heavily engaged by the Germans at a road fork 300 yards southeast of Fugna. The Germans in the area were strongly entrenched and backed up by tanks and considerable artillery.

Troops of the Adriatic sector were active in patrol operations. The airport of Molinaccio, less than two miles west of Ravenna, was cleared by tanks and artillery.

German planes bombed Forli in the night, but little military damage was caused.

Air Chief Marshal Reported Missing On Flight to India

London, Nov. 18 — (CP) — The R.A.F. plane carrying Air Chief Marshal Sir Trafford Leigh-Mallory and his party to India, reported missing last night, may have been the victim of an enemy long-range fighter, it was speculated here today.

Sir Trafford was en route to take up his new post as Allied Air Commander-in-Chief in Southeast Asia.

An Air Ministry announcement said a widespread search had yielded no trace of his unescorted plane. Missing with him is his wife, Lady Leigh-Mallory.

The 52-year-old British tactician who as air commander-in-chief of the Allied expeditionary air forces provided the aerial umbrella for the western Europe invasion flew with an escort to the Mediterranean area. From there he continued alone in a plane flown by a veteran R.A.F. crew.

It was known in London that searching aircraft swept the normal route to Asia without success.

Sir Trafford, who had been in the R.A.F. since the First Great War, was named Oct. 19 to the top air post in Admiral Lord Louis Mountbatten's southeast Asia command with headquarters at Kandy, Ceylon.

SEARCH FOR THREE MEN

Barrie, Nov. 18 —(CP)— Barrie and district police today were scouring the country for three men, all awaiting trial, who escaped from Simcoe county jail here yesterday. They were: George Murphy, 20, William Frawley, 23, and Roy Long. Murphy and Frawley are charged with armed robbery and Long faces a charge of car theft.

NAZI RESISTANCE MOVEMENT BUSY INSIDE FRANCE

Thousands of Enemy Troops in Hiding Actively Engaged in Espionage, Sabotage

London, Nov. 18 (CP) — A Nazi resistance movement inside France led by 40,000 Germans hiding out in Paris was reported today by a reliable French source.

Thousands of French collaborationists, still at large despite roundups by the French Forces of the Interior, were said to be actively aiding the Germans in espionage and sabotage.

The French source, who cannot be identified by name, said the Germans had parachuted small arms and food in recent days to bands of German saboteurs based in forests.

Although the sabotage in the Paris area has been on small scale, the thousands of Germans who have evaded capture and discarded their uniforms for civilian clothes offer a great threat to the Allies, he said.

"Most of the sabotage," he related, "has been confined to electric cables and pipelines. One band of Germans armed only with small arms attempted a raid recently on the Hispano works outside of Paris, but was driven off."

French secret service agents were reported to have discovered several German radio transmitters in France.

The German radio said today that an automobile accident on November 10 in which French Finance Minister Aime LePercq was fatally injured was due to sabotage.

Sir Charles Craven Dies in London

London, Nov 18. (CP)—Commander Sir Charles Craven, 60, chairman and managing director of Vickers-Armstrong's, Ltd., died today. The $80,000-a-year chief of the Vickers group, one of Britain's leading industrialists, had been seriously ill since Monday.

In his industries, he employed directly 100,000 workers, but his work as controller-general at the Ministry of Aircraft production adviser to the Minister of Production and as director of numerous concerns affected millions.

Although he was Britain's largest private employer before the war he had little publicity.

He was a submarine commander at 22. He left the navy in 1912 to join Vickers as a technical adviser.

Germans Giving Ground Around City of Budapest

Enemy Pressed Deeper Into Mountains on Frontier

Moscow, Nov. 18 —(AP)— German defenders on a battle line stretching northeast from besieged Budapest gave ground again today in the face of a sustained Russian flanking manoeuvre that pressed the enemy deeper into the Matra and Bukk mountains on the Slovakian frontier.

The Russian drive imperilled three important Hungarian rail towns—Eger, Miskolc and Hatvan.

The valley town of Eger is on a secondary communications route barely four miles from a Russian column that stormed through Maklar after capture yesterday of Fuzesabony on the Budapest-Miskolc railway. This advance gave the Red army control of a 27-mile section of that vital line.

A Soviet salient menacing Miskolc was widened with the capture of Tisza Luc, 12 miles to the southeast.

Seizure of Karacsond, midway between Fuzesabony and Hatvan, put the Russians within five miles of Gyongyos, another enemy base in the foothills of the Matra mountains.

Marshal Rodion Y. Malinovsky claimed no decision yet in the fierce tank battle being waged for Hatvan, 36 miles northeast of the Hungarian capital. The gains during yesterday's fighting were mainly beyond the middle stretch of the Budapest-Miskolc trunk line.

Hatvan, terminal of a main line running north into Slovakia, was reported under attack from three sides. The Russians announced seizure of Csany, five miles southeast and Zsambok, nine miles southwest.

The Russians reported no change in the battle along the fringes of grimly-defended Budapest and likewise maintained silence about the Danube bridgehead south of the capital, in the vicinity of Batina, where Russian and Yugoslav Partisan forces have been driving north from a Belgrade springboard.

The Russian and German air forces yesterday fought stubbornly for control of the air over Hungary. Most of 46 German planes Moscow reported destroyed on the Eastern Front were shot down over the Hungarian battlegrounds.

DIED OF HEART ATTACK

Saint John, N.S., Nov. 18—(CP)—Lt.-Col. H. M. Logan of St. John, assistant adjutant and quartermaster general for Military District No. 7, died of a heart attack en route for a duty tour overseas and was buried at sea, it was learned here yesterday.

Inserts Glass Tube in Leg Artery To Save Shell-Shattered Limbs

By MARGARET ECKER
(CP War Correspondent)

Somewhere in Belgium, Nov. 18—(CP) — A young Canadian doctor working in a Canadian casualty clearing station almost on the border of Belgium and Holland has found a new method of surgery that will save the limbs of untold numbers of soldiers fighting on this front when the innovation becomes known.

Thirty-year-old Maj. W. T. Mustard of Toronto, who looks like a college student, already has saved the shell-shattered legs of Pte. E. O. Brewer of Fredericton and Capt. Graham Dixon, a British officer.

If luck hadn't brought these two men to a Canadian field surgical unit housed for the moment in a battered Baronial mansion near a Flemish town, they would both probably face the future with one leg.

"Exciting" is the word the young doctor uses to describe the discovery and it was exciting to stand in the makeshift operating room, its windows shaking from a bombardment, and hear the story for the first time of the first completely successful operations performed a few weeks ago.

Working with his team-mate, Capt. Ken Wilson of Ottawa, Maj. Mustard has successfully inserted glass tubing to replace a shattered piece of an artery and in this way maintained a normal blood supply to the wounded leg. Normally the artery would have been tied to prevent bleeding to death and the limb eventually would have had, to be amputated.

"The use of glass tubes to replace arteries has been demonstrated in animals," the Major said, "but as far as we know this is the first time it has been done in humans."

The first operation was performed a few weeks ago on a prisoner of war whose leg was almost completely shot off. The medical officer replaced the severed artery with a glass tube but the blood clotted in the long tube after a few hours and the leg had to be amputated.

Then as now Dr. Mustard was working with makeshift surgical instruments, using glass tubes he made himself. "Nobody believed my operations would work," he said. "I couldn't get equipment. It took weeks to get the necessary drugs."

When he got the drug he required, heparin, he had won a fight and solved his greatest problem. Heparin prevents blood clotting.

With this drug, Maj. Mustard could place a glass tube in a severed artery and the blood would continue to flow normally and the leg would be saved.

"The secret of the operation of placing a glass tube in the artery is so simple it is fantastic," he said. "The operation can be performed in half an hour. People we get here close to the front line are the worst cases. Men are nearly dead when brought in through loss of blood. Our first job is to save their lives and the operation must be simple and easy."

Hydro Survey Parties Active

Toronto, Nov. 18 —(CP)— Dr. Thomas H. Hogg, chairman of the Hydro-electric Power Commission of Ontario, revealed last night that hydro survey parties have been and currently are surveying possible power sites along Northern Ontario's rivers and mapping out the routes for lines, which probably wil be set up after the war.

While the lines would run through some of the "toughest" country on the continent, Dr. Hogg said he believed the carrying of power through the north would add to the development of resources.

Mining and industry, he added, have been casting their eyes to the north during the war years, but are handicapped because of lack of manpower and supplies.

East of Sault Ste. Marie, 150,000 horsepower is running away on the Mississauga River, Dr. Hogg stated and the Timmins Mining area is "extending west" and some day there might be a link with the line from the Fort Hope area to complete the inter-connecting strings which would bring light, heat and power to the isolated home of the trapper and the streets of new northern cities."

FORMER BELLEVILLE BOY WOUNDED

Overseas since September, Pte. P. A. "Johnny" Claus has been officially reported wounded in action according to word received in the city. Formerly of Belleville, Pte. Claus has resided in Hamilton for the past four years. The extent of injuries is not yet known. Mrs. D. Brant, Herchimer Avenue, is a sister.

Rev. A. G. Donald Will Preach At Bridge St. U. C.

Chairman of Algoma Presbytery for three consecutive years and currently pastor at St. Andrew's United Church at Sault Ste. Marie, Rev. A. G. Donald will take the services at Bridge Street United Church both morning and evening on Sunday.

A native of Toronto Mr. Donald graduated from Woodstock College and entered journalism in western Ontario before going overseas in the last war with the 48th Highlanders. He served first as a junior officer and later as acting company commander and was awarded the Military Cross.

Following demobilization he became interested in boys' work in Toronto and was called to enter the service of the Y.M.C.A. as boys' work secretary. Hearing the call to the Christian ministry he entered Toronto University and graduated in 1927. He has since held three pastorates, at Shelbourne, Ont., Kimbourne Park, Toronto, and at St. Andrew's in Sault Ste. Marie. He is married and has two daughters. Rev. C. D. Donald, of Southminster United Church, Ottawa, is a brother.

Two Airmen Seriously Injured In Car Accident

Paul J. Kelly and Benjamin Reynolds, both of the R. C. A. F., are in the Trenton Air Station hospital today suffering with severe facial and head injuries as a result of a three-vehicle accident four miles west of the city on No. 2 Highway Friday night.

The collision occured shortly after 9.30 p.m. when a passenger automobile driven by Kelly crashed into a truck owned by the Harris Transport Co. Toronto which had pulled up to assist a fellow truck driver, whose vehicle had turned turtle in the ditch.

The first truck, driven by Albert Bury had skidded off the road and turned completely over. A few seconds later a second vehicle driven by Hiram Staley, Toronto and owned by the same firm, stopped to assist Bury.

Also travelling in a westerly direction, the Kelly-driven car crashed tail-on into the Staley truck, the force of the impact reduced the car to almost a complete wreck. Kelly suffered a broken jaw and facial and neck lacerations while Reynolds was also severely injured about the head and face. The men were rushed to the air station hospital.

The accident was investigated by Traffic Officer Harry Caldwell.

Many Veterans Arrive in Canada, War Brides Too

By The Canadian Press

In time to spend Christmas at home, a contingent of service men and women representing most branches of the Canadian fighting forces has arrived back in Canada after seeing action on various fighting fronts or serving in Britain.

With them came a large group of British war brides of Canadian servicemen, bound for almost every quarter of the Dominion. Most of the brides were accompanied by young children as they caught their first glimpse of their new homeland.

From Many Parts of World.

Predominant in the movement was a large group of soldiers who were veterans of service in many parts of the world, ranging from Kiska to Sicily, Italy and France.

Maj. Hugues Lapointe, Liberal member of Parliament for Lotbiniere and son of the late Justice Minister Lapointe, was getting back to Canada just in time to take his seat at the special session of parliament called to consider the army manpower situation.

The 33-year-old officer, who had been serving overseas with the Regiment de Chaudiere, said he had not returned especially for the session but added he expected to attend. He had no comment on the current army reinforcements controversy.

Thrice-wounded.

A thrice-wounded veteran of service in Kiska and Italy was Sgt. Jack Martin of Calgary, who wore the wings of the 1st special service force. He was returning to Canada under the provision that grants home leave to survivors of three wounds. Two of his wounds had been suffered while serving under American General Mark Clark on Italy's Anzio beachhead, and he picked up the other at Cassino.

The airmen aboard included a number of R. C. A. F. men who had been shot down over the continent and become prisoners of war. They were reluctant to talk of their experiences.

FORMER FASCIST HELD

Rome, Nov. 17 —(AP)— Gen. Mario Roatta, former chief of staff of the Italian army, was arrested yesterday on a warrant issued by the High Commissioner for punishment of Fascist crimes and charged with helping maintain the Fascist regime.

ACCEPTS INVITATION

Moscow, Nov. 18 (AP)—The News Agency Tass announced today that Gen. Charles De Gaulle had accepted a Soviet invitation to visit Moscow and establish personal contact with the Russian leaders. He is expected shortly.

Hastings County Rolls Up Grand Total of $4,321,700 in 7th Loan

"Well done Hastings county!"

Thus, with final figures tabulated, county officials of the Seventh Victory Loan organization paid tribute to the splendid response of Hastings' residents in the purchase of Victory Bonds in the campaign just completed.

Total subscriptions to the Seventh Victory Loan by county residents amounted to $4,321,700, or 115.8 percent of the $3,730,000, it was reported by campaign headquarters.

The number of applications received during the loan was 15,451 as compared with the 17,515 applications received during the Sixth Victory Loan when 106.58 percent of the $3,500,000 objective was achieved.

Fine Achievement.

Outside of the magnificent achievement of the county armed forces in far over-subscribing their objective, it was the response in the general canvassing areas, especially the rural districts, which contributed to splendid over-subscription to the loan throughout the county. With only one rural canvassing area failing to reach its objective, bond purchasers in the general canvassing division came through with subscriptions amounting to $3,444,300. Objective in the general canvass division of the campaign was $3,000,000.

After over-subscribing their objective of $330,000 early in the campaign members of the county armed forces went on to roll up a wholly unexpected record of 506,400 in Victory Bonds purchased. The armed services division totalled 4,306 applications.

With an objective of $400,000 the special names division just failed to reach its mark with final figures showing 92.75 percent or $371,000.

Some kind of a record was established by county industrial employees with every firm both in the payroll savings and in the group payroll sections achieving at least 100 percent of their respective objective... Fourteen firms or groups of employees in the group payroll achieved their respective goals while 10 of these reported substantial over-subscription. The same held true in the payroll savings group when 27 firms announced surpassing their respective objectives.

RESULTS TABULATED.

Final results of the county campaign follow:

	Objective	Amount Raised
Belleville	$1,260,000	$1,650,250
Trenton	540,000	658,450
Sidney, Thurlow and Frankford	410,000	679,450
Deseronto, Tyendinaga and district	105,000	96,750
Stirling, Rawdon and Huntingdon	175,000	216,900
Tweed, Hungerford, Elzevir, Grimsthorpe	150,000	187,700
Madoc, Marmora, Lake, Tudor, Madoc Twshp.	175,000	178,050

Deer Hunter Given Thrill When 'Dead' Bear Comes to Life

The bear lay stark upon the ground,
To all appearance, dead.
Down plunged the knife—the bear sat up
And to the hunter said
"Whatsa big idea, I'm not puncture-proof."

That at least, is the "meat" of the latest bear story to come from the north woods.

It seems that W. J. (Bill) Ford, a hunter of no mean reputation, and three of his nimrod cronies were chasing the elusive bucks across country in the vicinity of Millbridge last week.

The four musketeers were hot on the trail and already visions of steaming venison steaks loomed up. Suddenly there came a deep growl from a thicket. Turning they saw a large bear, by her side were two cubs.

One of the hunting dogs made a dash for Madame Bruin, and she lumbered away and disappeared in the family den. Excited by the incident one of the party despatched the cubs with a couple of shots, and Bill sent a bullet crashing into the head of the Mother Bear who by this time was displaying a bit of temper at the loss of her offspring.

Three more shots were fired at the Old Bruin and she was dragged unceremoniously from her summer quarters.

Now, Bill, thinking perhaps he could fool friend wife with a natural fur coat, or mayhap having visions of a cash bounty, decided to skin the bear. Drawing his hunting knife he knelt down readying himself for skinning operations. He plunged the weapon into the stomach of the bear as a preliminary, when he heard a deep-throated growl. Turning, he saw the animal attempting to sit up. A quick blow from a clubbed rifle afforded the coup de grace.

The Ford family dined the next day on bear-steak garnished with venison.

Saturday Market

Again the offering of winter apples featured the local produce market on Saturday with ring-packed hampers of McIntosh and Spys bringing up to $3 with $2.75 being the prevailing price for No. 1 variety. Delicious brought $2.50 the hamper with Sweets selling at $2. Cooking varieties sold at from $1.25 to $1.75 the bushel. McIntosh, Delicious and Spys sold at 50 cents the basket with Snows selling at 65 cents.

Apple cider sold at 50 cents the gallon, including container.

Fresh eggs held at last week's figure of 50 cents the dozen for grade "A" with mediums being quoted at 48 cents and pullets 45 cents the dozen. The usual offering of fowl sold at from 35 cents to 40 cents the pound for well-finished birds. Ducks could be had at about 30 cents the pound.

On the outside market potatoes held at the usual $1.85 to $1.90 the bag while winter vegetables sold at 25 cents the half peck. Onions were 75 cents the peck. Cauliflower sold up to 30 cents each.

A few mudcats were offered at 30 cents the pound and were quickly taken up by anxious buyers, while herring sold at 25 cents the pound.

More than the customary number of young pigs were offered with farmers for the most part quoting lower prices than have been noted earlier in the season. Young pigs could be had for as little as $3.50 each while the general price ran from $4 to $6 each.

Allied Bombers Attack Germany

London, Nov. 18 — (CP) — Allied bombers attacked western and southern Germany again today, causing German radio alert warnings.

Bad weather grounded British-based heavy bombers again yesterday and last night, but U. S. medium and fighter-bombers based in France flew more than 500 sorties against fortified German cities and ground defences along the American sectors of the western front.

More than 700 bombers and 350 fighters of the U. S. 15th Air Force in Italy attacked targets in Germany, Australia and Yugoslavia for the third straight day. Fifteen heavy bombers and ten fighters were lost.

STRONG ATTACK AT ST. NAZAIRE

London, Nov. 18. —(CP-Reuter)— The German News Agency reported today that the Allies, after strong artillery preparation, penetrated the German positions at St. Nazaire, Bay of Biscay port left far to the rear in the Allied drive toward Germany.

The German garrison at St. Nazaire, a famous U-boat port before the invasion, has been estimated at 30,000 and includes sailors and marines under Gen. Junck.

Retention of this port, along with Lorient, La Rochelle and the mouth of the Gironde was part of a German plan to deny as many of the Atlantic ports as possible to the Allies, thus increasing the Allied supply problem.

Drive for Civilian Blood Donors To Be Made in City By Members Kiwanis Club

Upon the number of volunteers at blood donor clinics within the next few weeks may hang the lives of many men in the services overseas. The need for this life-giving serum is today greater than ever, with increased activities on the war fronts. The Ontario Division of Red Cross is making a province-wide appeal for 50,000 new donors, the campaign to begin next week. "Ontario's quota is 12,000 donors per week," states Russell T. Kelly chairman Blood Donor Service in Ontario. In the last three months blood donations have reached that figure only three times. Some clinics have been taking donors too often to keep up the number of donations.

At Kiwanis Centre.

The blood donor clinic in this city is situated at the Kiwanis Centre and sponsored by the Kiwanis Club with William O. Steer as chairman of the committee and a full fledged drive to secure more donors in this city will be made in the coming weeks with a civilian clinic to be held each Thursday evening from 6.30 to 9.30 p.m. Cliff Baragar has been placed in charge of the city wide campaign with Lorne McDougall in charge of organization, Archie Harris in charge of telephone contacts, Robert Pringle in charge of Industries and Ted Schwab handling the publicity.

On Monday in each of the 137 zones mapped out, Kiwanians will call on every resident of the city to request their presence at the clinic at a future date. These Kiwanians have donated their time to explain the urgency of blood plasma and to answer any questions, that might create doubt in the resident's mind. The need for donations will be fully explained and it is hoped that in this way the Kiwanis Centre will become one of the largest blood centres in the eastern part of the Province.

Donors Urgently Needed.

Mr. Steer chairman of the entire committee stated at the Kiwanis luncheon on Tuesday that civilian donors had been sadly lacking in their donations and this campaign will be for the purpose to thoroughly canvass the city, which has been divided into 137 zones so that more donations will be forthcoming. "The success or failure of the Kiwanis centre clinic depends on the efforts that are made at this time and as the Kiwanis Club has sponsored this project for the Red Cross, your continued efforts in its behalf are urgently required," said Mr. Steer. The chairman thanked those civilian donors, who have regularly gone to the clinic to give donations but stated this was not enough. "Our heaviest casualties of the entire war is before us," said the speaker. "And knowing the great help blood plasma has been in the past years I am sure that civilians will rally to the cause and make the Thursday night's clinics the best in the history of the centre."

TWEED

W. H. RICHARDSON RESIGNS AS SUPT. WATER DEPT.

Tweed — A special meeting of the village council was held in the council chambers on Wednesday evening, Reeve E. W. Jones in the chair.

K. A. McNeil and S. H. Connor, representing the Library Board, asked for an increased grant to cover current expenses and the council promised to discuss the matter.

After a number of years as superintendent of the Waterworks Department, Mr. W. H. Richardson tendered his resignation on account of ill health. Mr. Richardson served in this capacity faithfully and well and the council regretted to have to accept his resignation. It was decided to advertise for a successor.

A committee was named to deal with certain matters in connection with the possible erection of a hospital in this community and it was recommended that neighboring municipalities should be contacted with a view to assisting in its construction.

Remembrance Day Service.

Tweed Army and Navy Veterans and Cadets headed by the High School Bugle Band paraded to the United Church where a Remembrance Day service was conducted by the Rev. A. Poulter of Madoc in the absence of the regular pastor. At the conclusion of the church service, the Veterans marched to Memorial Park where wreaths were laid at the foot of the Canotaph in memory of fallen comrades. Mr. T. N. Beatty was in charge of the service at the park and Rev. Mr. Poulter spoke a few words of prayer prior to the sounding of the Last Post.

News Briefs.

Word has been received by Dr. and Mrs. J. F. Doyle that their son AC1 Eugene Doyle, R.C.A.F. Overseas, has been posted from northern England to another theatre of war somewhere in France.

After spending a short time at Port Frontenac, Kingston, Joseph Price, youngest son of Major and Mrs. Price, Actinolite, has been transferred to an Eastern Canadian camp. Joe is the fourth son of Major and Mrs. Price to enlist and all are following in the footsteps of their dad who served with the Princess Pats in the last war.

Mrs. Lincoln Elliott and children spent Sunday with her daughter, Miss Margaret Elliott, in Kingston.

Mr. and Mrs. David Fleming of Belleville visited Mrs. Fleming's sister, Mrs. Claude Barnett and Mr. Barnett on Sunday.

Mrs. John Kingston spent the weekend with Mr. and Mrs. Jas. Haggerty, Belleville.

Mr. and Mrs. G. H. Cotton of Sulphide and Mr. and Mrs. Herman Elliott of Thomasburg attended the Army and Navy Veterans' service on Sunday.

Mr. and Mrs. Jerry Leeworthy and daughter, Mrs. Taylor and Mr. Taylor, of Trenton, called on friends here on Sunday.

Mrs. Geo. Wilson spent the past week in Toronto.

Mr. Lincoln Elliott spent a week in the north country deer hunting.

Mr. S. R. Curry, editor Tweed News, attended the annual dinner of Canadian advertisers in Toronto on Friday night. B. K. Sandwell of "Saturday Night," was the guest speaker.

Miss Pauline Keilty, nurse-in-training at St. Joseph's Hospital, Peterborough, and Mr. Andrew Keilty, of Gananoque, spent the weekend with their parents, Mr. and Mrs. Wm. Keilty, Chapmans.

CARD OF THANKS

Mrs. A. T. Granger and family wish to thank their friends and neighbors for expressions of sympathy and condolence and beautiful floral tributes extended to them in the loss of a dear husband and father.

Mrs. Albert Mark wishes to convey to friends and neighbors her sincere thanks for the many thoughtful acts of kindness and expressions of sympathy extended to her during the sickness and death of her sister, Miss Maggie Saxsmith. The kind offers of the use of cars and many floral tributes were also much appreciated. Also thanking the Rev. C. P. Heaven for his comforting ministry.

Mrs. Rada Sprague, 618 Marion St., Toronto, wishes to acknowledge with grateful appreciation the many kind and thoughtful expressions of sympathy of friends and neighbors during her recent bereavement.

MARMORA

MISSIONARY TELLS OF LIFE IN CHINA

Rev. J. A. Reid Delivers Illustrated Lecture in St. Paul's Parish House

Marmora—Rev. J. A. Reid, who spent over twenty years in West China as United Church missionary, gave an illustrated lecture on his district, which has been stated to be a stronghold of Buddhism in St. Paul's Parish Hall on Tuesday evening before a goodly attendance.

Rev. E. M. Cadigan, pastor of St. Andrew's United Church, announced the opening hymn, "Come let us sing of the wonderful love," and then gave a Bible reading of Philip meeting the Ethiopian Eunuch. After being introduced to the gathering, the visiting missionary made some introductory remarks. He mentioned that many of his friends, whom he had met since his return from China, had suggested to him that the work was done in those parts in which he had labored, but such was not the case.

There are millions in China yet, who have not heard the Gospel and the only one agency to win the peace of the world was the universal church. He was convinced that the final basis of peace would be that people get back to righteousness and take their part in a Christian brotherhood and goodwill, not merely of lip, but more of heart and practice.

The slides which were shown were in three sections. There were those which depicted the political life and ordinary living conditions of the people among whom he labored and others of the damage wrought on buildings by the bombing attacks of the Japanese, but the final group being of native and other Christian workers in the mission field wherein he ministered. Mr. Reid showed how difficult it was for missionaries to exist in China in the present time through the inflation that was current there. Only about one quarter of the original staff of his mission was left with the work and needs were greater than ever. He stressed the need of many young missionaries going to the Chinese Mission fields at the cease of hostilities to preach the Gospel and assist the Chinese in their postwar problems. A collection was taken for the Missionary and Maintenance funds of the Church. The meeting closed with the hymn, "In Christ, there is no east or west", the National Anthem, and the benediction pronounced by Rev. E. M. Cadigan.

Personals

Rev. and Mrs. J. M. Brownlie are spending a couple of days in Toronto, the former attending special meetings at Trinity College.

Messrs. Lem Lung and Lem Jong of the Glossy Cafe are spending a few days in Toronto, this being their first holiday together since their partnership here severa years ago.

Mr. and Mrs. E. C. Prentice have moved into the residence recently vacated by Mr. and Mrs. William Leonard.

Ruthvin, Wales — (CP) — "Some of you," said the judge on passing sentence in seven bigamy cases, "treat the ceremony of marriage as if it were taking out a dog licence."

CARLYLE TRIPLETS ALL SERVE IN FORCES

The Carlyle triplets, Lieut. Bill Carlyle, left, Lieut. Dave Carlyle, right, both now in training, and P.O. Alan Carlyle, R.C.A.F., all serve in Canada's forces. They are pictured here at a reunion at Vernon, B.C. Sons of Mr. and Mrs. D. B. Carlyle now of Toronto, Ont., they lived in Winnipeg four years and attended the University of Manitoba. They were born in Oshawa, Ont. Their sister, Mrs. R. H. Guthrie, a former section officer of the R.C.A.F., is now living in Calgary, Alta. The triplets joined up at the age of 18.

The Carlyle family formerly lived in Belleville on Charles Street, the father being a traveller for the Stewart-Warner-Alemite Corporation, about ten or twelve years ago.

DOUGLAS, THE DOUGHTY HUNTER

The buck stood in the forest glade
With every nerve atingle,
For in the distance he perceived
That doughty hunter, Flindall.

He raised his trusty 306
Aimed at the forest vision,
He fired, the bullet sped away
With accurate precision.

Untouched, the buck just shook his head,
"Gol ding these upstart strangers,
This bird, he couldn't hit a cow,
In his hometown Armouries ranges."

But Doug. the Doughty, raised his gun
Cussed all his evil luck,
When overhead he spied quite close
A green-winged, black-eyed duck.

His aim was good, his shot rang out,
The duck sailed overhead,
But forty feet to the left he saw
That gol-darned buck fall dead.

Now Dougal the Doughty is cussing his luck,
For he can't quite discern between buck and a duck;
But hunting he'll go, braving all sorts of weathers,
For ducks wearing antlers and bucks sporting feathers.

Old Maid's Dream.

Italy:— The old maid of the comic strips who looks under the bed for a strange man, had nothing on Pte. Jake Brown of Vernon, B. C. who, in a captured Italian villa, stretched himself on a bed for some badly needed shut-eye following the P. P. C. L. I.'s breakthrough into the Po Valley. He was just dropping off to sleep when strange sounds from below the bed made him look under it — straight into the desperate eyes of a Nazi with a fistful of grenades!

Brown, a husky Westerner, grabbed the astonished Jerry by the throat, dragged him out and paraded him to the C.O. But, no matter how tired he may henceforth be, Jake says he'll always look under a strange bed — who knows, he might find a bottle of vino some day?

Army Briefs

The Lieutenant in the Canadian Tank Corps who, on June 9, 1944, was described by a war correspondent as "the man with the dirtiest face in Europe", has had two promotions since then. He is now Major G. William Gordon, Toronto, Ont. . . . A new design is proposed for a Canadian National Flag. It embodies nine red maple leaves, symbolizing the nine provinces on the blue part of the Union Jack. . . The Department of National Defence has announced 87 new awards for gallantry in action to members of the Canadian Army serving overseas in the Italian theatre . . . The Canadian Army's neurological and plastic surgery hospital is one of the most wonderful institutions in the world. It has remade men of nearly every United Nation, including Chinese, American and British . . . Latest figures on Canadian Army Casualties total 62,577 for the war . . . A Ghurka soldier has won the V.C. in the Burma Campaign. Cpl. Aganaing Rai is the 102nd man in this war to win the Empire's highest award. Six of this number have been Canadians . . . It appears that Mussolini warned Hitler that his Russian Campaign would be disastrous . . . Canadian seamen now fight on every ocean front . . . Mass Production on a new victory uniform for the British Army — to be known as "VU" — will be started shortly, so it may be ready when Allied troops stage their march through Berlin. It will correspond closely to the walking-out uniform introduced in the Canadian Army two years ago . . . The six Allied armies in Western Europe have captured at least 526,084 German prisoners. The 1st Canadian Army's share of this total is given as 62,636 . . . An Ontario airman, Flt. Sgt. A. C. Asbury of Dwight, Ontario, bought Queen Elizabeth a soft drink at a Canadian Legion Club in Edinburgh . . . A remarkable thing about Wendell Willkie, now in death receiving all the world's tribute, was that he was an implacable foe of German Nazism; and yet he was of German blood. "Scrambled Eggs" according to a recent ruling of the United States Internal Revenue Bureau are a "legitimate business expense" and gold braid, lace, shoulder marks etc. are exempt from income tax . . . Pte. Jules Maxim, of Winnipeg, Man. — who took up watch repairing as a hobby in Italy, has this to say, "Italian watches have good cases and poor works; German watches are nearly all good watches and some of them very ingenious; Canadian and American watches are nearly all Swiss movement in very good cases. "In fact," he says, "the best watch cases are made in Canada and the United States." . . . The rock fortress of Gibraltar and the Church of St. Peter's in Rome are the two most memorable sights in the world according to L/Cpl. A. W. Ross of St. John, N.B. (Khaki)

Correction:- In last week's D. S. we erred in reporting Ken Cherry as being a leading stoker . . . Ken, who left for the famous eastern Canadian port a few days ago, has been in the Navy four years and over and is a leading seaman . . . Sorry . . . Private S. W. Connolly, 181 Burnham Street and Private J. V. Dracup, of Bettes Street arrived home from overseas this week . . . They were met at the station by Hizzoner Mayor Rollins who heartily welcomed the lads home . . . Lieut. Col. J. Hogan, 33rd Brigade Group H. Q. was in town Thursday p.m. giving the Argylls officers an educational talk on some very interesting subjects . . . CSM. Simpson, instructional cadre, Kingston, lecture to gunner classes on Battle First Aid the other evening . . . A tip to the lads of the Argyll Light Infantry. Listen, me hearties, on Tuesday night next at the Armouries, you have an important parade to attend. It is the Paymasters Muster Parade and if you want any of those shekels you earned during the past year, you had better be there. Not only will you benefit yourselves but your presence will make it better for all concerned . . . If you don't show up, or have not an excellent reason for being there, you are liable to lose out on the receiving end of the pay parade. Be there, Tuesday night and don't say you weren't warned . . . A bunch of columnar orchids to Lieut. Nicholson of the Argylls who so generously gave of his time and motion picture films and equipment to the 34th Battery "At Home" on Monday . . . . Thanks Nich, it goes without saying that your generosity was appreciated . . . There's good and bad in all classes of life . . . There is the case of a war veteran of the 1914-18 era listening with sympathy to the hard-luck story of a youthful old soldier of this war. The old W. V. took the lad in, fed him, gave him some money and offered him a job starting the next Monday . . . You guessed it . . . The bird had flown when Monday rolled around . . .

Dick Smith is home from the wars suffering with a double fracture of the right arm. At present he is in Kingston Military Hospital. . . . Lance Corporal Reg. Hardwick, District Depot, Kingston expects to cross the Big Pond sometime near the beginning of the New Year. . . . Ditto a number of the depot staff, tis rumored. . . .Sergt. E. Sunderland, Camp Borden, also expects to see Britain in the near future. . . Lieut. Anthony Ayre, executive officer of HMCS "Belleville" is no longer among the ship's officer personnel. Illness, tis said is responsible. . . .Stout fella, Tony, and a good exec. officer. . . .Culled from somewhere:—"It is better to be silent and to appear dumb, than to open your mouth and remove all doubt." . . . .Aint it the truth.

Grim Joke.

With the Canadians in Italy—What was a very grim happening when it occurred is now the subject of laughter in an Ontario anti-tank unit who were pinned inside a barn by intense German artillery fire.

The battle was for the Coriano Ridge. Among the men pinned down were Lieut. Gordon War, Quebec City, Troop Sergeant T. Wardrope of Hamilton, Ont., and Gnrs. W. P. Harder of Calgary and H W Rogerville of Winnipeg. Inside the barn were various farm animals, including a cow, whom the boys did their best to feed—for a live cow is better than a dead cow for company.

But the cow was in deep troble. Neglected she was vainly trying to give birth to a dead calf. The boys lent a hand and the operation was a success—but, how to dispose of the dead calf became a matter of life and death. Jerry snipers blazed away at the slightest attempt to get out of the building. Shells and mortar bombs made it a suicidal job to get rid of the calf.

So a hole had to be dug in the hard cement floor of the barn and the calf was buried. Now, the cow itself became the object of the most tender care—for nobody wanted to think of what it would mean to bury the cow, too! And . . . the cow was pretty sick.

Finally, to everyone's relief, they got out of the barn all in one piece. They laugh about it now — but it wasn't so funny when it was happening right there and Jerry was making life insecure for everyone concerned.

REV. A. R. GRAHAM

REV. A. RUSSELL GRAHAM is a Canadian born son of the Manse and for thirty years has been a Missionary in Central India. He went to India in 1914 to take charge of our Canadian Mission Industries because of his business training. He wears the 1914-1918 War Medal for during the last war he volunteered for Active Service with the Y.M.C.A. in Mesopotamia. Being invalided back to India in 1918, he served as Finance Secretary of the Y.M.C.A. until after the cessation of hostilities.

He is a graduate of the Biblical Seminary in New York and of our own Church College.

His travels have taken him twice round the world. He has had a birdseye view of many lands. He visited both China and Japan just before the outbreak of the China-Japanese war.

RUSSELL GRAHAM has a most interesting and thrilling story to tell of the power of the Gospel and the growth of the Church in the Ujjain Field in Central India.

MR. GRAHAM is to address a mass meeting of the Belleville Presbytery in Bridge Street United Church on THURSDAY EVENING, NOVEMBER 23rd., at eight o'clock.

EVERYBODY WELCOME.

Canada's Navy Week

The week November 19-25 will be celebrated across Canada as Navy Week. The purpose is to focus attention upon the growth and development of the Royal Canadian Navy from 1,170 men and 17 ships in 1939 to 80,000 men and 700 ships at present. Emphasis will be placed on the valor of the little ships that fought out the Battle of the Atlantic and made history in other seas.

It will also emphasize the heroism of the men of the Merchant Navy of which it has been said, "No men run greater risks. No men have done more to make certain the victory that comes daily nearer."

The observance of Navy Week is sponsored by the Navy League of Canada whose appeal is to the people of Canada, to maintain their enthusiastic support and thus enable the League to carry on its great humanitarian work. Special Navy Week features will include the lighting of 12 twenty-four-foot model lighthouses located in twelve cities from Charlottetown to Victoria at 7.45 p.m. E.D.T. on Saturday, November 18, on a signal to be broadcast over the Trans-Canada network of the C.B.C.; visit of Commander Wassell (M.C.), U.S.N.R., hero of "The Story of Dr. Wassell," representing the Secretary of the United States Navy, and including Toronto, Ottawa, St. John and Halifax; special broadcast by Admiral Sir Andrew B. Cunningham over the C.B.C. network on Sunday, November 19, at 5.03 p.m. E.D.T. In addition the various Navy League Divisions will have a series of special events in their own localities.

Belleville residents will take a great deal of interest in the week's observance because from this city have gone many hundreds of boys now serving in the Royal Canadian Navy in all the seas. On this occasion too the interest here will be general since in recent months one of Canada's corvettes has been named after the city of Belleville and was recently the scene of a ceremony of adoption which was attended by hundreds of residents of this city.

Newspaper readers and theatre goers have been thrilled with the stories and pictures of the achievements of the R.C.N. and of the service which young Canadians have rendered not only the Dominion but the British Commonwealth and the freedom-loving nations of the world. Canada has become sea-minded through the devotion of her sons from all parts of the Dominion. What the Navy has achieved in the war has indicated to the Canadian people how much this nation is associated with the sea for the Atlantic and Pacific wash her shores and she links the Atlantic and Pacific and European civilization with the civilization of the East.

From Continent to Continent

How fast air transportation is girdling the earth is become general knowledge but an event of the past few days once again rivets the mind on this form of connection with the distant parts of the earth.

Newspapers published in Wellington, N.Z., with the date of Monday, Nov. 13th., arrived in Montreal on Wednesday, Nov. 15th., just under forty-eight hours after they were published on the other side of the earth, more than 10,000 miles away. They were brought to Montreal by the R.A.F.T.C. Liberator, the Commando, which completed the round trip to the Antipodes on its return to the Montreal airport.

Immense development in the airplane is of course owing to the spur of the necessities of war. The coming of peace will see the application of this development to the needs of mankind though they be scattered far and wide over the habitable earth. The plane can now roam over the inhabited and unknown areas of earth in the air where hitherto until not long ago no man had ever been.

The mind of man before the First World War could not have envisioned such a development as has come in the past thirty years. The nations now are already looking to the great problems of airway transportation which it has been the privilege of this generation to see unfold before its eyes.

Swifter than the winds that blow, are these couriers of the air, the planes that link continent with continent by just stretching out across a mere three thousand and more miles of Atlantic, and the six thousand and many more miles of the Pacific's expanses. Faster than the birds and only less fast than the speed of sound are these vehicles of the air, harnessed to man's will and need.

Arctic Investigation

(Christian Science Monitor)

Who said there were no more frontiers? Whoever it was must have overlooked the Arctic, for there exploration is only beginning. The United States is hurrying to catch up with Soviet Russia in its development of resources in the frozen North, and only recently sent a group of experts up to the "lands" above the Arctic Circle to see what they could see.

Soon, if their efforts succeed, we shall know just how rich the Arctic is in minerals and other raw materials and what the boundaries are of those mysterious islands so locked in ice that it is impossible for the novice to tell where the island leaves off and the sea begins.

And perhaps we shall learn some more about Aurora Borealis and the annual shift of the Magnetic Pole.

Better still, perhaps the lands of Nansen's "Farthest North" will one day become one of the world's favorite vacation spots. With new methods of house heating developing almost day by day, and with air conditioning becoming more and more effective, we suggest it is by no means fantastic to visualise the Arctic as the skiers' mecca of the future, for instance. Even for us who prefer the milder forms of recreation, the North may soon become as intriguing and attractive to the tourist—certainly as exotic—as the islands of the South Seas were before Pearl Harbor.

I've just been given a copy of "Elmer's Little Black Notebook," says a writer in The Christian Science Monitor. In it Elmer says he has listed all "discourtesies, insults, impoliteness and bad service, rendered by business today under the excuse there's a war on." When the war is over Elmer plans to take out his notebook and check over the list to see whom he's going to do business with and whom he is not going to do business with.

There's probably a place for Elmer's Little Black Notebook. Hardly anyone but what has had those exasperating experiences these days, and wonders if maybe a pointed reminder of days to come might encourage a different attitude by those people who are "scarcer than customers."

But the fellow who brought in Elmer's left before I could tell him about my book. To distinguish it from Elmer's, I guess it should be called my "Little White Notebook."

In my book, for example, is an entry about the grocery store clerk. There was the usual crowd, waiting anxiously for service by the usual single clerk. I was waiting more or less patiently. Others who came in after me had edged in ahead of me, though. Yet, when the clerk had finished waiting on the one who had come in immediately ahead of me, he turned, glanced quickly over the assembled throng, and seeing me looking hopefully from the outer fringe, pushed his way past the interlopers and with a smile said: "You're next, sir. What is it, please?"

Despair in the Ruhr

(London Observer)

The plight of many German people in the Ruhr must be very difficult. One letter written to a husband from a village near Dusseldorf and picked up by British troops near Dunkerque begins: "I do not believe you will receive this letter. We have no mail at all, but a soldier is going to Kiel and will take this letter with him. Every month I ask myself the same question: Where are you? Have you come with the many who have returned to Germany, or have you become a prisoner of war? I hope so.

WHAT LIFE'S ABOUT

Hard the task and long,
Scarce seeming worth while,
But he came home to song
And a little boy's smile.

And he tossed him his hat
With a laugh and a shout,
And perhaps it's just that
This life is about.

They sat down to tea,
High the little chap's chair,
Mother pleased as can be
With the three of them there.

And next the sweet joy
When his prayers had been said,
Just a tired little boy
Safely tucked into bed.

And this I am sure,
Beyond cavil and doubt,
Men work hard to secure,
And is what life's about.

Deny Profane Words Used by President In Voting Booth

Hyde Park, N. Y., Nov. 18—(AP)—Miss Mildred M. Todd, a Democratic election inspector, said today she did not hear President Roosevelt use profanity, or any other words, while he was in the voting machine booth here on election day.

A news magazine (Time), describing the president's visit to the polling place, said:

"From the green-curtained voting booth came a clank of gears as the main control lever jerked irritably back and forth. Then a voice, familiar to all of the U. S. and to most of the world, spoke distinctly from the curtains: 'The Goddamned thing won't work'".

Miss Todd said she was sitting "just a few feet from the voting booth" when the president voted.

"I did not hear him say a world while he was in the booth," she said, adding she did not recall that the voting machine failed to work.

The Glendale (Calif.) Ministerial Association said last night it had sent the President a letter asking him to apologize for what it termed his "shocking profanity," as reported by the magazine.

Four other election officials also denied the President had been profane while casting his ballot.

Thomas L. Leonard, Democratic inspector, said "I was the person nearest to the President because I was tending the machine. He did not use any profane language at any time.

"What he said was, 'Tom, what's the matter with this thing? It doesn't work. Oh, it's all right now.'"

Mrs. George Upright, a Republican inspector, said "I never heard him say a word when the voting machine failed to work."

Mrs. Reta Lasher, Republican gatekeeper, and Mrs. Douglas Crasper, Republican inspector said they did not hear the President say anything.

LETTER TO THE EDITOR

Ald. Pringle Expresses Views on Gas Utility

Editor,
Ontario Intelligencer.

At a recent meeting of the Belleville Industrial Commission, of which the writer has had the privilege of being chairman for the past four years, the answers to the questionnaire submitted by the Commission to the industrial and commercial users of gas were studied and the general managers of three of Belleville's largest industries who, by their answers, indicated that their factories could not operate without gas, were invited to submit further representations in person.

An analysis of the questionnaire showed that there are still many commercial users who consider gas as being indispensable to their business. The representatives of the Stewart-Warner-Alemite Corporation, the Corbin Lock Company and the Consolidated Optical Company advised the Commission that if the gas utility should be closed it would detrimentally affect not only the present operations but also their future post-war expansion, on which they will only embark if they are guaranteed a continuous supply of gas indefinitely.

It was also brought out that the Industrial Commission, in endeavoring to obtain the establishment of new industries in Belleville, has not over the past number of years been able to guarantee any prospect of the continuation of the gas plant, should they establish here, which emphasizes the fact that if the gas plant is to be maintained, it has to be maintained in such a fashion that there will never again be any doubt as to its future operation, and it is only with this certainty that the present industries will expand and future industries will locate in Belleville.

Therefore, in order to serve existing industrial, commercial and domestic users, and obtain additional industrial, commercial and domestic users, the 1945 Council must advise the Public Utilities Commission they will furnish them with sufficient money to put the plant and mains in A1 shape, and the Public Utilities Commission will have to guarantee to the Council that if they continue to operate the plant, they will do so in active competition with electricity by adopting a vigorous sales promotion policy and doing everything possible to promote the gas utility.

It is my belief that the Utilities Commission has always felt that they could not conscientiously urge people to purchase gas appliances in that they never knew when the plant might be forced to close due to dilapidation, but with a guarantee from the council as above, they will no longer have any reason for not promoting gas equally with electricity. If they feel that they cannot serve the gas utility and the electric utility at the same time, they should hand the management back to the Council who could then run it as a keen competitor of electricity.

For the above reason, the writer is proposing to the Council at its next meeting that the motion asking for an expression of opinion as to the continuation of the plant at the next election be withdrawn, and that a recommendation go forward to the 1945 Council that vigorous action be taken to maintain the utility, promote the sale of its product and place Belleville in the position of being able to compete successfully with any city in Ontario in future industrial expansion.

While the utility may operate at a loss for some time, the revenue that would be lost by the city in the way of taxation should any of the above industries have to move its operations elsewhere would probably more than compensate for the loss incurred by maintaining a modern up to date gas utility.

Yours very truly,
R. A. Pringle.

Japanese Leave 1,300 Prisoners Of War To Die

London, Nov. 17 — (CP) — The Japanese saved their own nationals from a sinking transport off Singapore last September but left 1,300 British and Australian prisoners of war to die in the sea, War Secretary Sir James Grigg told the House of Commons today.

American submarine crews which torpedoed the transport risked their lives to save the prisoners, but a majority were drowned, he reported. One hundred and fifty survivors have arrived in England.

"Thanks to the Americans nearly all the rescued men are recovering from their terrible experience," said Sir James.

The prisoners were the survivors of a Japanese railroad building project in Siam and Burma where disease and living conditions were reported "terrible" and at least one in five died.

"We have asked the protecting power (Switzerland) to make the strongest possible protest," the War Secretary stated. "It is necessary that the Japanese should know that we know how they have been behaving and that we intend to hold them responsible."

Sir James said his statement was taken from a first-hand account made by survivors now in Britain.

Sir James said his reference to conditions in Siam and Burma did not apply to Hong Kong, Formosa, occupied China, Korea or Japan where conditions were believed relatively tolerable, nor did these "cruel conditions" prevail in civilian internee camps.

"The great majority of the prisoners in Singapore and Java appear to have been moved early in 1942 to Burma or Siam," he said. "The Australians were sent by sea to Burma, crowded into ships' holds which were horizontally subdivided so that ceilings were no more than four feet high.

"The prisoners from the United Kingdom were sent by rail to Siam, so crowded into trucks that they could not even lie down during the journey.

"They then marched some 80 miles. This and subsequent movements in Burma or Siam appear to have been on foot regardless of distance, weather or the prisoners' state of health. United Kingdom prisoners were then set to work on the construction of a railway through primitive and disease-infested jungle, passing over a mountain range between Siam and Burma to meet the Burmese end of the railway under construction, while the Australians were engaged in similar work."

PERSONAL HEALTH TALKS

MECHANISM FOR METABOLISM

Oh, pshaw, by now I suppose there is little if any recollection of the observations made in the articles in this column a few days ago concerning malnutrition, superfluous flesh and obesity. That being so the question is, where do we go from here? If we go back and begin over again we'll never get beyond where we broke off at the deadline. So let us proceed from the reminder that vitamin B is "poor man's insulin", since the principal function of vitamin B in nutrition, as is now scientifically recognized, is to promote normal metabolism or utilization of carbohydrate (starch, sugar) to produce energy.

Insufficient daily intake of vitamin B in the ultra-refined modern diet (most of the calories derived from refined white flour and refined sugar or syrup) explains, as I believe, not only the common tendency to accumulate superfluous flesh but also the unfortunate fact that most overweight individuals lack ambition, eagerness or energy to work (with muscles), play, exercise or to indulge in any physical activity. They prefer to have white collar jobs, do only "brain work", sit and watch others play.

Going around, whether for votes or for fun or on social, business or philanthropic errands uses energy, provided you travel under your own power. The necessary energy comes from the oxidation, combustion, burning of fuel — blood sugar — the from of fuel into which all carbohydrate food must be converted before it can be used as fuel. And here is where vitamin B comes in. If your intake of vitamin B is inadequate, your ignition system is defective and you just don't have the ambition, the power, the efficiency the pep. So you sit it out. Action rather irks you. Why walk if you can possibly ride? Why work if you can hire or persuade some one else to work for you? Why play when there are professionals willing to play for your amusement?

I hope I am not giving an exaggerated conception of the function of vitamin B when I say B I mean B-complex, not only thiamin (B1) but all the other entities or factors that grow in the natural B-complex group. I hope no one will get the notion that vitamin B, even when large amounts of the synthetic thiamin (B1) are administered in "shots", is a pick-me up or a magic restorer of vitality. It is more intelligent to regard vitamin B-complex rather as "the mechanism necessary for the metabolism of carbohydrate"—that is, for the normal utilization of starches and sugars by the body.

QUESTIONS & ANSWERS

Electrolysis

Seven-year-old daughter has patch of hair on her back. Doctor gave her three X-ray treatments at age of three. No luck. The doctor says he would not chance further X-ray treatment and knows no other. (Mrs. A. C. P.)

Answer—If it is necessary to destroy the hair I should think electrolysis the best way.

Garlic is Expensive

I have been taking garlic pills for my high blood pressure, but they are very expensive. (Mrs. R. S.)

Answer—Garlic has no effect on blood pressure.

Wait for Me

What other foods besides blackstrap molasses are rich in inositol? Why is "yogurt" pronounced a super food?

Answer—It is? I wouldn't know, brother—you're away ahead of me. Yoghourt is fermented milk — in my opinion plain sour milk or buttermilk has the same food and remedial values as bulgarin milk. Acidophilus milk, yoghourt or other soured or fermented milk.

NUGGETS OF KNOWLEDGE

Connecticut and Rhode Island are the only two States in the Union that have never received any Rural Electrification Administration funds.

Geoffrey Chaucer (1340-1400) is generally regarded as the most important figure in English literature before Shakespeare.

So far as science has been able to discover, there are no two objects in the world just exactly alike no matter whether they are natural or artificial. No two leaves or snowflakes, no two objects manufactured by man, are exactly alike. Scientists believe that even each infinitesimal atom composing the elements differs from all the rest.

"Shilly-shally," which means to vacillate, was originally "shill I, shall I," an altered form of "shall I, shall I." "Wishy-washy" is a corruption of "washy-washy."

"Cynosure" is derived from two Greek words and literally means "dog's tail." The term was the ancient name of the constellation known as the Little Bear, and also of the North Star (Polaris), which is the end of the tail of the Little Bear. Since mariners have for thousands of years guided their ships by the Pole Star, cynosure has come to signify anything that attracts attention or the object towards which all eyes are turned. Hence the popular phrase "the cynosure of all eyes" means simply the centre of attraction.

Henry Wadsworth Longfellow is probably the most widely read and most famous American poet who has ever lived. Dozens of his poems have become part and parcel of the folk poems of the English-speaking world.

Longfellow published prose works also, but his fame rests wholly on his verse. His "Outre-mer," a travel book, and his "Hyperion" and "Kavanaugh," novels, have been almost completely forgotten. He was a descendant of John Alden and Priscilla Mullens, whose romance he celebrated in "The Courtship of Miles Standish," and his second wife, Frances Appleton, was the heroine of "Hyperion."

Longfellow was the first, and so far the only, American poet to be honored with a bust in the Poet's Corner of Westminster Abbey. The bust was placed there by English admirers of the American poet in 1884, five years before his death.

SUPPLY SHIP HIT

London, Nov. 17 — (CP) — Light coastal forces manned by Royal Norwegian Navy personnel scored torpedo hits on a large German supply ship and on an armed trawler escort off the coast of Norway last Monday, the Admiralty announced last night. Both were believed to have been sunk.

WEDDINGS

ADAMS—REID

A quiet and pretty Fall wedding was solemnized in Brighton, at the home of Rev. and Mrs. E. Whitmore, on Wednesday, November 15, at 4 p.m., when Marvel Keitha Reid, second daughter of Mrs. E. Reid of Toronto, and the late Adie Reid, of Stirling, became the bride of Lloyd Nelson, youngest son of Mr. and Mrs. O. L. Adams of Frankford, Mr. Whitmore, the groom's brother-in-law, officiating.

The bride wore a two-piece, street length gown of powder blue with matching hat and veil and carried a bouquet of Sweetheart roses and fern. Her only jewellery was a locket which was a keepsake, being the last gift from her father. She was attended by her sister, Miss Pearl Reid, of Toronto, who wore a gown of blue with matching hat and veil and carried a bouquet of white chrysanthemums and pink carnations.

Mr. Joseph Adams, of Frankford, brother of the groom, was best man.

Following the ceremony, the groom's sister, Mrs. Whitmore, served a wedding dinner to members of the immediate families.

The bride and groom will visit western towns, Buffalo and other points, returning to Toronto, where they will reside.

BOYLE—TASKER

The marriage was solemnized of John Henry Boyle, stoker mechanic, RCNVR, son of Mr. and Mrs. Boyle, Trenton, and Doris Emily Mae Tasker, daughter of W. H. Tasker, Kirkland Lake, and the late Mrs. Tasker, at Trinity United Church, Kirkland Lake. Rev. J. K. Moffat conducted the service, and the wedding music was played by Roland K. Newton.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride wore a gown of white sheer, with small halo hat and fingertip veil, and carried a bouquet of red roses and white chrysanthemums.

She was attended by her sister, Mrs. Edna Davis, who wore a powder blue dress with small hat to match and carried a bouquet of red roses. R. J. Campbell was best man.

After the ceremony, a few intimate friends of the family assembled at the home of the bride's father for a dinner party. Mrs. Harold Bird, in navy crepe with corsage of roses and Miss Muriel Tasker in a dark suit with rose corsage, sisters of the bride, received.

A turquoise suit with matching accessories was chosen by the bride for the wedding trip to Toronto, Trenton and Boston.

PROUTY—KIDD

Warsaw. — A quiet wedding was solemnized Saturday, November 11, at three p.m., when Gloria Edith, eldest daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Bruce Kidd, of Warsaw, was united in marriage to Trooper Lennel H. Prouty, Camp Borden, eldest son of Mr. and Mrs. Percy Prouty, Owenbrook.

The house was decorated with white bells and pink and white streamers.

To the strains of the Bridal Chorus from Lohengrin, the bride entered the drawing room on the arm of her father, wearing a floor length gown of white sheer and lace with finger tip veil caught to her hair with a spray of orange blossoms. She carried an arm bouquet of American Beauty roses, and wore the gift of the groom, a pearl set pendant and chain.

Miss Gladys Bolton, who attended as bridesmaid, wore a floor length gown of forget-me-not blue sheer, with hat and fingertip veil to match. She carried a bouquet of pink roses.

Orville Kidd, brother of the bride, acted as best man.

The ceremony was performed by Rev. E. D. Snelgrove, of Warsaw. During the signing of the register, "At Dawning" was sung by Miss Helen Lytle and music played by James Abraham.

A buffet luncheon was served to the guests.

A reception was held in the evening at the home of the bride, the bride's mother receiving in Queen Elizabeth blue crepe with corsage of pink rosebuds.

The groom's gift to the best man was a billfold; to the bridesmaid, a necklace, and to the soloist, a glamor pin with earrings to match.

The happy couple left on a motor trip to Toronto, returning by way of Coe Hill. The bride donned an ensemble of cocoa brown with matching accessories.

On arriving in Coe Hill a shower was given them at the home of the groom's aunt, Miss Viola Prouty, where a social evening was spent in cards and crokinole. The many friends showed their esteems by their presence and the many useful gifts. Lunch was served after which the crowd sang, "For They are Jolly Good Fellows".

The regular meeting of the Plainfield W. M. S. was held on Wednesday at the home of Mrs. Clarence Hall with an attendance of nineteen members and one visitor.

Mrs. Fred Hall, president, opened the meeting.

The worship service was conducted by Mrs. Fred Prindle, theme, "Father We Thank Thee." Quiet music was given by Mrs. Ralph Wilder and Mrs. Horace Palmer gave a reading. Prayers were given by Mrs. Harry Harrison, Mrs. C. Hall and Mrs. Violet Elliott. Mrs. (Dr.) Moore favored with a solo.

Mrs. Clarence Marshall, Mrs. Arthur Hall and Mrs. A. Meeks were appointed to look after the slate of officers for the coming year. Mrs. Harry Harrison gave a reading on Christian Citizenship. Mrs. E. Emerson, group leader, took charge of the program assisted by Mrs. Almond Hall, Mrs. Norman Hall, Jr., Mrs. Sherman Parks, Mrs. V. Elliott and Mrs. Fred Hall.

Thank offering amounted to $12.

The hostess and her assistants served refreshments and a social half hour was spent.

W.C.T.U.

On Friday afternoon, the regular monthly meeting of the W.C.T.U. was opened by the twenty-one members present repeating the Pledge in unison.

After the opening hymn and prayer by the President, the corresponence was read and minutes and treasurer's report given.

Mrs. I. L. Moore gave the devotional reading, showing the folly of hatred.

Mrs. Arnold Dilts' solo, accompanied by Mrs. Denton at the piano, was most entertaining.

The "Clip Sheet" questions and answers showed the work being done by the Union in jails, hospitals and for the Navy.

Mrs. Baker closed with the benediction.

HUBBY MEETS WIFE

If the photographer didn't have the soul of a heel he'd have quietly slunk away and left this couple to their sacred moment alone. But then the world would have missed a grand picture. It was the reunion of a husband and wife in the mud of France. The husband is Lieut. Richard K. Sunderbruch, of Davenport, Iowa, Signal Corps photographic officer who was wounded in the battle of Aachen. The wife also is a lieutenant in the army nurse corps. She is assigned to an evacuation hospital behind the lines on the western front. This was their first meeting at the front.

Women's Association Of Bridge St. Church Holds Successful Tea

A very lovely tea under the auspices of the Women's Association of Bridge Street United Church was held in the church parlors on Friday afternoon. The occasion was a very successful one and realized highly gratifying results.

Mrs. J. M. Wood and Miss Ivy Dickens very graciously received the guests. Acting as hostess for the afternoon was Mrs. W. H. Finkle.

The tea table was beautifully arranged, spread with a white cloth, centred with a silver basket of 'mums in delightful hues of lemon yellow and bronze, and flanked with tall bronze tapers in silver candelabra. Convener of the tea was Mrs. H. O. Trusdale, assisted by a committee composed of Mrs. G. S. Cronk, Mrs. A. R. Schryver, Mrs. Charlie Hyde and Mrs. Harry Croll. Pouring tea were Mrs. S. G. Kerr, Mrs. F. E. Houston, Mrs. Ross Saleman and Mrs. H. W. Ackerman. Servitors were Mrs. Bert Howard, Mrs. E. Fairman, Mrs. H. Wray, Mrs. J. R. McCullough, Mrs. H. Mott, Mrs. R. O. Patterson, Mrs. J. Marsh, Mrs. W. Sherry, Mrs. J. H. Mather, Mrs. H. S. Robbins, Mrs. T. K. Franklin, Mrs. W. Wilson, Mrs. T. Jamieson, Mrs. A. Campbell, Mrs. A. Reynolds and Mrs. J. McGuire.

Conveners of the homecooking table were Mrs. E. Morden and Mrs. A. E. May, assisted by a committee comprising Mrs. H. Rollins, Mrs. H. Francis, Mrs. J. W. Bulah, Mrs. J. W. Madden and Mrs. G. Wade. Convening the novelty booth were Mrs. W. Hunter and Mrs. W. E. McCormick assisted by a committee of Mrs. C. E. Meyers, Mrs. R. Grant, Mrs. E. Evans and Mrs. J. T. Kelver.

Treasurer for the afternoon was Mrs. R. Grant.

QUINTE W.I.

The Quinte W.I. held its monthly meeting at Mrs. Don Leeming's home on Tuesday afternoon with a good attendance of approximately forty.

The president, Mrs. A. Greatrix opened the meeting. There was prayer for peace by Mrs. K. Vivian.

A letter regarding the appointment of the new girls' coach in Home Economics, Miss Thompson, was read. Some discussion took place on the Farm Forum and it was decided to hold one at Mrs. D. Atkins' on Monday evening. Splendid reports of the Belleville area convention were given by Mrs. D. Atkins and Mrs. A. Greatrix, at the close of which the sincere thanks of the institute was extended to both delegates.

Mrs. K. Vivian leader for the day, took charge, and the following program was presented: Paper, Autumn of Life, Mrs Montgomery; Reading (by request) My Wild White Rose, Mrs. Montgomery; Talk, "Toxoid and its Uses", Mrs. C. Howie; Humorous Reading, Mrs. Sandercock; Community Singing, Carry Me Back to Old Virginia; Paper, Welfare of a Child, Mrs. G. Conners; Roll Call, First Aid for Home Accidents.

Mention was made of Mrs. E. Leeming and several in the hospital and the hope for their speedy recovery was expressed.

Thanks was extended to all who helped in the program and to Mrs. D. Leeming for opening her home, by the president Mrs. A. Greatrix.

The singing of the National Anthem followed by Grace closed the meeting and a lunch was served by Mrs. Leeming and conveners. Collection $3.75.

The Marry Go Round

ALL US CHILLUN GOT NERVES!

Have you noticed that the war-tension or the recent political tension or something has turned lots of once-pleasant people into crabs? Leaving out the public rows and fist-fights among celebrities, which make the headlines, how many people in your private life give you a smile and a civil answer to a civil question? Most of them are too grouchy or overworked even to listen to you. They fill you with an inferiority-complex!

And this brings me back to an idea I've had for years. I've always planned some day to hire a professional listener and cheer-leader. Or even a professional flatterer.

Somebody to laugh at my jokes, applaud my wit, listen to my servant troubles and tell me how young I look, at least once a day. Somebody to keep my inferiority complex down and my self-esteem up to par.

Why not? We pay people to cater to our palates, give us medicine and massage, tailor us, dress us and make us beautiful. And then we go around pathetically begging alms and gratuities, when it comes to food for our souls and a tonic for our ego!

There is nothing new in the idea. The old monarchs had it, when they paid courtiers to listen to them and professional flatterers "favorites" to nourish their vanity and self-complacency. To help them bluff themselves!

If you pay a psychoanalyst a big fee for telling you what's wrong with you, a skilled cheer-leader with a beautiful line ought to get twice as much for telling you what's right with you. The first merely finds your inferiority complex. That's not such a trick. It's curing it that counts.

Of course, our natural boosters and admirers are supposed to be our husbands (or wives) and our loving friends. But these are usually so busy trying to "improve" us or telling us things "for our own good" that they don't find time to spread the salve. Or they are afraid they'll make us conceited.

I know this dream of finding somebody who will always agree with me, boost me and cheer me is only a fantasy—a dream of Alnaschar—especially in these days when we are all so high-strung, low-spirited and quick on the trigger. But if such a profession existed, one could make a fortune at it.

The next best thing we can do is for each of us to remember that everybody's nerves are jangled and on edge, and be as patient with each other as we can—and particularly as cheerful. Everybody needs a booster. Everybody needs somebody to keep up his courage and self-confidence and his faith, if we are to get through this war, without becoming a nation of long-faced, cynical crabs. All us chillun got nerves!

Why keep our good manners and smiles for evening wear? Why not try them on the tradesman or the waiter, with a little of the "old oil" thrown in? It won't even cost you a ration point.

Advice to the Lovelorn

By BEATRICE FAIRFAX

Few Problems When People are Happy

There's an old adage to the effect that the happiest women, like the happiest countries, have no written history. However, sometimes a windfall comes along, telling of people who have successfully adjusted life's problems and have snatched happiness from what looked as if it were going to be failure.

Mary Y. writes me the mistake she made in the beginning of her married life was a nameless fear she had of the very word "mother-in-law."

When her husband's mother was nice to her, she froze, thinking the mother-in-law was trying to get some underhand grip on her home life. She was morbidly jealous of her husband's affection for his mother, and would sulk and pout if he phoned her, and raised the roof if he went to see her.

Things didn't turn out so brilliantly for the young couple. They had paid more for their little bungalow than it was worth. Repairs were needed almost immediately and they couldn't keep up the payments. When the baby came there was not enough money for doctor's bills and the extra expenses that are required at such times.

Going to the bank one day to make sure she hadn't overdrawn her account, the young wife was staggered to discover there was $200 to her credit, and who was the donor but the despised mother-in-law. Still, Mary Y. was not convinced. Her husband told her bluntly if she felt like that, the decent thing would be to return the $200 but the money meant all the difference between harassing debts and peace of mind.

Then a light began to dawn on the stubborn young wife. She adored her husband who was a man of fine character, and she began to think he couldn't possibly be the nice guy he was if he hadn't been brought up by a pretty decent sort of mother.

Her letter closes with: "My husband and I are happy; we have our children and our future to look forward to—a home of our own, a good education for our youngsters, and a comfortable old age. I still tell my husband how much I love his mother and she deserves it."

CANADIAN Y·M·C·A WAR SERVICES

The Red Group, under the leadership of Miss Cecilia Rolland, entertained a fine number of Service personnel from the surrounding stations this week.

On Monday evening, several servicemen were given the opportunity to learn how to dance at the Dancing Class under the supervision of Mr. Harold McKeig.

Tuesday night was bridge night and there were five tables in play. Refreshments "topped off" the popular card game which were served by hostess girls of the Red Group.

Wednesday evening was party night in the "Y" Gym. A Cabaret dance was held and a good crowd was in attendance considering the other activities and the rainy weather. Refreshments of cake and hot chocolate were enjoyed by everyone after the dance.

Thursday night was Open House for all Service men and women, and many of them took advantage of the quiet atmosphere for reading and writing.

Couple Sentenced For Child Neglect

London, Nov. 18—(CP)—An English married couple were sentenced to three months at hard labor for neglecting their six children, aged three months to 12 years.

Authorities said the rooms were filthy and the bed linen so dirty that if washed it would fall to pieces. The man, his wife and two children slept in one bed and the other four children in another. They were badly clothed and their bodies were dirty and verminous.

Recreation Alley Bowlers Help Kinsmen Fag Fund

Bowlers at the Recreation Alleys have been most generous in their efforts to support the Belleville Kinsmen "fag fund" and have contributed well over one hundred dollars to the fund in less than two years. The system employed by the bowlers is quite simple—every time a league player makes a foul by stepping over the alley foul line he pays a fine, which is placed in the Kinsmen "fag fund" and have con— the bowlers add to the kitty of their own free will recognizing the importance of sending cigarettes overseas.

The list of Belleville boys sent individual shipments of 300 cigarettes each through the Kinsmen Fag Fund this week included:

Sport Roundup

By HUGH FULLERTON, JR.
(Associated Press Sports Writer)

New York, Nov. 18. (AP)— Think Army's Glenn Davis has done pretty well to score 96 points in College football this season? Well, make way for a few real point-getters from high school ranks. . . Bill Chauncey of Webster City, Iowa, finished his season last week with 31 touchdowns and five extra points for 191 points. He gained 3,130 yards by running and passing and completed 21 of 41 attempted aerials . . . Coach Bob Lemson relates that when Bill was a freshman tackle he was seriously ill and only his desire to play football pulled him through. . . . Note to College Scouts: Bill is due to enter the army next week.

Head Man's Headache.

Freddie Mandel, owner of the Detroit Lions, would like to see his club beat the Bears tomorrow, but possibly not at the same cost as the last time . . . When Detroit played the Bears at the U. of Detroit stadium in 1940, Mandel had to take a seat under a low roof in the press box. . . The Lions were trailing 14-10 with 37 seconds to go, then Cotton Price passed to Lloyd Cardwell in the end zone. . . Freddie let out a yell and started to jump to his feet. . . "The next thing I knew", he recalls, "somebody was holding a cup of water under my lips. I had bumped my head against that low roof and knocked myself out".

BAN ON WRESTLING

London, Nov. 18. (CP)—A ban on wrestling —professional style—was recommended last night by the Public Control Committee of the London County Council.

"In our view, 'all-in' wrestling cannot be regarded as true wrestling", said the committee. "We do not consider that it contains any element of sport, and we regard it as a degrading and unhealthy form of entertainment".

The grunt-and-groan style won some popularity here before the war.

TORONTO LEAFS MEET THE HAWKS OVER WEEKEND

Detroit Meets Rangers and Boston Bruins, Canadiens Play Twice

By ERIC SANDERSON
(Canadian Press Staff Writer)

While all clubs in the National Hockey League face a tough grind this week-end indications are that Paul Thompson's Chicago Black Hawks face the most potent opposition.

Now holding down the anchor position with only one win in six starts, Hawks clash with the league-leading Toronto Maple Leafs tonight and play a return match at Chicago Sunday.

Leafs, not yet fully recovered from two setbacks by Detroit Red Wings, are expected to put plenty of punch behind their drive for a double victory to keep them at the head of the parade.

So far Toronto has lost only two games in eight starts — both of them to the third-place Detroit club.

Detroit, with four wins and three losses and currently regarded as the "team to beat" clash with New York Rangers tonight and meet Boston Bruins tomorrow night. The Wings dropped a 5-2 decision to Rangers last Saturday and will be out to avenge the defeat. In their first meeting of the season Detroit walloped the New Yorkers 7-1 and later trounced Boston 10-3.

Canadiens, with five wins and two losses — both to Toronto — tangle with Boston at Montreal tonight and with Rangers at New York tomorrow night. The Flying Frenchmen are in second place two points back of Toronto.

Although it is early in the campaign to predict a winner, competition so far points to a stiff three-way battle for the leadership.

Chicago's main chore will be to stop the powerful Schriner-Bodnar-Carr line, which led Leafs to six consecutive victories before the three were held pointless by Detroit. Schriner had scored at least one goal a game in the early matches and led his team in their 11-5 triumph over the Hawks in a previous match.

JOHNNY GRECO DEFEATS RUFFIN IN TEN-ROUNDER

Montreal Boxer Scores Heavily With Right-Hand Punches

By MICHAEL O'MARA
(Canadian Press Staff Writer)

New York, Nov. 18—(CP)—Johnny Greco of Montreal slugged his way to a convincing victory over the clever Bobby Ruffin last night in one of the most thrilling fights that has rocked the rafters of Madison Square Garden in a long time.

Hitting hard and often in the early rounds, the Canadian welterweight built up a big enough lead to stand off a closing rally from the Long Island City, N. Y., gamecock who came off the floor twice to make the decision close.

Established a 5-8 favorite at the bell, Greco scored heavily with right-hand punches to Ruffin's head in the fourth and fifth. He landed another lethal right-hand wallop in the sixth and Ruffin went down for three, but came up again fighting. Greco put him back on the canvas for a one-count near the end of the seventh, but the bell gave Ruffin the respite he needed.

The former Canadian Army sergeant's blockbusters forced Ruffin to open up in a desperate attempt to climb back into contention, and in the final three rounds the boys slugged toe-to-toe, with Ruffin — also a discharged army man — having the best of it as Greco tired slightly.

On his showing last night Greco went a long way toward getting a shot at Freddy Cochrane's world welterweight title. Since he put on 10 pounds during his army stint—he weighed 143 1/2 last night to Ruffin's 141, the former lightweight seems unlikely to get under the 135-pound limit again. A crowd of 16,100 paid $55,760.

GERMAN SHIPS BLOWN UP

Stockholm, Nov. 17 — (AP) — Three German ships under construction at a Copenhagen shipyard have been blown up by Danish patriots, the Free Danish press service said yesterday. The agency also said a "Von Kuckwitz," in charge of German ship production in Denmark, has been court martialed because the shipbuilding program is 10 months behind schedule.

Canadian Sport Snapshots

By SYD THOMAS
(Canadian Press Staff Writer)

Toronto, Nov. 18 — (CP) — There has been a great deal of pro-ing and an equal amount of conning over the intricate problem of the correct way to train hockey players. Some say they should be given large quantities of physical jerks and muscle-building contortions, while the other school of thought pooh-poohs that for an idea and advocates plenty of good, old-fashioned skating and hockey practice.

Dink (Montreal Gazette) Carroll goes into the question while reviewing a book, "How to Train for Hockey," written by one Lloyd Percival and sponsored by the Y.M.C.A. sports college. The book advocates lots of pre-season training and conditioning, with special exercises for developing special abilities — like shooting power and accuracy, puck-handling, rapid starting (with or without no-knock fuel) and so on.

There is no doubt a certain amount of conditioning exercises are good, especially any that will strengthen the wrist muscles and sharpen the shooting eye, but indulged in to excess such a program is apt to backfire. It's the old question of too much theory and not enough practice, or trying to learn a game out of a book.

Dink points out that Jack Adams, manager of the very effective Detroit Red Wings, prefers plenty of skating, while Sprague Cleghorn, certainly no slouch in his day, placed more faith in a vigorous program of running to strengthen the vital leg muscles. Hap Day of Toronto Leafs is one coach who likes conditioning exercises, but that doesn't stop him from throwing the book at the boys when it comes to real practice.

While on the question, Baz O'Meara of the Montreal Star points out that Ottawa Senators one year did some arduous training in the swimming tank, and outdistanced all opposition for the first half of the year before the other squads rounded into shape.

Incidentally:

Fred Thompson in the Kitchener Record takes exception to the recent comment on the increasing numbers of players of foreign extraction appearing in the Ontario junior hockey world. Fred Craig of the Peterboro Examiner wondered if the descendants of the old Canadians were becoming drugstore cowboys, but the Kitchener writer wants to know when the second-and-third general Canadians "ever had to take back seats" to the Canadians of lengthier lineage. He sees in it opposition to the "foreign element," but actually it was perfectly innocent, we feel. In fact, it's a tribute to the youth of the new and sturdy stock that has come to this country in recent years that it can produce players of such high calibre.

Sport Shorts From Britain

By ALLAN NICKLESON
(Canadian Press Staff Writer)

London, Nov. 18 — (CP) — Al Foreman strode into the sports department of a London newspaper and the editor wrote in his column that "the clock went back nearly 15 years."

Because this was the fellow from Montreal who won the British lightweight boxing championship back in 1930 by knocking out Fred Webster in one round — and paying for the privilege.

Al, 40 this month and probably the oldest operational airman in the R.C.A.F., came to London on a bit of leave, looked up a lot of old friends and watched a fellow Montrealer, Dark Danny Webb, pound World Flyweight Champion Jackie Paterson into defeat in a non-title bout at the Queensberry Club.

Now a flying officer, Foreman is a rear gunner in an R.A.F. Lancaster squadron and has participated in several raids on German cities. He transferred to air crew after entering the R.C.A.F. as a photographer on leaving his job with the Montreal Standard.

Al promoted his own championship fight in beating Webster—and lost financially on the deal. He said he paid Webster $1,600 to defend the title. He left England undefeated and retired in 1934 after a close fight with Pete Sarron, world featherweight king.

"I remember Al as one of the hardest-hitting lightweights this country has seen in action," said Frank Butler in his Daily Express sports column the other day. "Foreman was popular with fight fans here. He was a good fighter — and is still doing a great job of fighting."

A couple of other Montrealers, a Negro sergeant and an air force corporal, won and lost in recent bouts against good English boxers.

Airman Harry Hurst whipped Jimmy Moore of Birkenhead on points over 10 rounds at Liverpool and besides his purse collected a side bet of $225 from his opponent. Hurst kept the fight at close quarters where he was the complete master.

The Canadian army sergeant, Arnold Hayes, was outpointed by a British army heavyweight, Sgt. Tom Reddington, over eight rounds. Hayes turned professional shortly after winning the Canadian Army heavyweight championship a couple of years ago.

A new heavyweight is news until he's licked. So, in the public eye is Bruce Woodcock, 23-year-old Doncaster engineer who has won eight recent fights by knockouts.

Experts wrote that Woodcock scored one of the most outstanding triumphs of his career when he kayoed Canada's Al Delaney in five rounds the other night at Nottingham.

Delaney, Oshawa, Ont., and Windsor, Ont., fighter who held the Canadian light-heavyweight title when he joined the Canadian Army as a trooper, was six pounds heavier than Woodcock but that made no difference. The Canadian took a nine-count in the fifth and two hard rights sent him to his knees. He was counted out before he could rise.

Previously, Woodcock knocked out Martin Thornton, Eire's heavyweight king, in two rounds, and Reddington, who beat Hayes, in six.

Tunney Listens To Katan For Return Bout

"With John Katan claiming he was jobbed, given the business and demanding a return bout with Billy Watson, I had little choice than to rematch this pair in a no time limit bout for the British Empire championship at the Hume Arena next Wednesday. Katan claims that Frank Sexton interfered with him in his last meeting with Watson in Belleville and also Katan demands another referee aside from Maxwell. With all of these protests pouring in I had no choice but to sign these two hated ring enemies for a final bout," explained Promoter Frank Tunney today as he announced the match must go to a finish and a winner declared.

"If necessary I will have a fence erected around the ring to keep interfering wrestlers from entering the squared circle and molesting either of the principles next week. This is one time we are going to have a championship match without interference and settle once and for all whether Watson's science can best Katan's brute strength," promised Promoter Tunney today.

In the meantime Katan has reverted to his Palermo farm taking along Al Dunlop and Gino Garibaldi for training purposes. "We have a secret weapon we're going to use on Watson in Belleville," was the threat Dunlop made after making himself Katan's second and advisor.

Two guaranteed preliminaries for this championship bout are being arranged by the Queensbury A.C.

GERMAN MINISTER IN SWEDEN IN BERLIN TO SUBMIT REPORT

New York, Nov. 16 — (AP)—The German agency D.N.B. sent as a "flash" in its overseas service today an announcement that Dr. Hans Thomsen, German minister in Stockholm, "is in Berlin to submit his report."

This emphasized recent tension between the German and Swedish governments and recalled that Germany recently summoned to Berlin her envoys to neutral Portugal and Spain and announced they would not return to the Iberian peninsula.

CASUAL COMMENT by K.J.C.

(Looking Ahead)

As Smith and Jones were waiting at the bus stop, a passer-by stopped and asked Jones the time. Jones did not reply.

After the stranger has passed on, Smith asked:

"Why didn't you answer him?"

"Well, it's this way," Jones replied. "If I'd told him the time, he might have got chatting then we might have had a drink together, and in the end I might have asked him home to supper.

"There he might have met my daughter—and she's a very pretty girl—and they might have fallen in love. Finally they might have got married."

"And let me tell you, I don't want a fellow for my son-in-law who can't afford to buy a watch."

Upsets Today?

Although today's American football schedule games aren't exactly attracting the attention of the Yankee grid fans, who are now awaiting the Army-Navy clash of Dec. 2nd., it was could be that today might see some unexpected upsets of the higher ranking squads. At present the experts are calling the West Point Army team "the best in the land", but residents of Ohio resent this. They do not concur, as a matter of fact the residents in and around Columbus, Ohio, are quite satisfied their own "Buckeyes" are the top-ranking eleven south of the border.

Today Army meets Pennsylvania at Franklin Field where a sell-out crowd of over 70,000 will be on hand to see the team that beat Notre Dame 59 to 0. To date Penn has won four and losing only to Navy and Michigan and cannot be taken too lightly, although it's a couple of votes for the Army.

Ohio State, another undefeated eleven, meets Illinois at Cleveland's Municipal Stadium today and here we find the Buckeyes meeting a team that has lost three games and could well make history in stopping the Ohio State crew, but it is unlikely. Navy meets the Purdue "Boilermakers" at Baltimore in their final game prior to the big Army-Navy tilt two weeks from today. Yale should continue its undefeated record against North Carolina, who have won one game in six starts and only a miracle should keep old Eli from finishing the season undefeated.

Looking over some remarkable American football records you can find Colgate's scoring record for 1944 one of the lowest in the land. They've only scored 46 points in six games, but their opponents have only run up 52. In five games Harvard have only had 31 points scored against them while piling up only 88. On the other side of the picture there is Army's record-breaking count of 419 points in six games, as against 21 scored against them. Washington State is the second highest in scoring with 287, while Ohio State counted on 243 in seven games and without a loss.

This and That.

Ed Shortt has organised a balanced four-teamed ladies basketball loop at the "Y" that functions each Thursday night . . . President Tom Fleury, of the Belleville Junior Hockey Club, is calling a general meeting for the election of officers at the Hume Arena next Thursday . . . Interested hockey enthusiasts are invited . . . The only Interscolastic football to be played here for the remainder of the season will be for Bay of Quinte honors alone . . . Arriving in Canada recently to visit her brother who is a member of the R. C. A. F., Mrs. James Gallagher was asked at the border to produce identifying documents . . . She told the officer she was the wife of the general manager and vice president of the Chicago Cubs and reached into her bag to extract what she thought was a pass to Cub games . . . To her surprise and momentary chagrin she discovered it was a season pass to Comiskey Park, home of the rival Chicago White Sox . . . Despite repeated reports that he will seek a managerial job after the war, Lt. Bill Dickey hopes to remain with the New York Yankees in some capacity or other . . . Augie Galan, Leo Durocher and French Bordagaray collected dividends on bonus contracts with the Brooklyn Dodgers . . . The final attendance figures added $5,000 to Manager Durocher's pay . . . A report is making the rounds that Bucky Harris has accepted a $15,000 contract to return as manager of the Buffalo Bisons next season . . . That's more than some major league baseball pilots get.

Remember When.

Bill (Young) Stribling lost on a foul in the fourth round to Primo Carnera, giant Italian, at London 15 years ago tonight. Stribling was killed in a motorcycle accident two years later while Carnera became world boxing champion in 1933 with a six-round knockout over Jack Sharkey, only to lose the crown a year later to Maxie Baer.

He Deed It.

Promoter Frank Tunney must have rabbit's ear. All the way from the Maple Leaf Gardens Matchmaker Tunney heard John Katan's cries of robbery, jobbed and "I've been given the business", to such an extent that Katan and Billy Watson have been rematched in another of those perennial British Empire thrillers. What Watson doesn't know about Katan's style of ring roughness by now he'll add to his knowledge next week here, but it won't be before the fans have again seen something different and something new. (And who said there was nothing new beneath the sun?)

CREW REACHES SAFETY

Halifax, Nov. 17 (CP)—Tossed into a turbulent sea when their vessel foundered after striking rocks off Cape Breton, the seven members of the crew of the 87-ton Nova Scotia motor-vessel Francis G. Rowley reached safety by swimming to shore, it was learned here yesterday.

COULDN'T SLEEP COULDN'T WORK

What a relief to settle down to a real night's rest, and awake fully refreshed, ready for the day's duties. I was tortured by fretful nights—tossing, turning — never comfortable. Half awake days —over-tired, driving body and mind to work when they needed rest. "Try Dodd's Kidney Pills," said a friend— "it may be your kidneys". I'm glad I followed his advice as now I'm sleeping like a top—thanks to 111

BUILT ON GREAT LAKES FOR OCEAN

Named for a county in Arkansas, the S. S. Poinsett (above) is one of a fleet of the largest ocean-going vessels ever built on the Great Lakes. It was constructed by the U. S. Maritime Commission in the Leathem D. Smith shipyard at Sturgeon Bay, Wis. The single screw steel vessel is powered with a 1,700 h.p. Diesel engine and has a speed of about 11 knots. Length is 338½ feet with a beam of 50 feet. Too long to go to sea by the usual route, through the St. Lawrence waterway, the Poinsett and other members of the fleet are taken through the Chicago river to the Illinois river and on down the Mississippi.

Horse Sense Bridge

LESSON NO. 535

By SAM GORDON
The Kibitzer

Feel sad for birds, both nuts and sane, who think the game of bridge insane. They view it as a sissy game for simple saps whose brains are lame. They hold it up to ridicule, like Ferdinand, the flossy bull.

But put them into competish and see them gasping like a fish. They blame their hard luck on the cards and criticise their solid pards. In spite of all their sneer and bluster, it takes more stuff than they can muster.

To an experienced bridge player, the patronizing attitude of a non-player is a laugh. Because no person, no matter how brilliant in other matters, can be accurate without partnership signals.

On the other hand, the few signals a player actually needs are few indeed. Because there are only a few types of opening bids and only a few signal replies to each.

An opening of three in a major suit is a signal for showing a seven card or longer practically solid suit, an outside sure trick, and eight tricks. This bid has only three kinds of reply signals.

Pass by partner shows no tricks. A raise to four in that suit shows one or more tricks. Any other responding bid promises two sure tricks somewhere in that hand and thus admits help for a slam.

Suppose you are north in this pair of partnership hands:

SOUTH
♠A K Q 8 7 5 2
♥A Q 6
♦9 6
♣6

NORTH
♠3
♥K J 3
♦K 8 3 2
♣A K 5 4 3

Your partner in the south opens with three spades. Your first response must be a signal that tells whether you have (1) no trick, or (2) one or more tricks, or (3) two sure tricks; help for a slam.

With two sure tricks, respond with four clubs. Not only to show your club suit, but also to signal two sure tricks; help for a slam.

Partner now has the information he needs to decide his next step.

He may go to game in spades or invite more slam information.

Aid partner's decision without television.

Kenesaw Landis Given Extension Of Agreement

Chicago, Nov. 18 — (AP)—Kenesaw Mountain Landis, who observes his 78th birthday Monday, can enforce his rigid rule over baseball until he is 85 years old — if he wants to accept the vote of confidence extended him yesterday by the American and National Leagues.

A joint committee of the two circuits, at a two-hour meeting yesterday voted to recommend Judge Landis' re-election as commissioner of baseball and the extension of the present Major League agreement at the annual winter meeting of the major loops here Dec. 11-12.

The action scotched wide-spread rumors that a new authority would be proposed by the joint committee to supplant the ailing Landis under the major league agreement which installed the fiery former Federal Judge as commissioner 24 years ago.

Landis, in hospital here since Oct. 2 for a physical check-up and rest, will finish his current term Jan. 12, 1946, and with the expected approval of the two leagues at their meeting next month would be given a seven-year term extending until 1953.

Cornwall Cookies Swamp Lachine 9-6

Cornwall, Ont., Nov. 18 (CP)—Cornwall Cookies last night swamped Lachine Rapids 9-6 in an overtime Interprovincial Hockey League game which saw Bobby Carragher and Deroche each score three goals for the Cookies.

The game see-sawed back and forth until midway through the overtime session when the Cornwall club came from behind a 6-5 deficit.

Persson added two more of the Cornwall goals Witt Dupuis scoring the other. In addition to his hat-trick, Carragher assisted in three other plays.

Whitehead and Chapman led the Lachine attack, scoring two each with the other two goals coming from Morrow and Payette.

In Manhattan

By MICHAEL O'MARA
(CP Staff Writer)

New York, Nov. 18 — (CP) — Ilka Chase, an actress of some standing along Broadway for her appearances in plays by and about other women — notably "The Women" by Clare Boothe Luce — decided to get into the writing end of the theatre business herself, but without notable success.

Her maiden effort, "In Bed We Cry," which John C. Wilson presented this week at the Belasco, is tawdry and tiresome.

The play is a dramatised version of a recent novel by Miss Chase, and — to complete the triple-threat cycle — the same Miss Chase takes the leading role. Miss Chase the playwright didn't do right by Miss Chase the actress, who has a pretty thankless task of trying to make the lines sparkle or the situation seize one's attention.

Curtain Calls: One of the largest bits of stage property ever used in Manhattan is the 20-foot bust of the late George Gershwin used in the current Radio City Music Hall stage show . . . Charles Boyer has taken a New York apartment and plans to appear on the stage here later in the season . . . "Million-dollar Ceiling" of El Borracho, East-side nightspot, is covered by losing pari-mutuel tickets to the original value of more than that amount... Ross Pratt, Montreal pianist now on tour in Canada, has signed to play several concerts in Mexico City next spring, agents here announced.

Lowestoft, England — (CP) — Nearest British town to Germany, Lowestoft on the Suffolk coast has suffered 266 casualties from enemy action.

OFF SECRET LIST

Officially, this tough member of the Allied mechanized forces is known as the 15 cwt. armored truck. Actually, it can be used as an emergency ambulance or an all-purpose load carrier as well as a battle wagon. Rolling on heavy-duty pneumatic tires, it can speed through underbrush, sand and shallow bogs, water and demolition rubble, carrying a good complement of men behind its heavy armor coat. The Canadian firm making the truck has already turned out more than 2,000 of them. Until recently this vehicle has been on the secret list.

GYPSY BLOOD

By MARGARET NORRIS

CHAPTER 12

"What do you mean 'dead, too', Greta? Not Stocky and Ed—"

Greta nodded between sobs. "Oh, Nan, it's too terrible. We had a collision, you know; ran into a truck. Stocky was killed outright and Ed—well he died on the way to the hospital."

Anna covered her eyes with her one good hand.

"It's too awful Nan, and you and I were bounced right out on the curb. It's all that saved the two of us, for the car collapsed like a pasteboard box."

"And you weren't hurt at all, Greta?"

"No, and I feel so guilty! You see—I'm afraid I was rather drunk, but that terrible jolt brought me to, and there I was quite safe and sound and you so still beside me and Stocky and Ed—I can't talk about it. I feel as though it were all my fault and I'll never, never get over it!"

Anna extended a sympathetic hand.But a stern voice interrupted.

"How did You get in here, young lady? This isn't visitors' hour." The nurse frowned upon them from the foot of the bed. Greta jumped up with a guilty face.

"Please excuse me, Madame" she begged. I just sneaked in to make sure she was alive. You see we were in an accident together and—But I'll go now." She departed, still sobbing.

The nurse drew closer to Anna and put her hand tenderly on her hair. But Anna, her eyes closed, lay quite still and white as though she, too, were dead.

In the department of Flowers and Feathers of the big Fifth Avenue store, things were going none too well. Mr. Lipstein the pompous floorman, was at wits' end with his troubles.

Here it was the week before Christmas, and two of his clerks home sick—extras provided for the Christmas rush whom he'd just got well broken in. On top of that Anna, the call-girl had failed to show up for three days with not so much as a telephone call to explain her annoying absence.

Personally, Mr. Lipstein didn't care. She was a fresh little thing, that Anna, and he had disliked her ever since the episode of the stock room when she had practically slapped his face when he tried quite innocently to kiss her. He would have fired her on the spot if she hadn't been such a good worker.But they needed her for the Christmas rush and in her Christmas eve pay envelope he had planned to wish her God speed and holiday greetings by the sterotyped slip of dismissal.

Now she she had not only denied him the pleasure of firing her, but she had seriously inconvenienced him by quitting at the very worst time, the busiest week of the whole shopping year. And all the aisles choked by impatient customers growling for their change, now brought them by a green young call-girl, not half as efficient as Anna!

No wonder Mr. Lipstein was exasperated and piqued!

One, day, the second before Christmas, when the flood of trade was at its height, a stranger plucked the floorman by the third button of his vest.

"Listen," said this stranger, hat cocked jauntily over one ear, "ever have a kid on this floor by the name of Anna Moss?"

"Anna Moss?" reflected Mr. Lipstein, always careful not to speak too soon, one hand caressing his patent leather crown. "Let me see, what was she like?"

"Yellow haired kid with snappy black eyes and a tongue to speak her mind."

"We had a young call-girl named Anna who might answer that description but with an unpronounceable Polish surname."

"That's her!" said the man, "that's her, all right. This kid's just over from Poland. You say she don't work for you no more?"

"She left Monday night and failed to return with no explanation for her absence."

Proudly and very confidentially the stranger opened his coat to dazzle the eyes of the floorman with a star pinned over his heart.

"I'm from headquarters, see, and this here Anna, as claims she used to work for you, is held under suspicious circumstances."

"Is that so?" said Mr. Lipstein, careful not to show undue interest. "As her former employer may I ask for further details?"

"Sure! She and her girl chum went joy riding with a couple o' guys Monday night, to some speakeasy joint, and on the way home (all drunk, of course) their car ran into a truck. The two boys were both killed and this kid broke her arm and got shook up a bit. At the hospital where they took her they found, all mixed up with her busted arm, a diamond and sapphire bracelet, which she claims she found in your store that same day. A real bracelet, worth a fortune, we had it valued by experts."

"You don't say?" murmured Mr. Lipstein.

"Yep! Did any customer report such a loss to you?"

"No, but that would be referred to our Lost and Found Department."

"I been over there; they don't know nothin' about it."

"But if this girl found it here, why didn't she report her find?"

"That's what we asked her at headquarters. She insists she intended to turn it right in, but it was too late in the day to do it, so she was goin' to do it in the mornning and meanwhile she wore it on the party. Oh, we put her through the third degree, all right, but she still sticks to her story. What I want to ask you, Mr. Lipstein,—what's your opinion of this girl? Is she honest—ever have any trouble with her?"

"You mean—my personal opinion?" The floorman's eyes narrowed.

"That's just what I do mean. What's she like underneath? The right sort of kid or yellow?"

"To tell the truth, Officer, (Lipstein spoke very slowly) this Anna has given me some trouble. Not that I would accuse her of actual theft, she never tried to short change us, but—well, the truth is I was planning to get rid of her very soon. I was greatly relieved when she quit herself, saving me the unpleasant necessity of firing her."

"Then you as her boss, wouldn't swear that all she says is true?"

"If you ask my advice, Officer, I would investigate matters very thoroughly. One can't be too careful with these foreigners."

"You said it, Mr. Lipstein! And thank you, that's all."

The detective gripped the floorman's well manicured hand until he winced with the pain and strode off as unceremoniously as he had come.

Little Benny's Note Book

I woke up this morning yelling. Hay ma, hay pop, I've got a bluddy nose.

Which I had, and pop and ma both came in my room to see, ma saying, Now how did that happen for land sakes? and I said, I dreamed I was in a fight and this is how I woke up.

Yee gods, pop said, and ma said, Now that's rediculous. I'm a firm believer in dreams to a mild reasonable extent, but I fail to see how you can dream yourself into a bluddy nose.

Well G, wait till I tell you, I said. I dreamed I was having a argument with one of the tuffest I ever saw. He was so tuff he claimed he ate nails for breakfast, and I asked him if he didn't even bite the heads off first, and he said, Certainly I dont bite the heads off, what's you think I am, a sissy? And then he asked me what I ate for breakfast and I told him I didn't waste time eating anything, I just drank a big glassfull of mixed ink and iodine, I said.

That wasn't a bad comeback for a dream, pop said. So then you woke up with a bluddy nose? he said, and I said, No sir, not yet. First the other guy claimed he was so tuff he couldn't sharpen his own pencils because there was never anything left but the eraser and the penknife, I said.

For Peet sake, I bet you couldn't top that one, pop said, and I said, Sure I could. I claimed I was so tuff everybody looked out their windows to see who was shooting a revolver every time I bit a bite out of an apple, and then I quick aimed a puntch at him before he had time to aim one at me, only I aimed it too quick and puntched my own nose instead of his, and I was still doing it when I woke up, so that's how it happened, I said.

Which by that time it wasn't bleeding any more and the only result was I had to wash my face exter good.

PROTEST SECURITY PLAN

London, Nov. 18 —(CP)— Representatives of the 100,000 members of the National Spinsters' Pensions Association passed a resolution expressing indignation that the government's social security did not provide for a retiring pension for single women although it gave consideration to the needs of widows and married women.

Lonely Air Post Hacked From Bush On Pacific Coast

By KATHLEEN REX
Canadian Press Staff Writer

A west Coast R. C. A. F. Patrol Base, Nov. 18 —(CP)— An airplane ride over hundreds of miles of British Columbia's wildest territory, a brief trip by R. C. A. F. crashboat and you have arrived at this west coast base.

There's no need to be told beforehand that this is an R. C. A. F. active station — that the seaplanes which roar out across the harbor each morning are not merely on a training flight. You can sense the constant guard that's kept at this far-off post. You can see it in the wireless room where R. C. A. F. Women's Division operators maintain a 24-hour vigil. You are aware of it when you pick up a telephone at 3.30 a.m. to know that the WD Central is at her post waiting for your call.

"We've changed our Sundays to Thursdays so that if other Western Air Command stations are relaxing a bit Sundays we're still on the spot," Wing Commander J. W. McNee of Vancouver, commanding officer of the station said.

"Because they must keep so keyed to their job when working, I'm particularly interested in what the personnel do when off duty," the C. O. continued. "That's why I encourage all sports and outdoor activity possible up here. It's important that these men and women should lead a well-balanced life if they're to do good work."

"At first I wasn't sure how women would fit into a bush station such as this but any qualms I have had, have not been realised," Wing Cmdr. McNee said. "They're doing a good job and they're the finest group of girls you could hope to find anywhere."

A common recreation room is underway at present which eventually will be open to men and women of all ranks. It will boast a dance floor, a juke-box, a soda bar and various games. Although it isn't customary for men and women of different ranks to mingle, nevertheless in an outpost such as this such rules would be overlooked, Wing Cmdr. McNee said.

Spare Time Gardening

When a WD at this remote bush station tells you she's going to "wear her teddy bear for potato digging,"—she's not talking baby talk and she isn't going to cut a rug, the gal's just letting you know that she's going to wear her overalls to dig some honest-to-gosh potatoes.

Any day you'll see a group of WDs and airmen in their off-duty hours harvesting potatoes from the Station Victory Garden. A Canadian Army Unit nearby purchases the spuds and the money goes into a fund to build a chapel on the station which is the most distant outpost to which Western Air Command has yet sent its servicewomen. There are 60 girls here.

Girls like Leila Ashton, Winnipeg, Janet Hamilton, Moose Jaw, Sask., Laurie Campbell, Edmonton, are at the settlement which airmen hacked out of the forest less than two years ago. They've come as cooks, waitresses, stenographers, telephone operators, wireless ground operators to release a man for more active duty elsewhere.

Frances Campbell, a former Nelson B. C. schoolteacher, is one of the 17 "Wogs" (wireless ground operators) on the station. Others include Mary Scott, Betty Booth, Betty Clayman and Ruth Nagel, all of Toronto. The four girls, formerly members of the Volunteer Canadian Women's Service Force, chummed together in Toronto and joined the Royal Canadian Air Force together. "It was just luck that after we took the wireless course in Montreal we were all posted here," Ruth Nagel said.

PASSENGER TRAIN WRECKED

Jacksonville, Fla., Nov. 18 (AP)— An official of the Atlantic Coast Line railroad announced here that its passenger train No. 91 bound from New York to Miami, was wrecked at about 9:30 a.m. E.D.T. today between Hortense and O'Neal, Ga., about 79 miles north of this city.

Dr. Cody Elected As Chancellor Of Toronto Univ.

Toronto, Nov. 18. (CP) — Dr. Henry John Cody, 75-year-old president of the University of Toronto, was elected Chancellor of the University last night by unanimous vote of its senate. Dr. Cody, who retires next June from the presidency which he has held since 1932, will complete the 1944-48 term of office, left vacant by the death of Sir William Mulock last month.

The senate voted by a large majority against reconsideration of the method of appointing the Chancellor and this ruled out a petition signed by 300 graduates and launched by Rt. Hon. Arthur Meighen, J. S. McLean, Clifford Sifton and John S. Dickson asking the senate to seek an amendment of the University of Toronto Act in the Ontario Legislature to fill the vacancy through a vote of the entire graduate body. A similar move was defeated by the senate Nov. 10.

Dr. Cody, who will be succeeded as president by Dr. Sidney Smith, principal of University College and former president of the University of Manitoba, was born in the village of Embro in Oxford County, Ontario Dec. 6, 1868.

Educated at Galt Collegiate Institute and the University of Toronto, he was ordained a priest of the Church of England in Canada in 1894 and the same year was appointed curate of St. Paul's Anglican Church in Toronto. He became acting rector of the church in 1899 and rector in 1907 and he served his parish with distinction until his resignation following his appointment as University president.

Twice he declined election as a bishop of the Church to remain at St. Paul's—the See of Nova Scotia in 1904 and in 1921 he declined election as the Archbishop of Melbourne, Australia.

His interest in education was evident early in his career. He was one of the founders and classical master of Bishop Ridley College for Boys at St. Catharines, Ont., from 1889 to 1893. He assisted in founding Havergal College in Toronto for girls. He was a professor at Wycliffe College in Toronto for many years. In May, 1943, he became Ontario Minister of Education in Sir William Hearst's government and held the position until the government was defeated in the provincial election of October, 1919.

Christmas Eve For Baby Hoffman

Cheyenne, Wyo., Nov. 18—(AP)— Tonight will be Christmas Eve for three-year-old Forest (Nubbins) Hoffman because his parents fear that his incurable bladder affliction may bring death before Dec. 25.

No stocking could begin to hold all Nubbins has received already. Packages have streamed in from all over the country. One of them is three feet long and 14 inches wide. Troubled but joyously proud, his father Marshall Hoffman, says he thinks there must be "at least 50."

Little Nubbins, whose serious condition was realized after an operation last month, has been "pretty restless," his father said. "He's itching to open some of the packages." But that's an event reserved strictly for the morning.

"We might as well move out and let the presents have the house," laughed Mrs. Hoffman.

Nubbins picked out some "I'd sure like to have these" items in a catalogue recently. He doesn't realize that most of them have arrived — some small candy-filled toys, an airplane, a fire engine, a battleship, a jeep, a set of building logs and a wooden freight train.

One of Hoffman's fellow employees at the Union Pacific Railroad is giving a puppy. W. M. Jeffers, president of the railroad, has ordered a pre-war model child's automobile.

The parents hope Nubbins, their only child, will be well enough to be propped up in his high chair to help eat a Christmas turkey dinner furnished for the family by the railroad.

Capital Closeups

By JACK BRAYLEY
(CP Staff Writer)

Ottawa, Nov. 17. (CP)—Hurly-burly: With maintenance staff polishing brass, waxing floors and dusting out offices unused since the session closed in August, the Commons lights are burning into the night as preparations are made to receive members attending the special session called to debate the military issue starting next Wednesday.

The unscheduled opening of the House means a lot of additional work for Dr. Arthur Beauchesne, the clerk, and his staff. He has to see about details running from connecting hundreds of members' phones and taking care of feeding arrangements to organizing an augmented temporary staff and arranging publication of parliamentary documents.

He also has to find an office for Col. J. L. Ralston, now the private member for Prince in Prince Edward Island. And in order to install the new Defence Minister, Gen. McNaughton, in his parliamentary office, he has to serve notice on Hon. Brooke Claxton, minister of the New Health and Welfare Department, who has set up temporary quarters in the Defence Minister's offices.

By a coincidence the House will reassemble on the same day of the week originally planned—Nov. 22 and Jan. 31 both fall on Wednesday. The routine orders which govern precedence of proceedings in parliament have already been printed. The orders contain only two questions—on matters unrelated to the reinforcement situation —left over from adjournment.

The only other business on the paper are notices for the House to go into committees on Supply and Ways and Means. This follows the usual practice of leaving these two committees established until actual prorogation.

Short Supply: The House opening may find some members typing their own correspondence and perhaps sleeping in their Commons offices—for stenographers and rooms are scarce.

"There is nothing in the parliamentary regulations which says they can't sleep in their offices", one official said with a smile, and he added: "Anyhow that might speed up the session a bit".

Hotels are going to give room clerks orders to ask guests to double-up during the session in order to provide some accommodation for the visiting members.

Nicety: Experts on parliamentary niceties are arguing the possibility of Gen. McNaughton appearing before the session. They point out that he is not yet a member and therefore no more entitled to the floor of the House, than, say John Bracken, leader of the Progressive Conservative Party.

Dr. Beauchesne says there is nothing in parliamentary regulations allowing for such an appearance even though the House were unanimous in wanting the General to give his views. However, circles close to the Cabinet have intimated that if the House was in general agreement on the need for producing Gen. McNaughton—possibly at a secret session— regulations could be waived for the special occasion and the General invited to speak in much the same manner that Prime Minister Churchill and others have addressed the House in the past.

15 HOME DEFENCE ARMY MEMBERS ASSIGNED WORK

Hamilton, Nov. 16 —(CP)— Fifteen members of Canada's home defence army have been assigned to the malleable iron foundry at the International Harvester Co. plant here, it was announced today by Selective Service officials. They were the first group of home defence troops to be employed in Hamilton.

Selective Service officials said another 25 may be sent to Hamilton in the near future since several local firms have been asking for men, particularly in the steel industry.

FRENCH TROOPS REACH RHINE

Break Through Belfort Gap While 5 Other Allied Armies Hit Sagging Defences

German Stand West Of Cologne Appears Cracking

BY WILLIAM FRYE
(Associated Press Staff Writer)

LONDON, Nov. 20 (AP)—French 1st. Army troops broke through the historic Burgundy Gap at Belfort and reached the Rhine, it was announced today as five other Allied Armies hit sagging German defences along all the other historic routes of invasion into Germany. It was the week of greatest promise since the Normandy break-through.

French troops and armor unhinged the entire German southern flank at the Swiss border and surged into the outskirts of the by-passed fortress city of Belfort in a break-through announced by Army Commander Gen. Jean De Lattre De Tassigny. The Rhine was reached by nightfall yesterday, he said.

At Vosges Passes

American and French forces seized the entrances to four of the six main passes through the Vosges to the Rhine. They are battling 37 miles from Strasbourg, 21 miles from Colmar and 10 miles from Mulhouse, all important cities on the French side of the Rhine.

U.S. 3rd. Army forces, crushing Metz in a grip that seized a third of that blocked-off old Roman fortress city, drew up to the Saar border on a 10-mile front and punched out a five-mile-square block of territory in Germany northwest of the Saar and east of the Luxembourg border.

This thrust, along the western fringe of the Saar Valley and just east of the Moselle, assumed the proportions of a drive through the famous Moselle gate toward Trier and Coblenz on the Rhine, 80 miles to the northeast.

On the Cologne plain three Allied armies fighting on Gen. Eisenhower's most concentrated front had bulged approximately five miles northeast of Aachen since the start of their offensive through the Germans' most formidable and determined defence.

Lose Village After Village

Losing village after village, the German stand at last was showing signs of a crack-up in spots as the British 2nd. and U.S. 9th. and 1st. Armies threw the armored, artillery, infantry and aerial punches which might break through to Cologne on the Rhine, 26 miles away, Dusseldorf and the Ruhr Valley to the northeast.

In Holland, British units stabbing to the Maas at Kessel, 6½ miles south of Venlo, were feeling out German defences 2½ miles from the German border and 29 miles from Dusseldorf.

In the southern sectors of the front the French, fighting back across the Alsace territory they surrendered in the 1940 armistice, and the 3rd. Army in its whirlwind offensive had thrown the Germans into a tailspin.

Front line dispatches indicated that a German retreat was on to the Rhine and the Saar, the boundaries of the Fatherland.

The French 1st. Army reached the Rhine after racing through the Belfort Gap in an outflanking manoeuvre which seized most of the high ground on its south side.

Withdraw Toward Saar

The drive of the three Allied armies was aimed at the great Rhineland industrial cities of Dusseldorf and Cologne.

The Germans continued withdrawing from northeastern France toward the Saar.

As U.S. 3rd. Army tanks and infantry mopped up inside the encircled French fortress city of Metz, other units smashed two miles farther into Germany near the Luxembourg border, drove forward to Grostenquin, five miles northeast of Morhang, and reached the outskirts of Dieuze, 30 miles southeast of Metz.

U.S. 7th. Army troops fighting in the foothills of the Vosges have gained up to 15 miles in the last week and have captured Blamont, 40 miles west of Strasbourg on the Rhine; Corcieux, 21 miles northwest of Colmar, and Gerardmer, 22 miles west of Colmar. German resistance seemed to be falling apart in the sector east of Luneville.

The Paris radio quoted an official announcement from headquarters of the French 1st. Army that two French divisions entered Belfort this morning.

"The drive for Mulhouse continues," said the broadcast. "Tonight French guards will be mounted at the Rhine for the first time in this war."

In southeastern Holland reconnaissance elements of the British 2nd. Army reached the Maas River at Kessel, three miles from the German border, Allied supreme headquarters announced.

The British also had moved 4,000 yards east of the Helden-Meijel road and were only about four miles from the Dutch border city of Velno.

Gains at Aachen

These gains were scored by the Allies south of the Aachen sector yesterday:

1. U.S. 3rd. Army troops encircled Metz, drove the Germans from one-third of this formidable French fortress city and advanced to its centre. Other units of this army made new penetrations into Germany as supporting aircraft harried the German retreat into the Saar Basin.

2. The U.S. 7th. Army, driving hard along a 50 mile front, seized and passed beyond the town of Blamont, 40 miles due west of Strasbourg, the French frontier city on the Rhine.

3. Exploiting what a front dispatch described as a break-through in the German positions near the Swiss frontier, the French 1st. Army battled into Alsace and was within 10 miles of Mulhouse.

The Swiss radio said the French had fought into the key city of Belfort on the southern route of invasion into Germany and the Algiers radio said street fighting was raging there. Fort Du Mont Vaudois, four miles southwest of Belfort, was overrun. In an advance of ten miles eastward in the Belfort Gap the French took Dannemarie and were in Suarce and Seppois Le Haut last night. In that sector they were only 19 miles from the Rhine.

In addition to participating with the two American armies in the drive on Cologne and Dusseldorf the British 2nd. Army had units beating out new gains in southeastern Holland. There the Tommies established another bridgehead over the Durne Canal and sent patrols out from the Meijel-

Periods of Service In War Theatres To Count Double

Ottawa, Nov. 20 —(CP)— Defence headquarters announced last night that army personnel overseas who have completed five years of continuous service and who wish to obtain leave must apply through their unit commanders, and that a list of those applying will be maintained in all units and formations and a roll of precedence set up.

The announcement, giving further details of the recently-announced plan for granting 30-day leave to Canada for overseas personnel, said that between 400 and 500 men were expected to reach Canada before Christmas. Other groups will follow later, but their size will depend on many factors, of which shipping is the most important.

Special consideration in the granting of leave will be given those who have served against the enemy. Their periods of service in operational areas will count double in figuring their length of service overseas.

Busy Himmler Picks Kaltenbrunner As New No. 2 Nazi

London, Nov. 20 (CP)—Indications filtered out of Germany today that Heinrich Himmler is so busy taking Hitler's place he has found it necessary to bring up a new No. 2 Nazi.

He is Dr. Ernst Kaltenbrunner, who succeeded "Hangman" Reinhard Heydrich as chief of the super-Gestapo. For the first time, according to a generally reliable source here, Kaltenbrunner has just been accorded a selected battalion of super-Gestapo bodyguards — an honor previously enjoyed only by Hitler and Himmler.

Brooke May Succeed Sir John Dill as British Representative

London, Nov. 20 (CP)—The British press speculated today that Field Marshal Sir Alan Brooke, Chief of the Imperial General Staff, likely would succeed the late Field Marshal Sir John Dill as British representative on the Chief of Staff Committee in Washington.

Others mentioned for the post were Lt.-Gen. Sir George Giffard, commander of the 11th army group in the Far East, and Lt.-Gen. Sir Ronald Weeks, Deputy Chief of the Imperial General Staff.

Canadians Sink Four German Naval Vessels With Tank, Infantry Weapons

By ROSS MUNRO
(CP War Correspondent)

With the Northern Group of Armies, Nov. 20 — (CP) — When the troops come home and you hear the boys of the Lake Superior Regiment and the British Columbia Regiment tell how they sank four German naval vessels with tank and infantry weapons don't write it off as a tall tale.

It is perfectly true and it's the zaniest exploit of the Canadians in months of fighting.

This is how it happened:

The L.S.R. and the B.C.R. were cleaning up an area northwest of Steenbergen in southwest Holland and elements poked out to the end of Saint Philipsland peninsula at the mouth of the estuary of the lower Rhine.

From the end of the peninsula Lieut. Buck Wright of Kenora, Ont., climbed a water tower and looked across 1,300 yards of water to the little port of Zipjpe on Duiveland Island. He stared in astonishment. There were four German craft in the harbor with German sailors walking around the docks. One craft was about the size of a corvette and the others were converted landing craft. They had .88 millimetre guns and machine guns mounted on the decks and were manned by about 50 men each.

Wright rushed a report to the regiments and a platoon of infantry, a troop of tanks, two six-pounder anti-tank guns and two three-inch mortars were rushed to the end of the peninsula to deal with this flotilla.

For five minutes the Canadians plastered the harbor with tank and infantry weapons. The Germans fired back with their naval guns but the Canadians silenced them in this strange exchange between ground and sea forces.

Later Capt. Roy Styffe of Port Arthur, Ont., Capt. Bertram Black of Fort William, Ont., and Lieut. Tommy Henderson of Winnipeg with 40 men sailed to Duiveland on a "private invasion" in a cutter, a fishing schooner and a police cutter they found along the coast.

They entered Zijpe ready to fight but the enemy had fled. They found the four ships had been holed and were sinking. Twenty Germans had been killed and 80 wounded in the fire laid by the infantry and tank crews.

The Germans had no casualties.

The log of the corvette-type vessel was taken from the ship before it sank and Styffe made this final entry:

"Gersunken by Lake Superior Regiment and British Columbia Regiment—Canadian Army."

MINISTER OF WAR IS REPLACED IN CHINESE CABINET

Shake-up Involves Eight Cabinet Posts And Probably Will Increase War Effort

Chungking, Nov. 20 —(AP)— Gen. Ho Ying-Chin, minister of war in the Chinese government since 1930, was replaced today by Gen. Chen Cheng in a shake-up involving eight cabinet posts.

O. K. Yui was elevated from vice-minister to minister of finance in succession to Dr. H. H. Kung, now in the United States.

Gen. Chen formerly was commander of Chinese expeditionary forces on the Salween front. He is regarded as one of China's ablest field commanders.

Most circles in Chungking welcomed the government reshuffle although to many it did not appear far-reaching enough. Some observers pointed out that while Mr. Kung was removed from ministry of finance he still retained the highly-important post of vice-president of the executive Yuan (vice-premier) and still was the head of four government banks.

Gen. Ho Ying-Chin apparently still retained his post as chief of the general staff.

Subjected to Criticism.

Some quarters noted that both Mr. Kung and Gen. Ho Ying-Chin were subjected to criticism at a recent session of the People's Political Council where their resignation was advocated openly.

The important question to many in the foreign quarter was whether the changes are forerunners of new ones and whether the changes would exert any influence towards a compromise between the government and the Chinese Communists.

The new minister of information, Wang Shih-Chieh, assumes the direction of censorship. He is a close, trusted advisor of Generalissimo Chiang Kai-Shek and may be able to induce improvement in censorship conditions. He led the Chinese mission to Britain and during the last six months has been chief negotiator with the Chinese Communists.

The reshuffle was considered a response to a popular clamor for reorganization of the government in the face of an increasingly critical military situation.

ALLIED OFFICIALS VIEW WITH ALARM BELGIAN CRISIS

15,000 Marchers Shout for Resignation of Pierlot Government

By JOHN A. PARRIS, JR.
Associated Press Staff Writer

London, Nov. 20 —(AP)— Allied officials who for months have considered the possibility of internal armed clashes in newly-liberated countries, viewed the Belgian crisis today with some alarm.

If the Belgian situation should get out of hand and result in an uprising by members of the resistance army against the Pierlot government, these officials said it might spread to other liberated countries which also are going through critical periods.

Allied officials have carefully considered the possibility of dissatisfied elements rising in liberated western and southeastern Europe.

A British brigadier in Brussels recently told me:

"We have got to expect a certain amount of dissatisfaction. It is only natural after a country has been occupied so long. And we have given these dissatisfied elements the means to rise up.

"For four long years, through our propaganda, we have told the peoples of Europe to break all German laws. If they were not satisfied with conditions, we told them to kill. We dropped the arms for them to do the job with.

"For four years we have educated Europe's people in patriotic lawlessness. It is only logical now they are liberated that if they don't like the new laws of the new governments they will try to take the law in their own hands."

Japanese-Held Island of Luzon Hit by 300 Planes

San Francisco, Nov. 20 —(AP)— Three hundred American planes bombed the Japanese-held island of Luzon in the Philippines Sunday, a Tokyo broadcast recorded by the Federal Communications Commission declared.

"Approximately 300 carrier-based planes" raided various sectors of the Philippines, including Manila, Clark Field, Lipa, Batangas and Aparri," the Broadcast said.

A Tokyo broadcast reported from London said "several dozen" bombers—including Liberators—took part in the raid. That was the first mention of land-based planes over Manila.

The Japanese claimed their interceptors shot down nine of the raiders and "damaged" one.

850 U.S. Planes Bomb and Strafe The Ruhr Valley

London, Nov. 20 — (CP) — Upwards of 850 American planes today bombed and strafed the Ruhr Valley of Germany, imminently threatened by four advancing Allied armies.

Berlin said that other American planes were striking southern Germany from the south for the third successive day.

An odd combination of 160 heavy bombers and more than 700 fighters and fighter-bombers worked over an oil plant a Gelsenkirchen and the sprawling railroad yards at Munster, both fairly close to the erupting front. The preponderance of fighters suggested that considerable German air opposition was expected.

Swarms of fighters buzzed back and forth on the Channel coast where blue skies, marked only by slight haze, provided the first break after a week-end of adverse flying weather.

The Italy-based 15th U. S. Air Force raided southern Germany, 600 strong both Saturday and Sunday but the Britain-based 8th was grounded.

On the continent tactical combat units, despite hazardous flying weather, joined in the seething battle up and down the western front.

Allied fighter and medium bombers made 3,000 trips across the front lines, poured loads of bombs on German communication lines and belted them with machine-gun fire.

STORM-DRENCHED AMERICAN TROOPS THROW JAPS BACK

More Than 45,000 Japanese Killed or Wounded Since Leyte Invasion

General MacArthur's Headquarters, Philippines, Nov. 20 — (AP) — Storm-drenched American troops threw back vicious Japanese counter-attacks in the slow and bitter Leyte campaign of the Central Philippines as these rapid-fire developments were announced on Pacific fronts today:

1. More than 45,000 Japanese have been killed or wounded on Leyte since the Oct. 20 invasion—a ratio of nearly eight to one against American casualties of 5,691.

2. American troops invaded another small archipelago, the Asia islands off New Guinea, and completed the occupation of the three Mapia islands 180 miles to the east.

3. Heavy American bombers scored direct hits on a battleship and a heavy cruiser at Borneo, leaving both exploding and aflame.

4. American warships, striking within 750 miles of Tokyo, have again bombarded Iwo Island.

5. A concerted three-day cleanup of Saipan netted 248 Japanese killed and 47 captured.

Heavily Repulsed

Gen. Tokoyuki Yamashita threw tanks and artillery into his latest effort to break the American block thrown across the Ormoc road south of Limon by the U.S. 32nd and 24th divisions, but was repulsed with heavy losses.

Other enemy counter-attacks were thrown back west of the Ormoc road and on the island's eastern edge near central Leyte valley.

M'NAUGHTON ASKS VOLUNTARY POLICY GIVEN FAIR TRIAL

Expressed Belief in Statement That the Problem "Will Be Solved"

Ottawa, Nov. 20 —(CP)— Defence Minister McNaughton asked in a statement today that the method of voluntary enlistment to provide reinforcements for Canadian forces overseas "be given a fair trial," and expressed belief that the problem "will be solved."

Text of Gen. McNaughton's statement follows:- (350)

"I refer to the statement to the press which I issued on Nov. 16 reporting the results of the conference which I had on Tuesday, Nov. 14, with the General Officer Commanding Pacific Command and the officers commanding all military districts." (The Minister said then that the principal matter dealt with at the conference was the provision of reinforcements, and particularly the question of trained reinforcements or the infantry, and added that measures to bring the conclusions reached into operation were decided.)

Replies to Question.

"I refer also," his statement continued, "to a reply which I gave to a question asked me by a newspaper reporter the previous evening in which, after repeating a rumor which had become current to the effect that I had altered my views as to the method which should be followed in providing reinforcements for our forces overseas, he went on to ask if, in fact, this was the case.

"I replied that this was not the case, that I had set forth my views in recent public speeches in Arnprior and before the Canadian Legion in Ottawa, and that information given me at the conference just concluded had 'confirmed my belief more than ever that continuation of a voluntary policy would provide the reinforcements.'

"These statements have been quoted and requoted, sometimes in whole and sometimes in part, and given various interpretations by various people. This had resulted in great confusion. I therefore take this opportunity to clarify the situation.

"At the conference referred to, the G. O. C. Pacific Command and the district officers commanding were invited to report the situation and to give 'their considered views as to the steps which are open to be taken and the results which are open to be taken and the results which would follow.'

"From their completely frank statement, given from their intimate contact with the problem, I was able to confirm the existence of a number of factors which had operated to deter or prevent men in the N. R. M. A. from coming forward to volunteer for overseas service. I informed the officers gathered at the conference of the action already initiated to correct these adverse factors.

Given Assurance.

"I was given assurance that the officers concerned would, on return to their stations, make every endeavor to provide the numbers of men required by voluntary conversion from the N. R. M. A., or by enlistments, or by freeing men from home defence and other local establishments who had already undertaken the obligation of general service overseas.

Invasion Routes Into Austria Hit By Advancing Reds

Gyongyos Seized by Shock Troops in Thrust Across Road

London, Nov. 20 —(CP)— Russian tanks, deepening the Soviet sweep around besieged Budapest along invasion routes into Austria and Czechoslovakia, were reported advancing today toward Lucenec, key Nazi communications hub on the Slovak-Hungarian frontier.

The tanks sprang forward along a modern, hard-surfaced highway from captured Gyongyos, a seven-way road junction 23 miles from the border and 40 miles northeast of Budapest.

Gyongyos was seized by Russian shock troops yesterday in a thrust across the vital Budapest-Miskolc railway.

Simultaneously, other Soviet tank and artillery forces brought the 25-mile sector of the trunk line between Budapest and Hatvan under heavy fire after capturing the village of Galgahevix, 19 miles northeast of Budapest, a midnight Moscow Bulletin announced.

Hatvan, also a terminal of a main line running north to Central Slovakia, was outflanked by tanks fanning out from Gyongyos following the hard-won Soviet advance. Gyongyos fell after a violent street fight in which the Russians wiped out two enemy battalions of 1,800 men, Moscow said.

Within 2 Miles Miskolc.

On the northern end of the 85-mile front moving on Southern Slovakia, Marshal Rodion Y. Malinovsky's 2nd Ukraine Army drove to within two miles of Miskolc, Hungary's fifth city. Seizure of Hernadkak, six miles east of Miskolc, put another Russian group into the broad Hernad River valley leading into Slovakia.

In the Baltic, the Russians were reported by Berlin to have thrown three divisions of 30,000 men and strong tank forces against the Sworbe peninsula, southwestern tip of Saare Island, dominating the entrance to the gulf of Riga.

The battle for Budapest, according to Berlin, entered a new phase with the Russians bringing up 35 infantry divisions, possibly 400,000 men on a siege arc east of the capital. Berlin reported heavy fighting at Gyorme, 10 miles southeast of the city.

Other Russian units were fighting along the approaches to Eger, and the drive on that strategic Matra mountain enemy base appeared nearing a successful conclusion.

Surplus of War Needs May Be Used

Ottawa, Nov. 20 — (CP) — Materials which have been set aside for war purposes and which are now surplus to those needs may be used in civilian production, J. G. Godsoe, chairman of the Wartime Industries Control Board announced last night.

The materials had been earmarked for war purposes by a Board order passed early in 1942 to prevent the hoarding or misuse of steel, zinc, copper and other materials essential to the war effort.

61,000 Face Starvation, Death From Cold When Huns Burn Finmark

London, Nov. 20 —(CP)— Crown Prince Olav of Norway said today the Norwegian Province of Finmark, burned and laid waste by Germans in retreat from the Russians, may be uninhabitable for "years to come."

Thousands of men, women and children have been sent wandering over snowbound roads in zero temperatures, Prince Olav said, and invalids and young children are dying by the wayside.

He told a Press Conference that the Germans, in evacuating the far north of Norway, were forcing the Norwegian population to accompany their troops in order to assure them protection from Allied air attacks and bombardment from the sea.

"The Germans," he said, "appear to be preparing defence lines north of Narvik, where it is only 30 miles from the sea to the Swedish frontier."

All the towns in Finmark, which is larger than Holland, have been evacuated, he said. Populations totalling upward of 61,000 face starvation and death from freezing.

The Crown Prince, commander-in-chief of the Norwegian armed forces, said supplies "to a certain degree" are being sent into Northern Norway through Kirkenes and that every effort is being made to organize resistance and underground movement.

"Co-operation between Russia and Norway is extremely cordial," he declared.

Escaped Convict Shot, Captured

Kansas City, Nov. 20. (AP)— A convict, who escaped from the Lansing, Kans., State prison ten hours before, was shot and captured Saturday night after leading five carloads of police and deputy sheriffs a wild chase through a neighborhood shopping district jammed with a Saturday night crowd.

The prisoner was identified by police as Arthur William Lathrop, serving 152 years in connection with the shooting of a Leavenworth County Deputy Sheriff.

The capture ended a chase in which the escaped convict captured Helen Grady, 23-year-old daughter of Edward Grady, a parole officer at the Federal prison at Leavenworth, stole an ambulance for his drive to Kansas City and finally attempted to escape on foot among hundreds of shoppers.

Patrolman Russell Sage spotted the ambulance and radioed for help. After 20 minutes of dodging police cars through the shopping district, the ambulance was caught in a traffic jam.

Lathrop jumped from the machine and was shot in the hip. He was captured in an alley where he hid.

Bolivian Revolt Quickly Quelled

La Paz, Bolivia, Nov. 20. (AP)— The 11-month-old government of President Gualberto Villaroel announced today it had put down a revolt led by sympathizers of former President Enrique Penaranda, but official statements indicated some resistance continued.

A communique said the outbreak was limited to Oruro, Bolivia's third city and second largest mining centre.

Although declaring it was in control of the situation, the Villaroel government said last night that troops previously ordered out would proceed to the city to maintain order.

A state of siege remained in force throughout the country.

A propoganda agency communique named two army officers, Gen. Ovidio Quiroga and Col. Melliton Brito, as leaders of the plot and said they had fled with government forces in pursuit. The communique said a group of rebellious troops had surrendered.

President Vilaroel came into power last Dec. 20 in a revolution that ousted Penaranda. The latter since then has been in exile in Peru.

City and District News

DOG HIT, KILLED BY UNKNOWN DRIVER

Another dog was reported killed on city streets over the weekend, allegedly after being struck by a hit-and-run motorist. Arthur Halsey, 41 Murney St., reported to police his pet dog had been hit and run over by a motor car in the vicinity of his home over the weekend. This is the fourth case of alleged hit-and-run drivers killing dogs on city streets in the past ten days, police revealed today.

MADOC GROCERY STORE DAMAGED BY FIRE

Fire loss of approximately $200 resulted in Madoc over the weekend when flames broke out in the back store room of the St. Lawrence Street grocery store of Mr. Robert O'Riordan. Damage to the building was small, while the balance of the loss was made up by stored grocery stocks being damaged.

MISS MARJORIE DOUCET SUFFERS BROKEN BONES

As the result of being struck by a motor car at the intersection of Dundas St. and Bleecker Ave., Marjorie Doucet, 163½ Yeomans St., is in the Belleville General Hospital suffering from a broken pelvis, a fractured wrist and broken collar bone, police reported. According to police reports the young woman had alighted from the city bus and walked around in front of the bus to move directly into the path of a west-bound motor car driven by a resident of Brockville.

NEW OVERCOAT STOLEN FROM HOME

Removing the newly-purchased overcoat while carrying parcels into the house, A. C. Black, 48 Great St. James St., returned outside to find his coat gone. The coat had been hung on the vergandah railing while Mr. Black attended to the business of carrying weekend parcels into the house. He had only purchased the coat last week, he told police while reporting the theft.

SIDNEY PATRIOTIC ASSOC. TAG DAY REALIZES $350

Approximately $350 was realized by the Sidney Township Patriotic Association as result of their tag day which was held in Belleville on Saturday, it was announced today by an official of the organization. To this amount will be added totals realized at Batawa and at Glen Miller where tagging was done during the day. It is expected the total amount realized will be in the neighborhood of $400.

Every Sidney boy or girl in the armed services is remembered at Christmas time by the patriotic association which residents of the township have sponsored. This Christmas upwards of 300 boys and girls on active service, overseas and in Canada, were sent gift parcels of good quality writing pens with greetings from the association.

FIVE JAIL BREAKERS TO APPEAR FRIDAY

City and district police were informed of a jail break at Bracebridge, that occurred over the weekend when two prisoners escaped. The escaped convicts were said to be 21-year-old Leopold Ginguss and 23-year-old George Houde. The method of escape was not described.

Since the escape of five prisoners from the county jail here on Nov. 8th, three additional jail breaks have been reported in Ontario. At Simcoe and Ottawa prisoners were reported to have escaped last week, while over the weekend the Bracebridge jail-break was made. The quintet to escape jail here and later recaptured in Toronto, will appear in city police court here on Friday charged with jail-breaking and violence.

OUTSTANDING SPEAKER TO BE HEARD HERE

Outstanding among a number of interesting speakers to be heard by members of the local Women's Canadian Club during their fall and winter program is Major Kenneth Brown, Royal Corps of Signals, who will speak this Tuesday evening.

One of that select band who fought their way with Montgomery's Eighth Army all the way from El Alemein through the Tunisian and Sicilian campaigns and on into Italy, Major Brown has seen action on many war fronts. He was with the artillery in France at the beginning of the war and again landed in France on D-Day with the 30th Corps. It was his corps that bridged the Seine late in August thus paving the way for the breakthrough to Belgium and Holland. Now 30 years old, he is a lawyer by profession and is a graduate of Liverpool University.

Further treats in store for the Women's Canadian Club later in the season will be the visit of Dr. Sidney Smith, head of Toronto University, who has promised to speak after the New Year, and also Franklin Davey McDonald, author of Champlain Road and other best sellers. Later in the season Dr. Arnold Walter, artist and composer, will give an address on "An Appreciation of Music", interspersed with illustrations on the piano.

ARMED SERVICES TOTAL $689,400

Further subscriptions by the county armed forces to the Seventh Victory Loan have raised the amount subscribed by Air Force personnel to a grand total of $689,400, it was reported today by officials of the county loan organization. Previous reports stated $506,400 had been raised by airmen and air women in the county.

The new figure of Air Force subscriptions raises the county Victory Loan total to $4,504,700, or approximately 120 per cent of its $3,730,000 objective.

TWO LOCAL NURSING SISTERS SERVING ON WESTERN FRONT

At least two Belleville nursing sisters are serving with the Canadian forces in the Western Front battle zone it has been learned. They are Nursing Sister Dorothy Osborne, formerly of Cannifton Road district just outside the city, and Nursing Sister Helen Hall, daughter of the late Rev. Hall, formerly of Cannifton. Miss Osborne went overseas in September 1943 and is now in Belgium with the same nursing unit of which Miss Hall in a member.

FIVE MINOR BLAZES

Four chimney blazes and a blaze in clothes closet at 47 Station Street kept local firemen comparatively busy over the weekend. One of the chimney blazes occurred Saturday and the other three on Sunday with no damage being reported in any case. Small damage resulted from the blaze in the clothes closet on Station Street.

PTE. R. SMITH STILL SUFFERING FROM MULTIPLE WOUNDS

Reported upon his arrival at Kingston Military Hospital to be suffering from a compound fracture of the arm, Pte. Richard Smith, Moira Street, is in a much more serious condition than previously stated, according to relatives visiting him in the Kingston hospital. Wounded last May in Italy by the bursting of a German shell, Pte. Smith suffered penetrating wounds in his side and chest, a compound fracture of the leg and head wounds. He has been a stretcher case in hospital since, and last week returned to Canada on the Lady Nelson.

A member of the Hastings and Prince Edward Regiment, Pte. Smith went overseas in December 1939 and saw action in both Sicily and Italy before being wounded.

SPANISH ONION WEIGHS OVER TWO POUNDS

How many Spanish onions in a bushel?

To this rather simple question the average person may answer any number up to a hundred or more, but if the onions were grown by Mrs. William Mattis, the guess may well prove wrong.

Last spring Mrs. Mattis planted a few onions in her small garden, first fertilizing the plot with some commercial fertilizer. This fall she harvested approximately one half bushel of onions and one of them seen at the local fire station weighed two pounds and two ounces. Asked her success secret of growing onions, Mrs. Mattis was non-committal but indicated the one seen at the fire hall "was not the largest."

BREAK THRU

Helden road and neared Helden, 7½ miles from Venlo, a Dutch entrance to Germany.

Along most of the western front the Germans were fighting the way they did in Normandy—trying to hold every bit of ground whether it was of strategic importance or not. Eisenhower's answer to these tactics has been to put on the pressure along the line from Switzerland to Holland, thus spreading enemy manpower.

Geilenkirchen Captured

In the battle for Germany's Rhineland, U.S. 9th. Army infantry and British tanks, teaming together in what one front dispatch described as "a perfect military operation," captured Geilenkirchen and pushed on a mile northeast, taking Suggerath, 30 miles southwest of Dusseldorf.

Geilenkirchen, a road junction town of 30,000 is 12 miles north of Aachen. It had served as a northern bastion of the line on which the Germans sought to bar entrance to the Cologne plain. With its capture the heavy industrial area of the Wurm Valley also fell. The Americans had to push thru' six shell-wrecked German towns to reach Geilenkirchen.

Just south of this area veteran U.S. 1st. Army troops surged forward four miles yesterday, got astride the six-lane Adolf Hitler highway—a communications route which would be invaluable to the army's farther advance into Germany—and reached the outskirts of Eschweiler, seven miles northeast of Aachen. This was the 1st. Army's best gain since it launched it assault last Thursday. One advance to Eschweiler, a town of 50,000, came in a bloodless, ghostly night attack.

With capture of Geilenkirchen, the British-American forces pierced the first formidable defences of the Siegfriend line in that northern sector, then seized Tiperath to the north. This advanced the Allies to within 29 miles of Dusseldorf and only about 18 miles from Gladbach, industrial centre in the Rhineland.

TRY TO CLOSE PASS

Rome, Nov. 20 —(AP)— Bent on closing the Brenner Pass permanently to enemy supplies, a large formation of Allied medium bombers this week raided a huge transformer station at Ala and photographs showed Friday that every bomb hit the target area.

4,000 GERMANS KILLED

Paris, Nov. 20 — (AP) — The Agency Francais Depresse, in a dispatch datelined at the Italian frontier, reported last night that 4,000 Germans were killed in an explosion in a tunnel near Genoa.

City Engineer Elected Trustee Of S & S Institute

Charles A. Mott, city engineer, was elected trustee of the Canadian Institute on Sewage and Sanitation at the recent convention held in Toronto. He has been a member of the Institute since 1936.

Born and educated in this city, Mr. Mott has been connected with city engineering since his return from overseas following the cessation of hostilities of the last Great War.

In 1917 he left the Belleville Collegiate Institute and joined the Royal Canadian Artillery in Kingston. Later he transferred to the Canadian Siberian Expeditionary Force as a signaller. Discharged from the army in 1919 he became associated with the engineering department of the city in the same year.

Mr. Mott studied engineering and architecture under J. G. Mill, C. E. city engineer, from 1919 to 1922 and under the late Charles D. Campbell, C. E., O. L. S., from 1922 to 1929. He was appointed assistant city engineer after qualifying in municipal engineering in 1925. He became a registered professional engineer in 1931 and joined the Engineering Institute of Canada in 1940.

In June, 1939 Mr. Mott was appointed city engineer, building inspector and superintendent of public works department.

Mayor Welcomes Group of English War Brides

Mayor Harry Rollins, representing the city extended a cordial welcome on Sunday to a group of English brides of Canadian soldiers some of them still overseas, who arrived here to take up residence with the next-or-kin of their husbands or friends.

Included in the group were Mrs. Nancy W. Jones, and son, Robert, 15. Mrs. Jones is the mother-in-law of the late James Pepper who lost his life overseas some time ago. She will make her residence for the time being with Mr. and Mrs. W. C. Pepper, Chatham Street. Sergeant Jim Pepper's wife is still in England but expects to arrive in Canada in the near future.

Others were the wives of Private J. M. K. Reilly, with 3-year-old Yvonne, Wellington, Ont.; Sergeant A. Murray, who will stay with Mr. and Mrs. Ketcheson, Madoc; Private A. Danford, who was met by her husband of Coe Hill; Pte. G. C. Smith, Campbellford, and Corporal K. R. Chambers, Eldorado.

'Triwound' Scheme Soldier Arrives Home at Picton

The first soldier in M. D. 3 to return to Canada from overseas under the new "Triwound" scheme arrived in Kingston with other overseas personnel on Sunday, Army Public Relations announced today.

He is Private O. Milner, Picton Ontario, 23-year-old member of the Royal Canadian Electrical Mechanical Engineers.

He was one of a number of soldiers to return to Canada under the scheme announced last month by the Dept. of National Defence. The scheme has been evolved whereby personnel, who have been wounded three or more times or who have had long service in addition to two wounds will have the privilege of returning to Canada to spend a period of duty in the locality near their next-of-kin.

Thirteen days after the invasion of Sicily, while fighting with the Hasty Pees, Milner received a sniper's bullet in the left leg, which sent him to a Malta hospital. Returning to action, he received shrapnel wounds on Dec. 13, 1943 when his regiment moved from the Italian mountains to the coast.

Ill fortune dogged the young soldier, who was again hit by shrapnel the next day, while lying on a stretcher. He had been carried by stretcher bearers to a road a mile and one-half away and was lying in the shelter of a house, when a mortar bomb exploded nearby, causing injuries to his right hand and thigh.

Other personnel arriving with Milner included Lieut. H. W. Kernaghan, Lakeport, near Colborne, and Private J. Storms, R. R. 1 Belleville.

STORM

Landings in the Asia islands, 130 miles north of Sorong, New Guinea, presumably will knock out Japanese lookout stations used to spot American bombing flights for northward targets. The Mapia islands evidently were taken for this reason.

Headquarters disclosed that a British warship was the flagship for the first time in an amphibious operation in the Southwest Pacific. It participated in the naval bombardment which preceded the landing.

You Have Backed Attack With Bonds—Now Give Blood

Canadian infantrymen crouch in the swampy bullet-swept lowlands of the Scheldt battlefront. Shells scream overhead. Intermittent bursts of machine-gun fire betray the enemy positions hundreds of yards to the front. Mortars bark. Mines explode with dull detonations. The heavy artillery barrage from Canadian artillery that has kept up an incessant roar for the past twenty-four hours suddenly lifts. This is it.

Whistles shrill. Helmeted infantrymen, the light of battle gleaming in young eyes, leap to the attack. Canadian battle cries shrill above the roar of battle. Automatic rifles belch death. Machine-guns spew lethal bullets. Hell breaks loose as the gallant Canucks sweep forward to enemy strongpoints. Men fall. One drops here writhing in pain. Another falls. Yet another.

From the rear, stretcher bearers dash forward. "Quick, Bill," shouts one, "over here with the plasma—this fellow's all in."

Bill shakes his head. "Sorry, chum," he mumbles, "we just used the last bottle." They stagger on.

* * *

Cheers ring out on the war-battered deck of the once trim corvette. Patches of oil and debris on the sea surface a few yards away denotes her victory. The submarine had not reckoned with the courage and daring of the Canadian Navy. Valiantly the ship's crew had fought to save the convoy. But the Nazis had been equally determined. The battle had been short, sharp and bloody. Several of the corvette's crew are hit—some badly. Others will not see home again.

Below, the surgeon lieutenant works feverishly. The sick bay is crowded with wounded. Time passes.

The youthful surgeon finally draws a long breath. "Let's go boys," he says, wiping a sweat-grimed face. "We've only one left. He looks pretty bad, at that."

A quick examination. The surgeon turns to one of his assistants, "the blood plasma, Smith, this chap needs a transfusion badly."

"Sorry, sir," the rating replies. "We used the last one on the bo'sun, and sir," the rating's face brightens, "he's going to pull through."

"I'm glad to hear that, But I'm afraid this lad won't. Are you sure the plasma is finished?"

"Yes, sir."

The surgeon shakes his head. A few minutes later he draws a sheet over the face of a gallant Canadian who might have lived had the precious plasma been available.

* * *

The big bomber staggers on through the dusky Yugoslavian twilight. She has been sorely hit. Flak has torn away one engine. Fragments have riddled her fuselage and gun turrets. Five of her crew lie severely wounded. The pilot fights his controls and the gallant aircraft flies unsteadily forward.

Later he brings her to a semi-crash landing but in friendly territory miles from his base. A quick inspection reveals two of his crew in a critical condition. Feverishly he works his radio. Hours later a rescue squad arrives. Supplies are brought out. Doctors work over the wounded.

Then one slowly rises to his feet. He gazes at the still figure lying on the stretcher. Tears glisten in his eyes.

"It's too bad," he murmurs to a fellow medico. We could save this boy's life with blood plasma, but we have not received any for days at the base. What a pity. If the people back home only knew how vitally needed this plasma is."

* * *

The above could easily happen—and it will happen if red-blooded Canadians at home do not realize their duty and offer their service as blood donors.

The United Nations are on the offensive. The dawn of victory lies just ahead through the darkness of the fading hours of struggle. But the cost is great. Canadian soldiers, sailors and airmen are fighting a ruthless enemy, one who will fight with utter disregard for any war or humane ethics in defence of Hitler and his German Reich. Allied casualties are heavy and will continue to be for some time yet.

Many gallant lads will not come back. But many will come back if the urgently needed blood plasma is available. It must be—and it will be available.

The city of Belleville is asked to do its share. Its residents will not, it is felt, let the boys down.

Remember, there are gallant men giving their lives that you might have the privileges of democracy and civilization. Gallant men are giving their blood that you might be free.

Surely you do not begrudge a few drops of blood in order that badly wounded men may live to enjoy the ideals they fought for.

Ask yourselves the question. Think well before answering. The tiny voice of conscience will tell you it is your duty.

The Kiwanis Club of this city is inaugurating a drive for blood donors this week. Kiwanians will call on you. Do not disappoint them—or the boys overseas.

You have backed the attack with bonds—now do it with blood. The first pays dividends in money. The second pays dividends in that most precious thing of all—life.

Bd. of Education Offers City Use Of Part of School Grounds for Rinks

The Belleville Board of Education moved to offer the city the use of suitable sections of the school grounds at King George, Queen Mary, Queen Alexandra and the East Belleville playgrounds for the purpose of the erection of skating rinks for the use of the public when the Board met at their November session.

Chairman C. D. Crosby pointed out that a committee would be set up to select the location desired and for the purpose of making necessary arrangements for supervision and liability contracts, which are to be assumed by the City of Belleville. Additional changes in the original motion are also left in the hands of the committee in charge.

In the report of Secretary L. A. Kells it was noted a total of $1,675.50 worth of War Savings Stamps had been purchased by the pupils in local schools during the preceding two months. Students from Belleville public schools gathered 142 bags of milkweed pods in the recent drive staged for the Department of Agriculture.

More Protection at Bridge.

The Board has been requested to urge the city council to provide additional protection at the North Front Street overhead bridge in the matter of placing a wire mesh the entire length of the pedestrian part of the bridge as a safeguard against small children slipping through the present railing to the tracks below. Mr. R. H. Macklem, Inspector of Public Schools for South Hastings, was granted the use of the Collegiate auditorium for a meeting of the South Hastings Educational Association at which Premier George Drew, Minister of Education, is to be the principal speaker. Members of the Board were invited to attend.

Recommend Additional Expenditure

Under general business it was disclosed that all employees of the Belleville Board of Education are now working under the Workmen's Compensation Act provisions. With increased numbers taking advantage of the Night School classes in Belleville it was necessary that the Board recommend an estimated additional expenditure of $1,200, owing to the extensive and increased program over and above that originally contemplated.

The Board regretted it was unable to take action to grant leave of absence from school to children seeking pre-Christmas employment. However, the School Attendance Officer was authorized permission to issue permits when it was deemed advisable.

Permission for Dance

The annual commencement exercises at the Belleville Collegiate Institute and Vocational School will be held in December both afternoon and evening with permission being granted to permit dancing in the school gymnasium that night until one o'clock in the morning.

On display at the Collegiate are a series of paintings entitled "Burning Weeds". The paintings have been loaned permanently through the Department of Education.

Last week inspectors of the Provincial Vocational Schools were in the city and inspected the local B.C. I.&V.S., they were Miss McKim, Messrs. Beatty, Moon and Davies of Toronto. They reported favorably on the supervision, discipline and teaching procedure at the Vocational School, Administrator Kells reported back. There was a general improved tone of the school also.

All accounts tendered before the final two months of the fiscal year were presented and ordered paid. A full membership of the Board, as well as all local school principals was on hand for the November meeting of the Board.

ALLIED OFFICIALS

He emphasized that the Allies had recognized this but viewed it as a chance that had to be taken.

Shout for Resignation.

Brussels, Nov. 20 —(AP)— Unofficial reports that Premier Pierlot might request Gen. Eisenhower to set up a temporary "protective government" for Belgium were heard today after a tumultuous demonstration by an estimated 15,000 marchers, shouting for the resignation of the Pierlot government.

Steel-helmeted Belgian police with rifles slung over their shoulders patrolled the streets of the capital yesterday in the wake of the parade of resistance sympathizers embittered by the government's demand for surrender of all firearms. About half the marchers were women.

Allied troops and armored cars were held in readiness with equipment for street barricades.

One of the major complaints seemed to be government reluctance to seize and try political and business bigwigs who allegedly have been sympathizers or supporters of the Germans. Adding to the explosive situation were protests over acute food shortages.

RECORD FLIGHT MADE

London, Nov. 20 (CP)—A direct non-stop flight from London to Cairo in 10 hours and 26 minutes has been made by a four-engined York Aircraft of R.A.F. Transport Command, the Air Ministry reported yesterday. Average speed on the 2,460-mile journey was 238 miles an hour.

Obituary

MRS. ANNA (BURLEIGH) CLAPSADDLE

(Formerly of Roslin)

Old friends in this district of Mrs. Anna ((Burleigh) Clapsaddle, formerly of Roslin, and of late residing at Chaumont, N.Y., will regret to learn of her death which occurred suddenly at Mercy Hospital, on Saturday evening, Nov. 4th. She suffered an embolism a year ago which was followed by several heart attacks during the past year. The day prior to her death she accompanied her husband to Syracuse and the following day she complained of not feeling well. Early the same evening she visited her nephew and niece, Mr. and Mrs. Nelson Richardson who lived opposite her home. When returning she collapsed on the street and her nephew carried her to her home. Later she was conveyed to the Mercy Hospital where she died shortly after being admitted.

The late Mrs. Clapsaddle was born at Roslin and was a daughter of the late Nelson and Betsy Allen Burleigh. Her marriage to Mr. Frank Clapsaddle took place in the Methodist Church at Thomasburg and the ceremony was performed by the Rev. Mr. McCullough. Eventually they took up residence near Chaumont, N.Y., where they conducted a farm and operated one of the largest apiaries in Jefferson County. Owing to Mrs. Clapsaddle's ill health they left the farm and moved to the village of Chaumont.

Mrs. Clapsaddle was a member of the Chaumont grange, the Presbyterian church, and the home bureau. She served on the election board of district No. 1, Town of Lyme.

Survivors are her husband, two children, Allen Clapsaddle of Chaumont and Mrs. Duane (Olive) Kesler, who makes her home with her parents while her husband is serving in the armed forces; two granddaughters, Miss Frances Clapsaddle and Miss Susanne Kesler of Chaumont; a brother, Albert Burleigh of Roslin, Ont., and two sisters, Mrs. Minnie Kerr of Roslin and Mrs. Robert (Matilda) Richardson of Chaumont.

The funeral took place on Tuesday Nov. 7th. and interment was at Cedar Grove cemetery, Chaumont.

MRS. MARY ANN PEEVER

(Maynooth)

Mrs. Mary Ann Peever of Maynooth, who for the past six months resided at the Hastings County Home, died there early Saturday morning, Nov. 18th., after an illness of ten days' duration. She was born at Almonte, Ontario, seventy seven years ago and was a daughter of the late Mr. and Mrs. Richard Evans. The greater part of her life was passed at Maynooth and she was well esteemed. In religion she was a member of the United Church.

Surviving her are three daughters, Mrs. F. H. Watson, Dixie, Ontario; Mrs. M. J. O'Neill, Maynooth, and Mrs. W. K. Millson, Toronto; one son, Frank G. Peever, Maynooth, and one brother, W. J. Evans, Western United States. Her husband died some years ago.

The body was conveyed Sunday morning from the Martin Funeral Home to Maynooth where the funeral will take place on Tuesday.

CIVIL AVIATION TALKS REQUIRE FULL WEEK YET

Canadian Official Says Compromise of Plans May be Presented

By C. R. BLACKBURN
(Canadian Press Staff Writer)

Chicago, Nov. 20 (CP)—Delegates to the International Civil Aviation Conference today expected to know within 24 hours whether or not they were likely to produce an acceptable and complete draft convention for control or supervision of postwar commercial flying.

The entire conference, except nine delegation leaders representing Canada, the United Kingdom and the United States, waited idly for a decision to emerge from the week-long huddle of the representatives of these three countries.

There were rumors that this conference, the largest and one of the most significant of the many international conferences of the war years, would end like that of Dumbarton Oaks, without agreement on the main points.

However, a high Canadian official said there was reason to believe an acceptable compromise of the widely differing plans of the Canadian and British delegations on the one side and the United States on the other, would be presented to a plenary session, possibly tomorrow.

Final and still untouched business of the conference will be the adoption of a system of operating international civil aviation during the transition period from war to peace and before the draft convention is put into effect.

It now is expected that the conference will require another full week for completion of the agenda.

Repatriated Aircrew Favor Engineering Or Accountancy

Ottawa, Nov. 20 — (CP) — Most repatriated aircrew have chosen engineering or accountancy as post-war careers, but their ground-crew comrades are interested in callings ranging from embalmer to tinsmith, the findings of an R.C.A.F. personnel counsellor indicate.

FO. C. W. Crookshank, of Halifax, and Moncton, N.B., says he's found few duplications of careers for the post-war era among 300 airmen at the R.C.A.F.'s Gander, Nfld., station. Because of Gander's isolated position, practical technical work is unobtainable, but personnel counsellors do their best to set airmen on proper courses of study. The station has 1,450 technical books.

Airmen who decide to change their trades for post-war employment are urged to write their wives and explain their plans, for once their plan of campaign has been approved at home they are duty bound to go through with it and make a good showing.

Fire Destroys Grist and Saw Mill At Chisholm Mills

Well-known Hastings county landmark, and a business which had been in the one family since its inception approximately 80 years ago, the sawmill and grist mill at Chisholm Mills, eighteen miles north of here, was completely destroyed by fire at a late hour Saturday night.

Burned were the sawmill, the original frame grist mill and a recently built grist mill structure, together with a quantity of lumber, stables, and seven carloads of western grain just unloaded and stored for winter grinding. Total loss, including the grain, will amount to well over $20,000, it was estimated.

Starting from an undetermined origin near midnight on Saturday, the flames had gained considerable headway before the owner Mr. Harvey Chisholm was aware that anything was amiss. Despite efforts of a volunteer fire brigade which was hastily gathered, the flames gained rapid progress and sweeping through the tinder dry structures only a detached garage in which trucks were stored was saved.

Built on the bank of the Moira river over three-quarters of a century ago by a forebear of the present owner, Chisholm Mills served the grinding needs of the immediate district for many years. Added at a later date was the sawmill. Several years ago a new grist mill was constructed and new machinery installed, all of which was lost in the fire. Replacement of sawmill and grist mill equipment will take considerable time, it was stated.

Leaping flames from the burning mill and from the lumber piled in the mill yard attracted the attention of motorists late in getting home from the city and soon a large crowd had gathered. The flames and glow from the fire were visible for a distance of twenty miles or more.

Loss of grain alone will amount to about $7,000, while the total loss of over $20,000 was inadequately covered by insurance.

Seven Deaths By Accident

(By The Canadian Press.)

Seven persons, two in Ontario, three in Quebec and two in New Brunswick, met death by accident during the weekend.

Charles F. Barr, 62, died in a Hamilton hospital Sunday of injuries suffered Friday when struck by an automobile. At Niagara Falls, 12-year-old Andrew Gauthier died Sunday after being struck by an automobile as he was about to board a street car.

At Montreal Albert Gouborne, 55, was killed when a street car collided with a truck, and Dumas Damarche, 37, died in a minor explosion at a war plant.

Air Commodore Roger Delhaye, a First Great War air ace, D.F.C., second in command at No. 3 training command R.C.A.F., was killed Saturday when his training plane crashed at St. Hubert Airport, it was learned in Montreal.

Mr. and Mrs. Thomas H. Ward, both 65, were burned to death Saturday in their Kent county, southeast New Brunswick home. Five other occupants of the house escaped the fire, which originated in a chimney.

ASK SUPPORT OF MEMBERS ON CONSCRIPTION OF MANPOWER

Edmonton, Nov. 20 (CP)—A resolution asking the two Edmonton Liberal members of parliament—Trade Minister James A. MacKinnon and Mrs. Cora Casselman—to support conscription of manpower at the coming special session of parliament was passed yesterday at a meeting of the Edmonton branch of the Canadian Legion.

The War Today—
Allied Fighting Machine Crushes Forward Against Huns Like Landslide

By DEWITT MACKENZIE
(Associated Press War Analyst.)

Thus far the Allied drive toward the Rhine hasn't given us a lead to show whether Gen. Eisenhower will achieve his ambition to end the war this year or whether it may drag on through the winter—but his mighty fighting machine is crushing steadily forward with the inevitability of a landslide.

The German battle-line is stretched taut and at many places is giving, notably in the Aachen sector opposite Cologne and further south in the Metz-Belfort zones. We can see the enemy lack of reserves for the quick, hard counter-attacks necessary to restore breaks at strategic points. Such a situation is wholly in favor of the Allies, and it might produce a break-through.

Weather Factor

Much depends on the weather. Normally this is the bad time of the year, as those who've seen a winter campaign in western Europe know too well.

The covering barrages for Allied advances have been so terrific that in some sectors they've temporarily numbed the enemy. But the Germans have recovered with amazing quickness and have swarmed from their shelters to meet the onslaught. This is fair warning of hard going ahead for the Allies.

Nazi Disposition to Cling to Defences

Field Marshal Von Rundstedt, Commander-in-Chief on the western front, is showing a disposition to cling as long as possible to his formidable defences west of the Rhine, despite the fact that this great river represents his strongest natural barrier against the Allies. One suspects this is recognition that:

1. The river is vulnerable despite its strength, and

2. Once the Allies have crossed and established a bridgehead on the eastern bank, the war will be about finished.

In short, the consensus of military experts is that German resistance will fold up when the Allies are over the Rhine in force. It's humanly possible, of course, that we may see the guerilla warfare—battles for each city, town and hamlet—which Nazi propagandists have threatened but that's not likely.

Beyond the Rhine

Once the Allies have established a route across the Rhine they will be able to pour armored forces into the plain leading to Berlin and the heart of Germany, and will have in their hands Hitler's chief industrial areas, the Ruhr and the Saar, which lie close to the Rhine.

We're still waiting for another great event—a Russian offensive against the Vistula. That would give vast support to the Allied drive in the west.

Doomed Child Gets Great Number Of Gifts at His "Christmas" Party

Cheyenne, Wyo., Nov. 20. (AP)—Forest (Nubbins) Hoffman was overwhelmed with joy when he awoke Sunday for his "Christmas".

"Today's Christmas", were the first words of the 3-year-old boy who may not live until Dec. 25.

"There's my puppy", shouted Nubbins, whose parents, Mr. and Mrs. Marshal Hoffman, arranged for his Christmas Sunday because they fear a bladder affliction may take their son's life before the yuletide.

Before Nubbins had the sleep all out of his eyes, a real Santa Claus arrived.
